PROCEEDINGS AND DEBATES OF THE 114th CONGRESS, FIRST SESSION

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES—Thursday, December 17, 2015

The House met at 9 a.m. and was called to order by the Speaker.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, the Reverend Patrick J. Conroy, offered the following prayer:

Merciful God, we give You thanks for giving us another day. We pause in Your presence and ask guidance for the men and women of the people's House.

As the Members take this time to consider far-reaching legislation, give them wisdom and discernment. Help them to realize that Your congregation is wider and broader than ever we could measure or determine.

Help them, and help us all, O Lord, to put away any judgments that belong to You and do what we can to live together in peace.

As we approach this next recess, bless our great Nation and keep it faithful to its ideals, its hopes, and its promise of freedom in our world.

Bless us this day and every day, and may all that is done be for Your greater honor and glory.

Amen.

THE JOURNAL

The SPEAKER. The Chair has examined the Journal of the last day's proceedings and announces to the House his approval thereof.

Pursuant to clause 1, rule I, the Journal stands approved.

Mr. LAMALFA. Mr. Speaker, pursuant to clause 1, rule I, I demand a vote on agreeing to the Speaker's approval of the Journal.

The SPEAKER. The question is on the Speaker's approval of the Journal.

The question was taken; and the Speaker announced that the ayes appeared to have it.

Mr. LAMALFA. Mr. Speaker, I object to the vote on the ground that a quorum is not present and make the point of order that a quorum is not present.

The SPEAKER. Pursuant to clause 8, rule XX, further proceedings on this question will be postponed.

The point of no quorum is considered withdrawn.

PLEDGE OF ALLEGIANCE

The SPEAKER. Will the gentlewoman from Indiana (Mrs. WALORSKI) come forward and lead the House in the Pledge of Allegiance.

Mrs. WALORSKI led the Pledge of Allegiance as follows:

I pledge allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America, and to the Republic for which it stands, one nation under God, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all.

ANNOUNCEMENT BY THE SPEAKER

The SPEAKER. The Chair will entertain up to five requests for 1-minute speeches on each side of the aisle.

PRESCRIPTION DRUG ABUSE

(Mrs. WALORSKI asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend her remarks.)

Mrs. WALORSKI. Mr. Speaker, our country is in the midst of a prescription drug epidemic. Fifty Americans die each day from prescription drug overdoses. The epidemic is also affecting our Nation's veterans, who, in some VA facilities, are being overprescribed medications.

To combat this growing problem, my home State of Indiana and others have created statewide databases that collect data on medications prescribed to patients. It requires doctors and nurses to check patient records in the database before prescribing painkillers.

Unfortunately, Mr. Speaker, VA facilities are not required by law to participate and have been known to overprescribe powerful medications.

Today, I introduced legislation requiring all Veteran Administration Medical Centers to participate in their corresponding statewide drug monitoring program. Requiring VA facilities to comply will help ensure that veterans are not being overprescribed powerful pain medication.

As a member of the House Veterans' Affairs Committee, I take the well-being of each Hoosier veteran very seriously, and they deserve high-quality health care.

I also want to thank Indiana Attorney General Greg Zoeller for his commitment to fighting this epidemic in our State.

CALIFORNIA WATER LEGISLATION

(Mr. COSTA asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. COSTA. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to express the urgency to get California water legislation passed sooner rather than later. After 4 consecutive dry years, drought conditions have become even more devastating. If you look at the NASA photos that have depicted, from outer space, the drought conditions, you see over 1 million acres that have laid fallow this year.

Many of us are fearful that if we receive the El Nino rains and snows that are predicted in the next 4 months, California will still not have the ability to move that water through the delta, where it is desperately needed, to other parts of the State; and many of our farm communities will continue to end up with another year of a zero—zero—water allocation, which would make the third year in a row. This would be devastating. It is both unacceptable, and it is avoidable.

Mr. Speaker, we in California can all retreat to our political corners and point fingers to lay blame, but that will not deliver an additional drop of water that is desperately needed, nor will it address the real harm done to the very people whose lives have been impacted and whose jobs have been lost.

The fact is we have to work together, and I will continue to work with multiple parties involved in the negotiations to try to bridge the gap and to get California water legislation passed. It is time to fix our broken water system, and it is long overdue.

WATERS OF THE UNITED STATES

(Mr. LAMALFA asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. LAMALFA. Mr. Speaker, bipartisan majorities in the House and Senate, a majority of the States, and two Federal courts have rejected the administration's waters of the United States proposal by the EPA to reinterpret the Clean Water Act in order to seize authority over virtually every waterway, dry streambed, ditch, and puddle in the Nation. One Federal court found the proposal so excessive and so outside the President's authority that it issued a nationwide stay.

This week, the nonpartisan Government Accountability Office confirmed what we already knew: the administration not only violated Federal law when preparing this proposal, but also engaged in an illegal propaganda campaign to misinform the public, soliciting skewed comments in favor of their proposal using social media, even so far as using general comments on Twitter in order to skew their view.

Mr. Speaker, when is enough going to be enough? When the administration spends Americans' own tax dollars to solicit and persuade them to give up their rights, should that not be a wake-up call, that it has crossed a very bright ethical line?

It is time that the administration admit that the waters of the United States rule is an illegal power grab, an overreach, and withdraw it immediately.

PUERTO RICO

(Mr. GUTIÉRREZ asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute.)

Mr. GUTIÉRREZ. Mr. Speaker, I can't vote for the omnibus bill because it doesn't give the people of Puerto Rico some hope for a better future.

The omnibus bill does not provide a path forward amid budget cuts, cuts in services, growing unemployment, and the greedy banks and bondholders who demand more and more, even as the people of Puerto Rico have less and less.

Puerto Rico is a colony of the United States. Its sovereignty rests here in the Congress of the United States, and we will not do anything to help them.

(English translation of the statement made in Spanish is as follows:)

So tomorrow I tell the people of Puerto Rico, I will be with you.

I will vote against this omnibus budget because if there are no schools in Puerto Rico, if there is no law enforcement to protect the people on the streets, if there are no doctors or nurses healing the sick, there won't be a vote on this budget until there is justice for the people.

And I tell every Representative that votes in favor of this budget, you are denying a future for Puerto Rico and you are betraying the people of Puerto Rico.

Así que mañana le digo al pueblo de Puerto Rico, yo estaré con ustedes.

Votaré en contra de este presupuesto porque si no hay escuelas en Puerto Rico, si no hay policías para defender a la gente en la calle, si no hay doctoras o enfermeras para curar a los enfermos, tampoco habrá un voto para este presupuesto hasta que haya justicia para el pueblo.

Y le digo a todo Congresista que vota a favor de este presupuesto, que le niega un futuro a Puerto Rico y le traiciona al pueblo de Puerto Rico.

The SPEAKER pro tempore (Mr. POE of Texas). The gentleman from Illinois will provide a translation for the RECORD.

HONORING ARMY HELICOPTER PILOT KEVIN WEISS

(Mr. HULTGREN asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. HULTGREN. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to honor Chief Warrant Officer Kevin Mose Weiss of McHenry County, a U.S. Army helicopter pilot who lost his life in service to our Nation. Returning to service just after Thanksgiving, Weiss and his copilot were flying a routine training exercise out of Fort Campbell in Kentucky on December 2 when the helicopter they were piloting went down, killing both men in the crash.

Mr. Speaker, Weiss dreamed of joining his World War II veteran grandfather in flying as a pilot for his country and was known by his grandfather's nickname, "Mose." Weiss was an avid outdoorsman and served our Nation overseas, flying a tour of duty in Afghanistan and earning numerous commendations and decorations.

Growing up through McHenry public schools, home schooling, and then Christian Liberty Academy, Weiss met his wife, Beth, through the youth program, Awana.

Weiss leaves behind a wife and two children, Lucas and Susan, and extended family and friends. They remember him as brave from a young age, a shoulder to lean on in difficult times, and a caring, loving brother, husband, and father.

The family Christmas celebration will be muted this year, but we are forever grateful for Mose's service and sacrifice.

COACHELLA MOSQUE FIRE

(Mr. RUIZ asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute.)

Mr. RUIZ. Mr. Speaker, on December 11, 2015, the Islamic Society of Coachella Valley mosque was firebombed, with four people praying inside, 9 days after the San Bernardino terrorist mass shooting. The perpetrator is being charged for a hate crime.

Mr. Speaker, I strongly condemn violence toward innocent people, whether they are victims of terrorism or victims of hate crimes, whether they are randomly chosen or targeted for being Muslim. I strongly condemn the hate speech from politicians who capitalize on the fear of the fearful and the hate of the hateful for political gain.

As Americans, we believe in justice, the rule of law, and freedom of religion. Destroying terrorists and protecting law-abiding Muslim Americans are not mutually exclusive, and we must do both because we believe in justice, sentencing the guilty, and protecting the innocent.

That is why I stand with my local priests, pastors, rabbis, imams, and law enforcement to denounce the violence, pursue justice, and strengthen our humanity.

MEALS ON WHEELS

(Mr. DUNCAN of South Carolina asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. DUNCAN of South Carolina. Mr. Speaker, I rise during this Christmas season to speak about a public-private partnership that creates real impact in the communities I represent: Meals on Wheels.

Today, a national army of 2 million volunteers is preparing and delivering about 1 million meals to America's most vulnerable, hungry, and isolated seniors.

I am very proud of the Third District of South Carolina for many reasons, but I am especially proud of programs like Pickens County Meals on Wheels in Liberty, South Carolina. This is just one of thousands of Meals on Wheels programs across the country that provides more than just meals. Meals on Wheels provides nutritious meals, safety checks, and friendly visits on a daily basis, which allow seniors to age in their own homes with the independence and dignity that they deserve.

The precious and powerful combination of nutrition and socialization has proven to improve health, reduce falls, avert unnecessary visits to the ER, and reduce hospital admissions and readmissions. This, in turn, saves billions of dollars in Medicaid and Medicare expenses. In fact, a Meals on Wheels program can provide a senior with meals for an entire year for less than the cost of 1 day in the hospital or a week in the nursing home.

I call on my colleagues to learn more about these vital programs, the seniors they serve, and the grave and growing and expensive problem of senior hunger, a problem that will undoubtedly worsen if left unaddressed.

Merry Christmas, America.

AMERICAN OPPORTUNITY TAX CREDIT

(Mr. FATTAH asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. FATTAH. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to acknowledge the fact that the American opportunity tax credit is going to become a permanent law as part of the tax extenders package. I introduced, as the prime sponsor, this legislation many years ago as part of the economic recovery efforts.

It has provided well over $20 billion to millions of families, a $2,500 tax credit in which 40 percent is refundable. Over the next 10 years, the Congressional Research Service suggests that well over $60 billion will be provided to families to help meet higher education costs.

So I want to just take a minute to pause and reflect on the fact that the work that we do here can, in fact, impact many, many lives. I want to thank my colleagues for their initial support of this program and for, today, our efforts that will be successful to make it permanent, along with the earned income tax credit and a number of other very important tax credits for American families.

HONORING VALOR CHRISTIAN HIGH SCHOOL'S VARSITY GIRLS SOFTBALL TEAM

(Mr. COFFMAN asked and was given permission to address the House for 1 minute and to revise and extend his remarks.)

Mr. COFFMAN. Mr. Speaker, I rise today to recognize the girls varsity softball team at Valor Christian High School in Highlands Ranch, Colorado, on winning the 2015 Colorado 4A State championship game on October 25, 2015.

The students and staff who are part of the winning Eagles team deserve to be honored for finishing what had already been a fantastic season by winning the State championship for the second time in 2 years.

Mr. Speaker, throughout the season, the girls of Valor Christian High School's softball team proved that hard work, dedication, and perseverance are the recipe for champions. The team was led to the championship title through the tireless leadership of their head coach, Dave Atencio, and his staff.

It is with great pride that I join with the families of Highlands Ranch, Colorado, in congratulating the Valor Christian Eagles on their second straight championship.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman from Oklahoma is recognized for 1 hour.

Mr. COLE. Mr. Speaker, for the purpose of debate only, I yield the customary 30 minutes to the gentleman from Massachusetts (Mr. MCGOVERN), pending which I yield myself such time as I may consume. During consideration of this resolution, all time yielded is for the purpose of debate only.

GENERAL LEAVE

Mr. COLE. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members have 5 legislative days to revise and extend their remarks.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Oklahoma?

There was no objection.

Mr. COLE. Mr. Speaker, yesterday the Rules Committee met and reported a rule for the consideration of the Senate amendment to H.R. 2029. The resolution makes in order a motion offered by the chair of the Committee on Appropriations that the House concur in the Senate amendment with two House amendments.

Amendment No. 1, consisting of the text of the omnibus appropriations bill, is provided 1 hour of debate, equally divided and controlled by the Chair and ranking member of the Committee on Appropriations. Amendment No. 2, consisting of the text of the tax extenders bill, is provided 1 hour of debate, equally divided and controlled by the Chair and ranking member of the Committee on Ways and Means.

The rule provides for a separate vote on each amendment. In addition, the rule provides that, if one or both amendments are adopted, then the bill is sent to the Senate. Finally, Mr. Speaker, the rule provides the standard recess authorities typically given at the end of the first session of Congress.

Mr. Speaker, I am pleased to be presenting to the House today the rule which will provide for the consideration of two critical pieces of legislation which are the product of long and hard negotiations between the House, the Senate, and the administration.

First, Mr. Speaker, this rule provides for the consideration of the Protecting Americans from Tax Hikes Act of 2015, the PATH Act. This legislation makes over 20 different tax provisions permanent, like the Research and Development Tax Credit, section 179 expensing, and the State and local sales tax deduction.

Many of these provisions have existed as part of the Tax Code for many years. However, they were often extended retroactively or on a yearly basis, making it difficult for businesses and individuals to plan effectively. Making these provisions permanent will allow businesses and individuals to make more sensible decisions throughout the year, not just during the final 12 or 14 days at the end of the year after Congress passes a retroactive extension.

This bill also includes extensions of other tax provisions, like the New Markets Tax Credit, the bonus depreciation, and the Work Opportunity Tax Credit through 2019. Additionally, there are other provisions that are retroactively extended for 2015 and through 2016.

In addition, Mr. Speaker, the PATH Act includes a number of program integrity measures designed to strengthen the integrity of the tax credit programs that have high rates of improper payments, fraud, and abuse.

Finally, Mr. Speaker, this bill includes a series of reforms designed to rein in the power of the Internal Revenue Service and better protect the American people, like firing IRS employees who take politically motivated actions against taxpayers and prohibiting IRS employees from using personal email accounts for official business.

In addition to these critical tax extenders, the rule also provides for the consideration of the omnibus spending bill for fiscal year 2016 at the funding levels agreed to in the Bipartisan Budget Act passed earlier this year.

There is much to be proud of in this 2,000-page bill and accompanying explanatory statement. But, as I have told many of my colleagues, if you can't find something you don't agree with in the bill, you must not be looking hard enough.

That being said, Mr. Speaker, this omnibus spending measure is a compromise and a reflection of divided government, but it also demonstrates a commitment by both sides to restoring regular order to this House.

While I could provide a long list of things I wish were included, this bill still maintains key Republican and conservative priorities. For example, the bill keeps the EPA staffing levels at the lowest level since 1989. In addition, it terminates dozens of duplicative, ineffective, or unauthorized programs.

Beyond the numerous cuts and restrictions on the executive branch, this bill also delays additional, onerous ObamaCare mandates. For example, it delays the Cadillac tax on healthcare insurance for an additional 2 years and imposes a moratorium on the health insurer excise tax in 2017.

In addition to these important changes, the omnibus also reveals some of the programs that Republicans value and that, frankly, Democrats value as well. Included in this legislation is a $2 billion increase for the National Institutes of Health. Likewise, it increases funding by 9.8 percent at the VA while strengthening the restrictions and oversight to ensure that taxpayer dollars will be used more effectively.

In addition, Mr. Speaker, this legislation includes a repeal of the crude oil export ban. Repealing this ban, which has been in place for the past 40 years, has the potential to create more than a million new jobs across the United States, add $170 billion annually to our gross domestic product, and lead to still lower gasoline prices. This provision is a victory for the American people.

I am sure many of my colleagues will speak about other portions of this legislation. However, in closing, I would like to recognize the hard work of Chairman ROGERS, Ranking Member LOWEY, and Speaker RYAN, who were able to lead us to this necessary compromise.

This is the second year in a row that we will have been able to complete a vast majority of the appropriations process before the end of the calendar year, giving us the ability to begin the process anew when we return in January. It is a culmination of the hard work of the Members and of the staff over the past 10 months, and it should be worthy of all of the Members' support.

I urge the support of the rule and of the underlying legislation.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. MCGOVERN. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

I want to thank the gentleman from Oklahoma (Mr. COLE), my friend, for yielding me the customary 30 minutes.

Mr. Speaker, here we are again. It is the end of the year, and once more we have come to the brink of a government shutdown. It is sad to say, but this has become routine.

We need to return to regular order, where we pass appropriations bills one at a time and not end up with a 2,000-plus-page bill at the last minute that nobody has thoroughly read.

In all candor, the excuse that it is all the Senate's fault is a bit disingenuous. Of the 12 appropriations bills the government must pass each year, we only considered 6 in the House. We stopped considering appropriations bills because some of my colleagues on the other side of the aisle were more interested in protecting the Confederate flag than in getting the people's business done.

We have a deal before us that, if passed, would prevent us from heading toward a government shutdown and damaging our economy. Americans cannot afford another manufactured crisis, something that my friends on the other side of the aisle have become good at. The so-called deal that we will debate today and tomorrow reflects the imperfect process that produced it.

I am grateful to my colleagues who worked to get a product to us that, hopefully, can avoid a catastrophe. I am especially grateful to the staff who worked around the clock these last weeks to get us to this point. Truthfully, we should be apologizing to the staff for putting them through this ordeal. This is not the way to run Congress.

There are two parts to the underlying legislation: Amendment 1 to H.R. 2029, the omnibus Appropriations Act, and Amendment 2, known as the tax extenders bill.

The omnibus Appropriations Act is, by any measure, a mixed bag, but, importantly, it does begin to undo so-called sequestration, which has done great damage to our economy and great harm to our people.

In my view, sequestration represents an all-time high in recklessness and stupidity. We need to reverse it. This bill begins to do that.

In the omnibus there will be necessary increases in funding for NIH, NSF, Head Start, Pell grants, job training, State and local law enforcement, programs to prevent violence against women, energy efficiency programs, FEMA, our national parks, VA medical service accounts, the McGovern-Dole international school feeding program, a reauthorization of the Land and Water Conservation Fund, and a host of other programs. I am grateful for these increases.

This bill includes a 75-year extension to the Zadroga Act, which supports health care for the brave 9/11 first responders who risked their lives at Ground Zero to save others and became ill as a result. These are true American heroes, and I am pleased that Congress has finally done the right thing by ensuring that they will be able to get the care that they deserve.

One of the things, however, that concerns me about the omnibus appropriations bill is that it contains a controversial cybersecurity measure that many of us feel falls short of safeguarding Americans' private information. Quite frankly, a provision like this does not belong in an omnibus appropriations bill.

Last night in the Rules Committee, I offered an amendment to strike this cybersecurity provision. Every single Republican—every single one—voted against my provision.

Mr. Speaker, I include in the RECORD a "Dear Colleague" that was sent to all of us from Representatives LOFGREN, AMASH, CONYERS, FARENTHOLD, and POLIS in opposition to the cybersecurity measure being part of this omnibus appropriations bill.

DECEMBER 16, 2015.

From: The Honorable Zoe Lofgren.

OMNIBUS INCLUDES PRIVACY VIOLATING PROVISIONS: JOIN REPS. LOFGREN, AMASH, CONYERS, FARENTHOLD, AND POLIS IN OPPOSITION

DEAR COLLEAGUE: We are writing to express our concerns with the inclusion of the Cybersecurity Act in the omnibus. What was intended to be a cybersecurity bill to facilitate the sharing of information between the private sector and government was instead drafted in such a way that it has effectively become a surveillance bill, and allows information shared by companies to be used by the government to prosecute unrelated crimes.

The bill intended to allow the private sector to share "cyber threat indicators" with government agencies. However, depending on the type of "indicator," it is highly likely that private information otherwise protected by the Fourth Amendment will also be disclosed to government surveillance agencies.

Unfortunately, as drafted, the bill falls short of providing safeguards to protect Americans' private information.

In particular:

1. This bill allows the use of shared information for more than just "cybersecurity purposes." It allows the government to investigate and prosecute specific threats to serious bodily injury or serious economic injury, computer fraud, and trade secrets violations, among other criminal violations.

WHY THIS IS OF CONCERN: Specific threats to serious bodily injury or economic harm are extremely broad categories of crimes. So are identity theft, computer fraud, and trade secrets violations. By allowing the use of this information for non-cybersecurity purposes, the bill encourages intelligence agencies to collect and retain as much information as they can for as long as possible, in the unlikely event that one day it might be useful. An alternative bill, H.R. 1731, which received the largest House support, prohibited these uses and limited the use of cyber indicators to only cyber security purposes for this reason.

2. The bill fails to include an express prohibition on using this information for "surveillance" purposes.

WHY THIS IS OF CONCERN: Express prohibition of "surveillance" is vital because past experience demonstrates that intelligence agencies will broadly interpret the included non-cyber, criminal allowances to perform surveillance. For example, few thought the National Security Agency (NSA) would interpret "relevant" to allow collection of every phone record in America. Surveillance is merely an investigation method, so this bill contains no protections against the NSA (or any other agency) from conducting broad surveillance using this information in the name of stopping any enumerated offenses.

3. The private sector and government are only required to remove personal information they "know at the time of sharing" to be included in the information they share with DHS.

WHY THIS IS OF CONCERN: The information sharing legislation that passed the House with the strongest support, H.R. 1731, required both government and private sector to take "reasonable efforts" to scrub all personal information "reasonably believed" to be unrelated to a cybersecurity threat prior to sharing the information. Changing this to a "knowing" standard, as the Cybersecurity Act does, sets the bar too high. Developing automated systems to "know" that something is personal information is likely impossible. As such, the "knowing" standard encourages willful blindness. Why would the government or private sector expend time and effort to develop effective processes to determine when it "knows" something is personal information rather than just develop a cursory review process likely to permit the flow of private personal information.

Furthermore, by limiting scrubbing only to "the time of sharing" there is no requirement that the government remove personal information it later discovers.

Finally, the bill leaves details on how to develop privacy protection procedures around the collection, storage, and retention of shared information to DHS and also to the Attorney General and Director of National Intelligence. The AG and DNI also determined these same standards for the bulk-collection of telephone metadata. These standards allowed for the largest abuse of American privacy in recent history and necessitated Congress passing the USA FREEDOM Act.

4. No express limitations on what or how DHS can share information with the DOD or NSA.

WHY THIS IS OF CONCERN: Earlier this year Congress passed major privacy reforms because past experience has shown that if the NSA acquires information, they will use it in ways unintended by legislators. Every cybersecurity bill passed by the House this year has prohibited automatic information sharing (and in some cases all sharing) with the NSA. Without this prohibition, designating DHS as the "sole information sharing portal" is essentially meaningless, since DOD and NSA automatically receive cyber threat indicators along with the rest of civilian agencies. As this bill is drafted, functionally—there is no difference between directly giving this information to DHS and directly giving it to the NSA. There should be strong rules protecting personal information from being received, processed, and stored by intelligence agencies, which this bill lacks.

Sincerely,

REP. ZOE LOFGREN.

REP. JUSTIN AMASH.

REP. JOHN CONYERS.

REP. BLAKE FARENTHOLD.

REP. JARED POLIS.

Mr. MCGOVERN. Mr. Speaker, one additional concern, for me and for many others, is an awful provision—and I stress the word "awful"—in this bill, which constitutes a big giveaway to Big Oil and could lead to an increase in gas prices. Big Oil gives big money to campaigns, and, sadly, Big Oil is getting a very big return on its investment with this bill. This provision could intensify climate change, have devastating environmental impacts, and does nothing to save consumers money on energy costs.

I will be asking my colleagues to defeat the previous question. If the previous question is defeated, I will offer an amendment to strike this outrageous provision.

My colleagues will have to decide whether the good outweighs the bad before casting their vote on the omnibus bill. Compromise is never easy, but in a divided government it is essential if we are to move forward.

One of my biggest critiques of this Republican-controlled Congress has been the total disregard for Americans who struggle—those stuck in poverty. Time and time again in this Chamber, poor people have been demonized and disparaged while those who are well off and well connected get one tax break after another after another.

I am pleased that in the tax extenders package there are provisions to protect millions of struggling Americans from a tax increase and boost family incomes by permanently extending essential improvements to the earned income tax credit and the child tax credit for low-income working families, as well as the American opportunity tax credit to help low- and middle-income families pay for college.

All of these improvements to these tax credits were originally passed as part of the 2009 Recovery Act, and each has played a critical role in fueling America's economic recovery after the financial crisis. Making these improvements permanent would be among the biggest steps Congress can take to reduce poverty, and without action these credits would expire at the end of 2017.

Every year, these improvements are expected to lift about 16 million people, including about 8 million children, out of poverty, or closer to rising above the poverty line. Simply put, making these improvements to the EITC and the CTC permanent will keep more children out of poverty than any other Federal program.

The real world impact cannot be overstated. For example, a single mother with two children who works full time at the Federal minimum wage of $7.25 an hour and makes $14,500 a year would lose her entire $1,725 child tax credit without congressional action. For a family on a fixed income, this would be a terrible setback. Additionally, making the American opportunity tax credit permanent would ensure this program continues to help millions of low- and middle-income families pay for college every year.

In addition to the millions of families these provisions would help, this legislation before us takes important steps to bolster investments in education, job training, advanced manufacturing, infrastructure, and research, while also strengthening national security.

I am especially pleased that this deal includes a provision that would make permanent tax parity for commuters who take mass transit—something that has long been a major priority of mine. For far too long, the Tax Code has allowed employers to offer their workers more in pretax parking benefits than in mass transit benefits. Parity between parking and mass transit benefits was first established in the Recovery Act and has been extended on a short-term basis since then.

The bill before us would establish permanent parity for mass transit commuters. It is an attractive fringe benefit that employers can offer their workers. It offers significant savings to employees who rely on mass transit. It is especially important to my constituents in central and western Massachusetts who take the train every day into downtown Boston.

Mr. Speaker, by averting a government shutdown and passing this deal, we will be able to bring certainty to small businesses, as well as companies investing in the United States, while extending important incentives that support hiring and investing in low-income communities.

Following the historic international climate agreement reached in Paris this past weekend, I am also pleased that this deal would extend tax incentives for investments in wind and solar energy, helping to drive significant reductions in carbon pollution and other dangerous air pollutants and provide certainty for investments in clean energy.

Investments like these would not be possible without the recent budget deal, which reversed about 90 percent of the cuts that sequestration would have made to nondefense discretionary programs in fiscal year 2016 with parity between defense and nondefense spending.

Mr. Speaker, while there are many positive provisions in this deal, one major concern is that the House Republican tax extender bill would provide hundreds of billions of dollars in special interest tax breaks that are permanent and unpaid for. Such massive giveaways to special interests like Big Oil are a step in the wrong direction.

As our economy continues to recover, we have a responsibility to the American people to pass legislation that helps to grow the paychecks of hard-working families and make the investments that will build the bright future that our children deserve.

I am especially troubled by the fact that the tax extenders bill continues the misguided double standard of financing tax cuts with budget deficits while insisting on offsets for any increases in domestic spending. Quite frankly, this is dishonest coming from my Republican colleagues who so often claim to be focused on reducing the deficit.

So many American families are working hard to get back on their feet and give their children opportunities that they deserve. Continuing this double standard of holding back on investments that we could be making now to help even more of our fellow citizens is inexcusable.

Extending hundreds of billions in tax breaks to the most powerful interests when our country needs much stronger investment in jobs and economic growth for all is a troubling and sober reminder that we must do more to put hardworking families first. Quite frankly, I think it highlights the difference between the two parties. Democrats have long championed the importance of investing in our infrastructure, investing in our people, and investing in our economy.

Mr. Speaker, the omnibus spending bill and the tax extenders package before us today is not perfect. Members on both sides of the aisle are going to have to decide for themselves whether the good outweighs the bad. Clearly, there are some good things and there are some bad things. Hopefully, in the future, we will return to regular order and do our business in a more thoughtful and effective way.

I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. COLE. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

I want to begin by agreeing with my friend from Massachusetts on a very important point, but perhaps adding a little bit of nuance.

I celebrate, probably as much as anybody in this Chamber, my friend's and his side of the aisle's newfound commitment to regular order. When they were in the majority here, they certainly didn't practice it. As a matter of fact, in 2009, I think only one or two appropriations bills reached the floor. During that period, the right of having an open rule, where every Member with an amendment could come down and offer it in the House, was taken away by my friend. Again, I appreciate that.

My friend and I will disagree about what happened this year, because, indeed, we did begin down the path of regular order, we did bring six bills across the floor, we did bring all 12 bills through the committee. But, as my friend said, the Senate did not do that. Frankly, when regular order breaks down on one side of the rotunda in the Capitol building, it breaks down on the other as well. You can't keep bringing bills down when the other side simply won't bring bills at all. You are wasting a lot of time and you are casting a lot of votes that, frankly, become meaningless.

Let us put this behind us. I actually agree with my friend. I think because of the bipartisan budget agreement, which my friend supported, and I supported as well, we now know what our spending levels will be next year. We now have an opportunity to do exactly what I am sure he wants to do, and I think every Member, regardless of viewpoint of party, wants to do. That is to bring all 12 bills to the floor and give every Member an opportunity to participate. That would be a good thing.

The second point I would like to make in response to my friend deals with sequestration. I agree with him. To his credit, he has been a consistent opponent of sequestration. But we ought to remember this about that particular proposal. Sequestration was President Obama's idea—suggestion—in the 2011 budget agreement.

There are a lot of imperfections in that budget agreement. One of the things was that a supercommittee was set up that was supposed to work these things out and sequester was never supposed to happen. For whatever reason, that committee was unable to actually do that. Sequester did save a lot of money. Our deficit is considerably lower than it was.

Speaking of deficits—and my friend raised his concern about deficit spending—I share that concern too. I think it is worth pointing out that the last 4 years that my friends on the other side were in the majority, the deficit rose every single year, peaking at about $1.4 trillion.

While we may disagree on particular provisions, the truth is for the 4 years—and now 5—that Republicans have been in power in the House, the deficit has gone down every single year. I think that tells you who is committed to deficit reduction and who is serious about cutting spending.

Indeed, we are spending less money in this omnibus spending bill in discretionary accounts than we were spending when George Bush was President of the United States in 2008, so that is a pretty serious reduction. I would invite my friends to work with this on the real driver of the deficit, and that is the entitlement programs, which desperately need reform—Medicare, Medicaid, and Social Security. That is something that can only be done in a bipartisan fashion, and, frankly, can only be done with Presidential leadership. In this case, sadly, the President of the United States has been AWOL in the effort to actually rein in entitlement spending.

My friend raised the lifting of the oil export ban in his remarks. On this we just simply have a different point of view. I come from a part of the world that has produced energy for this country for over 100 years and exported it. We think this is the key to sustaining the growth in the industry.

Frankly, right now, $38 a barrel for oil means actually thousands of layoffs in Texas, Oklahoma, Louisiana, and other energy-producing States. The productivity of that sector, which has benefited every American with lower energy prices and lower gasoline prices, has also created a lot of difficulty for them.

We are the only country on the planet that does not allow for the export of petroleum—the only one. Frankly, I think this is a case where we ought to listen to other countries around the world, and we ought to recognize some basic principles. Willing producers, willing buyers, and free markets are good for everybody. That always gives you the best product at the lowest price and creates the most innovation.

I think this is an enormous step in the right direction. I am very proud that the two sides compromised and made this tough call—I know for some of my friends—but I think the right call long term for our country.

Finally, I would just like to conclude, Mr. Speaker, by noting that in my friend's remarks, while he certainly made what I think were some excellent points about process, certainly had some points where we differed, and certainly made some fair and legitimate critiques in what is a very large bill—as I said earlier, you can always find something to be critical of in this legislation—my friend also pointed out a lot of the very many good things in this bill. Frankly, some of those things that he likes, Members on my side don't necessarily agree with.

That is the product of a real negotiation between the two sides, the two Chambers, and with the administration. There are wins and losses in here—if we even want to call them losses. But I think there is a victory here for the American people—stability, certainty, some really key national investments, no government shutdown, and I think this year the foundation, if we pass this legislation, for regular order, which I know my friend very much wants, next year.

We have moved a long way from where we were several years ago—frankly, under both parties—to where we are today. I actually give both sides considerable credit for this because I think there is a genuine yearning from Members of both sides to get to regular order, to make sure that, when we appropriate, everything is down here, transparent, every amendment has an opportunity.

So, in the spirit of the Christmas season, we can put aside maybe some of our differences here. I think we will pass, ultimately, a very good bipartisan bill. I think we can make a commitment, an early New Year's resolution, that next year we will go to exactly where my friend wants to go and where I want to go and, frankly, where I know the Speaker wants to go, and that is regular order where each bill comes to the floor, receives due consideration, every Member has an opportunity to participate, things are more transparent and, frankly, things are more orderly. That will be possible because we came to a bipartisan budget agreement this year early that set the spending limits for next year. I think that is a very good thing.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. MCGOVERN. Mr. Speaker, I want to say to my colleague from Oklahoma that I appreciate his commitment to regular order and reminding us that Speaker RYAN has committed to regular order as well. I am a little skeptical, so I am not going to hold my breath because I probably won't make it until next year if I do that. I will just remind him that the previous Speaker, Speaker Boehner, promised the same thing, and we never saw it. In fact, we have the most closed Congress in the history of United States Congresses.

Mr. Speaker, as I mentioned earlier, I urge that we defeat the previous question. If we do, I will offer an amendment to the rule that would strike the provision in the omnibus that lifts the ban on exporting crude oil.

Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent to insert the text of the amendment in the RECORD, along with extraneous material, immediately prior to the vote on the previous question.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Massachusetts?

There was no objection.

Mr. MCGOVERN. To discuss the proposal, I yield 2 minutes to the distinguished gentleman from New Jersey (Mr. NORCROSS).

Mr. NORCROSS. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman for yielding.

I urge Members to defeat the previous question because I am not sure that the majority has fully considered the permanent damage to jobs and to national security if this is not properly transitioned and implemented.

It was not too long ago that many of us in this room remember what we call the odd-even days where we were waiting in long lines, just hoping that we could get gasoline. Well, we have come a long way from there through technology and the ability to extract more oil.

We made a strategic investment in American energy. We have refineries on the West Coast. We have them on the East Coast. We have them in the Gulf. That is critical to our national security because oil, without refining, simply doesn't work.

So here we are today looking at lifting the 40-year-old oil ban. What this really means is jobs and, in particular, this means jobs and a strategic disadvantage to the East Coast where we will be losing many of our refineries.

When it comes to very difficult times in this country, we need that capacity. We have the natural resource called oil, but if we don't have it in the refining sense on the East Coast, on the West Coast, and in the Gulf, we will be putting ourselves at a very strategic disadvantage. Those long lines remind us of how critical it is to have that capacity.

It is about jobs, those skilled craftsmen who work in the refineries day in and day out. So what this bill is doing is picking winners and losers. We are trading jobs. I absolutely believe in that. We are taking those East Coast jobs and shipping them overseas.

We only have one chance to get this right. This is like creating a dam that has been holding back the water, but instead of letting it out slowly and transitioning, we are just simply breaking that dam. We need to make sure that we implement a transition for our refineries. The 199 is a step in the right direction for those transportation costs, but we need more.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The time of the gentleman has expired.

Mr. MCGOVERN. Mr. Speaker, I yield an additional 30 seconds to the gentleman from New Jersey.

Mr. NORCROSS. Mr. Speaker, this is refining capacity we cannot lose. This is about our Nation's security. This is about jobs.

I urge my colleagues to vote in favor of American jobs and independence for our strategic national security by defeating the previous questions.

Mr. COLE. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

I want to respond quickly to my friend from New Jersey on the refinery issue because I actually have two refineries in my district, so not all refineries are located on the East and West Coast or in the Gulf. There are quite a few of them in the historic middle part of the country as well.

I am always concerned about those jobs as well because, as my friend suggests, they are extremely important. He is precisely correct when he says that just producing oil is not enough. You want to be able to refine it.

I also will tell you that sitting in Cushing, Oklahoma, is over 250 million barrels of oil that can't be refined because there is not a sufficient capacity for that particular kind of oil in this country.

I would also suggest that it is not fair for people to say you can only sell the product you produce one place. Nobody else in the world does that. Nobody else says you can't sell your product to any place in the world in any market you want to. Only we do that.

Many people might want a captive audience, but that is just simply not fair to the people at the other end of the process. They ought to be able to sell their product, particularly when, in certain kinds of crude, there is just simply not sufficient capacity. I would suggest over time if we just have faith in the free market, those things will be worked out, and we will eventually have the appropriate balance and supply.

Again, I want to agree with my friend about the importance of the refining industry, but I also want to agree about the importance of free markets and the right and ability of people that produce products and make substantial investments to sell their product anyplace to any market that they care to do that. We are the only country in the world that denies that privilege to people that find and produce oil. I think if we remove that, frankly, we will have a more robust domestic industry.

Again, this is an industry that is to be commended because it has been their innovation that has created this abundance of production. We have increased production in the United States by 85 percent in the last 5 or 6 years. That wasn't done with any government program. That wasn't done by the government. That was actually done by hardworking entrepreneurs and workers in historic oil-producing areas and new areas that are being opened up, in States like Pennsylvania and Ohio. This is a good thing for the United States, and we ought to take full advantage.

Their productivity has also brought them record low prices, and they need the opportunity to market their product anyplace in the world that they think they can get a decent price. In the long-term, that will preserve the industry in the United States.

Again, to my friend's point, I care a lot about jobs. I would be happy to take you to my State and show you how many thousands of jobs we have lost in the last few months, in the last year and a half.

It is not just a question of oilfield work; it is also machinery, production, and that sort of thing. Frankly, those losses will reach into the manufacturing section of our country that produces much of the steel, the pipe, and the concrete that are important. Those jobs aren't just in our part of the country; they are all through the country.

Again, I want to work with my friend. I agree with his observation.

There were efforts made in good faith by both sides to provide some tax relief to the refining industry. If that is not sufficient, I would be happy to work with my friend to try and do more in that regard.

Again, I think this is a balanced bill. It is a historic opportunity to do the right thing. At the end of the day, we are always better off when we trust free markets, free men and women producing and selling the products that they choose to make as widely as possible. That is what has made the country great. That has certainly been the key to the success in the energy industry. This is a step in the right direction to make sure that we not only maintain, but expand that principle.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. MCGOVERN. Mr. Speaker, I yield 3 minutes to the gentleman from Oregon (Mr. BLUMENAUER), a distinguished member of the Ways and Means Committee.

Mr. BLUMENAUER. Mr. Speaker, this has been a difficult process creating this package. I commend Speaker RYAN and Leader PELOSI working with the White House and our friends in the Senate to put together a package that actually may secure support and passage from people on both sides.

Tomorrow, we are going to consider an omnibus bill that, on balance, I think is a very fair compromise, given the composition of this Congress and the challenges that we are facing.

I am particularly interested in the unprecedented support for neuroscience, something I have worked on for a long time, and the significant funding for the Land and Water Conservation Fund, a priority of people on both sides of the aisle, but it has been bottled up. We will be talking more about that tomorrow.

As it relates to the bill that we are going to have before us in a few minutes, I wish that it had dealt more aggressively with the question of the revenue needs of this country, something I have consistently supported before I joined the Ways and Means Committee and what we are going to have to be addressing in the future.

It is important to focus on the elements, I think, in the bill that warrant my support for it. First and foremost, it provides certainty for provisions that are important to a wide variety of our constituents and interests that ultimately were going to be funded one way or another. It harkened back to the saga we had of the doc fix, the SGR, the sustainable growth rate that we forced people to jump through hoops year after year.

In this case, we are going to provide some important certainty for areas that invest in the future that I have spent a long time working on in terms of wind, solar, the new market tax credits, the short-line railroads. My friend from Massachusetts talked about a project we have worked on for years, transit parity; and being able to settle the books on that and move forward, I think, is very, very important.

It even is a little start on energy efficiency for commercial buildings that I hope we can do better. Emerging industries like American-produced cider get a tremendous benefit, incorporating the CIDER Act that I have been working on.

I would call special attention to something again my friend from Massachusetts referenced, and that is the provisions in this bill that relate to low-income working Americans. The earned income tax credit and the child tax credit were set to expire in 2017. This impacts 16 million people, raising them above poverty or at least getting to the poverty level, of which half of those are children, 8 million children. In my State, it is 164,000 families, some of Oregon's most vulnerable working poor.

Now, leaving this out until 2017 I think plays Russian roulette with it, and it would be a mistake. No better deal is likely. I think it is important to move forward on it and protect it now.

Mr. COLE. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Just very quickly, I want to thank my friend from Oregon for his hard, bipartisan work on Ways and Means and various elements in this package that came here. I want to thank him as well for the kind remarks he made about the omnibus and his interest in research. I know that is genuine, and he has been a champion of that. I look forward to continuing to work with that.

Finally—and I know my friend would think this, too—we are all concerned about the deficit. Some day, if we get serious about entitlement reform, we will sit down and do it. Now, I believe that can only be done in a bipartisan way. I would invite my friend sometime to look at a bill that Mr. DELANEY and I have to begin the process of perhaps reforming Social Security in a bipartisan way. So, again, I look forward to that. I appreciate my friend's good work.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. MCGOVERN. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from Texas (Mr. DOGGETT), the ranking member of the Ways and Means Subcommittee on Human Resources.

Mr. DOGGETT. Mr. Speaker, across the world, this is a special time of the year, and we have our traditions here in Washington. One of them is underway at this moment in the House. It is called the ceremony of the stuffing of the silk stockings. We do it each year, and we do it generously. This bill is even referred to as a "Christmas tree bill" because special interests get special presents, "ornaments" on this tree.

Much of the focus this year has been the fact that the direct spending bill and the tax spending bill are considered under this same rule. The press has focused most of its attention on the direct spending bill, the Omnibus. While there has been some debate over some of the policy provisions, it has really been the sideshow here.

What has driven the length of debate on this are Republicans—and some Democrats who have enabled them, unfortunately—determined to get as many permanent tax breaks as possible for those who have been waiting for this Christmas tree. They have added hundreds of billions of dollars of permanent tax breaks onto this bill.

I must say, like many shoppers out there, they have put it all on the credit card. It is just that it is your credit card. We are borrowing from the Chinese, from the Saudis, around the world, in order to pay for tax breaks for which not a penny has been paid. That is total fiscal irresponsibility.

To cover this wrong of borrowing and adding more and more to our national debt, they have reached out to put in a few good provisions. I happen to be the author of the Refundability for the Higher Education Tax Credit. I am delighted to see it extended permanently, but it does not even expire this year, as is true of some of the other tax breaks that are boasted about this morning.

The real threat from adding hundreds of billions of dollars to the national debt has been clearly identified by my colleague from Oklahoma candidly, and that is that Social Security and Medicare are the next things up for consideration on the chopping block.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The time of the gentleman has expired.

Mr. MCGOVERN. Mr. Speaker, I yield an additional 15 seconds to the gentleman.

Mr. DOGGETT. If you add this much debt unpaid for in a fiscally irresponsible way, you begin to jeopardize retirement security, Medicare, and Social Security because those so-called entitlements are next up on the chopping block. Reject this giveaway.

Mr. COLE. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

I want to join my friend from Texas in his concern about the national debt and the deficit. I think those are genuine and real.

I do point out to my friend that every year his side was in power the annual deficit got greater for 4 consecutive years, peaking at $1.4 trillion. Every year the Republicans have been in power in the House, it has come down.

We can argue about the specifics of national debt, but who ran it up and who is trying to bring it down I think is pretty clear over the last several years.

Second, while my friend is critical of many of the provisions—and, frankly, I could list some provisions that I am critical of in this legislation as well—I remind him it was negotiated by the Democratic minority leader, the Speaker of the House, the leader of the Senate, the minority leader of the Senate, and the President of the United States.

Whatever is in this bill has been signed off by the leaders of both parties, but certainly the leaders of his party. It is not some Democrats that are involved. It is the top Democrats that were involved. I presume they think this was in the best interest of the country.

There are many items in here that we all like and agree on. There are going to be items that both sides do not like. I mean, that is just the nature of a compromise.

I could certainly tick off a list of things that I think either should have been in the bill and aren't or that are in the bill that I don't like. I look at the broader virtues here. I think it is good.

The final point I wish to make, Mr. Speaker, is this idea that we are making permanent tax cuts, the reality is they have been permanent anyway. We have been extending these things ad infinitum, forever.

The problem is, when you extend taxes instead of create certainty, people don't know whether to invest, what to invest, what to do. You actually don't get the productive value out of the tax cut.

I applaud my friend, Mr. BRADY, on Ways and Means and his colleagues on both sides of the aisle who are trying to make some things that are common sense and that we do every single year or every other year permanent so the American people can make an appropriate calculation.

I do invite my friend to come down next year and work seriously, as I know he will, on trying to come to some sort of agreement on entitlement spending, some sort of reforms. That is where 71 percent of the total spending of the budget is. If you want to balance, you can't rope it off and say these things we can never change over here.

I would invite my friend to look at Mr. DELANEY's bill and my bill, which is a process bill. It doesn't lay these things out. It doesn't cut anything. What it does do is actually force us to sit down and make some decisions. People on both sides of the aisle keep postponing this.

We ought to go back and honestly do what Ronald Reagan, Tip O'Neill, and Howard Baker did in 1983. They had a commission similar to what Mr. DELANEY and I have. Any recommendation to that commission would have to be bipartisan. Then the Congress would have to vote on it up or down. I can assure you that there will be things in a reform package that both sides don't like, but Congress has ignored these things.

On Medicare and Medicaid, two big drivers, I am proud that we have at least put proposals on the table in the Ryan and now the Price budgets, proposals I know my friends probably don't agree with, but I think are real efforts to actually reform those things.

What we don't have is a Democratic proposal on Medicare, a Democratic proposal on Medicaid. Frankly, neither side has been willing to really put something out on Social Security. I think that is something we ought to do. That is something Mr. DELANEY and I in a bipartisan way have tried to do. I hope other Members will work with us next year.

I know that the Speaker is committed to trying to reform these programs so we can save them so that the scenario that my friend laid out does not happen, that they do not go bankrupt, that the American people do not lose them. We are going to have to sit down and make some hard decisions and make them in a bipartisan way.

The fact that we did this on this bill, this omnibus spending bill and the tax extender portion, I think is a good start to sitting down and having that conversation more broadly next year. I hope we do that.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. MCGOVERN. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentlewoman from New York (Ms. VELÁZQUEZ), the distinguished ranking member of the Committee on Small Business.

Ms. VELÁZQUEZ. Mr. Speaker, it is unconscionable that the legislation we are considering does nothing to address Puerto Rico's mounting debt crisis. Puerto Rico's crisis is decades in the making, and it stems from years of neglect from this very same body, the United States Congress.

The United States Congress brought us where we are today. Now it has a moral responsibility to act. Yet, my Republican colleagues are standing in the way. Giving Puerto Rico authority to restructure its debts will not cost taxpayers a dime, but it would help solve their fiscal crisis.

To those who say Puerto Rico needs to cut spending, I ask you: How much more? The island spends $2,000 less per student than the average spent on the mainland. The government has already closed nearly 100 schools this year in addition to 60 closures last year. Sales taxes are the highest in the United States and would increase from 7 percent to 11.5 percent.

The government has laid off 21 percent of its employees since 2008, and the 2016 budget makes further cuts. Puerto Rico is doing its part to raise revenue and cut expenses. Stop playing Russian roulette with the well-being of the Puerto Rican people, American citizens.

Despite all the reforms that have been taken, Wall Street hedge funds want more. They bought this debt at cheap prices, and now they want it all. They are willing to inflate big suffering on 3.5 million American citizens in order to reap massive profits. Sadly, congressional Republicans decide.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The time of the gentlewoman has expired.

Mr. MCGOVERN. Mr. Speaker, I yield the gentlewoman an additional 30 seconds because I agree with her on this issue.

Ms. VELÁZQUEZ. Mr. Speaker, the Governor of Puerto Rico is here—he is sitting in the gallery—asking you to help those Americans who call the island home.

While we are all going home for the holidays, for the 56 percent of American children who live in poverty in Puerto Rico, this omnibus is their Christmas present.

Shame on us. It is wrong. It is morally wrong. It will not cost one dime to taxpayers. All we are asking is give Puerto Rico the ability to restructure its public debt like any other municipality in this country.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Members are reminded not to refer to occupants of the gallery.

Mr. COLE. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

I listen with a great deal of attention to my good friend from New York whenever she rises on this issue because, frankly, I know she is much more knowledgeable about it than I am.

I do not pretend to be an expert in this area at all. It is not something we handle normally on the Committee on Appropriations. It would normally come through another committee.

I think, from what I have been told, that is actually what the great concern is. I don't think there is much doubt that there is a serious crisis here. Nobody debates that.

I think that the intent next year, as I understand it, is to try to work through regular order and resolve this, as we should, because it is a complex problem.

I think probably the decision at higher levels than mine was that this is not the appropriate vehicle. That does not take away from my friend's point that it is a serious problem. It needs the attention of Congress. I look forward to working with her in that regard.

I do not think this was the right vehicle. I do think, actually, there would have been many Members with many questions who would not have had a chance to study it.

It just makes more sense to work its way through the committee. I hope we do that. I think that is the right thing to do. I think my friend was certainly well within her rights and very appropriately raised an important issue that this House needs to turn its attention to next year.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. MCGOVERN. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2½ minutes to the gentlewoman from Connecticut (Ms. DELAURO), the ranking member of the Subcommittee on Labor, Health and Human Services, Education, and Related Agencies of the Committee on Appropriations.

Ms. DELAURO. Mr. Speaker, I rise in opposition to this rule and to express great disappointment with the underlying tax extenders bill.

While the tax extenders bill makes the expansion of the child tax credit permanent, along with the earned income tax credit and the American opportunity tax credit, it fails to index the value of the child tax credit to inflation. By the end of this decade, this will result in 750,000 children falling back into poverty.

In the last big tax deal, Congress made the estate tax cut both permanent and indexed to inflation. Who does this benefit? The children of the millionaires and billionaires.

Yet, this bill fails to provide the same benefit to working families. It means that 7,450 estates nationwide are the beneficiaries of the estate tax. Nineteen million families and many, many more millions of children would have benefited from indexing the child tax credit.

Congress has also provided for many more provisions of the Tax Code to be indexed: income tax rates, the adoption credit, the earned income tax credit, the low-income housing credit, the exemption amount for the alternative minimum tax, the standard deduction, the overall limitation on itemized deductions, cafeteria plans, transportation fringe benefits, adoption assistance programs, the personal exemption, medical savings account, the maximum deduction for interest on education loans, foreign-earned income exclusion, estate tax exemption, gift tax exemption, and the list goes on and on.

No family in the United States should have to struggle to raise a child. By failing to index the value of the child tax credit, we allow the benefit of the child tax credit to slowly erode away.

Too many hardworking people are still not earning enough to make ends meet in this country. Middle class wages are stagnant or they are in decline. We need to do whatever we can to support working people. Working and middle class families cannot afford to continue to see the value of their child tax credit decline.

Mr. COLE. Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. MCGOVERN. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from New Jersey (Mr. PALLONE), the distinguished ranking member of the Committee on Energy and Commerce.

Mr. PALLONE. Mr. Speaker, I want to speak in support of the 9/11 health provisions that are in the omnibus bill that we will be voting on tomorrow. This is a major bipartisan victory.

In our committee, the Committee on Energy and Commerce, we had the health portion of the bill, which basically provides specialized health care for those first responders and survivors of 9/11.

Mr. Speaker, I cannot tell how important this is. In my own State of New Jersey, we have a clinic where we help about 5,000 mostly first responders. They need specialized health care. Their problems get more severe as time goes on.

What we are doing with this legislation is making this 9/11 health program and victims compensation program permanent. It was authorized for 5 years. There was a cap on it. The cap has now been removed. We know that those first responders now will get the kind of specialized health care that they need. I cannot emphasize how important this is.

I want to thank my colleagues in the New Jersey delegation, the New York delegation, and the Connecticut delegation on both sides of the aisle in both the Senate and the House of Representatives.

I think a lot of people think this is just a health insurance program. That is not what this is about. This is a research program that looks into those specialized diseases that many of these first responders have been impacted by, and every day, we find more rare diseases, more problems that these first responders are coming down with. It is a research program. It is also a treatment and diagnostic program for them.

Thankfully, we now are going to have this as a permanent program so that they will not have to worry about what kind of health care they get, and they will not have to worry about where they go.

I also want everyone to understand that it doesn't matter where you are in the country. There is a protocol that has been set up under this 9/11 health program so that somebody in Los Angeles, Florida, or wherever they are, can go to the local hospital and be attended to.

So, once again, this is a major victory, and I appreciate the fact that I have had the time to talk about it.

Mr. COLE. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, first, I want to thank my friend from New Jersey for coming down here and making that point and, frankly, for his hard work and continuous dedication on this important provision.

When this legislation was first offered a number of years ago, I was very proud to vote for it. I thought it was the right thing to do. I was happy to cosponsor its extension and being made permanent, and I look forward to having the opportunity to vote for it in this context again.

My friend is exactly right when he talks about the consequences of 9/11 to the men and women who heroically went to the site trying to save other Americans, risking their own lives and health, as we know, in the long term. I dealt with a similar situation when I was secretary of state in Oklahoma in the Oklahoma City bombing. I must say, we got tremendous help from our friends in New York and New Jersey and other parts of the country. We had rescue teams. We got wonderful help from the United States in the aftermath of the disaster and the recovery. Of course, the scale of 9/11 dwarfs anything that has ever happened in our country.

So I am glad on this note: The two parties have sat down and worked together and done the right thing. My friend from New Jersey has been a leader in that effort every step along the way. This is something in the bill that I think for even those who don't support the bill, frankly, had we run it individually, I believe it would have passed on this floor overwhelmingly in a bipartisan fashion, but it does come to us in the context of this bill, and I hope many of my friends can support the bill for a variety of reasons, and this would be one of the chief amongst them.

Frankly, if they cannot, I would recognize again that, had this come individually, I think even those who are opposed would have supported this, because this is a uniting experience in American history. It is something we are proud of. And we can't ever forget the sacrifices that men and women on the ground at the site in the moment of enormous danger made for their fellow Americans and the example they set for us all. So the least we can do is to make sure that those who suffered on our behalf are taken care of appropriately in the aftermath of this great tragedy.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. MCGOVERN. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

As I said at the very beginning, what we are presented with today, I think, can be fairly characterized as a mixed bag. There are some very good things that we can talk about in both these packages that we are going to debate and vote on today and tomorrow, and there are some very bad things. And I think Members are going to have to decide for themselves whether the good outweighs the bad or the bad outweighs the good.

But I think the one thing we should agree on is that we need to do better in terms of process. We ought to consider all of these appropriations bills individually. And even if the other body chooses not to take those bills up, we ought to at least do our work here. We only did half the job this year, and I regret that very, very much.

I will say on the good side of what is being presented today is the chipping away at sequestration, which was a horrible idea. It has done great damage to this country's economy, which has hurt a lot of struggling people in this country. This package before us today begins the process of chipping away at that.

I also believe that it is good that we are doing what we should have done a long time ago, and that is provide certainty for the 9/11 responders. I want to thank the New York delegation, in particular, for their steadfast insistence that we act on this. That is in this package as well.

In terms of the tax extenders, there is great concern on our side about the fact that a lot of this is all unpaid for. And yes, we do care about deficits. I wish my colleagues on the other side cared more about deficits.

Everybody is saying that they are committed to reducing or eliminating our deficit. I will remind you we had a Democratic President, Bill Clinton, in office when we actually eliminated the deficit. And when the Republican, George W. Bush, got elected and we had unpaid-for tax cuts—most for wealthy people—and unpaid-for wars, we saw the elimination of the deficit balloon into these huge deficits. And we are still trying to dig ourselves out of that mess to this very day.

I would say that in the tax extender bill I am grateful we have made permanent the earned income tax credit and the child tax credit. These are both important antipoverty initiatives. It will help a lot of people whom this body has consistently and deliberately ignored for too long.

I want to associate myself with the comments of my colleague from Connecticut (Ms. DELAURO), who said that the child tax credit should have been indexed for inflation. We could have done that. I think that would have been even a better gesture toward trying to help people get out of poverty. We didn't do that. That is a fight that we need to deal with in the future.

Finally, I ask my colleagues to vote against the previous question so that we can have an up-or-down vote to eliminate what I think is an outrageous giveaway to Big Oil. It doesn't belong in this bill. We should have that debate, and Members ought to be able to vote up or down on it. The only way we are going to be able to do that, quite frankly, is by eliminating the previous question so we can bring this amendment to the floor.

Having said that, this is the final action of the Rules Committee—I hope it is the final time the Rules Committee will be presenting on the floor—and, again, I want to thank my colleagues for their work on this. I want to especially thank the staff. I want to wish everyone a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year, and I look forward to a more productive 2016.

Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. COLE. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself the balance of my time.

Mr. Speaker, first, I want to thank my friend. As always, it is a privilege to have a debate and a discussion with him. I think his characterization of this legislation as a mixed bag is a fair characterization, but that is what I would expect in anything that is a compromise—and particularly a compromise of this magnitude.

I take considerable pride, frankly, in all those involved in this. They did come to some major agreements. Again, I think each of the leaders of the House and of the Senate and certainly the President and his team could point to things they don't like in this bill or things they gave up or things they wanted that didn't make it. I know each of them has a long list of disappointments.

But the bottom line is they found a way to get the job done. They found a way to sit down, work across the institutional divide, the partisan divide, their philosophical differences, and produce a good bill.

I also want to agree with my friend on his concern about the process. He is precisely right; this is not the best way to operate. I am glad we got all these bills on the appropriations side through the full committee. I am proud that we got six of them across the floor. I am disappointed that our friends in the Senate, frankly, because of the minority's opposition, didn't get any onto the floor. They did get, though, in fairness, all 12 of theirs through committee. And that is progress for both bodies. We have moved in a broad direction. But my friend is right, we need to go further next year.

I am going to disagree with him a little bit about the deficit. He is not going to be surprised. Again, I point out the reality that for the last 4 years my friends were in the majority, the deficit went up every single year; and since we have been in the majority, it has come down every single year. I don't think those are coincidences. I think they show who is committed.

I am also proud that we have put forward real reform proposals on entitlement spending, the real drivers of the debt. I invite my friends to actually offer proposals in that regard or to look at Mr. DELANEY's bill and my bill. I wish our side would do that, too, by the way, because I think it offers us a reasonable way to get to reforming the Social Security system, probably the most important single program that we have in the country.

I am also going to disagree with my good friend on the oil export ban, not surprisingly. In my part of the world, we are losing thousands of jobs. The idea that you would restrict where Americans, who have produced a product, can sell it to only one place, when no other country in the world does that. This is something that shouldn't have been in this bill. It should have never happened in the first place. It should have gone 40 years ago.

Now, my friend mentioned Mr. Clinton and balancing the budget. I think that is an appropriate thing to do. He somehow left out the part that it was a Republican Congress working with President Clinton. Frankly, President Clinton never ever submitted a balanced budget to the Congress. Congress reduced the spending, and eventually we got lucky. We had a growth spurt. We had a peace dividend. We had a lot of things going on in the nineties. We had the baby boomers at the top of their earning potential. They were not retiring at the rate of 10,000 a day, as we have now.

So I would argue our problem is tougher, but my friend is right when he makes the point that in a bipartisan fashion, we dealt with this problem in the 1990s. We need to be bipartisan and deal with it again, going forward.

Mr. Speaker, I think that as we conclude the legislative business of this Congress, it is critical for us to end in a way that honors the trust the American people have placed in us. Divided government is difficult; however, it is a position that we have been placed in.

The last few weeks have been filled with legislative activity: a long-term transportation bill, a fundamental overhaul of our elementary education programs, a Customs bill which makes it easier for Americans to trade overseas, and finally, both tax certainty for individuals and businesses and the completion of the fiscal year 2016 appropriations process.

None of these pieces of legislation have been perfect, from my perspective or I am sure from my friend's perspective, but they have all been better than the alternative we have faced. And they were, in my estimation, the best deals we could negotiate. That is a testament to the leadership of Speaker RYAN; Leader PELOSI; the committee chairman, Mr. ROGERS; Mr. BRADY on our side, of their counterparts, Mrs. LOWEY; Mr. SHUSTER; the ranking member of Ways and Means, Mr. LEVIN, one of my favorite Members.

With that, Mr. Speaker, I do want to end with one note. I want to join my friend, my valued colleague in the Rules Committee, in our joint hope that we do not meet again in that context. I want to wish him and his family a Merry Christmas, as well as to all those in this institution. And frankly, I want to congratulate all involved in this on a job well done. It was a hard deal, a long negotiation, but one where each side worked together.

The material previously referred to by Mr. MCGOVERN is as follows:

AN AMENDMENT TO H. RES. 566 OFFERED BY MR. MCGOVERN OF MASSACHUSETTS

At the end of the resolution, add the following new section:

SEC. 13. Rules Committee Print 114-39 is modified by striking subsections (a) through (d) of section 101 of Division O concerning oil exports.

THE VOTE ON THE PREVIOUS QUESTION: WHAT IT REALLY MEANS

This vote, the vote on whether to order the previous question on a special rule, is not merely a procedural vote. A vote against ordering the previous question is a vote against the Republican majority agenda and a vote to allow the Democratic minority to offer an alternative plan. It is a vote about what the House should be debating.

Mr. Clarence Cannon's Precedents of the House of Representatives (VI, 308-311), describes the vote on the previous question on the rule as "a motion to direct or control the consideration of the subject before the House being made by the Member in charge." To defeat the previous question is to give the opposition a chance to decide the subject before the House. Cannon cites the Speaker's ruling of January 13, 1920, to the effect that "the refusal of the House to sustain the demand for the previous question passes the control of the resolution to the opposition" in order to offer an amendment. On March 15, 1909, a member of the majority party offered a rule resolution. The House defeated the previous question and a member of the opposition rose to a parliamentary inquiry, asking who was entitled to recognition. Speaker Joseph G. Cannon (R-Illinois) said: "The previous question having been refused, the gentleman from New York, Mr. Fitzgerald, who had asked the gentleman to yield to him for an amendment, is entitled to the first recognition."

The Republican majority may say "the vote on the previous question is simply a vote on whether to proceed to an immediate vote on adopting the resolution . . . [and] has no substantive legislative or policy implications whatsoever." But that is not what they have always said. Listen to the Republican Leadership Manual on the Legislative Process in the United States House of Representatives, (6th edition, page 135). Here's how the Republicans describe the previous question vote in their own manual: "Although it is generally not possible to amend the rule because the majority Member controlling the time will not yield for the purpose of offering an amendment, the same result may be achieved by voting down the previous question on the rule. . . . When the motion for the previous question is defeated, control of the time passes to the Member who led the opposition to ordering the previous question. That Member, because he then controls the time, may offer an amendment to the rule, or yield for the purpose of amendment."

In Deschler's Procedure in the U.S. House of Representatives, the subchapter titled "Amending Special Rules" states: "a refusal to order the previous question on such a rule [a special rule reported from the Committee on Rules] opens the resolution to amendment and further debate "(Chapter 21, section 21.2) Section 21.3 continues: "Upon rejection of the motion for the previous question on a resolution reported from the Committee on Rules, control shifts to the Member leading the opposition to the previous question, who may offer a proper amendment or motion and who controls the time for debate thereon."

Clearly, the vote on the previous question on a rule does have substantive policy implications. It is one of the only available tools for those who oppose the Republican majority's agenda and allows those with alternative views the opportunity to offer an alternative plan.

Mr. COLE. Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time, and I move the previous question on the resolution.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The question is on ordering the previous question.

The question was taken; and the Speaker pro tempore announced that the ayes appeared to have it.

Mr. MCGOVERN. Mr. Speaker, on that I demand the yeas and nays.

The yeas and nays were ordered.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Pursuant to clause 9 of rule XX, the Chair will reduce to 5 minutes the minimum time for any electronic vote on the question of adoption of the resolution.

The vote was taken by electronic device, and there were—yeas 244, nays 177, not voting 12, as follows:

The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Texas.

GENERAL LEAVE

Mr. BRADY of Texas. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative days in which to revise and extend their remarks on H.R. 2029.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Texas?

There was no objection.

Mr. BRADY of Texas. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

After months of negotiations, I am honored today to talk to Americans about the Protecting Americans from Tax Hikes Act, also known as the PATH Act.

The most important thing for the American people to know is that this bill prevents their taxes from increasing, helps create more jobs in their communities, and makes it easier for them to do their taxes. It also reins in the IRS and protects taxpayers from waste and fraud within the large tax credit programs administered by the IRS.

Now I would like to take a moment to talk about the six specific ways this bill helps American taxpayers.

First, this bill provides $629 billion of tax relief that families and businesses can rely on. It is financially responsible because preventing a tax increase is never a cost.

Republicans have always worked to stop Washington from taking more money from the hardworking Americans who earned it. This is not Washington's money. It is the taxpayers'. We shouldn't have to raise taxes on some people to prevent taxes on other people from going up.

Secondly, by making a number of temporary tax provisions permanent, this will deliver predictability, clarity, and certainty for individual taxpayers as well as people managing businesses and trying to invest for the future.

As we know all too well, how our country manages its Tax Code makes absolutely no sense. How can families and local businesses count on tax relief each year as long as Congress can't decide what is permanent and what is not? That confusion ends with this bill.

With this bill in place, Americans will no longer have to worry each December if Congress will take action to extend certain tax relief measures that they have come to rely upon, including allowing State and local sales tax deductions for families, providing small businesses tax relief, and offering incentives—true incentives—for innovation, including the research and development tax credit.

Third, this is a progrowth bill. This permanent tax relief will make it easier for employees to plan ahead, hire new workers, grow their businesses, and invest in the community.

Fourth, Americans who are frustrated by Washington waste will be pleased to know that our bill contains stronger measures to fight fraud and abuse in these tax credit programs. While these provisions are significant, they are only a down payment on Republican efforts to make these tax programs, which are far too prone to error, abuse, and waste today, more accountable.

Fifth, our bill reins in the IRS and protects taxpayers, delivers the power to fire IRS employees who take politically motivated actions against taxpayers, requires IRS employees to respect the Taxpayer Bill of Rights, and prohibits IRS employees from using personal email accounts for official business.

After witnessing years of abuse at the IRS, we can all agree that these provisions are important taxpayer victories.

Finally, this bill serves as a path forward to progrowth tax reform by ensuring that we will no longer have to spend months each year debating temporary tax extensions. Instead, Congress can focus on delivering a simpler, fairer, and flatter Tax Code that is built for growth.

I am proud of this legislation and grateful for all the Members of Congress who have helped throughout the course of these negotiations. This bill includes literally dozens of provisions drawn from bills and marked up by the Ways and Means Committee this past year. That is a reflection of the regular order that I am committed to extending and expanding next year as the committee digs in on tax reform and other critical measures.

There is a lot in this bill, but those are the key principles. The bottom line is this legislation prevents tax increases, creates more job opportunities, and makes it easier for Americans to do their taxes. That is a great gift, an overdue gift, for the American taxpayers and the people who want and deserve a stronger U.S. economy.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. LEVIN. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

This bill adds $622 billion to the deficit, the vast majority of which is through permanent tax provisions. For those who propose to have the increase in the deficit continue to drive down defense domestic spending, this bill will almost certainly accomplish this. By FY17, nondefense discretionary spending will have already fallen to its lowest level, as a share of the economy, since 1962. These cuts seriously threaten programs that assist the middle class or those who are striving to reach the middle class, programs like Head Start and Pell Grants and those in job training and those in basic health research.

For those who want, as they have for years, to make tax breaks permanent so that they will not have to be offset in revenue-neutral tax reform, this bill will help them carry it out, leaving more room to cut taxes for the very wealthy, which they will say will pay for themselves.

For those who want to continue tax cuts that were only intended for a specific period, like expensive bonus depreciation, the purpose of which is to ease recovery from the recession and to lose its effectiveness otherwise, this bill will help do that.

For those who want to continue international tax proposals, often serving as a loophole and helping to move resources overseas, this bill will help do that. The active financing international tax provision, made permanent in this bill at a cost of $78 billion, and the extension of the CFC look-through provision for 5 years, at a cost of $8 billion, which often promotes tax savings, should be thoroughly reexamined as part of comprehensive tax reform—and the sooner the better.

This bill is a piecemeal approach to tax reform. It is the opposite of what was done by former Ways and Means Chairman Dave Camp, who kept some provisions, who changed some, who ended some, like bonus depreciation, and who paid for his revenue-neutral comprehensive tax reform proposal.

These shortcomings must be weighed against the provisions that are important priorities for Democrats—the child tax credit, the earned income tax credit, and the American opportunity tax credit. But the long-term negative dangers of this legislation make the price too high. Therefore, I oppose this legislation.

Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. BRADY of Texas. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

As chairman of the Committee on Ways and Means, I have asked that the nonpartisan Joint Committee on Taxation make available to the public a technical explanation of the Protecting Americans from Tax Hikes Act of 2015, which the House is considering today.

The Joint Committee on Taxation has issued that technical explanation as JCX-144-15, and it expresses the Ways and Means Committee's understanding and legislative intent behind this important legislation. It is available on the Joint Committee on Taxation's Web site at www.jct.gov.

Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from Louisiana (Mr. BOUSTANY), who leads the Subcommittee on Tax Policy for the Committee on Ways and Means.

Mr. BOUSTANY. I thank the chairman for the fine work he and his staff have done in negotiating this package.

Mr. Speaker, Speaker RYAN has talked about restoring confidence in America, which is something I think we can all agree on. Things we need to do to achieve that involve restoring American leadership abroad, protecting our American values, and, very importantly, restoring American prosperity. We can't do that until we reform the Tax Code. That is at the center of all of the efforts to restore American prosperity through economic growth.

I rise in rigorous support of this bill as it stops the cycle of just extending these provisions without vetting them year after year and in the last hours of the year. It is time to stop that, and we are doing that. We are making some of these provisions permanent. We are creating certainty for American families and for American businesses at a time of economic uncertainty. This is real tax relief that sets the stage for tax reform.

There are a number of important provisions in this. Mr. PAULSEN has worked very hard to repeal the device tax, which stifles American innovation, and we are going to put this on hold for 2 years. We are going to stop the health insurance tax for 1 year, which is causing health insurance premium hikes for American families. By some estimates, it is $350 to $400 a year for American families, and this is wrong.

The R&D tax credit is made permanent. American innovation is what we want to see to get growth. It also has a whole bunch of other provisions that help small businesses and families. We do work very hard to create program integrity in our EITC and child tax credit, something that is very much needed.

I believe this is a very important step forward for tax reform. It sets the stage. We have broken that disastrous cycle of just a knee-jerk extension of these provisions, and we have, actually, vetted a lot of these tax provisions to be made permanent—we have run them through committee; we have had hearings; we have had markups; we have taken them to the floor. We are trying to restore regular order.

Ladies and gentlemen, this will be seen as a first step in restoring American confidence. I am confident of that. Let's pass this package and move on.

Mr. LEVIN. Mr. Speaker, I yield 3 minutes to the gentleman from Maryland (Mr. HOYER), the Democratic whip.

Mr. HOYER. I thank the gentleman for yielding.

Mr. Speaker, as for the last speaker, I heard that speech in 1981. I heard it in 2001. I heard it in 2003. The certainty of this bill is that we will explode further deficits and provide for disinvestment. That is the certainty of this bill, and I rise in strong opposition to it.

This package will raise deficits by approximately $622 billion over the next 10 years. Add to that the $58 billion in unpaid-for tax provisions in the omnibus bill of approximately $680 billion. When you add interest to that, it is almost $800 billion in additional debt, Mr. and Mrs. America.

I came to this floor on Tuesday and spoke in greater detail about my opposition to this package. I, again, want to highlight one major issue, and that is how enacting this legislation will set the stage for the next round of painful sequester cuts, otherwise known as disinvestment in growing our economy and jobs.

Do my colleagues not see the tragic symmetry of this package's almost $800 billion in new deficits and the sequester's $813 billion in cuts that were imposed for the sake of deficit reduction?

Republicans will again insist upon hundreds of billions of cuts from domestic discretionary investment—i.e., growing jobs and the economy—in order to make up for the budget shortfall incurred by the extension of these tax credits, some of which are made permanent.

There are, certainly, good reasons to make a number of these tax credits and deductions permanent, and I support making many of these permanent, but we ought to pay for it in the process, as your predecessor did, Mr. Camp. It was a tough decision he made, and it was dismissed out of hand because it was hard to do.

This is easy to do. There is no courage required to vote for this bill. All you have to do is suspend common sense. This legislation flies in the face of the basic budgeting principle, which hardworking families all across our Nation understand and have to live with every month.

Maya MacGuineas, president of the Committee for a Responsible Federal Budget, wrote in The Washington Post last week:

"How do we explain to our children that we borrowed more than $1 trillion—counting interest—not because it was a national emergency or to make critical investments in the future but because we just don't like paying our bills?"

Republicans would answer as they always do—that tax cuts somehow, magically, pay for themselves. I have been here 35 years. It has never happened.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The time of the gentleman has expired.

Mr. LEVIN. I yield the gentleman an additional 30 seconds.

Mr. HOYER. Mr. Speaker, we have seen that notion disproven several times over, and the results of experimenting with that idea have been higher deficits and a ballooning debt that fuel Republican efforts to disinvest in our future and to dismantle Medicare, Social Security, and safety net programs. Let's not make the same mistake again.

Instead, we ought to be voting on a straightforward, 2-year extension, and then commit ourselves to meaningful tax reform as David Camp did. It is tough to do, I understand that, but it is the right thing to do. Let us show that we have courage as well as common sense. Defeat this bill. Let us move on to meaningful tax reform and to growing our economy.

Mr. BRADY of Texas. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from Ohio (Mr. TIBERI), one of our key leaders on tax reform.

Mr. TIBERI. I thank Chairman BRADY and Speaker RYAN for their leadership.

Mr. Speaker, to the previous gentleman, I say Mr. and Mrs. America would be stunned to know that, to keep current policy in place, we have to raise taxes to keep tax cuts, some of which have been in place for 30 years. The R&D tax credit has been around for 30 years. The horrible way that we make policy here on a retroactive basis or on a "1-year forward and then we will address it again" basis is changing today.

Tom and Judy Price, who are farmers in my district, have been thinking about buying a loader this year. They can now, actually, buy one, and they can, actually, plan for the next 10 years on how to operate their farm and to make investments. There is that small business guy who wants to expense or that person to whom R&D is so important, but they weren't sure what we were going to do with the R&D tax credit even though it has been around for decades.

For decades, the current policy has been the R&D tax credit. Yet, making that current policy permanent was being argued by some on the other side as our having to raise taxes to pay for this current policy. No wonder Americans shake their heads.

This is a good bill. This is an amazing bill. Go talk to your small business owners. Go talk to the accountant at the YMCA who puts together tax filings for people who care about the child tax credit and about the permanency in the child tax credit, about the New Markets tax credit—things that have an amazing impact on our communities, like the Low-Income Housing tax credit that Mr. NEAL and I have worked on. Section 179's permanency is unbelievable. It is going to impact communities from coast to coast, including my district in Ohio and farmers as well. This is going to provide amazing certainty.

I have been so pleased to work on a number of these issues with my Republican and Democrat colleagues. This, ladies and gentlemen, is a wonderful bridge to comprehensive tax reform.

Mr. LEVIN. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1½ minutes to the gentleman from New York (Mr. RANGEL).

Mr. RANGEL. Mr. Speaker, I don't know how proud we can be as legislators to say, at the end of the year, instead of legislating—having hearings, listening to what this is going to do to help America, and where it is going to hurt—we are so proud of the fact that we are negotiating. Here we are talking about $680 billion of tax cuts, yet, we all know that, when we get home, there is nobody in the world who is going to think that their pockets, that their jobs, that their educations are going to be better.

The world should be screaming for America to provide the leadership and to say that we have a system based on a Tax Code that we can depend on. Yes, we shouldn't have to extend these every year. We should work together to bring all of this together so that we know exactly what is going on.

I hate to say this. People talk about the earned income tax credit. I fought for this. I am one of the people who goes against loopholes, and I guess I have really tried to get more loopholes in it in order for poor people to get some justice out of the tax system. The truth of the matter is, because of the disparity in incomes, because people work hard every day and they are still in poverty, we are going to use the Tax Code in order to say that we will give them a refundable tax credit.

No. What this is going to do is to remove the ability for this great country of ours to have the discretionary funds to do the right thing, which is really conditioned in what we call the pursuit of happiness. We should not be using the Tax Code for social welfare, nor should we be using the Tax Code in order to have certain companies benefit from it.

What we should be doing is reforming the entire Tax Code so America would know where we are going and where we should be going.

Mr. BRADY of Texas. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentlewoman from Kansas (Ms. JENKINS), a key member of our tax writing committee.

Ms. JENKINS of Kansas. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman for his good work on this issue.

As I visit with folks at home in Kansas, they often express their frustration with Washington. Uncertainty is the enemy, whether in tax policy, regulatory policy, or health policy. Folks simply need to know what the rules will be so they can plan accordingly.

As a former CPA who worked in the tax area and a former State treasurer, I have seen firsthand how uncertain tax policies that expire every year negatively impact our hardworking businesses and families. I am pleased we have secured a tax package that will bring much more certainty to families and businesses across the country fighting to create jobs in our struggling economy. This legislation will help bring us closer to the stable tax policies our economy desperately needs.

This bill is another step in the right direction toward a confident America, built on principles and values that hard work should equal success. This legislation will grow our economy, put more money back in the folks' pockets, and rein in the IRS. With these foundations, we can continue to make strides towards a progrowth agenda that helps businesses succeed, creates more jobs, and stimulates the economy.

Mr. LEVIN. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the distinguished gentleman from California (Ms. PELOSI).

Ms. PELOSI. Mr. Speaker, I thank the gentleman for yielding, and I thank him for his leadership on bigger paychecks for America's working families and in so many areas. Thank you, Mr. LEVIN, for your leadership.

I congratulate Chairman BRADY for assuming his new position. We all wish him success and look forward to working with him.

The bill before us today calls for very serious discussion. We in this body have a very big responsibility to make decisions as architects of our children's future, where we are making decisions that strengthen the middle class and that take us to our responsibility to be custodians of our democracy.

The middle class is the backbone of our democracy, and this legislation undermines the success of the middle class. In terms of children, their education, the financial security of their families, the pension security of their grandparents, the health of the environment in which they live, all of that is seriously affected by this legislation.

Let's put it in perspective, because this is part of a grand scheme that started after President Clinton left office. In his term of office, because of the Budget Act of 1993 which passed with Democratic support, it unleashed a remarkable era of job creation, and it took us on a path to deficit reduction. In fact, five of his last budgets were even or in surplus, and that was taking us to a path of reducing not only the deficit—of course it would be eliminated—but the national debt.

Along came tax cuts for the middle class, and in just a few years, all of the progress in reducing the deficit that occurred during the Clinton administration was reversed by the Bush tax cuts—unpaid for—for the wealthiest. That unpaid for is really what my problem is here today.

There are many provisions in this bill that we Democrats take ownership of and I personally take some personal pride in having worked on. For example, the earned income tax credit and the childcare tax credit, those initiatives we negotiated with President Bush to take them to the place that they are. They are a stimulus. They were debated and passed at the time as part of President Bush's stimulus package.

When it comes to some of the initiatives like R&D, we have all been talking about modernizing and making permanent the research and development tax credit. The problem is, unpaid for.

When we talk about 179, that is a creation of which Democrats were very much a part, which were the initiatives to help small businesses. We fully subscribe to that. But when we make them permanent—and that might be a good idea—and they are unpaid for, it also hurts our ability to do something broader in the Tax Code and take advantage of that opportunity.

So low-income housing tax credits, again, I think I am second to none—except maybe Mr. RANGEL—in this body in my advocacy for that, when Mr. Rostenkowski was the chairman of the committee. It is important that they are in this legislation, and they should be permanent.

My problem with it all is why are these things—look, this is an engine to send jobs overseas with some of the provisions that are in the legislation, so it is like a Trojan horse. There are many good things, and then all of a sudden you find out what is in the belly of them.

So the fact that they are permanent means that, for certain things like bonus depreciation and things like that, if they are for a short term, people will take advantage of them. We get the boost in our economy, and our Treasury from that.

Here is what it comes down to: You go down this path of $600-plus billion of permanent, unpaid for tax extenders largely benefiting corporate America and say that doesn't have to be paid for. Oh, but, by the way, if you want to do $7 billion to honor the work of 9/11 first responders, you have to pay for every penny of it, find a way to do it by cuts or outlay or some other way.

So what is the symmetry in all of this? Tax cuts for businesses to send jobs overseas, unpaid for and permanent; 9/11, which is an emergency, would you not agree? If there ever were an emergency, it would be 9/11. And the costs related to honoring our commitments, both in health and compensation to those workers, should be held up because we couldn't find pay-fors. Now we have, so that is good. We had to find the pay-fors.

What I question very seriously is: What are the costs in the outyears? It is hard to determine, but they are there.

What they are going to do is increase the deficit with such seriousness that our country will have to borrow from the Social Security trust fund to stay afloat, seriously undermining Social Security—and as our distinguished whip said, Social Security, Medicare, and the rest. It seriously affects this legislation, seriously affects our ability to make the discretionary investments in the education of our children, the promotion of growth, and the rest of that.

So I think what it comes down to is, yes, there are some good ideas in here. We developed them. We support them. We don't even care if some of them are permanent. It is the unpaid for part of it that is mortgaging our children's future, that is threatening Social Security, and that undermines our ability to reduce the deficit and reduce the interest payments on the national debt.

Again, we are walking away from what President Clinton did so successfully with a very difficult vote. We lost the Congress after that for that and other reasons. Some Members did. They said: I did the right thing because it took us on a path of fiscal soundness, and it took us on a path of economic growth. This, of course, was reversed in the Bush years. The $5.5 trillion of deficit reduction was—there was an $11 trillion reversal, one of the biggest, up until that time, of a reversal.

My colleagues, I sympathize with some who say, well, I have always been for R&D tax credits, and others who say, well, it has to do with the tax stuff in my State and all that. I appreciate that, and I respect your judgment on it.

There is a bigger picture here, and the bigger picture is our responsibility to the future. The chickens will come home to roost on this. We will have to pay. You know who is going to pay? Our children, their families, the Social Security system, and the rest.

For that reason, I will not be supporting this, and I join our distinguished Whip HOYER in urging our colleagues to vote against it as well. I know it sounds good. But, as I said, it is a Trojan horse, and we should not be fooled.

Mr. BRADY of Texas. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from Minnesota (Mr. PAULSEN), the House leader of the efforts to stop the medical device tax.

Mr. PAULSEN. Mr. Speaker and Members, the United States is the only country in the world that lets important parts of its Tax Code expire each and every year, and we are changing that here today. This bipartisan tax package prioritizes permanent tax relief for families and businesses so that they can keep more of their own money, they can hire new workers, and they can invest in new equipment.

It also does include the repeal of the medical device tax that has been in place, and it stops it for the next 2 years, a tax that has cost our economy jobs and has also reduced innovation.

What has been the result of this tax? One small business I spoke with said it is pretty simple. Instead of having 10 projects, I will have 6, which means 2 fewer engineers and 2 fewer technicians.

Another company I spoke to says, because it is a tax on sales and not on profit, they testified it is a 79 percent effective tax rate that they have. How can anyone justify a 79 percent effective tax rate? Another company said they are borrowing money from the bank every single month just to pay the tax in the hopes and taking the risk that they will actually become profitable.

Of course, a constituent I spoke to, Jim, he told the story of losing his job at a medical device company that he had for 21 years. He was laid off. He eventually was rehired, but his job paid $40,000 less, his vacation time was halved, and his health costs skyrocketed.

Of course, patients are suffering also because we have fewer lifesaving and life-improving technologies here developed in the United States.

Mr. Speaker, this tax package helps our economy, and it gets us back on track with a progrowth Tax Code. I will say that our local businesses are really excited about ending the guessing game of 6-month, 1-year, retroactive tax policy and instead giving clarity, predictability, and certainty so they can invest in their people and they can invest in their equipment.

I ask my colleagues to support this legislation.

I thank the chairman for his leadership.

Mr. LEVIN. Mr. Speaker, I yield 3 minutes to the gentleman from Massachusetts (Mr. NEAL).

Mr. NEAL. Mr. Speaker, the bill we have before us today is the universal legislator's dilemma: the possible versus the perfect.

I rise in support of this legislation today. I stand with President Obama in support of this legislation today.

I rise to prevent 18 million Americans, including 8 million children, from falling deeper into poverty.

I rise to ensure that, during this special time of the year, nonprofits will continue their important work to improve the lives of millions of Americans through charitable activity.

I rise to unleash billions of dollars in economic development to rebuild, to rehab, and to refurbish our neighborhoods and our communities.

I rise to incentivize American innovation and the millions of jobs that it creates. At this bill's core is a modest progrowth jobs bill, one that, given the current headwinds of our economy, is sorely needed.

I have spent the better part of my career in Congress as a champion of the earned income tax credit and expanding it, as a champion of the child tax credit and expanding it, as a champion of the low-income housing tax credit and expanding it and the expansion of the New Markets Tax Credit Program, which my DNA clearly is on.

Taken together, these credits will go a long way to toward improving the lives of millions of Americans across the country in our typically overlooked communities.

This is not the easiest way to accomplish an end. We should be very critical of ourselves now for the backup manner in which we do these undertakings—voting on 12 legislative appropriations bills tomorrow wrapped into 1; tax policy that is done in this shape and manner.

I will also say something else that we need to remind ourselves of: the breakdown of the committee structure in Congress. What has happened to the procedures that we all use to vet controversial legislation? Amendments could be offered and people could speak their minds.

Today we are taking up issues that should have been vetted over the course of the last 3 years. I offer a gentle rebuke to my colleagues on the other side. Chairman Camp had the backbone to put out a decent piece of legislation. It didn't mean we were going to embrace it or endorse it, but it was a courageous act, and it was his own side that shot it down.

In Cambridge, Massachusetts, Kendall Square has the highest concentration of research and development today in the world. Making the R&D tax credit permanent is going to enhance that opportunity. I have worked on the R&D credit and pushed for a more aggressive, predictable R&D credit through my entire years in this Congress.

This is not perfect, what we are doing today. It is far from it. But it represents a compromise or, as The New York Times called it, an acceptable compromise that is necessary to move the country forward.

Mr. Speaker, I urge its adoption.

Mr. BRADY of Texas. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from Washington (Mr. REICHERT), the former leader of our Subcommittee on Tax Policy.

Mr. REICHERT. Mr. Speaker, I thank the chairman for yielding and for his hard work on this bill.

We are here in Washington, D.C., talking about tax reform, and we are throwing around tax terms like built-in gains, bonus depreciation, research and development, R&D, and on and on and on.

People back home I think really, for the most part, don't get all of that talk, but they do understand when we are talking about reducing their taxes, when we are creating an environment where businesses can thrive, where businesses can reinvest their capital back into their hard work, their small businesses, create jobs, sell their products, and hire more people. That is what this bill is about.

Just three quick examples of constituencies that I am hearing from in my district:

One, the teachers in Washington State. They really appreciate the fact that there is certainty now that they can deduct the amount of money they spend up to $500 on school equipment to help our children learn. Every year or 2 years we go through this exercise of deciding whether or not we are going to support our teachers. They have certainty. This is not about big businesses. These are teachers.

Two, small businesses, S Corporations, can now with certainty have access to revenue. Rather than waiting 10 years, they can have it in 5. They can sell equipment that they had to sit on for 5 years or 7 years. Now they can sell that equipment and buy new equipment, creating more jobs and selling more products.

Three, for Washington State especially, the permanency in sales tax is a big deal. The permanency in our ability in Washington State—I think one of seven States in this country—to deduct our sales tax from our Federal income tax creates certainty for every tax-paying citizen in Washington State. This is a big deal.

These three small, little provisions are big deals for the average American across this country in Washington State and in the Eighth District of Washington State that I serve.

Mr. LEVIN. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from Texas (Mr. DOGGETT), another distinguished member of our committee.

Mr. DOGGETT. Mr. Speaker, the nonpartisan Committee for a Responsible Federal Budget has said that, over two decades, this very bill will add over $2 trillion to the national debt.

For anyone who hides behind poor kids to justify that $2 trillion in debt, understand that there is no poor child in America who will get a dime out of this bill next year. Their tax credits do not expire now. We have more than another year to resolve that matter.

No, this isn't about poor children. It is about big gifts. Indeed, in the holiday spirit, the biggest bow of all has been put on a special gift for Wall Street. The world's largest financial institutions, you know, the ones that brought America to its economic knees with the debacle over finances and then came forward and got a majority of this Congress—not me—to vote for a taxpayer bailout, well, they are back here again, and they are getting a reward.

They are getting a tax subsidy that is made permanent. It just happens to be a tax subsidy that was removed from our Tax Code originally in a bill that Ronald Reagan signed into law. When it got put back in on a temporary basis, Bill Clinton sought to veto the provision because it was so unjustified.

Christmas, of course, is not cheap. This bill, this gift to Wall Street, costs $78 billion—not paid for—borrowed from the Saudis and from the Chinese to give Wall Street $78 billion, with a “B.”

How much money is that? Well, about the same amount is included in the bill this will be a part of. It funds all the medical research at the National Institutes of Health, the Centers for Disease Control, all of Head Start across the country, and all of the education for the disabled and disadvantaged that is provided by the Federal Government. All of that combined is $78 billion. But you can be sure that Wall Street is never disabled or disadvantaged in the Capitol.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The time of the gentleman has expired.

Mr. LEVIN. Mr. Speaker, I yield an additional 30 seconds to the gentleman.

Mr. DOGGETT. This $78 billion tax subsidy is called the “active financing exception.” My, my, these bankers have been active here. They may have been very naughty to the American people. They may have been very naughty to the American economy. But they have been, oh, so nice to some Members of Congress.

Republicans and some Democratic enablers are helping keep a provision in here that will only lead to shipping jobs overseas. They are borrowing from overseas to put this burden on the American people. This is the kind of provision that causes Americans to be so concerned about their government and a feeling that it has run away from them because these kinds of provisions are running away our debt and denying the support for Make It In America that we need.

Mr. Speaker, I urge the rejection of this package that will do so much harm to our country.

GENERAL LEAVE

Mr. BRADY of Texas. Mr. Speaker, I ask unanimous consent that all Members may have 5 legislative days in which to include extraneous materials to the motion now under consideration.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from Texas?

There was no objection.

Mr. BRADY of Texas. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1½ minutes to the gentleman from Nebraska (Mr. SMITH), a big fighter for American agriculture who serves on the Committee on Ways and Means.

Mr. SMITH of Nebraska. Mr. Speaker, I thank the chairman for his efforts on better tax policy. The U.S. Congress owes the American people better tax policy than we currently have.

We currently have so many temporary provisions that so many Americans are wondering and trying to predict what the tax policy will be by the end of the year. That is not what we should be about. We should be about establishing permanent tax policy whenever we can.

I appreciate the bipartisan interest in today's bill because I know a lot of work has gone into this. I know that constituents in Nebraska's Third District can appreciate what permanent tax policy can deliver, especially as it sets us on a trajectory to comprehensive tax reform.

We hear from both sides that we need comprehensive tax reform. I agree. This is a great way to move the ball down the field. We can end up with better tax policy today as a result of this legislation. I urge my colleagues to adopt this legislation.

Mr. LEVIN. Mr. Speaker, how much time remains on each side?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman from Michigan has 15½ minutes remaining. The gentleman from Texas has 15 minutes remaining.

Mr. LEVIN. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from California (Mr. THOMPSON), another distinguished member of our committee.

Mr. THOMPSON of California. Mr. Speaker, I stand today in support of many of the provisions that are in this bill. I, too, believe that we need to bring permanency to our tax policy.

One of the pieces of this legislation that we are debating today is one that is very near and dear to my heart, something I have worked on since the day I got to Congress, and that is the conservation easement provision, which has helped all of our districts a great deal. That, too, needs to be made permanent.

But I stand in opposition to the overall bill. It is not because it is bad policy. We all agree that a lot of the provisions in this bill are good public policy. We should pass them. We should make them permanent.

But, sadly, this bill is fiscally reckless. We are going to pass this policy, and we are going to send a nearly $700 billion bill on to the taxpayers of this country.

In his comments, my friend, the gentleman from Louisiana, said that, for every piece of legislation in here, they have had hearings, they have had markups, and they have taken these to the floor. He is absolutely correct.

We have done everything except make sure this bill is paid for. That is a responsibility that all of us should take seriously. We should not pass tax expenditures without paying for them.

I urge a “no” vote on the bill.

Mr. BRADY of Texas. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the gentlewoman from Tennessee (Mrs. BLACK), a member of our committee who is a champion of the State and local sales tax deduction.

Mrs. BLACK. Mr. Speaker, I rise today in strong support of the Protecting Americans from Tax Hikes Act, which includes a permanent extension of the sales tax deduction that is so critical for Tennessee. We are proud to be one of only nine States in the Union without an income tax on wages.

Taxpayers in other States are able to deduct their State income tax on their Federal returns. It only makes sense that a similar deduction would be made available in States like mine that exercise our right not to pile on additional income tax on our own.

As the only Member of the Committee on Ways and Means from the State of Tennessee, I was proud to work with Chairman BRADY to ensure the inclusion of this much-needed provision in today's bill. I am also pleased that this legislation includes language to combat educational tax fraud.

Specifically, this bill requires that individuals claiming the American Opportunity Tax Credit provide the employer identification number of the educational institution they are attending, in turn, saving our tax system an estimated $837 million in fraudulent payments.

I urge passage of the Protecting Americans from Tax Hikes Act.

Mr. LEVIN. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2½ minutes to the gentleman from Oregon (Mr. BLUMENAUER).

Mr. BLUMENAUER. Mr. Speaker, I, too, have been deeply concerned about the long-term trends of our failing to come forward with revenue to pay for America's priorities. I found the Bush tax cuts a disaster.

I have repeatedly brought before my friends in Congress proposals to actually fund our priorities. I look forward to doing so again, either stand-alone or in the context of comprehensive tax reform.

I am prepared, however, today to support the provisions before us. First of all, I think the cost ought to be put in perspective because these items are ones that have been routinely approved year in and year out, not particularly paid for, and they are ones that will be approved again.

My friend, the distinguished minority whip, talked about it is better to do just 2 years. Doing it on an ongoing basis for 2 years continues to have the same cost, but provides uncertainty for people who depend upon it.

There are a number of provisions here that we all worked on: wind, solar, new markets, short line, transit parity, CIDER Act. These are items people deserve to have some clarity on moving forward for numerous provisions that ultimately would pass, but we would hold people in suspense until the end.

But I want to speak to one particular item here. My good friend from Texas said you don't have to worry about the earned income tax credit or the child tax credit because they don't expire until next year.

Well, I would respectfully suggest that, if we followed that path and waited until 2017, not in the context of this total package, I think we are putting at risk significant tax relief for working, low-income Americans and their families.

Left alone, there would be a huge price to be extracted from some in Congress who aren't particularly supportive of this Democratic priority. It would put at risk the support for these 16 million Americans, half of whom are children, and 164,000 Oregonians.

I think adopting it in this package and making it permanent is a far superior approach to guarantee that. Then, by all means, let's roll up our sleeves and work on the provisions together. There is going to be lots to argue about, but in the meantime, I feel comfortable supporting those priorities—and particularly for low- and moderate-income Americans.

Mr. BRADY of Texas. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1½ minutes to the gentleman from New York (Mr. REED), who has been a key leader of the Ways and Means Committee on manufacturing and energy.

Mr. REED. Mr. Speaker, I thank the chairman for yielding, and I thank him for his hard work, as well as the folks on the other side of the aisle who have come together to support this legislation, as I do, today.

Mr. Speaker, hardworking taxpayers across America deserve a fairer, simpler Tax Code, and one that allows them to keep more of their hard-earned dollars. That is exactly why I support this legislation, as it is a step in the right direction along that path.

The other important aspect of this legislation is it brings certainty to our manufacturers and the energy sector in regard to these provisions that are temporarily extended each and every year, as my colleagues have recognized over and over again, and now, to a large extent, we make permanent. That allows them to plan for tomorrow. That allows them to make the investments with their hard-earned dollars in the places they choose to put that money. And they can rely on a Tax Code now that is certain, simpler, and fairer on their behalf.

We also take care of hardworking families in this bill. We also take care of people in our bill, the Mortgage Forgiveness Act and the America Gives More Act, where we talk about charitable donation of food inventories.

That is the right policy for the American people. That is the right policy for hardworking taxpayers across America. And I am glad that we have on the floor today an opportunity to demonstrate to hardworking taxpayers that we care about them and that we are going to put their interests first and foremost, rather than those of Washington, D.C., and of the elected officials here.

Mr. BRADY of Texas. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from Pennsylvania (Mr. KELLY), another key member of our committee, who brings such local business sense to the issue of taxes.

Mr. KELLY of Pennsylvania. I thank the chairman for yielding.

Mr. Speaker, I rise in strong support. This is one of the things that I think really makes us a little bit different. It is about certainty. And where I am from, there is an old saying: If you don't know where you are going, any road will get you there. Well, people who run businesses actually have to know where they are going before they start. So this does bring some honesty to what it is that we need to do.

But in a time when people talk about "I" and "me"—and that is what I hear most of the time—I want to talk about all the other people: the "we's" that got together. This is truly a joint effort between a lot of staff members. It is not just Members of Congress, but staff members.

So, if I could just for a second thank the committee's tax team: George Callas, Mark Warren, Harold Hancock, John Sandell, Aharon Friedman, and Jennifer Acuna. They have put in unbelievable amounts of time on this to get this done not for the Republican Party, but for the American people. How refreshing it is at this time of the year to actually give back and do something for others—and do it in a way that just makes common sense to everybody out there who has to know where it is that they are going.

There is something about certainty that gives us the confidence to go forward and that gives us that assuredness that we can actually get there. This is an incredible opportunity. This is really historic.

So I want to thank Members on both sides. I think the American people will sit back and say: This is the place where these guys and girls can't get together on anything. I would just say that is not true. This is truly bipartisan. It has taken an awful lot of work by an awful lot of people. So I want to take time to thank them for what they did. They are incredible people and great patriots.

Mr. LEVIN. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from Wisconsin (Mr. KIND), another distinguished member of our committee.

Mr. KIND. I thank my friend for yielding.

Mr. Speaker, I am all for certainty. I am all for predictability. I am all for a lot of the policy initiatives that are contained in this legislation before us. But what I am not in favor of is the fact that this $700 billion bill is not paid for. Not a nickel of it is offset.

When I go home to Wisconsin, I constantly hear from folks back home for Congress to pay our bills and to get our fiscal house in order. This legislation doesn't do it. It is $700 billion over the first 10 years. It explodes to $2 trillion in the second 10 years.

There is nothing more dangerous for the long-term success of Social Security and Medicaid or our children's future than these end-of-the-year, large tax cut packages that are not paid for and that are not offset.

It is a missed opportunity. We should be doing this within the context of comprehensive reform. I submit that by going forward and making permanent many of these provisions in the legislation today, it takes the wind out of the sails of tax reform in the future.

There has been an implicit agreement when we do comprehensive reform that we are going to do it in a way that builds in certainty, encourages investments, makes us more competitive globally, but we don't blow a hole in the deficit and our children's future at the same time. Chairman Camp recognized that with the discussion draft. He made hard choices to pay for the lowering of rates and the broadening of the base. We are ducking that responsibility here today.

The irony is that every bipartisan deficit reduction commission that has been asked to try to come up with a plan to get our fiscal house in order has reached the same conclusion: We are going to need some additional revenue in the future and long-term spending reforms in order to accomplish it. This legislation fails on both of those fronts.

So I would encourage my colleagues to vote "no" on this legislation. We can continue temporarily to extend many of these important provisions today, but let's keep the pressure on comprehensive reform. By doing this now, I submit that we are punting on the opportunity in the very short future to take on a Tax Code that has been long overdue for reform since 1987.

I encourage my colleagues to vote "no."

Mr. BRADY of Texas. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1½ minutes to the gentleman from Ohio (Mr. RENACCI), a key member of our committee who has extensive business experience.

Mr. RENACCI. Mr. Speaker, I want to thank the chairman and his staff for their hard work.

Mr. Speaker, I rise today in support of the Protecting Americans from Tax Hikes Act, or the PATH Act.

I came to Washington as a business owner and CPA to reform our broken Tax Code and protect hardworking American taxpayers. Many of those taxpayers come to my office on an annual basis, looking at many of these extenders and not really understanding whether they were permanent or not permanent, whether they had them or would have the opportunity to use these credits. This package here makes many of those credits permanent.

The PATH Act is an important first step forward in allowing us to reform our broken Tax Code. This legislation will make several tax policies permanent, such as the R&D credit and small business expensing. It will provide certainty and predictability to our businesses and individuals. And most importantly, it will help open the door to economic growth.

This legislation also removes unnecessary tax compliance burdens. The PATH Act includes a bill I introduced with many of my colleagues, including many on the Bipartisan Working Group that I formed many years ago. The Information Reporting Simplification Act of 2015 is in the bill. This bipartisan, commonsense legislation provides a safe harbor to eliminate the need to correct minor errors on tax forms that have de minimis impact on the tax liability outcome, and helps avoid the waste in time and dollars for businesses and individuals that would otherwise have to refile their tax returns.

Mr. Speaker, the PATH Act is an important first step in fixing our Tax Code, and I urge my colleagues to join me in support.

Mr. LEVIN. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2½ minutes to the gentleman from California (Mr. BECERRA).

Mr. BECERRA. I thank the gentleman for yielding.

Mr. Speaker, there are pockets of Americans who might like the tax break here for corporations or the tax break there for wealthy folks who want to donate some of their IRA. But for the 320 million Americans in the country, and particularly for the 147 million Americans who file Federal tax returns, my guess is they are more concerned about their security and that of their children—their personal security, our national security, and our economic security.

After San Bernardino, Colorado Springs, Charleston, and Newtown, where Americans were senselessly gunned down in our schools, at work, and in our places of worship, the American people want job one of this Congress to be security—personal, national, and economic.

So why, 2 weeks after 32 Americans were terrorized and 14 of them killed in San Bernardino, would we make this massive, $600 billion tax break giveaway and charge it to the government credit card—because remember, it is not paid for—the first major legislation to come before this House for a vote?

We can all agree that the FBI does important work keeping us safe, tracking down terrorists. We all agree that they need to do more. So why would we be voting for this bill, which will rob funding for everything from the FBI to food safety to college Pell grants?

The cost of this bill would fund the FBI for the next 73 years—because, remember, these tax breaks are not paid for. We have got to pay for them somehow. If you were to add up the cost of this tax break bill, it could fund the FBI for 73 years. And why would we use the credit card for people who can give up their IRAs, when most Americans can't even put enough money into one basic IRA?

This is wrong-headed. These are not the American people's priorities. We can do this right. We can reform the Tax Code. But this is not the reform that the American people are asking us for. They are asking us, first and foremost, to keep our eye on the prize: our security, my kids' security, your kids' security, our national security, and our economic security.

You give away this money to corporations, you give it away to wealthy folks, and guess what? Can that person who has to think about the job and worry whether he or she is safe at the job or their kids are safe at school or can you go worship safely, are they going to be able to send their kids to college, buy that home, and retire in security? Think about it.

I urge my colleagues to vote "no" on this legislation.

Mr. BRADY of Texas. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the gentleman from North Carolina (Mr. HOLDING), a member of the Ways and Means Committee who has focused on making companies competitive here and around the world.

Mr. HOLDING. Mr. Speaker, the PATH Act will provide much-needed certainty to our Nation's families and small businesses and, most importantly, lay the foundation for comprehensive tax reform.

For far too long, folks in North Carolina had to face the burden of trying to grow their businesses and plan for the future while being forced to operate under a tax system comprised of temporary tax provisions whose fate is unpredictable.

With this bill, farmers in my district will be able to purchase a new tractor without having to gamble on whether Congress will extend the expensing provisions they depend on. In the Research Triangle Park, innovative companies will finally be able to access the R&D credit to further support their groundbreaking research without being concerned as to whether Congress will extend the credit or not.

Mr. Speaker, importantly, it is imperative that we continue to build on this progress. This bill is an important first step towards comprehensive tax reform that simplifies the Tax Code, lowers the rate, and makes America competitive around the world.

I urge my colleagues to support the PATH Act.

Mr. LEVIN. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from New Jersey (Mr. PASCRELL), a distinguished member of our committee.

Mr. PASCRELL. Mr. Speaker, let's cut to the chase. I support this legislation. It wasn't an easy decision, but I believe that Democrats were able to get a lot of policies into the bill that are good for the middle class. It is going to help 16 million Americans out of poverty.

In New Jersey, 435,000 children and 219,000 families will lose some or all of their working family tax credits if we don't do this.

This package includes a bill introduced by my friend from New York, TOM REED, and myself to help put people back to work. Our tax credit for businesses who hire long-term unemployed Americans—and we have abandoned them, let's face it—will help those families who haven't yet felt the effects of our economic recovery.

Another bill the gentleman from Washington (Mr. REICHERT) and I co-authored supports our Nation's hard-working teachers. You heard him speak about it just several minutes ago.

Both of these bills are part of the tax package before us today. And as the gentleman from Oregon (Mr. BLUMENAUER) said, these things pass routinely anyway.

Who the heck are we kidding? The enemy of the good is the perfect. Over and over and again we prove that here on this floor.

An important provision allowing public safety officers to withdraw from their pensions when they retire early without a tax penalty is included in this package.

There are provisions that support mass transit commuters, small businesses, low-income housing, families paying for college, economic development.

The earned income tax credit and the child tax credit are our biggest forces against poverty in this country, in this Nation. I can't say enough about the significance of making these enhanced credits permanent.

But when faced with the choice between these important priorities for families, for teachers, for public safety officers, I simply can't, in good conscience, vote against them to prove a point that not everything is in there, including the kitchen sink. The bill is far from perfect.

And in conclusion, let me say this. I think this has been a civil debate, and that is healthy for us, all of us, regardless of what happens in the vote.

Mr. BRADY of Texas. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1½ minutes to the gentleman from Illinois (Mr. DOLD), a member of our committee who has focused on working families in Illinois.

Mr. DOLD. Mr. Speaker, I thank the chairman for his leadership and for yielding time.

Today we are voting on a historic bill. Frankly, as a small-business owner, when I came to Congress, it was largely because I felt the government was making it harder and harder for me to put the key in the door and open up my small business each and every day. They should be making it easier for me to open up my business, easier for me to hire that next individual.

I hear from small businesses each and every day, that they need more certainty. If they had the certainty, they would be able to move forward. Instead, they sit on their hands.

These tax policies that we are voting on today, what a difference a year makes. A year ago this December, we were extending these tax extenders, and we made it for 1 year, which was retroactive. My goodness gracious, retroactive tax policy. I can't imagine anything so asinine. This package today, this historic package, talks about making many of these provisions permanent.

The R&D tax credit, if we want to talk about innovation, we want to talk about moving our country forward and being on the leading edge, this R&D tax credit is absolutely vital for small businesses that want to expense equipment. We make that permanent. It is absolutely vital that we are jump-starting our economy and growing more American jobs.

But it is not just for the businesses in here. We are also protecting families. We are also helping families pay for higher education.

We have incentives for charitable giving. Now listen. There are some that say the government should be the one that determines where these dollars go, but I would argue for putting that choice into the hands of the American people as to where they can put those dollars into the charitable organizations that they care about. Those dollars will go so much further.

That is exactly the type of bipartisan legislation that the American people not only want, but expect, from this body.

We also have so many other great things in this package: transit parity, development for affordable housing.

I urge my colleagues to come together in a bipartisan way and resoundingly pass this package.

Mr. LEVIN. Mr. Speaker, I yield 2 minutes to the gentleman from Illinois (Mr. DANNY K. DAVIS), another very active member of our committee.

Mr. DANNY K. DAVIS of Illinois. Mr. Speaker, I have been told that all that glitters is not gold. There isn't much that is absolutely perfect, and this extender package certainly is not.

However, I am pleased to note that it does make the child tax credit permanent, the American opportunity tax credit permanent, the earned income tax credit permanent, extends deductions for expenses for elementary and secondary schoolteachers, extends deductions for State and local general sales tax, extends deductions for certain charitable giving, and extends deductions for research activities, which helps to create jobs.

The new market tax credit has been beneficial to districts like mine all over the country, and I am indeed pleased to see it extended.

The work opportunity tax credit is a godsend for long-term unemployed. I have worked on an issue called Work Colleges, and I am pleased to note the exemption for students who work under this provision.

I am also pleased to note the elimination of residency requirements for disabled individuals who are eligible for the ABLE program. I am also pleased to note the exclusion for wrongfully incarcerated individuals.

Mr. Speaker, these extensions are good. I am not sure that they are going to do enough. They are not paid for, and I am not sure that they are going to do as much for low- and moderate-income families and communities as I had hoped, or for job creation or for disadvantaged areas. I am convinced that they will do good, but I am not sure that they will do enough.

Mr. BRADY of Texas. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the gentleman from Pennsylvania (Mr. MEEHAN), one of the members of the Ways and Means Committee focused on small businesses and on ending this medical device tax.

Mr. MEEHAN. Mr. Speaker, I thank the chairman.

Let me express my support for this, really, through the people that I represent. I try to think about: How does it make a difference in their lives?

It does for the person looking for a job. And we see that jobs are created by small business, and this is the kind of a program which we have now given certainty to the entrepreneurs that will create new jobs and, therefore, new revenue by somebody who is back to work.

We appreciate teachers who take money out of their own pocket. It is not a big dollar amount, but we say thank you for making your commitment to our children.

We appreciate our communities with conservation easement that will allow us to preserve the beauty, particularly in areas in which open space continues to be an issue.

But I think it is in the issue of health care, families struggling with diseases, that now we incent the kind of research and development to make a change; and then, ultimately, when we do have the products that we can bring to market, we are not taxing them and driving them further away from the consumer.

For all of these reasons, it makes a difference to the people in a positive way, and that is why I urge my colleagues to be supportive.

Mr. LEVIN. Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. BRADY of Texas. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1½ minutes to the gentleman from Illinois (Mr. ROSKAM), a key member, the leader of our Oversight Subcommittee who authored many of the IRS reforms that are in this bill.

Mr. ROSKAM. Mr. Speaker, I thank Chairman BRADY.

Not long ago, the Internal Revenue Service reached out its long arm and decided to try and get between donors and 501(c)(4), (c)(5), and (c)(6) organizations. The IRS did something that was really provocative.

What they said was—they created a false impression, and they sent letters to donors that had a chilling effect and said: We know that you made this contribution, but we think we may have a tax liability for you there. You can imagine how this had a shuddering effect all throughout these areas. And lest people think that this is a left-right issue, it is not. Left and right were both under a great deal of threat here.

So I am really pleased that in this extenders package is something that has had broad bipartisan support and bicameral support and support from both the political left and the political right, and that is to say that gifts to 501(c)(4), (c)(5), and (c)(6) organizations should be tax exempt, and the IRS ought not be manipulating and intimidating and so forth. So, Mr. Speaker, what this does is it makes sure that the IRS is boxed in and that there is no gift tax liability.

I strongly support this package, and I thank Chairman BRADY.

Mr. LEVIN. Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. BRADY of Texas. Mr. Speaker, I am pleased to yield 1 minute to the gentlewoman from Indiana (Mrs. WALORSKI), who has been a key proponent of tax relief for families and small businesses.

Mrs. WALORSKI. I thank the chairman for yielding.

Mr. Speaker, I rise in strong support of the Protecting Americans from Tax Hikes Act. There are many great pieces of this bill, but I want to highlight two in particular that will help Indiana's economy.

For decades, the research and development tax credit has relied on short-term extensions, leaving innovators in complete limbo. Today, we are making it permanent, giving innovative industry the confidence to make investments here in the United States. Indiana is also home to 300 medical device companies, employing over 20,000 people, and stands to benefit greatly from this certainty.

I am also thrilled today that we are delaying the damaging medical device tax for 2 years. This misguided tax will cost jobs, harm patients, and I look forward to the day that we can fully repeal it.

Mr. Speaker, our Tax Code is a mess; but today we have an opportunity to give certainty to individuals, to families, charities, and job creators, and we can take another step forward toward comprehensive tax reform.

Mr. LEVIN. Mr. Speaker, I reserve the balance of my time.

Mr. BRADY of Texas. Mr. Speaker, I yield 1 minute to the gentleman from South Carolina (Mr. SANFORD), who is a strong proponent of progrowth tax reform.

Mr. SANFORD. Mr. Speaker, I rise as a fiscal hawk. I rise as one who believes passionately in the issue of the debt and the deficit and government spending, but one who believes that we can't pretend our way to fixing those problems and that the first part of fixing a problem lies in actually recognizing that you have a problem. Yet the reality is that, for the last 30 years or so, we have pretended that which was permanent was impermanent, which makes, overall, this notion of tax reform incredibly difficult.

Ronald Reagan once observed that the closest thing to eternal life was a government program. It is true with regard to tax policy as well.

So I just applaud the committee for the way that they have moved us to a place where we can move to a fair tax, a flat tax, changing the Tax Code to make the system fairer and flatter, more equitable for all and then, frankly, get rid of some of the provisions that don't belong in this Tax Code.

Mr. LEVIN. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself the balance of my time.

Well, here we go again, $622 billion added to the deficit, and when you include interest on the deficit, far more. No hard choices. We are making a bad choice.

There has been lots of talk here about certainty. What is certain with this bill is that it will lead to further starving what the Republicans call the beast: adequate domestic spending for education, for health, for job training, for nutrition programs.

What is also certain is that it is going to make it easier for Republicans to cut taxes for the very wealthy.

That has always been one of the major purposes of all these bills making permanent unpaid-for tax cuts. It is also certain with this bill that we will keep loopholes that need to be closed.

For all of these reasons, Mr. Speaker, I think the cost is much too high. There are some important provisions here, but their significance I think is really overwhelmed by the fact that we are going to add money to the deficit and have consequences for the long term.

Mr. Speaker, I urge opposition to this bill.

Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. BRADY of Texas. Mr. Speaker, I yield myself such time as I may consume.

Mr. Speaker, I first want to thank the Ways and Means members who have for years and years worked on making these important tax relief provisions permanent and who have continued with me to stay at the table to work through an agreement that finally provides tax relief that families and businesses can count on.

Mr. Speaker, that wouldn't have been possible without an extremely talented professional staff. Our tax team, led by Mr. George Callas, did remarkable work in crafting this tax relief permanent measure. For that I say thank you.

This is a historical day. Today we end business as usual in Congress, and we take an important first step to progrowth tax reform. This bill provides tax relief families and businesses can finally count on. It reins in the IRS and protects taxpayers. It includes the first significant antifraud provisions in the IRS tax credit program since the 1990s. It finally creates true, honest accounting of our Tax Code.

It spends no more than what we spend each year as Congress lurches December to December trying to decide what is permanent, what is temporary, and what can people count on. Today we heard arguments that these tax savings advance terrorism, starve children, and are apparently responsible for the breakup of the Beatles.

The truth of the matter is, Mr. Speaker, extending these provisions year by year is no less—the math is no different than simply acknowledging that it is going to be done and doing it permanently so that we can actually create tax relief our families and businesses can count on.

Mr. Speaker, this is not the end of tax reform. This is a serious first step to progrowth tax reform that is built for growth, built for the growth for families' paychecks, built for the growth of our local businesses, and built for the growth of America.

We have got work to do. Today we start that work. Let's get to work.

Mr. Speaker, I yield back the balance of my time.

Mr. KIND. Mr. Speaker, I rise today in support of a number of the policies included in the PATH Act, but in opposition to fully paying for it.

As a member of the Ways and Means Committee, I have long supported a number of provisions included in the PATH Act on the floor today. A number of these provisions are vital for our businesses to operate; others are critical to helping families plan for the year ahead. I have worked closely with Congressman TIBERI on an enhanced Sec. 179 expensing limitations for small businesses and with Congressman REICHERT on the reduction of S-corporation recognition period for built-in gains tax. I appreciate the dedication of my partners across the aisle to working with me to see these proposals over the finish line and signed into law.

Within the PATH Act, I am pleased that the 50,000 families in my district who receive the Child Tax Credit and the 40,000 who benefit from the Earned Income Tax Credit will be able to count on these benefits in the years to come. Many new provisions in this package are important to me and our communities, including my bill with Congresswoman JENKINS to improve section 529 accounts to help our students save for college more effectively. I am also pleased to see the inclusion of the provision allowing rollovers from 401(k)s to SIMPLE IRAs to help families better save for retirement. The creation of agricultural research organizations, a bill I introduced with Congressman NUNES, will help universities and extensions across the country invest in cutting edge 21st century agricultural research. Finally, I am glad to see that legislation I worked on with Congressman PAULSEN to remove bond requirements for craft beverages is included in the PATH Act.

As lead Democratic sponsor on the Protect Medical Innovation Act that repeals the device tax, I have been, and continue to be, strongly supportive of repealing the medical device tax. The medical device industry is one of the most innovative and creative in the U.S. economy today. Some of the greatest cost savings we've seen in the health care system have come through technological breakthroughs in the medical device and biotechnology industries. I fought against including the medical device tax during debate on the ACA and remain opposed to it now, but I am also committed to fiscal responsibility.

Although this legislation included a number of my bills and proposals, I will be voting against the bill on the floor today. Without offsets, these provisions will cause our deficits to explode. Tax cuts do not pay for themselves, as Republican CPO Director Keith Hall reminded us just this summer. This bill makes comprehensive tax reform even more difficult by narrowing the base and eliminating options. The United States needs comprehensive tax reform that broadens the tax base while lowering rates on businesses and families. The PATH Act narrows that base, and makes no effort to remove any wasteful provisions. This package, while commendable for many of its policy goals, will fuel unsustainable deficit growth and I must oppose the package on these grounds. In the future, I look forward to working on bipartisan tax reform that promotes both a better business climate and supports the middle class.

Mr. VAN HOLLEN. Mr. Speaker, I rise in opposition to the PATH Act. This bill does take some good steps, but the failure to close special interest tax loopholes to offset permanent businesses tax provisions leads to a massive loss in federal revenue, and proves once again that Republicans are committed to using accounting gimmicks that would make Enron blush.

This bill does include extension of some important enhancements to the EITC, Child Tax Credit, and American Opportunity Tax Credit. These are vital pro-work, pro-family income supports, and making the enhancements permanent will help tens of millions of Americans.

But, while a permanent extension of these provisions is a positive first step, this bill stopped short of doing more for working families. The child tax credit did not get indexed, so will not rise with the cost of living. Each year, the credit loses value in real dollars, making it harder and harder for low-income families. There is also bipartisan agreement that the EITC for childless workers is far too low, and yet the EITC for childless workers was left out of the PATH Act. I believe not taking these steps today is a missed opportunity.

The unpaid-for tax cuts in the PATH Act are also more proof that the Republicans' claims of fiscal discipline are at best gimmicks, and at worst out-right fabrications. Between the PATH Act and the tax provisions in the omnibus spending bill, federal revenue is being reduced by $640 billion over the next ten years.

Since my Republican colleagues probably won't say it, I will remind everyone of one key fact—when Republicans passed their budget and claimed that it would balance in ten years, they relied on every single dollar of revenue that is being cut today. Let me repeat that, so it is very clear. Every. Single. Dollar. The Republican budget never really balanced in March, and it certainly does not balance now.

Here are some things which the PATH Act does not do: it does not close the loophole giving a lower tax rate to hedge funds managers; it does not close the inversion loophole allowing companies to dodge their taxes just by changing their mailing address; it does not end all the tax subsidies for the oil and gas industry; and it does not touch the 17% of all tax expenditures that go to the top 1% of earners. We could have significantly reduced the lost revenue if we closed these and other special interest tax loopholes, and failure to do so is another missed opportunity.

So, next time Republicans come to the floor claiming that they care about fiscal discipline, let's all be reminded of just what happened today—more budget gimmickry that doesn't pass the smell test.

Ms. ROYBAL-ALLARD. Mr. Speaker, I rise in opposition to this tax bill, which is unpaid for and adds more than $600 billion to the deficit, primarily to benefit corporations at the expense of working families. In the future, to address the revenue loss in this bill will require reduced funding for education, health care, and job training programs essential to improving the lives of hardworking Americans. This is completely unacceptable.

While there are some positive elements in this bill, including making the Child Tax Credit and the Earned Income Tax Credit permanent, the bill does not allow the Child Tax Credit to keep pace with inflation, which means the tax credit will be worth less and less as the years go by.

Mr. Speaker, the tax provisions in this bill don't do enough to help families make ends meet, and will force us to underfund programs that Americans need to educate their children, keep their families healthy, and provide for their families' future and well-being. I will vote against this bill because it is a bad deal for American families.

Mr. NEAL. Mr. Speaker, the Church Plan Clarification Act addresses several unintended consequences resulting from the application of general tax and pension regulations to the unique structures of church pension plans. Churches and synagogues established some of the first pension plans in the country, several dating back to the 18th century, and they are designed to ensure that our clergy and laystaff have adequate resources during their retirement years.

Church plans are often structured to reflect the ecclesiastical teachings of their denomination. The resulting diversity of plan structures, coupled with the complexity of the legal and regulatory framework that applies to church plans, has led to the need for this legislation. The bill would correct several technical issues that are critical to the functioning and operation of church plans and the retirement benefits they provide.

While the corrections contained in PATH Act would be of tremendous help to church plans,

I want to make clear that the bill does not affect the definition of "church plan" under the Internal Revenue Code or Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974, ERISA. In particular, no inference is intended by this legislation regarding the statutory requirements a pension plan must meet to be considered or treated as a "church plan" under IRC section 414(e) of the Internal Revenue Code and section 3(33) of ERISA, and the bill has no bearing on the interpretation of those sections. Rather, the Church Plan Clarification Act is simply about fixing the rules that govern how church plans operate and serve their participants.

Mr. LARSON of Connecticut. Mr. Speaker, I rise today in support of the PATH Act. While this is not a perfect bill, I join with the President in supporting this legislation as it represents clear progress for the American people. This legislation will permanently continue critical tax breaks to aid children and working families. It will permanently extend key provisions like the R&D tax credit and Section 179 expensing that will help our small businesses and manufacturers grow jobs and strengthen the economy. This bipartisan bill moves us forward as a nation both in terms of the benefits it provides and the signal it sends that it is possible for Congress to break the gridlock that has unfortunately engulfed Washington for too long.

I am particularly proud that the permanent extension of the R&D tax credit that I sponsored along with Chairman KEVIN BRADY was included in this legislation. The R&D tax credit is a driver of innovation and economic growth, and making it permanent will provide the certainty American companies need to make the long-term investments in our nation and in our workers for technologies that will keep our global economic edge. The R&D credit, along with a permanent extension of the Section 179 expensing credit, will give businesses in Connecticut and across the country the stability they need in the tax code to move our economy forward.

For children and working families, this legislation also offers a permanent extension of critical tax credits. The permanent extension of the Recovery Act enhancements of the EITC and CTC credits as well as the AOTC will ensure millions of working families across the country will continue to receive well-deserved tax breaks. Without this extension, by 2018, over 50 million individuals would have lost part or all of their credits. In Connecticut, 141,000 children in 42,000 families would lose access to part or all of their EITC or CTC credits. These provisions are absolutely critical and without them, I would not have been able to support this agreement. I wholeheartedly agree with my colleagues who have argued that the CTC should be indexed for inflation and while it is unfortunate that indexing is not included in this agreement, I will continue to fight for its inclusion on bills moving forward.

In addition, this bill includes other important provisions, including a permanent extension of a deduction for teachers who purchase supplies for their classrooms as well as critical charitable provisions such as a credit for the donation of food inventory and a provision that allows for tax-free distributions from IRAs for charitable purposes. It also incorporates other bills that will help with economic development, like the New Markets Tax credit, the low income housing tax credit, and legislation ensuring tax relief for another year for homeowners who have had part of their mortgage debt forgiven.

Finally, I want to thank the negotiators for including a bill that I co-authored with Rep. SAM JOHNSON—the Wrongful Convictions Tax Relief Act, which ensures that compensation awards received by those who were wrongfully accused are not subjected to federal taxes on their awards. I first introduced the bill with Mr. JOHNSON in 2007 following the exoneration of James Tillman in Connecticut. I was proud to co-author this bill with Mr. JOHNSON, a true American hero, which rights a tremendous wrong in the tax code. Individuals who have been wrongfully accused have already suffered enough, so the notion that they would be taxed on the awards they receive as a result of their wrongful imprisonment is unconscionable. Once again, I thank the negotiators for including this common-sense bill in this package.

On the whole, this bill will provide tremendous benefits for children, working families, and economic growth in our country. I support this bill and look forward to its passage.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. All time for debate has expired.

Pursuant to House Resolution 566, the previous question is ordered on this portion of the divided question.

EXPLANATORY STATEMENT SUBMITTED BY MR. ROGERS OF KENTUCKY, CHAIRMAN OF THE HOUSE COMMITTEE ON APPROPRIATIONS REGARDING HOUSE AMENDMENT NO. 1 TO THE SENATE AMENDMENT ON H.R. 2029

CONSOLIDATED APPROPRIATIONS ACT, 2016

The following is an explanation of the Consolidated Appropriations Act, 2016.

• Division P—Tax-Related Provisions.

Section 3 of the Act states that, unless expressly provided otherwise, any reference to "this Act" contained in any division shall be treated as referring only to the provisions of that division.

Section 4 of the Act specifies that this explanatory statement shall have the same effect with respect to the allocation of funds and implementation of this legislation as if it were a joint explanatory statement of a committee of conference.

Section 5 of the Act provides a statement of appropriations.

Section 6 of the Act states that each amount designated by Congress as being for Overseas Contingency Operations/Global War on Terrorism (OCO/GWOT) is contingent on the President so designating all such OCO/GWOT amounts and transmitting such designations to Congress. The provision is consistent with the requirements in the Budget Control Act of 2011 for Overseas Contingency Operations/Global War on Terrorism designations by the President.

Section 7 of the Act addresses possible technical scorekeeping differences for fiscal year 2016 between the Office of Management and Budget and the Congressional Budget Office.

Section 8 of the Act makes technical corrections to the Continuing Appropriations Act, 2016.

Section 9 of the Act prohibits cost-of-living adjustments for Members of Congress under the Legislative Reorganization Act during fiscal year 2016.

The Act does not contain any congressional earmarks, limited tax benefits, or limited tariff benefits as defined by clause 9 of rule XXI of the Rules of the House of Representatives.

DIVISION A—AGRICULTURE, RURAL DEVELOPMENT, FOOD AND DRUG ADMINISTRATION, AND RELATED AGENCIES APPROPRIATIONS ACT, 2016

CONGRESSIONAL DIRECTIVES

The explanatory statement is silent on provisions that were in both the House Report (H. Rpt. 114-205) and Senate Report (S. Rpt. 114-82) that remain unchanged by this agreement, except as noted in this explanatory statement.

The agreement restates that executive branch wishes cannot substitute for Congress's own statements as to the best evidence of congressional intentions, which are the official reports of the Congress. The agreement further points out that funds in this Act must be used for the purposes for which appropriated, as required by section 1301 of title 31 of the United States Code, which provides: "Appropriations shall be applied only to the objects for which the appropriations were made except as otherwise provided by law."

The House and Senate report language that is not changed by the explanatory statement is approved and indicates congressional intentions. The explanatory statement, while repeating some report language for emphasis, does not intend to negate the language referred to above unless expressly provided herein.

In cases in which the House or the Senate have directed the submission of a report, such report is to be submitted to both the House and Senate Committees on Appropriations no later than 60 days after enactment of this Act, unless otherwise directed.

Hereafter, in division A of this statement, the term 'the Committees' refers to the Committees on Appropriations of the House of Representatives and the Senate.

For the appropriations provided by this Act and previous Acts, the departments and agencies funded by this agreement are reminded that the Committees use the definitions for transfer, reprogramming, and program, project, and activity as defined by the Government Accountability Office (GAO) in GAO-04-261SP Appropriations Law—Vol. I and GAO-05-734SP Budget Glossary.

A transfer is the shifting of funds between appropriations. It applies to (1) transfers from one agency to another, (2) transfers from one account to another within the same agency, and (3) transfers to an interagency or intra-agency working fund. In each instance, statutory authority is required.

Reprogramming is the utilization of funds in an appropriation account for purposes other than those contemplated at the time of appropriation. It is the shifting of funds from one object to another within an appropriation.

A program, project, or activity (PPA) is an element within a budget account. PPAs are identified by reference to include the most specific level of budget items identified in the Agriculture, Rural Development, Food and Drug Administration, and Related Agencies Act, 2016, accompanying Committee reports, explanatory statements, the Statement of Managers, and budget justifications. Program activity structures are intended to provide a meaningful representation of the operations financed by a specific budget account by project, activity, or organization.

For fiscal year 2016, the Committees continue to include bill language requiring advanced notification of certain agency actions. Notification will be required at least 15 days in advance of any action if (1) a major capital investment is modified; (2) an office is realigned or reorganized; and (3) activities are carried out that were not described in the budget request.

The agreement directs the Office of Budget and Program Analysis of the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) to provide an organizational chart for each agency funded by this Act to the division and subdivision level, as appropriate, by January 30, 2016. The agreement also directs the Food and Drug Administration (FDA), Commodity Futures Trading Commission (CFTC), and the Farm Credit Administration (FCA) to provide an organizational chart of each agency respectively to the division and subdivision level, as appropriate, by January 30, 2016.

TITLE I—AGRICULTURAL PROGRAMS

PRODUCTION, PROCESSING, AND MARKETING

OFFICE OF THE SECRETARY

(INCLUDING TRANSFERS OF FUNDS)

The agreement provides $45,555,000 for the Office of the Secretary.

Congress continues to be concerned about the quality of scientific evidence and extraneous factors that were included in the 2015 Dietary Guidelines Advisory Committee's Scientific Report. Such concerns have been conveyed to the Secretary of Agriculture and Secretary of Health and Human Services in public hearings. To ensure the guidelines adhere to the nutritional and dietary scope of the law and are based upon sound science, bill language has been included clearly stating that the final guidelines cannot be released or implemented unless they are based upon significant scientific agreement and adhere to the statutory mandate.

Questions have been raised about the scientific integrity of the process in developing the dietary guidelines and whether balanced nutritional information is reaching the public. The entire process used to formulate and establish the guidelines needs to be reviewed before future guidelines are issued. It is imperative that the guidelines be based upon strong, balanced science and focus on providing consumers with dietary and nutritional information that will assist them in eating a healthy and balanced diet. At a minimum, the process should include: full transparency, a lack of bias, and the inclusion and consideration of all of the latest available research and scientific evidence, even that which challenges current dietary recommendations. The agreement provides $1,000,000 to review the dietary guideline process.

As the panel is selected to conduct the study, the agreement expects members of the 2015 Dietary Guidelines Advisory Committee to recuse themselves from this process to ensure objectivity. The agreement encourages that stakeholders representing a wide range of viewpoints be engaged for input before the study begins in order to hear the various concerns surrounding the current process. The agreement directs the National Academy of Medicine to provide quarterly reports informing the Committees on the status of the study.

The agreement recognizes USDA's diligent work regarding the outbreak of highly pathogenic avian influenza in the commercial poultry industry. The agreement supports the Secretary's use of all available resources necessary in its continued work with stakeholders and trading partners to eradicate the disease. The agreement directs the Secretary to keep the Committees apprised of new developments. The agreement directs the Secretary to provide a report on the amount of emergency funds transferred from the Commodity Credit Corporation (CCC) to poultry owners and contract growers respectively under the Animal Health Protection Act during fiscal year 2015.

The agreement directs the Secretary to notify in writing the Committees 15 days prior to the expenditure of any emergency funds from the CCC.

The agreement seeks to bring more transparency and coordination of nutrition research and evaluation projects conducted by the Department. The Secretary is directed to ensure both the Research, Education, and Economics and the Food, Nutrition, and Consumer Services mission areas coordinate and finalize the FNS Research and Evaluation Plan submitted in fiscal year 2016 to prevent duplication of efforts and resources. The plan submitted for fiscal year 2016 shall include a brief description of the projects FNS expects to pursue and whether or not it was mandated by law.

Section 737 states that FNS shall not receive any funding for new research and evaluation projects in fiscal year 2016 until the Committees receive the fiscal year 2016 Research and Evaluation Plan that has been developed in coordination with the Research, Education, and Economics mission area. In submitting the fiscal year 2017 budget justification, FNS is directed to provide its Research and Evaluation Plan simultaneously with its budget request. There is an expectation that this process will be followed in the future.

It has been more than 300 days since the publication in the New York Times of the article entitled 'U.S. Research Lab Lets Livestock Suffer in Quest for Profit' about the Agricultural Research Service's Meat Animal Research Center (MARC) in Clay Center, Nebraska. Despite having nearly a year to address this matter, the Department has provided a wholly inadequate public response to the allegations of animal mistreatment at MARC and it has been delinquent in providing necessary information and updates to the Committees. This agreement re-affirms the directives and requirements on this issue included in H. Rpt. 114-205 and S. Rpt. 114-82. If the Department fails to comply fully with these directives and requirements, the Committees will pursue further action to ensure they are met.

Additionally, the agreement includes funding to reinstate a vineyard production survey to gather information essential to annual pricing and purchase agreement and long-term production planning.

AGRICULTURAL RESEARCH SERVICE SALARIES AND EXPENSES

The agreement provides $1,143,825,000 for the Agricultural Research Service (ARS), Salaries and Expenses.

The agreement does not accept the President's budget request regarding the termination of research programs, redirections of research programs, or closure of research locations. The agreement expects extramural research to be funded at no less than the fiscal year 2015 levels. The agreement provides funding increases for forest product, pollinator, aquatic animal health, leafy green vegetables, long-term agroecosystem research, crop improvement and protection, avian health, cranberry, wheat and sorghum, agricultural genomic, methyl bromide alternatives research to combat macrophomina and fusarium, and horticultural research and education.

The agreement reiterates concerns regarding the ongoing depletion of the regional Alluvial Aquifer in the Lower Mississippi River Basin. Over 7 million acres in the region represent irrigated cropland and 90 percent of those acres rely on the groundwater supply. Increased water withdrawals and stagnant recharging jeopardize the long-term availability of the aquifer and place irrigation agriculture in the region on an unsustainable path. The agreement encourages ARS, in collaboration with university research and extension scientists and local stakeholders, to identify gaps in water management research and focus efforts on the development of conservation and irrigation techniques to reduce water usage in agriculture production while maintaining crop quality and yield.

BUILDINGS AND FACILITIES

For ARS Buildings and Facilities, the agreement provides an appropriation of $212,101,000 for priorities identified in the USDA ARS Capital Investment Strategy, April 2012.

FARM SERVICE AGENCY

SALARIES AND EXPENSES

(INCLUDING TRANSFERS OF FUNDS)

The agreement provides $1,200,180,000 for the Farm Service Agency (FSA).

FSA has submitted consecutive proposals for significant annual budget savings through "operational efficiencies" with little to no detail for achieving these goals. Despite these proposals, the agreement recognizes the important services that FSA provides across the country and maintains level funding for FSA, and specifically does not accept the proposed savings for non-Federal workers or other personnel savings. The agreement also supports full staffing levels for non-Federal workers. Furthermore, FSA is directed to provide substantial detailed documentation and data when proposing future budget requests.

The agreement directs the Farm Service Agency to complete the directive related to international food aid commodity reports in H. Rpt. 114-205.

FSA's management of certain information technology projects over the past several years has resulted in cost overruns and poor performance. FSA has failed to deliver a modernized and integrated IT solution for farm program delivery that was promised to Congress and the agricultural community. The agreement includes statutory language that requires the Government Accountability Office to review, and the Committees to approve a plan for expenditure for IT projects. FSA is directed to continue quarterly briefings in writing on all IT projects related to farm program delivery.

The agreement provides a total subsidy of $505,567,000 for activities under the Rural Housing Insurance Fund Program Account. This includes a transfer of $417,854,000 to the Rural Development, Salaries and Expenses account.

The increasing number of Section 515 multi-family housing loans that are reaching maturity and being paid off is a significant threat to very low income rural households needing affordable housing. As these developments result in projects leaving the program, very low income households face untenable rent increases and possible eviction. The Secretary is directed to: provide every assistance possible to the Government Accountability Office in their analysis of this issue; review and evaluate all authorities available under Section 510 of the Housing Act of 1949; and, in conjunction with program partners and other interested parties, develop innovative options to retain projects in USDA's affordable housing program.

The agreement also directs the Secretary to provide the Committees quarterly reports on the number of renewal agreements approved, the amount of rental assistance available, and the anticipated need for rental assistance for the remainder of the fiscal year. In addition, the agreement expects that the Rural Housing Service will continue to take steps to use to the maximum extent possible rental assistance from expired agreements to address shortfalls. RURAL WATER AND WASTE DISPOSAL PROGRAM ACCOUNT

(INCLUDING TRANSFERS OF FUNDS)

The agreement provides $522,365,000 for the Rural Water and Waste Disposal Program Account.

The agreement supports the Department's underlying adherence to free and open competition on water and waste projects as contained in 7 CFR 1780.70(b) and (d). However, there continues to be confusion with some vendors and contractors as to the procurement policies of specific materials. The agreement encourages USDA's Rural Utility Service to issue a memorandum as necessary to clarify that the agency does not advocate one specific material over another and reinforces that applicants take careful consideration of all materials suitable for each individual project including, but not be limited to, material service life and durability, ease of installation, and contractor familiarity with suitable materials. Moreover, deference to local authorities is encouraged on project design and material utilization inasmuch as it adheres to nationally recognized standards to ensure the best option for their respective communities are incorporated.

TITLE IV—DOMESTIC FOOD PROGRAMS OFFICE OF THE UNDER SECRETARY FOR FOOD, NUTRITION, AND CONSUMER SERVICES

The agreement provides $811,000 for the Office of the Under Secretary for Food, Nutrition, and Consumer Services.

An OIG report issued in September 2015 reviewed the FNS quality control process for SNAP error rates and found vulnerabilities in the methods used to determine the error rates and concluded FNS' quality control process understated SNAP's error rates. The OIG also completed an audit report in May 2015 to evaluate how FNS has attempted to lower the error rates for the National School Lunch Program and School Breakfast Program, which were about 15 percent and 26 percent, respectively, in fiscal year 2014. Within 90 days from the date of enactment of this Act, the Department is directed to provide a report on how FNS will address these two reports.

The Committees expect timely and sufficient notification of proposed FNS policy actions before such actions are implemented to allow the Committees to exercise their respective oversight responsibilities. FNS is directed to keep the Committees promptly informed of activities and issues that arise. FNS is reminded that the Committees reserve the right to call before them any agency to determine whether laws, programs and policy decisions are being implemented in accordance with the intent of Congress.

The agreement expects FNS to ensure that all parties that enter into a contract fulfill all required obligations. If requirements are not met, FNS should consider renegotiating contracts to ensure full cooperation on behalf of awardees.

FOOD AND NUTRITION SERVICE

CHILD NUTRITION PROGRAMS

(INCLUDING TRANSFERS OF FUNDS)

The agreement provides $22,149,746,000 for Child Nutrition Programs. Included in the total is an appropriated amount of $13,280,101,000 and a transfer from Section 32 of $8,869,645,000.

Section 741 provides an additional one-time increase of $5,000,000 for school meals equipment grants and $7,000,000 for summer EBT demonstration projects, bringing the total program levels for fiscal year 2016 to $30,000,000 and $23,000,000, respectively.

Concerns remain about the challenges and costs that local schools face in implementing the Healthy, Hunger-Free Kids Act of 2010. Some schools are continuing to have difficulty complying with the whole grain requirements that went into effect on July 1, 2014, and there continues to be concern with further reductions in the sodium requirements for school meals. The Secretary provided guidance to States so that exemptions could be offered to school food authorities demonstrating a hardship from the current whole grain standards, as required by the fiscal year 2015 appropriations Act. This flexibility is extended for the 2016-17 school year. The agreement also continues a provision that sodium standards cannot be reduced below Target 1 until the latest scientific research establishes the reduction is beneficial for children.

The agreement provides the following for Child Nutrition Programs:

Based upon revised USDA estimates, the agreement fully funds all eligible WIC participants in fiscal year 2016, and includes $60,000,000 for breastfeeding support initiatives and $13,600,000 for infrastructure. The agreement ensures that States can continue transitioning from paper checks and vouchers to an Electronic Benefit Transfer (EBT) system by providing the necessary funding for EBT from within the fiscal year 2015 recovery and carryover funds. EBT is a proven, effective tool in combatting waste, fraud, and abuse, and all WIC state agencies are mandated to have an EBT system in place by October 1, 2020.

SUPPLEMENTAL NUTRITION ASSISTANCE PROGRAM

The agreement provides $80,849,383,000 for the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (SNAP). The agreement includes $3,000,000,000 to be made available for a contingency reserve. The agreement provides a funding level for SNAP benefits as reflected in OMB's mid-session review of the budget.

This increase is intended to respond to ongoing food assistance requirements as a result of growing conflicts throughout the world. Many countries such as Syria, Yemen, Iraq, and South Sudan have seen increases in internally displaced persons resulting in increased demand for food aid resources. This increase is also intended to respond to areas suffering from natural disasters.

The agreement directs the Administrator of the U.S. Agency for International Development to provide a report within 60 days of enactment of this Act, in conjunction with the Secretary of Agriculture, on the use of authorities under 7 U.S.C. 1736f(e) of the Food for Peace Act during fiscal year 2015 and planned uses for fiscal year 2016. The agreement includes the following increases in budget authority: $104,500,000 for food safety related activities; $5,000,000 for FDASIA implementation; $8,732,000 for the Combating Antibiotic Resistant Bacteria (CARB) initiative; $5,000,000 for foreign high-risk inspections; $2,392,000 for the precision medicine initiative; $2,500,000 for the Orphan Product Development Grants Program, and $716,000 for sunscreen activities. The agreement accepts $7,516,000 in proposed administrative savings, and expects FDA to continue all projects, activities, laboratories, and programs as included in fiscal year 2015 unless otherwise specified.

As part of the increases, the agreement provides the resources to fully fund the President's budget request for implementation of the Food Safety Modernization Act (FSMA). The agreement notes that FSMA implementation places additional requirements on state governments and private stakeholders, and therefore urges the FDA to focus resources on addressing these needs. Given the complexity of FSMA implementation, the agreement directs the FDA to provide quarterly reports to the Committees with a breakdown on how funding has been allocated, as well as projections for future needs. The agreement also directs the FDA to provide a detailed accounting of its food safety resources in the fiscal year 2017 budget request, including which pre-2011 base resources are now repurposed for activities in support of FSMA and which resources are the result of appropriated increases from fiscal years 2011 to 2016, a detailed explanation of what the FDA has accomplished with increased food safety resources since fiscal year 2011, and how the aggregate total of these base resources for food safety will be utilized in fiscal year 2017.

The agreement provides an increase of $10,608,000 for medical product safety initiatives including efforts to combat antibiotic resistant bacteria as part of the National Strategy for CARB, the Precision Medicine initiative, and to evaluate over-the-counter sunscreen products. In addition, the agreement provides increases for orphan drug development grants given that the number of requests for orphan designation has more than tripled since 2000.

The $5,000,000 increase provided in the agreement for foreign high-risk inspections will allow FDA's Office of the Global Regulatory Operations Policy to continue efforts to develop and utilize a targeted, risk-based, and efficient inspection model that incorporates commercially available information on high-risk establishments for onsite verifications.

The agreement includes $5,000,000 for FDA to complete a feasibility study to update and issue a revised Master Plan for land inside and contiguous to the White Oak campus in order to address its expanded workforce and the facilities needed to accommodate them. The agreement directs FDA to report on this effort by January 1, 2016.

The agreement acknowledges some progress in FDA's effort to address issues with products that are biosimilar to and interchangeable with FDA-licensed biological drug products. In August of this year, the FDA issued draft guidance and a proposed rule regarding naming of these products. However, the agreement remains concerned that FDA needs to provide the public with a greater opportunity to review and comment on all regulatory standards for the approval and oversight of biosimilar drugs. Therefore, FDA is directed to provide the Committees with an estimated timeline by which the agency will finalize all pending draft biosimilars guidance documents and regulations. The Committees expect to receive this report no later than 60 days after enactment.

There continue to be shortages of critical drugs following the enactment of the Food and Drug Safety and Innovation Act, including national shortages of drugs to test for and treat tuberculosis (TB). The Commissioner is directed to continue to prioritize the public reporting of manufacturing shortages, and to work with industry to prevent conditions that might lead to drug shortages. Additionally, the Commissioner is directed to report on the work of the FDA's intra-agency Drug Shortages Task Force, including how it works with other government agencies and outside stakeholders to address drug shortages. The report should specify what activities the Task Force has undertaken to prevent drug shortages affecting pediatric patients, including working with outside experts on this issue. The Commissioner is further directed to report on steps the FDA can take to prevent TB drug shortages and help maintain an adequate supply.

The agreement provides bill language pertaining to the use of partially hydrogenated oils (PHO) in food products. The language declares that foods with PHOs are neither unsafe nor adulterated during FDA's three year compliance period and provides businesses legal protection while they phase out the use of PHOs. Simultaneously, FDA is encouraged to provide a timely review of the Food Additive Petition which addresses minor uses of PHOs for certain baking and processing needs.

The agreement provides $1,000,000 for the Center for Tobacco Products to enter into a contract with the Institute of Medicine to conduct an in-depth evaluation of available evidence of health effects from e-cigarettes and recommendations for future federally funded research.

The agreement directs that the FDA ensure that pregnant women receive final guidance on nutrition advice for what seafood is safe and healthy to consume that is consistent, understandable, and based on the FDA's latest scientific review of the net effects of seafood consumption.

The agreement is concerned about the safety issues raised at the Obstetrics and Gynecology Devices Panel of the Medical Devices Advisory Committee meeting on September 24, 2015, and directs the FDA to issue recommendations on how to address these concerns by March 1, 2016.

The agreement remains concerned about the FDA's reliance on the use of draft guidance to make substantive policy decisions. The agreement requests a report documenting the agency's review and solicitation of scientific data impacting bioequivalence standards and patients suffering from ophthalmologic conditions.

BUILDINGS AND FACILITIES

The agreement provides $8,788,000 for the Food and Drug Administration Buildings and Facilities.

INDEPENDENT AGENCIES

COMMODITY FUTURES TRADING COMMISSION

For the Commodity Futures Trading Commission, the agreement provides an appropriation of $250,000,000, of which $50,000,000 is for the purchase of IT. The agreement includes $2,620,000 for the Office of Inspector General. Of this amount, not more than $330,000 shall be for overhead expenses.

The agreement directs the Commission to comply with the directive regarding swap dealer de minimis in H. Rpt. 114-205.

During collective bargaining agreement negotiations, the Commission is directed to make commitments based upon its current funding situation rather than its proposed budget requests. Consistent with House Report 114-205 and Senate Report 114-97, the agreement directs the Commission to not increase personnel costs, either through excessive hiring, budgetary mismanagement, or collective bargaining agreement negotiations, that would risk any furloughs or reductions-in-force.

The agreement directs the Commission, in accordance with the President's "Reduce the Federal Footprint" initiative, to find ways to decrease space and renegotiate leasing agreements. The agreement directs the CFTC to report to the Committee within 90 days of enactment of this act on steps the agency is taking to dispose of excess space and reduce rental costs in each building currently leased by the Commission.

Consistent with Section 618 of Division E of Public Law 113-235, the Commission is directed to consult with the General Services Administration in fiscal year 2016 prior to issuing a solicitation for offers of new leases or construction contracts and prior to entering into negotiations for succeeding leases.

The agreement includes bill language allowing the Commission to make accounting adjustments through reopening of closed Treasury accounts for the sole purpose of properly recording prior year leasing payment obligations.

The agreement directs the CFTC to submit, within 30 days of enactment, a detailed spending plan for the allocation of the funds made available, displayed by discrete program, project, and activity, including staffing projections, specifying both FTEs and contractors, and planned investments in information technology.

DIVISION B—COMMERCE, JUSTICE, SCIENCE, AND RELATED AGENCIES APPROPRIATIONS ACT, 2016

Report language included in House Report 114-130 (“the House report”) or Senate Report 114-66 (“the Senate report”) that is not changed by this explanatory statement or this Act is approved. The explanatory statement, while repeating some language for emphasis, is not intended to negate the language referred to above unless expressly provided herein. In cases where both the House report and the Senate report address a particular issue not specifically addressed in the explanatory statement, the House report and the Senate report should be read as consistent and are to be interpreted accordingly. In cases where the House report or the Senate report directs the submission of a report, such report is to be submitted to both the House and Senate Committees on Appropriations (“the Committees”).

Each department and agency funded in this Act shall follow the directions set forth in this Act and the accompanying explanatory statement, and shall not reallocate resources or reorganize activities except as provided herein. Reprogramming procedures shall apply to: funds provided in this Act; unobligated balances from previous appropriations Acts that are available for obligation or expenditure in fiscal year 2016; and non-appropriated resources such as fee collections that are used to meet program requirements in fiscal year 2016. These procedures are specified in section 505 of this Act.

Any reprogramming request shall include any out-year budgetary impacts and a separate accounting of program or mission impacts on estimated carryover funds. Any program, project or activity cited in this statement, or in the House report or the Senate report and not changed by this Act or statement, shall be construed as the position of the Congress and shall not be subject to reductions or reprogramming without prior approval of the Committees. Further, any department or agency funded in this Act that plans a reduction-in-force shall notify the Committees by letter no later than 30 days in advance of the date of any such planned personnel action.

When a department or agency submits a reprogramming or transfer request to the Committees and does not receive identical responses, it shall be the responsibility of the department or agency seeking the reprogramming to reconcile the differences between the two bodies before proceeding. If reconciliation is not possible, the items in disagreement in the reprogramming or transfer request shall be considered unapproved. Departments and agencies shall not submit reprogramming notifications after July 1, 2016, except in extraordinary circumstances. Any such notification shall include a description of the extraordinary circumstances.

In compliance with section 534 of this Act, each department and agency funded in this Act shall submit spending plans, signed by the respective department or agency head, for the Committees’ review not later than 45 days after enactment of this Act.

TITLE I—DEPARTMENT OF COMMERCE

INTERNATIONAL TRADE ADMINISTRATION

OPERATIONS AND ADMINISTRATION

This Act includes $493,000,000 in total resources for the programs of the International Trade Administration (ITA). This amount is offset by $10,000,000 in estimated fee collections, resulting in a direct appropriation of $483,000,000. This Act includes an increase in funding above the fiscal year 2015 enacted level for Enforcement and Compliance activities. ITA shall make enforcement of anti-dumping and countervailing duties a priority, including thoroughly investigating the extent of harm caused to domestic industries and reducing case backlogs.

Fee collections.—ITA is directed to include an accurate estimate of fee collections in the fiscal year 2017 budget submission. Fees have been underestimated each year since fiscal year 2009, by an average of 13 percent and by as much as 22 percent. ITA shall also include an accurate assessment of expected fee collections and corresponding expenditures in the fiscal year 2016 spending plan, and shall report to the Committees on updated fee projections on a quarterly basis thereafter.

Foreign Trade Zones (FTZ).—Of the amounts provided for ITA in this Act, $5,000,000 shall not be available until 15 days following the delivery of a report and certification from the FTZ Board to the Committees on Appropriations. The report shall include: (1) a survey of all current and past business models utilized by FTZ grantees for zone management and administration activities; (2) specific impacts 15 CFR 400.43 has or may have on these various business models; (3) the specific activities and components of current and past business models that are allowed under partial and full waivers granted by the FTZ Board, as of the date of enactment of this Act pursuant to this regulation; and (4) the specific steps the FTZ Board will take to ensure that all FTZ grantees are in compliance with the regulation. The FTZ Board shall simultaneously provide a certified list of the specific business practices and business models that a FTZ grantee would need to achieve in order to qualify for a waiver under the regulation.

Trade enforcement.—The Act provides up to $10,000,000 for the Interagency Trade Enforcement Center (ITEC), provided that the Department of Commerce shall lead ITEC, with the Office of the United States Trade Representative (USTR) providing an advisory and assistance role. Within funds provided, ITA shall oversee and support the full salary of the ITEC director and no funds shall be transferred to any other agency but shall remain within ITA’s Enforcement and Compliance Unit, except that FTEs included under this account may be housed outside of the Department through an interagency agreement. The agreement strongly supports the continued interagency partnership that has been developed through ITEC to advance our nation’s business and trade interests. Not later than June 30, 2016, ITA, in coordination with USTR, shall submit an action plan to the Committees detailing any changes necessary to meet this directive. The action plan shall be submitted for approval by the Committees, and subject to that approval, the transition of ITEC leadership shall be completed no later than November 15, 2016.

The agreement provides $5,000,000 within the amount provided for Fisheries Data Collections, Surveys, and Assessments, and $5,000,000 within the amount provided for Sea Grant for the purposes stated in the House and Senate reports. The Committees direct NOAA to, in addition to current surveys and

NATIONAL OCEANIC AND ATMOSPHERIC ADMINISTRATION

This Act includes total appropriations of $5,765,579,000 for the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration (NOAA). The agreement does not include section 570 of the House bill regarding the National Ocean Policy. No funding was provided in fiscal year 2015, and none was requested by any agencies funded in this Act in fiscal year 2016, to implement the National Ocean Policy. Consequently, no funds for National Ocean Policy activities are included for any agency funded in this Act.

OPERATIONS, RESEARCH, AND FACILITIES
(INCLUDING TRANSFER OF FUNDS)

This Act includes a total program level of $3,453,477,000 under this account for the coastal, fisheries, marine, weather, satellite and other programs of NOAA. This total funding level includes $3,305,813,000 in direct appropriations; a transfer of $130,164,000 from balances in the “Promote and Develop Fishery Products and Research Pertaining to American Fisheries” fund; and $17,500,000 is derived from recoveries of prior year obligations.

The following narrative descriptions and tables identify the specific activities and funding levels included in this Act:

National Ocean Service.—$500,100,000 is for the National Ocean Service.

Navigation, Observations and Positioning.—Senate language is modified to stipulate that not more than 7 percent of funds available for the Hydrographic Survey Priorities/Contracts program may be used for internal Hydrographic Survey Priorities/Contracts program management costs.

assessments, use fishery independent data that includes surveying and assessing red snapper populations on and aggregated near marine structures including offshore oil and gas platforms, artificial reefs, and structures created in the Gulf of Mexico and naturally occurring reefs and rock structures. NOAA shall ensure the research supported by this funding is complementary between respective line offices and not duplicative. Additionally, NOAA shall provide the Committees with a plan for these research efforts, and how they will be coordinated, not later than 45 days after enactment of this Act. The Committees strongly encourage NOAA to incorporate data from all external assessments carried out under this paragraph at the earliest possible date, but not later than fiscal year 2017, for the purposes of determining reef fish quotas and Annual Catch Limits in the Gulf of Mexico. NOAA shall report to the Committees, within 45 days of enactment, any impediments to incorporating these data for such purposes.

The Committees remain gravely concerned with red snapper management in the Gulf of Mexico and the unacceptably short recreational fishing season. NOAA is directed to consider the impacts of sector separation created by amendments to any fishery management plan for the Gulf of Mexico, particularly negative impacts on private anglers. The agreement adopts Senate language urging NOAA to consider increasing the recreational fishery allocation. While all sectors have faced challenges in the Gulf red snapper fishery, the private boat recreational sector has been especially impacted. NOAA shall brief the Committees on Appropriations on its efforts to address this matter no later than 30 days after enactment of this Act, at which time NOAA shall provide a comprehensive plan to address the concerns of recreational anglers.

Fishery cooperatives.—The agreement adopts the House language on fishery cooperatives, and directs the submission of the required report no later than 30 days after enactment of this Act.

Tribal support.—The agreement modifies House language and encourages NOAA to support the coastal impacts mitigation efforts of coastal tribal communities through NOAA's ongoing efforts at storm surge and coastal inundation modeling, sea level prediction, and related information services. Such information is essential to understanding severe weather-related risks facing such communities, and could prove valuable in the efforts of these communities to secure mitigation and relocation assistance from Federal and state agencies.

Marine Recreational Information Program (MRIP).—The agreement clarifies the Senate language regarding MRIP. No funding is provided in this Act for the full operational transition to a new MRIP methodology. Funding may be used to continue testing, development, and side-by-side comparison of the new methodology with the current MRIP model, including activities planned for fiscal year 2016 in the May 5, 2015 report entitled "Transition Plan for the Fishing Effort Survey." No funds shall be available for the full operational transition to a new MRIP methodology until NMFS also improves its stock assessments and surveys to account for fish inhabiting areas of artificial reefs and fixed offshore energy infrastructure.

Non-releasable marine mammals.—Not later than 45 days following enactment of this Act, NMFS shall provide a report to the Committees on Appropriations detailing the process used to prioritize qualified facilities for the placement of live, non-releasable, stranded marine mammals. The report shall include specific factors used for such placements, including the weight given to a facility's geographic proximity to the stranding location and past experience of caring for non-releasable marine mammals. Furthermore, the report shall provide a comprehensive list of each U.S. facility that received a non-releasable marine mammal since 2010, including the number and type of marine mammals and associated costs incurred for each by NMFS.

Non-native predators.—The Committees are encouraged by the steps that NOAA has taken, in consultation with the United States Fish and Wildlife Service, the Bureau of Reclamation, States, and other stakeholders, to evaluate and implement projects that could improve protection and recovery of endangered salmon. The Committees encourage NOAA to continue consultations with Federal, State, and local agencies to develop additional activities that could aid in mitigating or removing non-native predators that prey on endangered salmon.

Electronic monitoring.—The Committees are concerned with NMFS's failure to account for significant factors in its June 10, 2015, report entitled, "A Preliminary Cost Comparison of At Sea Monitoring and Electronic Monitoring for a Hypothetical Groundfish Sector." The Committees have strongly supported NMFS's research of electronic monitoring programs to streamline processes, reduce costs, and strengthen management of our nation's commercial fisheries. Not later than 120 days following enactment of this Act, NMFS shall provide a new report to the Committees detailing cost estimates for an electronic monitoring program for the same hypothetical sector that uses cost-savings suggested but not included in estimates in the June 10, 2015, report. Furthermore, NMFS is directed to apply other applicable, practical cost-saving measures not mentioned in the previous report in the new estimates.

Coastal Ecosystem Resiliency Grants.—The Act provides $10,000,000 within Habitat Conservation and Restoration to continue the coastal ecosystems resiliency grants program established in fiscal year 2015.

PROCUREMENT, ACQUISITION AND CONSTRUCTION
(INCLUDING TRANSFER OF FUNDS)

This Act includes a total program level of $2,413,416,000 in direct obligations for NOAA Procurement, Acquisition and Construction (PAC), of which $2,400,416,000 is appropriated from the general fund and $13,000,000 is derived from recoveries of prior year obligations. The following narrative and table identify the specific activities and funding levels included in this Act:

Polar Follow-on.—The Act provides $370,000,000 for NOAA's Polar Follow-on mission, but does not include funding for the proposed and experimental Earth Observing Nanosatellite-Microwave component. NOAA's mission for polar orbiting weather satellites continues on a tenuous path. NOAA shall focus on procuring the next series of satellites for the JPSS constellation, using proven sensors and platforms, to achieve the program's budgetary estimates and launch schedule.

Space Weather Follow-On.—The agreement includes $1,200,000 for the activities identified in the Senate report and non-Federal awards for a study or studies to evaluate low-cost alternatives for a space weather constellation to support operational forecasting needs. The study or studies shall examine the feasibility of improving forecast warning times and geographic precision in those forecasts.

Senate language regarding a report on initial findings is adopted by reference and shall be submitted to the Committees no more than one year after enactment of this Act. This report shall include an inventory of all existing and planned space weather assets held by NOAA and NOAA's partners, to include each asset's function, operation and maintenance expenses, and lifetime cost estimates, and shall identify any potential gaps in data needed for space weather forecasting.

New Vessel Construction.—The agreement provides $80,050,000 for new vessel construction for NOAA's fleet, contingent upon delivery of the latest fleet modernization and recapitalization plan to the Committees on Appropriations. Such funds shall be competitively awarded and target replacing one of NOAA's oldest vessels currently in operation, per the request. Funding for vessel outfitting and sensor development is expected to be requested in subsequent fiscal years. The agreement supports the Senate's direction that NOAA shall work with the United States Navy in providing program management and contract award support.

Commercial Weather Data Pilot.—NOAA shall, through an open competitive process, seek to enter into at least one pilot contract to assess the potential viability of commercial weather data in its weather modeling and forecasting. This funding shall be used to purchase, evaluate, and calibrate available data, which meets the standards and specifications set by NOAA in its Commercial Data Policy. NOAA shall provide the Committees a report on how it plans to implement the commercial weather data pilot program not later than 60 days after the enactment of this Act.

NATIONAL AERONAUTICS AND SPACE
ADMINISTRATION

This Act includes $19,285,000,000 for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA).

NASA in its Management and Performance, Cost and Schedule Performance Summary from its fiscal year 2016 budget submission. NASA shall notify the Committees on Appropriations at any point during the fiscal year, should circumstances warrant, regarding any significant changes to the progress of these programs.

In lieu of House language regarding a termination liability policy, the agreement directs NASA to vigorously pursue a termination liability policy that maximizes the use of appropriated funds and directs NASA to submit such a termination liability policy to the Committees no later than 180 days after enactment of this Act.

In lieu of House and Senate matter regarding Landsat, this agreement provides $100,000,000 for Landsat-9, of which up to $58,000,000 may be derived from prior year balances. NASA shall develop Landsat-9 as a copy of Landsat-8 and shall maintain a target launch date of calendar year 2020. The agreement reiterates House and Senate language regarding the Thermal Infrared Free-Flyer. NASA is encouraged to continue technology development activities that will reduce the cost of Landsat-10. The agreement includes Senate direction on Pre-Aerosol, Clouds, and Oceans Ecosystem (PACE). NASA shall not count carryover from fiscal year 2015 toward the $75,000,000 included for PACE in the agreement.

The agreement provides $85,200,000 for the Stratospheric Observatory for Infrared Astronomy (SOFIA) and acknowledges that NASA has determined that it will not include SOFIA in its 2016 Astrophysics Senior Review since SOFIA has not yet met established requirements for inclusion in a Senior Review. The Committees support this decision and do not provide any funds in this Act for the inclusion of SOFIA in such a review.

Education and Public Outreach (EPO).—This Act includes $37,000,000 for EPO, as an independent line within the Science Mission Directorate, to be administered by the Astrophysics Division.

SPACE TECHNOLOGY

This Act includes $686,500,000 for Space Technology. Within these amounts, $133,000,000 is for satellite servicing/RESTORE-L activities as described in the Senate report. This funding is in addition to any funding within Space Operations to continue International Space Station (ISS)-unique satellite servicing activities. The Space Technology funding for satellite servicing shall not support any activities needed solely for the Asteroid Redirect Mission but may support activities that support both projects such as manipulators or software development. Along with the spending plan required under section 534 and any subsequent updates, NASA shall identify any shared technologies, along with the funding resources required to support that technology development and how those technologies are required by RESTORE-L. In lieu of House language on nuclear propulsion technologies, the agreement provides up to $20,000,000 for these activities. No funds are recommended for icy satellites surface technology in this account as proposed by the House; instead, $25,000,000 is provided for these activities within the Planetary Science program. rion Mission (EM)-2. NASA shall not expend funds human rating the interim cryogenic propulsion stage. In lieu of Senate language on Advanced Exploration Systems, no less than $55,000,000 is provided for a habitation augmentation module to maximize the potential of the SLS/Orion architecture in deep space. NASA shall develop a prototype deep space habitation module within the advanced exploration systems program no later than 2018 and provide a report within 180 days after enactment, and annually thereafter, regarding the status and obligation of funding for the program. The first such report shall include an analysis to determine the appropriate management structure for this program. The agreement adopts House and Senate language regarding funding to human rate all systems prior to EM-2 and notes that additional funds above the request have been provided to address this untenable gap presented by NASA in its budget request. The agreement modifies House reporting requirements for integrated launch readiness and exploration goals and directs that NASA submit a comprehensive report within one year of enactment, utilizing the 130 metric ton SLS, that addresses items as directed by the House.

Space Operations.—This Act provides $5,029,200,000 for Space Operations, including resources for the ISS which is the proving ground for technologies that will support human exploration farther into space while also testing technologies for improving life on Earth. Not less than $15,000,000 is to continue satellite servicing activities; additional funds for satellite servicing activities are included within the Space Technology Account. The recommendation includes $30,300,000 as directed by the Senate for the 21st Century Space Launch Complex program. The agreement acknowledges that recoveries of prior year obligations are available in this account.

Commercial Crew.—This Act provides up to $1,243,800,000 for NASA's Commercial Crew Transportation Capability to safely send the Nation's astronauts to and from the ISS by 2017. The Committees note that NASA notified Congress in an August 2015 letter of its decision to modify an existing contract with the Russian government for crew transportation services beyond 2017. That decision was made prior to any final action by Congress on NASA's Commercial Crew Transportation Capability funding for fiscal year 2016. The funds provided in this Act enable NASA to follow the fastest path to independence from Russia by providing for continuing development of a domestic crew launching capability. If necessary, NASA may derive resources for milestone payments from funds set aside for Russia by NASA for ISS crew launches scheduled to occur after U.S. providers will be operational in 2017. NASA shall reevaluate its need to procure additional seats from Russia in consideration of the funding level being provided within the Space Operations account.

The agreement adopts Senate language providing for the availability of funds related to Space Shuttle Program closeout activities. NASA shall use prior year unobligated balances or recoveries within Space Operations to pay administrative expenses associated with these activities.

DIVISION C—DEPARTMENT OF DEFENSE APPROPRIATIONS ACT, 2016

The agreement on the Department of Defense Appropriations Act, 2016 incorporates some of the provisions of both the House-passed and the Senate-reported versions of the bill. The language and allocations set forth in House Report 114-139 and Senate Report 114-63 shall be complied with unless specifically addressed to the contrary in the accompanying bill and explanatory statement.

DEFINITION OF PROGRAM, PROJECT, AND ACTIVITY

The agreement delineates that, for the purposes of the Balanced Budget and Emergency Deficit Control Act of 1985 (Public Law 99-177), as amended by the Balanced Budget and Emergency Deficit Control Reaffirmation Act of 1987 (Public Law 100-119), and by the Budget Enforcement Act of 1990 (Public Law 101-508), the terms “program, project, and activity” for appropriations contained in this Act shall be defined as the most specific level of budget items identified in the Department of Defense Appropriations Act, 2016, the related classified annexes and explanatory statements, and the P-1 and R-1 budget justification documents as subsequently modified by congressional action. The following exception to the above definition shall apply: the military personnel and the operation and maintenance accounts, for which the term “program, project, and activity” is defined as the appropriations accounts contained in the Department of Defense Appropriations Act.

At the time the President submits the budget request for fiscal year 2017, the Secretary of Defense is directed to transmit to the congressional defense committees budget justification documents to be known as the “M-1” and “O-1” which shall identify, at the budget activity, activity group, and sub-activity group level, the amounts requested by the President to be appropriated to the Department of Defense for military personnel and operation and maintenance in any budget request, or amended budget request, for fiscal year 2017.

CLASSIFIED ANNEX

CONGRESSIONAL SPECIAL INTEREST ITEMS

Items for which additional funds have been provided or items for which funding is specifically reduced as shown in the project level tables or in paragraphs using the phrase “only for” or “only to” are congressional special interest items for the purpose of the Base for Reprogramming (DD Form 1414). Each of these items must be carried on the DD Form 1414 at the stated amount, as specifically addressed in the explanatory statement.

REPROGRAMMING GUIDANCE

The Secretary of Defense is directed to continue to follow the reprogramming guidance for acquisition accounts as specified in the report accompanying the House version of the Department of Defense Appropriations bill for Fiscal Year 2008 (House Report 110-279). For operation and maintenance accounts, the Secretary of Defense shall continue to follow the reprogramming guidelines specified in the conference report accompanying H.R. 3222, the Department of Defense Appropriations Act, 2008. The dollar threshold for reprogramming funds shall remain at $10,000,000 for military personnel; $15,000,000 for operation and maintenance; $20,000,000 for procurement; and $10,000,000 for research, development, test and evaluation.

Also, the Under Secretary of Defense (Comptroller) is directed to continue to provide the congressional defense committees annual DD Form 1416 reports for titles I and II and quarterly, spreadsheet-based DD Form 1416 reports for Service and defense-wide accounts in titles III and IV of this Act. Reports for titles III and IV shall comply with guidance specified in the explanatory statement accompanying the Department of Defense Appropriations Act, 2006. The Department shall continue to follow the limitation that prior approval reprogrammings are set at either the specified dollar threshold or 20 percent of the procurement or research, development, test and evaluation line, whichever is less. These thresholds are cumulative from the base for reprogramming value as modified by any adjustments. Therefore, if the combined value of transfers into or out of a military personnel (M-1), an operation and maintenance (O-1), a procurement (P-1), or a research, development, test and evaluation (R-1) line exceeds the identified threshold, the Secretary of Defense must submit a prior approval reprogramming to the congressional defense committees. In addition, guidelines on the application of prior approval reprogramming procedures for congressional special interest items are established elsewhere in this statement.

FUNDING ADJUSTMENTS

The funding increases outlined in the project level tables for each appropriation account shall be provided only for the specific purposes indicated in the tables, and are to be competitively awarded or provided to programs that have received competitive awards in the past. Programs for which the funding provided is less than the requested amount shall be reduced for the purposes specified in the project level tables and may be considered congressional special interest items as defined in titles I, II, III, and IV of this statement. The reductions to special interest items shall be restored only using the prior approval reprogramming process. The Under Secretary of Defense (Comptroller) shall ensure appropriate distribution of this guidance.

APPROPRIATION MATTERS LIAISON OFFICERS

The agreement continues to support appropriations liaison officers for the Department of Defense and the Services. These appropriations liaison officers provide critical and relevant budget-related information to the House and Senate Appropriations Committees in a timely manner and with the authority to communicate directly with their Service Secretaries. It is imperative to maintain this liaison structure to achieve the highest level of communication and trust between the Department of Defense and the House and Senate Appropriations Committees. Therefore, the agreement retains a provision, carried in previous years, that prohibits the use of funds to plan or implement the consolidation of a budget or appropriations liaison office of the Office of the Secretary of Defense, the office of the Secretary of a military department, or the Service headquarters of one of the armed forces into a legislative affairs or legislative liaison office.

OVERSEAS CONTINGENCY OPERATIONS/GLOBAL WAR ON TERRORISM

After more than a decade of war, the United States military and Intelligence Community remain engaged in responding to crises, conflicts, and instability across the globe. The rise of the Islamic State of Iraq and the Levant (ISIL), the recent attacks in Paris, continued operations in Afghanistan, the presence of terrorist groups like al-Shabaab and Boko Haram in North and Central Africa, the continued presence of al-Qaeda in the Middle East and northern Africa, ongoing destabilizing actions by Iran, the recent crisis and instability in Yemen, Libya, and the Levant, and Russian aggression in Ukraine are just some of the stark reminders that it is more important than ever to provide the funding and resources necessary to ensure that the military and Intelligence Community are able to detect and disrupt developing threats and are ready to respond to an unknown and unforeseen future event. For these reasons, the agreement provides the military and Intelligence Community sufficient resources to support ongoing operations and the flexibility to respond to future unknown crises.

To further address the Overseas Contingency Operations/Global War on Terrorism (OCO/GWOT) requirements, the agreement provides increased funding over fiscal year 2015 levels for the military and Intelligence Community. The recommendation provides an additional $1,277,915,000 for Operation Freedom's Sentinel in Afghanistan and additional special transfer authority to maintain the current troop level of 9,800 through the end of fiscal year 2016. Further, as proposed by the Secretary of Defense to meet increased OCO/GWOT requirements, the agreement moves funding from the base appropriation to the OCO/GWOT appropriation to provide additional funding for the Army, Navy, Marine Corps, and Air Force to conduct counter-ISIL operations, to support operations in Afghanistan, to increase theater security missions, and to maintain a steady-state presence throughout the globe.

In addition, the agreement provides additional funding to restore readiness for the Services and to maintain capabilities of the Intelligence Community to ensure that they are ready to address current and emerging global challenges, both foreseen and unforeseen, at a moment's notice. These investments will continue the process of restoring and enhancing military readiness and Intelligence Community capabilities.

ISRAELI MISSILE DEFENSE PROGRAMS

The agreement recommends an additional $329,800,000 for Israeli missile defense programs, as requested by the Government of Israel. It is directed that not more than $90,000,000 may be obligated or expended for long lead items in support of David's Sling production activities until the Secretary of Defense provides to the congressional defense committees a joint United States-Israeli production agreement that addresses, at a minimum, Israeli requirements, production plans, the role of United States and Israeli industry partners, and the proposed use of United States funding. Further, it is directed that not more than $15,000,000 may be obligated or expended for long lead items in support of Arrow upper tier production activities until the Secretary of Defense provides to the congressional defense committees a joint United States-Israeli production agreement that addresses, at a minimum, Israeli requirements, production plans, the role of United States and Israeli industry partners, and the proposed use of United States funding. It is noted that the Department of Defense has processes in place to transfer funding for long lead items for missile defense programs through an exchange of letters that ensure appropriate oversight over subject funds prior to conclusion of production agreements.

TITLE I—MILITARY PERSONNEL

The agreement provides $129,228,658,000 in Title I, Military Personnel. The agreement on items addressed by either the House or the Senate is as follows:

REPROGRAMMING GUIDANCE FOR MILITARY PERSONNEL ACCOUNTS

The Secretary of Defense is directed to submit the Base for Reprogramming (DD Form 1414) for each of the fiscal year 2016 appropriations accounts not later than 60 days after the enactment of this Act. The Secretary of Defense is prohibited from executing any reprogramming or transfer of funds for any purpose other than originally appropriated until the aforementioned report is submitted to the House and Senate Appropriations Committees.

The Secretary of Defense is directed to use the normal prior approval reprogramming procedures to transfer funds in the Services' military personnel accounts between budget activities in excess of $10,000,000.

MILITARY PERSONNEL SPECIAL INTEREST ITEMS

Items for which additional funds have been provided or have been specifically reduced as shown in the project level tables or in paragraphs using the phrase "only for" or "only to" in the explanatory statement are congressional special interest items for the purpose of the Base for Reprogramming (DD Form 1414). Each of these items must be carried on the DD Form 1414 at the stated amount as specifically addressed in the explanatory statement. Below Threshold Reprogrammings may not be used to either restore or reduce funding from congressional special interest items as identified on the DD Form 1414.

NOTIFICATION OF RESERVE COMPONENTS

The reserve components provide an operational capability and strategic depth in support of the national defense strategy. Decisions to utilize these forces must adhere to judicious and prudent criteria. As such, the agreement directs the Secretary of Defense to continue following the Department's longstanding policy to instruct the Services to adequately notify, in writing, members of the reserve components who are called or ordered to active duty, under section 12302(a) of title 10, United States Code. The notification must include the expected period during which the member will be mobilized, including the authorization of an alert notification up to 24 months prior to the mobilization date, and a minimum of 30 days notification prior to involuntary mobilization to support emergent requirements.

SEXUAL ASSAULT PREVENTION AND RESPONSE PROGRAM

The agreement fully funds the budget request of $263,325,000 for Sexual Assault Prevention and Response programs at the Service level and provides an additional $25,000,000 for the Defense Human Resources Activity in the Operation and Maintenance, Defense-Wide appropriation for the Sexual Assault Special Victims' Counsel Program across the Services.

BASIC ALLOWANCE FOR HOUSING

The practice of using annual housing market surveys to calculate basic allowance for housing (BAH) rates neglects the specific challenges of rural states and regions, where housing areas adjacent to military facilities may not reflect the average cost of housing in more populous nearby communities, making it more difficult for servicemembers to find affordable housing within the BAH rate. Therefore, the Secretary of Defense is directed to provide a report to the congressional defense committees not later than 90 days after the enactment of this Act on the analytics and factors that are considered in determining BAH rates for installations in rural states and regions.

REMOTELY PILOTED AIRCRAFT

Language in House Report 114–139 directed the Secretary of the Air Force to submit a report to the congressional defense committees which would assess the feasibility of training enlisted personnel as remotely piloted aircraft (RPA) pilots, include an updated list of any pay and incentives that these pilots are eligible to receive, and provide a breakdown of how the pilots have populated the community. In July 2015, the Air Force presented an RPA Get-Well Plan. In lieu of the reporting requirement in House Report 114–139, the Secretary of the Air Force is directed to brief the congressional defense committees not later than 90 days after the enactment of this Act on the steps the Air Force has taken to increase RPA training throughput, utilize reserve component RPA capabilities, contract elements of the RPA program, and implement RPA-related incentive pays.

REMOTELY PILOTED AIRCRAFT MISSIONS

Language in House Report 114-139 directed the Secretary of Defense to submit a report to the congressional defense committees on the cost-effectiveness of using Air National Guard units to conduct remotely piloted aircraft (RPA) missions along the United States—Mexico border in support of Department of Homeland Security (DHS) missions. The Committees have subsequently received briefings on the utilization and capabilities of Air National Guard and Air Force Reserve RPA units. In lieu of the reporting requirement in House Report 114-139, the agreement directs the Secretary of the Air Force to provide, not later than 90 days after the enactment of this Act, a briefing to the House and Senate Appropriations Committees on capabilities that Air Force reserve component RPA units could provide in support of DHS border security missions and the demand from DHS or other Departments for such capabilities.

TITLE II—OPERATION AND MAINTENANCE

The agreement provides $167,485,170,000 in Title II, Operation and Maintenance. The agreement on items addressed by either the House or the Senate is as follows:

REPROGRAMMING GUIDANCE FOR OPERATION AND MAINTENANCE ACCOUNTS

The Secretary of Defense is directed to submit the Base for Reprogramming (DD Form 1414) for each of the fiscal year 2016 appropriation accounts not later than 60 days after the enactment of this Act. The Secretary of Defense is prohibited from executing any reprogramming or transfer of funds for any purpose other than originally appropriated until the aforementioned report is submitted to the House and Senate Appropriations Committees.

The Secretary of Defense is directed to use the normal prior approval reprogramming procedures to transfer funds in the Services' operation and maintenance accounts between O-1 budget activities in excess of $15,000,000. In addition, the Secretary of Defense should follow prior approval reprogramming procedures for transfers in excess of $15,000,000 out of the following budget sub-activities:

Army:
Maneuver units
Modular support brigades
Land forces operations support
Force readiness operations support
Land forces depot maintenance
Base operations support
Facilities sustainment, restoration, and modernization
Navy:
Aircraft depot maintenance
Ship depot maintenance
Marine Corps:
Depot maintenance
Facilities sustainment, restoration, and modernization
Air Force:
Primary combat forces
Combat enhancement forces
Combat communications
Facilities sustainment, restoration, and modernization
Air Force Reserve:
Depot maintenance
Air National Guard:
Depot maintenance

Additionally, the Secretary of Defense should follow prior approval reprogramming procedures for transfers in excess of $15,000,000 into the following budget sub-activity:

Operation and Maintenance, Army National Guard:

Other personnel support/recruiting and advertising

With respect to Operation and Maintenance, Defense-Wide, proposed transfers of funds to or from the levels specified for defense agencies in excess of $15,000,000 shall be subject to prior approval reprogramming procedures.

During fiscal year 2016, the Service Secretaries are directed to submit written notification and justification to the congressional defense committees not later than 15 days prior to implementing transfers in excess of $15,000,000 out of the following budget sub-activities:

Navy:
Mission and other flight operations
Mission and other ship operations
Air Force:
Operating forces depot maintenance
Mobilization depot maintenance
Training and recruiting depot maintenance
Administration and service-wide depot maintenance

These transfers may be implemented 15 days after a congressional notification unless an objection is received from one of the congressional defense committees.

OPERATION AND MAINTENANCE SPECIAL INTEREST ITEMS

Items for which additional funds have been provided or have been specifically reduced as shown in the project level tables or in paragraphs using the phrase "only for" or "only to" in the explanatory statement are congressional special interest items for the purpose of the Base for Reprogramming (DD Form 1414). Each of these items must be carried on the DD Form 1414 at the stated amount as specifically addressed in the explanatory statement. Below Threshold Reprogrammings may not be used to either restore or reduce funding from congressional special interest items as identified on the DD Form 1414.

OPERATION AND MAINTENANCE MILITARY INTELLIGENCE PROGRAM BUDGET JUSTIFICATION MATERIAL

The agreement notes that the current budget justification material submitted for the operation and maintenance portion of the Military Intelligence Program (MIP) and the exhibits for the Security Programs sub-activity groups (SAGs) in the Operation and Maintenance Army, Navy, Marine Corps, and Air Force accounts do not provide full visibility into requested funding which limits congressional oversight. Therefore, the Secretary of Defense is directed to include a new exhibit in the MIP justification books for each Service, the Special Operations Command, and the defense agencies under the "Resources Exhibit" tab. The exhibit shall be titled "Operation and Maintenance Resources by Project"; be broken out into six separate tables: the prior year base actual, the current year base estimate, the budget year base request, the prior year Overseas Contingency Operations/Global War on Terrorism (OCO/GWOT) actual, the current year OCO/GWOT estimate, and the budget year OCO/GWOT request; include each MIP project on a separate row; include each budget line item (SAG for the Service appropriation and defense agency for the defense-wide appropriation) in a separate column; show dollars in thousands in each appropriate cell of the table (lining up projects with SAGs); and include totals for each row and column to allow analysis of the totals by appropriation, project, and SAG.

Each Service operation and maintenance account includes a SAG titled "Security Programs" which funds both MIP and National Intelligence Programs (NIP) as well as other non-MIP and non-NIP programs. Since the funding requested is largely for classified programs, the budget justification materials do not provide a level of detail in the OP-5 exhibit as is normally required by the Financial Management Regulation (FMR). Thus, the Secretary of Defense is directed to provide classified OP-5 and OP-32 budget exhibits at the time of the budget submission for each of the Security Program SAGs. This OP-5 will provide the non-NIP funding amount requested in the SAG and a summary and justification for changes in the level of resources required for each SAG as required by the FMR in the Volume 2, Chapter 3 Exhibit OP-5 Instructions and Detail by SAG. This material should be submitted for both the base budget request and the OCO/GWOT request.

The new tables and budget exhibits shall be included as a part of the budget submission for fiscal year 2018. For fiscal year 2017, the Services and defense agencies are directed to work with the House and Senate Appropriations Committees to provide this information during the budget review process. This language replaces the language included under this heading in House Report 114-139.

SIZE OF THE CIVILIAN WORKFORCE

The Department of Defense is taking steps to right-size the military, civilian, and contractor workforces. While the agreement supports a strong civilian workforce and recognizes that much of this workforce performs critical national security and readiness functions, concern remains regarding the size and cost of headquarters and administrative functions and the corresponding size of the civilian staff, particularly at the Pentagon.

As required by Section 905 of the National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2015, the Secretary of Defense is currently conducting a systematic determination of the personnel requirements for headquarters organizations, including at the Pentagon, and the support organizations that perform headquarters-related functions, and is implementing a periodic review and analysis of personnel requirements. Further, as part of its annual budget documentation, the Secretary of Defense provides a report addressing the size of the three workforces. The Secretary of Defense is directed to provide a briefing to the House and Senate Appropriations Committees on the findings of the personnel requirements review referenced above, as well as the annual report on the size of the workforce, not later than 30 days after each report's release.

Section 904 of the National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2014, as amended, requires the Secretary of Defense to submit an annual report detailing the streamlining of Department of Defense headquarters. The agreement recognizes that future reports will include an updated baseline number for military, civilian, and contractor workforces for headquarters level of detail, including support organizations, as well as results of the review and further implemented and proposed reductions. The Secretary of Defense is directed to provide an annual briefing to the House and Senate Appropriations Committees on the findings of the report not later than 30 days after the report's release.

CIVILIAN PERSONNEL AND PAY MANAGEMENT

Accurate visibility and budgeting is critical to making fiscally sound decisions regarding the size and compensation of the civilian personnel workforce. The Services consistently overestimate the number of civilians that will be employed during a fiscal year while underestimating the civilian personnel funding requirement. Therefore, the agreement includes reductions for overestimating civilian full time equivalent (FTE) levels and streamlining management headquarters for fiscal year 2016.

Additionally, the agreement directs the Department of Defense Inspector General (DOD IG) to provide a report to the congressional defense committees not later than 180 days after the enactment of this Act that issues recommendations to improve the management of the civilian compensation program and civilian FTE levels. As part of the analysis, the agreement directs the DOD IG to explore the factors influencing average salary and provide suggestions for how to better control its volatility. Also, the DOD IG shall examine how to standardize the types of growth included in pay rates versus program growth across the Services. Finally, the report shall examine steps the Department of Defense should take to formulate a civilian compensation budget to more accurately capture the true cost of the civilian workforce. This language replaces the reporting requirement included under the heading “Civilian Personnel and Pay Management” in House Report 114–139 and under the heading “Civilian Compensation” in Senate Report 114–63.

CIVILIAN FURLONGHS

In fiscal year 2013, the Secretary of Defense furloughed most Department of Defense civilian employees for up to six days due to budgetary shortfalls primarily caused by sequestration. The negative impact on productivity, morale, and readiness substantially outweighed the savings generated from civilian furloughs. No furloughs were implemented in either fiscal year 2014 or fiscal year 2015, and it is assumed that the enactment of this Act will eliminate any need to furlough civilian employees in fiscal year 2016.

MAINTENANCE OF REAL PROPERTY

The agreement directs the Secretary of Defense to conduct no maintenance or improvements to Department of Defense real property with a zero percent utilization rate according to the Department’s real property inventory database, except in the case of maintenance of an historic property, as required by the National Historic Preservation Act (16 U.S.C. 470 et seq.), maintenance to prevent a negative environmental impact as required by the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 (42 U.S.C. 4321 et seq.), or to address health and safety requirements.

AUDITABILITY

The Secretary of Defense is working to achieve auditability by the end of fiscal year 2017. The Secretary of Defense is directed to provide a briefing to the House and Senate Appropriations Committees on the Financial Improvement and Audit Readiness Plan Status Report not later than 30 days after the report’s next publication.

PHYSICAL SECURITY ENHANCEMENTS AT MILITARY FACILITIES

Recent domestic and international incidents underscore the need to remain vigilant regarding security at military facilities and installations. After the July 2015 shootings in Chattanooga, Tennessee, the Secretary of Defense issued a directive that emphasized improving physical and procedural security and improving mass warning and alert notification capabilities. The Mission Assurance Coordination Board (MACB) is tasked with coordinating these activities across the Services, the National Guard Bureau, and the combatant commands to ensure the safety of Department of Defense personnel. To keep apprised of progress concerning these efforts, the Secretary of Defense is directed to provide a report to the congressional defense committees not later than 90 days after the enactment of this Act describing the completed and planned actions overseen by the MACB and identifying associated funding requirements.

The recommendation also includes $80,300,000 for security upgrades to military Service recruiting centers following the Chattanooga attacks. The requirements range from improving closed circuit camera monitoring to increasing ballistic internal protection. The Army is the executive agent for recruiting centers and will oversee the necessary security upgrades for all recruiting centers. Therefore, the agreement transfers funding from the Services’ operation and maintenance accounts to the Operation and Maintenance, Army account for this purpose.

ENERGY INDEPENDENCE AND SECURITY ACT

The agreement does not include a provision included in the House-passed version of H.R. 2685 that referenced the Energy Independence and Security Act of 2007. It is noted that the enforcement of section 526 of the Energy Independence and Security Act of 2007 may lead to higher fuel costs for federal fleets in the absence of competitively priced new generation fuels that emit fewer emissions. In carrying out this statute, the Secretary of Defense and the Service Secretaries should work to ensure that costs associated with fuel purchases necessary to carry out their respective missions should be minimized to the greatest extent possible.

AIR FORCE DEPOT MAINTENANCE AND CONTRACTOR LOGISTICS SUPPORT

While the Air Force has improved its depot maintenance budget documentation, concerns remain that requesting funding for contractor logistics support (CLS) in the depot maintenance sub-activity group (SAG) limits visibility into the execution of this funding. Separating CLS and Performance Based Logistics (PBL) funding from depot maintenance funding would provide better congressional oversight and visibility. Therefore, the Secretary of the Air Force is directed to create new and separate SAGs specifically for CLS and PBL funding.

NET-CENTRIC ENTERPRISE SERVICES

Language in House Report 114-139 directed the Director of the Defense Information Systems Agency to submit a report describing and justifying the total costs associated with implementing an interim collaboration service until the Unified Capabilities collaboration services program commences in fiscal year 2017. However, the Department of Defense has already completed the transition to a new system of collaboration services. Therefore, the reporting requirement directed by House Report 114-139 is rescinded.

ENERGY EFFICIENCY FOR DEPARTMENT OF DEFENSE FACILITIES

Language in House Report 114-139 directed the Secretary of Defense to report to the congressional defense committees on the energy use and energy efficiency projects at the Pentagon and the ten largest Department of Defense facilities. In lieu of this reporting requirement, the agreement directs the Secretary of Defense to brief the House and Senate Appropriations Committees not later than 180 days after the enactment of this Act on energy use at the Pentagon Reservation and the ten largest Department of Defense facilities. The briefing should include an accounting of the dates when energy audits and energy efficiency projects were conducted at these facilities and any potential savings associated with the installation of efficient lighting systems, including tubular Light-Emitting Diode (T-LED) lighting, at these facilities. Further, the Secretary of Defense is encouraged to revise the current specifications to permit T-LED lighting as an option within the Department's Unified Facilities Criteria.

MILITARY CHILD OUTREACH PROGRAMS

The agreement recognizes the importance of youth outreach programs that provide military children opportunities and mentorships as they cope with the turbulence that often accompanies military service. The Secretary of Defense and the Service Secretaries are encouraged to continue funding memberships for military children at installation-sponsored Boys and Girls Clubs of America and to expand these efforts to support memberships for military children who reside off-base and wish to join off-installation Boys and Girls Clubs of America.

MILITARY ONESOURCE

Military OneSource provides comprehensive information on military life to servicemembers and their families. However, the duplicative nature of the Department of Defense and the Department of Veterans Affairs efforts in this area is concerning. The Secretary of Defense, in consultation with the Secretary of Veterans Affairs, is directed to submit a report detailing the potential benefits of creating a joint program modeled after Military OneSource to the congressional defense committees not later than 120 days after the enactment of this Act.

PROCUREMENT SPECIAL INTEREST ITEMS

Items for which additional funds have been provided as shown in the project level tables or in paragraphs using the phrase “only for” or “only to” in the explanatory statement are congressional special interest items for the purpose of the Base for Reprogramming (DD Form 1414). Each of these items must be carried on the DD Form 1414 at the stated amount as specifically addressed in the explanatory statement.

REPROGRAMMING GUIDANCE FOR ACQUISITION ACCOUNTS

The Secretary of Defense is directed to continue to follow the reprogramming guidance as specified in the report accompanying the House version of the Department of Defense Appropriations bill for Fiscal Year 2008 (House Report 110-279). Specifically, the dollar threshold for reprogramming funds will remain at $20,000,000 for procurement and $10,000,000 for research, development, test and evaluation.

Also, the Under Secretary of Defense (Comptroller) is directed to continue to provide the congressional defense committees quarterly, spreadsheet-based DD Form 1416 reports for Service and defense-wide accounts in titles III and IV of this Act. Reports for titles III and IV shall comply with the guidance specified in the explanatory statement accompanying the Department of Defense Appropriations Act, 2006. The Department shall continue to follow the limitation that prior approval reprogrammings are set at either the specified dollar threshold or 20 percent of the procurement or research, development, test and evaluation line, whichever is less. These thresholds are cumulative from the base for reprogramming value as modified by any adjustments. Therefore, if the combined value of transfers into or out of a procurement (P-1) or research, development, test and evaluation (R-1) line exceeds the identified threshold, the Secretary of Defense must submit a prior approval reprogramming to the congressional defense committees. In addition, guidelines on the application of prior approval reprogramming procedures for congressional special interest items are established elsewhere in this statement.

COMBAT AIR PATROL REVIEW

The agreement directs the Secretary of Defense to conduct a complete review of the required Combat Air Patrols deemed necessary to meet combatant commanders' requirements and to identify the necessary mix of intelligence, surveillance, and reconnaissance aircraft across the Air Force, Navy, Army, and Special Operations Command to meet such requirements. The Secretary of Defense is directed to provide a report on this review to the congressional defense committees not later than 180 days after the enactment of this Act.

JOINT STRIKE FIGHTER AUTONOMIC LOGISTICS INFORMATION SYSTEM

The Secretary of Defense is directed to submit a report to the congressional defense committees not later than May 15, 2016, which includes a certification that Autonomic Logistics Information System (ALIS) 2.0.2 system equipment has been delivered and supports an Air Force declaration of Initial Operating Capability (IOC) for the F-35A. If such certification cannot be made, the report shall provide an explanation for the failure to deliver the necessary equipment and a projected date for its delivery.

If certification is not made in the report, the Secretary is further directed to submit a new report to the congressional defense committees not later than five days following the new projected date for delivery which includes the certification previously described. If such certification cannot be made, the report shall include an explanation for the failure to deliver the necessary equipment and an assessment of the potential impact to the Air Force declaration of IOC.

The Secretary of Defense is further directed to ensure that the fiscal year 2017 budget exhibits for the F-35 program clearly delineate the specific costs of ALIS procurement and research, development, test and evaluation in all applicable accounts.

AIRSPACE COMPLIANCE

The Secretary of Defense is directed to submit a report to the congressional defense committees not later than April 1, 2016 on the status of plans to modernize or replace digital avionics equipment for Department of Defense aircraft. This report shall be in a format similar to the report submitted in response to Section 152 of the National Defense Authorization Act for Fiscal Year 2015, updated to reflect any changes to such plans as of the date of submission of the fiscal year 2017 budget request. This language replaces the direction under the heading “Airspace Compliance” in Senate Report 114-63.

MK-19 GRENADE MACHINE GUN MODIFICATIONS

The fiscal year 2016 budget request includes $2,777,000 to improve the lethality and accuracy of MK-19 40mm grenade machine gun launchers. The MK-19 has been a reliable and effective weapon for many years, including extensive operational use in Iraq and Afghanistan. There remains concern with the Army plan to upgrade the weapon. The agreement directs the Secretary of the Army to submit a report to the congressional defense committees not later than the end of fiscal year 2016 or following the completion of the MOD 5 kit testing, whichever is earlier, that addresses the ability of the MOD 5 kit to meet requirements. In addition, the report shall address the Army plan to utilize commercial off-the-shelf technologies to upgrade and enhance the MK-19 in the future.

NAVY RESERVE COMBAT AIRCRAFT

The tactical aviation squadrons of the Navy Reserve fulfill the strategic reserve mission for the Navy and provide adversary support to active duty forces. The aging F/A-18A+ aircraft are projected to begin exceeding their service lives in the next five years. The Secretary of the Navy, in coordination with the Chief of Navy Reserve, is directed to submit a report to the congressional defense committees not later than 90 days after the enactment of this Act on the plan to re-capitalize and modernize the Navy Reserve tactical aviation squadrons, specifically the F/A-18A+ models in the Navy Reserve Combat air fleet.

UH-1N REPLACEMENT

The agreement includes $2,456,000, the same as the budget request, for the UH-1N helicopter replacement program. However, the lack of a settled acquisition strategy remains a concern. The agreement provides the funds requested in order to facilitate the development of a new acquisition strategy. It is recommended that the Secretary of the Air Force consider an acquisition strategy that separates nuclear convoy escort and missile field mission support from other missions performed by the existing UH-1N fleet, which may be satisfied by a less robust and more affordable solution.

SPACE PROCUREMENT, AIR FORCE

The agreement supports the President's request to create a new Space Procurement, Air Force appropriation account but establishes the period of availability of funds for obligation at three years. Further, the agreement transfers all space-related items requested in the Other Procurement, Air Force appropriation account into the Space Procurement, Air Force appropriation account.

DEFENSE METEOROLOGICAL SATELLITE

The agreement denies the request of the Secretary of the Air Force for relief from direction provided in the explanatory statement accompanying the Department of Defense Appropriations Act, 2015, which required that the Defense Meteorological Satellite Program (DMSP) be brought to an orderly close during calendar year 2015. Therefore, the recommendation reduces the fiscal year 2016 budget request by $89,351,000 for the DMSP and by $120,000,000 for the corresponding Evolved Expendable Launch Vehicle. Further, the recommendation rescinds $50,000,000 from fiscal year 2015 Missile Procurement, Air Force funds for the DMSP. The agreement recommends that the Secretary of the Air Force focus resources on ensuring that the next generation of weather satellites meets the full spectrum of warfighter and intelligence requirements and work with civil stakeholders to ensure that any other weather coverage gaps are met using appropriate civil or international weather assets.

RESEARCH, DEVELOPMENT, TEST AND EVALUATION SPECIAL INTEREST ITEMS

Items for which additional funds have been provided as shown in the project level tables or in paragraphs using the phrase “only for” or “only to” in the explanatory statement are congressional special interest items for the purpose of the Base for Reprogramming (DD Form 1414). Each of these items must be carried on the DD Form 1414 at the stated amount as specifically addressed in the explanatory statement.

REPROGRAMMING GUIDANCE FOR ACQUISITION ACCOUNTS

The Secretary of Defense is directed to continue to follow the reprogramming guidance as specified in the report accompanying the House version of the Department of Defense Appropriations bill for Fiscal Year 2008 (House Report 110-279). Specifically, the dollar threshold for reprogramming funds will remain at $20,000,000 for procurement and $10,000,000 for research, development, test and evaluation.

Also, the Under Secretary of Defense (Comptroller) is directed to continue to provide the congressional defense committees quarterly, spreadsheet-based DD Form 1416 reports for Service and defense-wide accounts in titles III and IV of this Act. Reports for titles III and IV shall comply with the guidance specified in the explanatory statement accompanying the Department of Defense Appropriations Act, 2006. The Department shall continue to follow the limitation that prior approval reprogrammings are set at either the specified dollar threshold or 20 percent of the procurement or research, development, test and evaluation line, whichever is less. These thresholds are cumulative from the base for reprogramming value as modified by any adjustments. Therefore, if the combined value of transfers into or out of a procurement (P-1) or research, development, test and evaluation (R-1) line exceeds the identified threshold, the Secretary of Defense must submit a prior approval reprogramming to the congressional defense committees. In addition, guidelines on the application of prior approval reprogramming procedures for congressional special interest items are established elsewhere in this statement.

F-16 RADAR UPGRADES

The long-term health of the active electronically scanned array radar industrial base remains a concern. Competition among multiple suppliers is important to reduce costs and improve performance. The Air Force is finalizing a competitive acquisition strategy to address phase one of the North American Aerospace Defense Command/United States Northern Command Joint Urgent Operational Need (JUON) NC-0008. The agreement provides $40,000,000 to support the phase one competition. The agreement directs the Secretary of Defense, in coordination with the Secretary of the Air Force and the Commander of United States Northern Command, to submit a report to the congressional defense committees not later than 90 days after the enactment of this Act that details a competitive acquisition strategy for phase one of the JUON, the plan to address phase two, and the Air Force's radar modernization plan for the entire F-16 fleet.

E-8 JOINT SURVEILLANCE TARGET ATTACK RADAR SYSTEM

The agreement directs the Secretary of the Air Force to submit a report on modifications to the E-8 Joint Surveillance Target Attack Radar System (JSTARS) fleet to the congressional defense committees not later than 30 days after the submission of the fiscal year 2017 budget request. This report shall detail how the Air Force will address global air traffic management mandates, as well as other modifications required to meet warfighter requirements and avoid mission performance degradation due to diminishing manufacturing sources, until the E-8 is replaced by the Next Generation JSTARS system. The report shall include schedules and annual funding requirements for each modification effort. This language replaces the reporting requirements regarding the legacy E-8 fleet under the headings “E-8 JSTARS” in House Report 114-139 and “Joint Surveillance and Target Attack Radar System (JSTARS)” in Senate Report 114-63.

NEXT GENERATION JOINT SURVEILLANCE TARGET ATTACK RADAR SYSTEM

Delays by the Department of Defense in reaching a Milestone A decision on the Next Generation Joint Surveillance Target Attack Radar System (JSTARS) program remain a source of concern. The Secretary of Defense and the Secretary of the Air Force are directed to reassess the acquisition strategy with the goal of shortening the development phase and accelerating the production and delivery of a new system. The Secretary of the Air Force is further directed to brief the congressional defense committees not later than 60 days after the enactment of this Act on the status of requirements definition, technology risk and the strategy for reducing such risk, the acquisition strategy and funding for all phases, and options to accelerate the program relative to the schedule presented with the fiscal year 2016 budget request. This language replaces the direction regarding the Next Generation JSTARS system under the headings “Next Generation JSTARS” in House Report 114-139 and “Joint Surveillance and Target Attack Radar System (JSTARS)” in Senate Report 114-63.

GLOBAL POSITIONING SYSTEM III OPERATIONAL CONTROL SEGMENT

In light of significant delays to the Global Positioning System (GPS) III Operational Control Segment, the Air Force plan to accelerate GPS III satellite launches would put approximately fourteen satellites on orbit before the ground system is available to operate and integrate the satellites into the positioning, timing, and navigation architecture. Therefore, the Constellation Sustainment Assessment Team is directed to conduct a review, with validation by the Commander of the United States Strategic Command, to determine if the current GPS III satellite launch plan should be adjusted to ensure necessary operational testing on early vehicles has been completed and potential satellite deficiencies have been discovered before more satellites are launched. This review should be provided to the congressional defense committees not later than 60 days after the enactment of this Act.

SPACE BASED INFRARED SYSTEM SPACE MODERNIZATION INITIATIVE

The agreement directs the Under Secretary of Defense (Acquisition, Technology, and Logistics) to provide an analysis of alternatives for the next generation of the Space Based Infrared System to the congressional defense committees not later than 60 days after the enactment of this Act. Further, the Under Secretary of Defense (Acquisition, Technology, and Logistics) and the Commander of the United States Strategic Command are directed to brief the congressional defense committees on the findings and recommendations of the analysis of alternatives, including the cost evaluation, not later than 30 days after the submission of the analysis of alternatives.

ADVANCED EXTREMELY HIGH FREQUENCY SATELLITE SPACE MODERNIZATION INITIATIVE

The agreement restricts obligation or expenditure of more than $90,000,000 of Research, Development, Test and Evaluation, Air Force funds for the Advanced Extremely High Frequency Military Satellite Communications Space Modernization Initiative until 30 days after the Under Secretary of Defense (Acquisition, Technology, and Logistics) provides the congressional defense committees with its analysis of alternatives for protected tactical satellite communications services. Further, the Under Secretary of Defense (Acquisition, Technology, and Logistics) and the Commander of the United States Strategic Command are directed to brief the congressional defense committees on the findings and recommendations of the analysis of alternatives, including the cost evaluation, not later than 30 days after the submission of the analysis of alternatives.

TRUSTED FOUNDRIES

Maintaining a United States-based foundry that supplies trusted microprocessors for the Department of Defense and the Intelligence Community is a concern. It is noted that near-term and long-term plans are being developed by the Department of Defense to address access to microprocessors from trusted sources. The Secretary of Defense is directed to submit a report to the congressional defense committees not later than 90 days after the enactment of this Act that includes a list of Department of Defense weapon systems that require trusted microprocessors, a description on how the loss of a United States-based trusted foundry impacts these systems, an identification of costs associated with maintaining an equivalent level of security for the existing systems, a list of the challenges associated with maintaining and/or creating adequate United States-based trusted foundries versus relying on foreign-based trusted foundries, and the Department's plan to provide secure microprocessors for future weapon systems. This report may be submitted in a classified form if necessary.

MISSILE DEFENSE AGENCY—DIVERT AND ATTITUDE CONTROL SYSTEM AND MULTI-OBJECT KILL VEHICLE

The fiscal year 2016 budget request includes $11,482,000 for the competitive development of next generation divert and attitude control system (DACS) technology, a reduction of 42 percent from fiscal year 2015. In addition, the fiscal year 2016 budget request initiates funding for the multi-object kill vehicle (MOKV), a program that will likely require next generation DACS technology. It is understood that the Missile Defense Agency (MDA) shares previously expressed concerns regarding the need to ensure access to a competitive DACS industrial base and views the DACS component as critical to making precise trajectory adjustments to position missile defense kill vehicles for a target intercept. Therefore, the agreement recommends an additional $10,000,000 for competitive DACS technology to support MOKV development, and an additional $20,000,000 for MOKV technology. It is understood that MDA will support the competitive DACS industrial base in future budget submissions.

MISSILE DEFENSE AGENCY—SM-3 BLOCK IIA INTERCEPTOR AND PROGRAMS INVOLVING INTERNATIONAL PARTNERS

It is recognized that the United States and Japan are cooperatively developing the SM-3 Block IIA missile and are preparing for an initial flight test. The fiscal year 2016 budget request continues to incrementally fund 17 SM-3 Block IIA flight test rounds, at a cost of over $500,000,000. In an effort to better recognize the role of international partners in Department-wide technology programs, the Under Secretary of Defense (Acquisition, Technology, and Logistics) is directed to provide a briefing to the congressional defense committees on Department of Defense programs involving international partners.

DEFENSE COMMISSARY AGENCY

The agreement affirms the significant and lasting benefits that commissaries provide in support of servicemembers and their families. Commissaries help promote healthy base communities by guaranteeing access to fresh foods, including fruits and vegetables, at low prices to military families. Better nutrition and food choices are the first steps toward improved health outcomes and lower health care costs. Commissaries also help military families stretch their budgets and provide stable employment for servicemembers' families and veterans.

It is understood that the Department of Defense would like to make commissaries more self-sustaining. The agreement supports finding efficiencies to lower the operational cost of commissaries. The House and Senate Appropriations Committees are willing to review and consider new ways to administer the commissaries; however, the agreement does not support the proposed funding reduction. The agreement affirms that commissaries must be kept open, affordable, and accessible to military families.

Language in House Report 114-139 directed the Secretary of Defense to defer any changes to the Defense Commissary Agency's (DeCA) second destination transportation funding policy that would increase commissary retail prices until 30 days after the Secretary has submitted a report to the congressional defense committees regarding commissary costs, including the potential efficiencies that can be realized in air transportation contracts. However, prior to House passage of H.R. 2685, the Department of Defense began the transition to a new fresh fruits and vegetables contract throughout the DeCA Pacific Area commissaries. Therefore, in lieu of the direction in House Report 114-139, the Secretary of Defense is directed to submit a report to the House and Senate Appropriations Committees not later than 90 days after the enactment of this Act outlining the current delivery system of commissary benefits in the Pacific Area commissary system, including the anticipated costs related to the transition to a new fresh fruits and vegetables contract throughout the DeCA Pacific Area commissaries; a description of any modifications to the Pacific Area commissary system the Secretary considers appropriate to achieve savings in the delivery of commissary benefits, while still upholding high levels of customer satisfaction and access, providing high quality products, and sustaining discount savings; and the potential efficiencies that can be realized in air transportation contracts and the effect that these efficiencies may have on second destination transportation funding requirements.

NATIONAL DEFENSE SEALIFT FUND

REPROGRAMMING GUIDANCE FOR THE DEFENSE HEALTH PROGRAM

Concerns remain regarding the transfer of funds from the In-House Care budget sub-activity to pay for contractor-provided medical care. To limit such transfers and improve oversight within the Defense Health Program operation and maintenance account, the agreement includes a provision which caps the funds available for Private Sector Care under the TRICARE program subject to prior approval reprogramming procedures. The provision and accompanying explanatory statement language should not be interpreted as limiting the amount of funds that may be transferred to the In-House Care budget sub-activity from other budget sub-activities within the Defense Health Program. In addition, funding for the In-House Care budget sub-activity continues to be designated as a congressional special interest item. Any transfer of funds from the In-House Care budget sub-activity into the Private Sector Care budget sub-activity or any other budget sub-activity requires the Secretary of Defense to follow prior approval reprogramming procedures for operation and maintenance funds.

The Secretary of Defense is directed to provide written notification to the congressional defense committees of cumulative transfers in excess of $10,000,000 out of the Private Sector Care budget sub-activity not later than fifteen days after such a transfer. Furthermore, the Secretary of Defense is directed to provide a report to the congressional defense committees not later than 30 days after the enactment of this Act that delineates transfers of funds in excess of $10,000,000, and the dates any transfers occurred, from the Private Sector Care budget sub-activity to any other budget sub-activity groups for fiscal year 2015.

The Assistant Secretary of Defense (Health Affairs) is directed to provide quarterly reports to the congressional defense committees on budget execution data for all of the Defense Health Program budget activities and to adequately reflect changes to the budget activities requested by the Services in future budget submissions.

CARRYOVER

For fiscal year 2016, the agreement recommends one percent carryover authority for the operation and maintenance account of the Defense Health Program. The Assistant Secretary of Defense (Health Affairs) is directed to submit a detailed spending plan for any fiscal year 2015 designated carryover funds to the congressional defense committees not less than 30 days prior to executing the carryover funds.

PEER-REVIEWED CANCER RESEARCH PROGRAM

The agreement provides $50,000,000 for the peer-reviewed cancer research program to research cancers not addressed in the breast, prostate, ovarian, and lung cancer research programs currently executed by the Department of Defense.

The funds provided in the peer-reviewed cancer research program are directed to be used to conduct research in the following areas: bladder cancer, colorectal cancer, immunotherapy, kidney cancer, listeria vaccine for cancer, liver cancer, lymphoma, melanoma and other skin cancers, mesothelioma, neuroblastoma, pancreatic cancer, pediatric brain tumors, and stomach cancer.

The reports directed under this heading in House Report 114-139 and Senate Report 114-63 are still required.

PEER-REVIEWED MEDICAL RESEARCH PROGRAM

The agreement provides $278,700,000 for a peer-reviewed medical research program. The Secretary of Defense, in conjunction with the Service Surgeons General, is directed to select medical research projects of clear scientific merit and direct relevance to military health. Research areas considered under this funding are restricted to the following areas: acute lung injury, antimicrobial resistance, chronic migraine and post-traumatic headache, congenital heart disease, constrictive bronchiolitis, diabetes, dystonia, emerging infectious diseases, focal segmental glomerulosclerosis, Fragile X syndrome, hepatitis B, hereditary angioedema, hydrocephalus, inflammatory bowel disease, influenza, integrative medicine, interstitial cystitis, lupus, malaria, metals toxicology, mitochondrial disease, nanomaterials for bone regeneration, non-opioid pain management, pancreatitis, pathogen-inactivated dried plasma, polycystic kidney disease, post-traumatic osteoarthritis, psychotropic medications, pulmonary fibrosis, respiratory health, Rett syndrome, rheumatoid arthritis, scleroderma, sleep disorders, tinnitus, tuberculosis, vaccine development for infectious disease, vascular malformations, and women's heart disease. The additional funding provided under the peer-reviewed medical research program shall be devoted only to the purposes listed above.

ELECTRONIC HEALTH RECORD SYSTEM

Concerns remain with the progress being made by the Departments of Defense and Veterans Affairs to develop fully interoperable electronic health record systems. The ultimate goal of the efforts of both Departments is to have systems that can exchange data in a meaningful way and be used in a dynamic environment to improve patient care and facilitate smoother transitions for servicemembers from military service to veteran status.

It is noted that the Department of Defense has provided required information regarding resource requirements for prior years and the fiscal year 2016 budget request in a timely, concise, and complete manner. However, for the necessary oversight of this important program, the Program Executive Officer (PEO) for the Defense Healthcare Management Systems Modernization (DHMSM) is directed to provide quarterly reports to the congressional defense committees and the Government Accountability Office on the cost and schedule of the program, to include milestones, knowledge points, and acquisition timelines, as well as quarterly obligation reports. These reports should also include any changes to the deployment timeline, including benchmarks, for full operating capability; any refinements to the cost estimate for full operating capability and the total lifecycle cost of the program; an assurance that the acquisition strategy will comply with the acquisition rules, requirements, guidelines, and systems acquisition management practices of the federal government; the status of the effort to achieve interoperability between the electronic health record systems of the Department of Defense and the Department of Veterans Affairs, including the scope, cost, schedule, mapping to health data standards, and performance benchmarks of the interoperable record; and the progress toward developing, implementing, and fielding the interoperable electronic health record throughout the two Departments' medical facilities. The PEO DHMSM is directed to continue briefing the House and Senate Appropriations Committees on a quarterly basis, coinciding with the report submission. Given that full deployment of the new electronic health record is not scheduled until fiscal year 2022, the Department of Defense is expected to continue working on interim modifications and enhancements to the current system to improve interoperability in the near-term. Additionally, the PEO DHMSM is directed to provide written notification to the House and Senate Appropriations Committees prior to obligating any contract, or combination of contracts, for electronic health record systems in excess of $5,000,000.

Additionally, the Director of the Interagency Program Office is directed to continue to provide quarterly briefings on standards development, how those standards are being incorporated by the two Departments, and the progress of interoperability to the House and Senate Appropriations Subcommittees for Defense and Military Construction, Veterans Affairs, and Related Agencies. In an effort to ensure government-wide accountability, the PEO DHMSM, in coordination with the appropriate personnel of the Department of Veterans Affairs, is directed to provide the Federal Chief Information Officer of the United States with monthly updates on progress made by the two Departments to reach interoperability and modernize their respective electronic health records.

fense is directed to continue providing Cost of War reports to the congressional defense committees that include the following information by appropriation account: funding appropriated, funding allocated, monthly obligations, monthly disbursements, cumulative fiscal year obligations, and cumulative fiscal year disbursements.

In order to meet unanticipated requirements, the Secretary of Defense may need to transfer funds within these appropriation accounts for purposes other than those specified in the explanatory statement. OVERSEAS CONTINGENCY OPERATIONS/GLOBAL WAR ON TERRORISM FUNDS EXECUTION REPORTS

The Secretary of Defense is directed to submit a monthly report to the congressional defense committees not later than 30 days after the last day of each month that details commitment, obligation, and expenditure data by sub-activity group for the Afghanistan Security Forces Fund, the Counterterrorism Partnerships Fund, and the Iraq Train and Equip Fund.

Therefore, the agreement does not recommend funding for the Syria Train and Equip Fund, but it allows the Secretary of Defense to use funds from the Counterterrorism Partnerships Fund for efforts to assist appropriately vetted elements of the Syrian opposition, if the Secretary outlines a detailed and clear plan for the use of such funds and provides such justification to the congressional defense committees in a reprogramming request.

The House included a general provision, Section 10009, prohibiting arms, training, and other assistance to the Azov Battalion in Ukraine. This provision was included due to concerns regarding the Azov Battalion commander's ties to extremism. It is understood that established codified human rights vetting requirements for beneficiaries of assistance from both the Departments of State and Defense would prohibit funding the Azov Battalion from either source if it violates human rights. This language replaces the general provision included in H.R. 2685.

OPERATION FREEDOM'S SENTINEL

The mission of Operation Freedom's Sentinel is to cooperate with allies and partners on the Resolute Support mission and to continue counterterrorism operations against the remnants of al-Qaeda in Afghanistan. The President recently announced that the current troop level of 9,800 will remain in Afghanistan through most of 2016 instead of the budgeted end strength of approximately 5,500 troops, thereby creating a funding shortfall.

The agreement provides an additional $1,277,915,000 in Operation and Maintenance, Army; Military Personnel, Army; and Operation and Maintenance, Defense-Wide for the Special Operations Command to be used only for Operation Freedom's Sentinel. The Office of Management and Budget did not submit a formal budget amendment to Congress and informal recommendations provided by the Under Secretary of Defense (Comptroller) were provided too late to fully fund the requirement within budget caps. Further, many of the recommended funding offsets had already been applied to meet the reduced funding levels legislated by the Bipartisan Budget Agreement of 2015 or they were untenable, such as reducing funding for Department of Defense schools. The agreement provides sufficient funding to cover the higher level of effort for the Army and Special Operations Command for the first six months of fiscal year 2016. It also provides additional transfer authority with the recognition that the Secretary of Defense will expeditiously submit a reprogramming action to the congressional defense committees to provide funding for the remainder of the fiscal year.

This funding is a congressional special interest item. The Secretary of Defense is directed to provide a spending plan by sub-activity group to the House and Senate Appropriations Committees not later than 15 days prior to any obligation of funds. This funding may be implemented 15 days after congressional notification unless an objection is received from either the House or the Senate Appropriations Committee.

DIVISION D—ENERGY AND WATER DEVELOPMENT AND RELATED AGENCIES APPROPRIATIONS ACT, 2016

The following statement to the House of Representatives and the Senate is submitted in explanation of the agreed upon Act making appropriations for energy and water development for the fiscal year ending September 30, 2016, and for other purposes.

The language and allocations set forth in House Report 114—91 and Senate Report 114—54 carry the same emphasis as the language included in this explanatory statement and should be complied with unless specifically addressed to the contrary herein. Report language included by the House that is not changed by the report of the Senate or this explanatory statement and Senate report language that is not changed by this explanatory statement, while repeating some report language for emphasis, does not intend to negate the language referred to above unless expressly provided herein. In cases where the House or the Senate has directed the submission of a report, such report is to be submitted to the Committees on Appropriations of both Houses of Congress. House or Senate reporting requirements with deadlines prior to or within 15 days of the enactment of this Act shall be submitted no later than 60 days after the enactment of this Act. All other reporting deadlines not changed by this explanatory statement are to be met.

Funds for the individual programs and activities within the accounts in this Act are displayed in the detailed table at the end of the explanatory statement for this Act. Funding levels that are not displayed in the detailed table are identified in this explanatory statement.

In fiscal year 2016, for purposes of the Balanced Budget and Emergency Deficit Control Act of 1985 (Public Law 99—177), the following information provides the definition of the term “program, project, or activity” for departments and agencies under the jurisdiction of the Energy and Water Development Appropriations Act. The term “program, project, or activity” shall include the most specific level of budget items identified in the Energy and Water Development Appropriations Act, 2016 and the explanatory statement accompanying the Act.

National Ocean Policy.—The agreement does not include section 505 of the House bill regarding the National Ocean Policy. No specific funding was provided in fiscal year 2015 and none was requested by any agencies funded in this Act in fiscal year 2016 to implement the National Ocean Policy. Consequently, no specific funds for National Ocean Policy activities are included for any agency funded in this Act.

TITLE I—CORPS OF ENGINEERS—CIVIL DEPARTMENT OF THE ARMY CORPS OF ENGINEERS—CIVIL

The summary tables included in this title set forth the dispositions with respect to the individual appropriations, projects, and activities of the Corps of Engineers. Additional items of the Act are discussed below.

Concerns persist that the effort to update the Water Resources Principles and Guidelines did not proceed consistent with the language or intent of section 2031 of the Water Resources Development Act of 2007. No funds provided to the Corps of Engineers shall be used to develop or implement rules or guidance to support implementation of the final Principles and Requirements for Federal Investments in Water Resources released in March 2013 or the final Interagency Guidelines released in December 2014. The Corps shall continue to use the document dated March 10, 1983, and entitled “Economic and Environmental Principles and Guidelines for Water and Related Land Resources Implementation Studies” during the fiscal year period covered by the Energy and Water Development Appropriations Act for 2016.

Recent statutory changes regarding the Inland Waterways Trust Fund (IWTF) have resulted in an increase to the size of the capital improvement program that can be supported by the IWTF. The agreement reflects congressional interest in supporting this larger program. The Corps is directed to take the preparatory steps necessary to ensure that new construction projects can be initiated as soon as can be supported under the larger capital program (i.e., as ongoing projects approach completion).

The agreement does not include Senate report direction regarding program coordination and execution.

Asian carp.—The Corps is directed to expedite authorized actions related to addressing the threat Asian carp pose to the Great Lakes basin, including the Brandon Road Study. Given the promise Brandon Road Lock and Dam holds as a single point to control upstream transfer of invasive species, delays to this study would pose an unnecessary threat to the Great Lakes. Upon completion of the study, the Corps is directed to expeditiously pursue authorization of any proposed modification to Brandon Road Lock and Dam through the appropriate congressional committees.

The Corps is further directed to establish formal emergency procedures under the authorities provided under Section 1039 of the Water Resources Reform and Development Act of 2014 (P.L. 113—121), including rapid response protocols, monitoring, and other countermeasures, that are appropriate to prevent Asian Carp from passing beyond the Brandon Road Lock and Dam while still complying with the Lock’s existing authorized purposes and the River and Harbor Act of 1899 (33 U.S.C. 401 et seq.). These procedures shall be established in coordination with the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service and in consultation with the Asian Carp Regional Coordinating Committee.

Economic Impact Study.—The Comptroller General is directed to study the cumulative economic impact of all shallow draft ports on the Mississippi River between St. Louis, Missouri, and Baton Rouge, Louisiana. The study shall include an assessment of the following: current freight flows of barge traffic on the middle and lower Mississippi River; how industry stakeholders and experts describe the contribution of inland ports to the local and national economy; how factors such as the Panama Canal expansion are expected to contribute to future trends in barge traffic on the middle and lower Mississippi River; how dredging of the middle and lower Mississippi River and its inland ports is funded; and other options that are available to fund dredging in the middle and lower Mississippi River.

ADDITIONAL FUNDING

The fiscal year 2016 budget request significantly underfunds the Civil Works program of the Corps of Engineers. The agreement, however, includes funding in addition to the budget request to ensure continued improvements to our national economy, public safety, and environmental health that result from water resources projects. This funding is for additional work that either was not included in the Administration’s request or was inadequately budgeted. The bill contains a provision requiring the Corps to allocate funds in accordance with only the direction in this agreement.

The Corps again is directed to develop rating systems for use in evaluating studies and projects for allocation of the additional funding provided in this title. These evaluation systems may be, but are not required to be, individualized for each account, category, or subcategory. Each study and project eligible for funding shall be evaluated under the applicable ratings system. A study or project may not be excluded from evaluation for being “inconsistent with Administration policy.” The Corps retains complete control over the methodology of these ratings systems. The executive branch retains complete discretion over project-specific allocation decisions within the additional funds provided, subject to only the direction here and under the heading “Additional Funding” or “Additional Funding for Ongoing Work” within each of the Investigations, Construction, Mississippi River and Tributaries, and Operation and Maintenance accounts.

The Administration is reminded that these funds are in addition to its budget request, and Administration budget metrics shall not be a reason to disqualify a study or project from being funded. It is expected that all of the additional funding provided will be allocated to specific programs, projects, or activities. The focus of the allocation process shall favor the obligation, rather than expenditure, of funds for work in fiscal year 2016. With the significant backlog of work in the Corps’ inventory, there is no reason for funds provided above the budget request to remain unallocated.

A project or study shall be eligible for additional funding within the Investigations, Construction, and Mississippi River and Tributaries accounts if: (1) it has received funding, other than through a reprogramming, in at least one of the previous three fiscal years; (2) it was previously funded and could reach a significant milestone, complete a discrete element of work, or produce significant outputs in fiscal year 2016; or (3) as appropriate, it is selected as one of the new starts allowed in accordance with this Act and the additional direction provided below. None of the additional funding in any account may be used for any item where funding was specifically denied or for projects in the Continuing Authorities Program. Funds shall be allocated consistent with statutory cost share requirements.

Funding associated with each category may be allocated to any eligible study or project, as appropriate, within that category; funding associated with each subcategory may be allocated only to eligible studies or projects, as appropriate, within that subcategory. The list of subcategories is not meant to be exhaustive.

Work plan.—Not later than 60 days after the enactment of this Act, the Corps shall provide to the Committees on Appropriations of both Houses of Congress a work plan including the following information: (1) a detailed description of the ratings system(s) developed and used to evaluate studies and projects; (2) delineation of how these funds are to be allocated; (3) a summary of the work to be accomplished with each allocation, including phase of work; and (4) a list of all studies and projects that were considered eligible for funding but did not receive funding, including an explanation of whether the study or project could have used funds in fiscal year 2016 and the specific reasons each study or project was considered as being less competitive for an allocation of funds.

New Starts.—The agreement includes the direction regarding the definition of a new start included in the House report. The agreement includes up to ten new study starts and six new construction starts to be distributed across the three main mission areas of the Corps. Of the new study starts, three shall be for navigation studies, three shall be for flood and storm damage reduction studies, one shall be for an additional navigation or flood and storm damage reduction study, and three shall be for environmental restoration studies. Of the new construction starts, one shall be for a navigation project, one shall be for a flood and storm damage reduction project, three shall be for additional navigation or flood and storm damage reduction projects, and one shall be for an environmental restoration project. No funding shall be used to initiate new studies, programs, projects, or activities in the Mississippi River and Tributaries or Operation and Maintenance accounts.

The Corps is directed to propose a single group of new starts as a part of the work plan. The Corps may not change or substitute the new starts selected once the work plan has been provided to the Committees on Appropriations of both Houses of Congress. Each new start shall be funded from the appropriate additional funding line item. Any project for which the new start requirements are not met by the end of fiscal year 2016, or by the earlier date as specified, shall be treated as if the project had not been selected as a new start; such a project shall be required to compete again for new start funding in future years. Consideration of studies and projects for selection as new starts shall not be limited to only those proposed in the Administration's budget request. As all new starts are to be chosen by the Corps, all shall be considered of equal importance, and the expectation is that future budget submissions will include appropriate funding for all new starts selected. A new construction start shall not be required for work undertaken to correct a design deficiency on an existing federal project; it shall be considered ongoing work.

In addition to the priority factors used to allocate all additional funding provided in the Investigations account, the Corps should give careful consideration to the out-year budget impacts of the studies selected and to whether there appears to be an identifiable local sponsor that will be ready and able to provide, in a timely manner, the necessary cost share for the feasibility and preconstruction engineering and design (PED) phases. No new start or new investment decision shall be required when moving from feasibility to PED.

In addition to the priority factors used to allocate all additional funding provided in the Construction account, the Corps also shall consider the out-year budget impacts of the selected new starts and the cost sharing sponsor's ability and willingness to promptly provide the cash contribution (if any), as well as required lands, easements, rights-of-way, relocations, and disposal areas. When considering new construction starts, only those that can execute a project cost sharing agreement not later than August 31, 2016, shall be chosen.

To ensure that the new construction starts are affordable and will not unduly delay completion of any ongoing projects, the Secretary is required to submit to the Committees on Appropriations of both Houses of Congress a realistic out-year budget scenario prior to issuing a work allowance for a new start. It is understood that specific budget decisions are made on an annual basis and that this scenario is neither a request for nor a guarantee of future funding for any project. Nonetheless, this scenario shall include an estimate of annual funding for each new start utilizing a realistic funding scenario through completion of the project, as well as the specific impacts of that estimated funding on the ability of the Corps to make continued progress on each previously funded construction project (including impacts to the optimum timeline and funding requirements of the ongoing projects) and on the ability to consider initiating new projects in the future. The scenario shall assume a Construction account funding level at the average of the past three budget requests.

INVESTIGATIONS

The agreement includes $121,000,000 for Investigations. The agreement includes legislative language regarding parameters for new study starts.

Updated Capability.—The agreement adjusts some project-specific allocations downward from the budget request based on updated information regarding the amount of work that could be accomplished in fiscal year 2016.

Mobile Harbor, Alabama, Limited Reevaluation Report.—The Assistant Secretary of the Army for Civil Works is directed to budget for this project at the rate indicated in Section 110 of the Energy and Water Development and Related Agencies Appropriations Act, 2015. In future budget submissions, the Secretary shall adhere to congressional direction included in statute regarding this project.

North Atlantic Coast Comprehensive Study Focus Areas.—The agreement includes funding for the three focus areas as separate and individual feasibility studies. The Corps is directed to maintain this characterization (individual, ongoing activities) when making future funding decisions for study activities for these three focus areas, as well as the other six focus areas identified in the Comprehensive Study.

Additional Funding.—When allocating the additional funding provided in this account, the Corps shall consider giving priority to completing or accelerating ongoing studies or to initiating new studies that will enhance the nation's economic development, job growth, and international competitiveness; are for projects located in areas that have suffered recent natural disasters; or are for projects to address legal requirements. While the additional funding is shown in the feasibility column, the Corps shall use these funds for additional work in both the feasibility and PED phases. The agreement includes sufficient additional funding to undertake a significant amount of feasibility and PED work. The Administration is reminded that a project study is not complete until the PED phase is complete.

Upper Mississippi River Comprehensive Plan.—In lieu of Senate report direction for the Upper Mississippi River Comprehensive Plan, the agreement encourages the Corps of Engineers to provide, not later than 60 days after the enactment of this Act, a comprehensive survey of the authorization and funding requirements necessary for the Corps to continue work on the Upper Mississippi River Comprehensive Plan, including work on alternative scenarios for the 500 year flood (included in the current plan, Plan H). The Corps is encouraged to outline the perceived challenges to, and recommendations for, working toward the creation of an overall flood risk management plan for the entire main stem of the Mississippi River as part of the report.

Upper Mississippi River-Illinois Waterway System.—Unfortunately, the bipartisan support for the Navigation and Ecosystem Sustainability Program (NESP), spanning almost a decade, has not resulted in NESP's implementation. In fact, the program has been idle since fiscal year 2011, when it last received funding for ongoing PED activities. Recently, the Administration signaled its intent to take the unusual step of conducting a new economic analysis. While an update of the benefits and costs of the program, similar to updates for other projects, may be warranted, a complete reanalysis is not. The program was recommended in a Chief's Report and authorized in statute; the next appropriate step is to complete PED. Consequently, the Corps is directed to provide to the Committees on Appropriations of both Houses of Congress, not later than 30 days after the enactment of this Act, a report detailing the scope, schedule, and budget for completing any update or reanalysis to be undertaken. Additionally, the Corps shall provide the Committees on Appropriations of both Houses of Congress with monthly briefings on the status of any update or reanalysis until such work is completed.

CONSTRUCTION

The agreement includes $1,862,250,000 for Construction. The agreement includes legislative language regarding parameters for new construction starts.

Updated Capability.—The agreement adjusts some project-specific allocations downward from the budget request based on updated information regarding the amount of work that could be accomplished in fiscal year 2016.

Additional Funding.—The agreement includes additional funds for projects and activities to enhance the nation's economic growth and international competitiveness. Of the additional funds provided in this account, the Corps shall allocate not less than $12,450,000 to projects with riverfront development components. Of the additional funding provided in this account for flood and storm damage reduction and flood control, the Corps shall allocate not less than $18,000,000 to additional nonstructural flood control projects. Of the additional funds provided in this account for other authorized project purposes and environmental restoration or compliance, the Corps shall allocate not less than $5,000,000 to authorized reimbursements for projects with executed project cooperation agreements and that have completed construction or where non-federal sponsors intend to use the funds for additional water resources development activities.

When allocating the additional funding provided in this account, the Corps shall consider giving priority to the following:

1. the benefits of the funded work to the national economy;
2. extent to which the work will enhance national, regional, or local economic development;
3. number of jobs created directly by the funded activity;
4. ability to obligate the funds allocated within the fiscal year, including consideration of the ability of the non-federal sponsor to provide any required cost share;

5. ability to complete the project, separable element, or project phase with the funds allocated;

6. for flood and storm damage reduction projects (including authorized nonstructural measures and periodic beach renourishments),

a. population, economic activity, or public infrastructure at risk, as appropriate; and

b. the severity of risk of flooding or the frequency with which an area has experienced flooding;

7. for navigation projects, the number of jobs or level of economic activity to be supported by completion of the project, separable element, or project phase;

8. for projects cost shared with the Inland Waterways Trust Fund (IWTF), the economic impact on the local, regional, and national economy if the project is not funded, as well as discrete elements of work that can be completed within the funding provided in this line item;

9. for other authorized project purposes and environmental restoration or compliance projects, to include the beneficial use of dredged material; and

10. for environmental infrastructure, projects with the greater economic impact, projects in rural communities, and projects in counties or parishes with high poverty rates.

The agreement provides funds making use of all estimated annual revenues in the IWTF. The Corps shall allocate all funds provided in the IWTF Revenues line item along with the statutory cost share from funds provided in the Navigation line item prior to allocating the remainder of funds in the Navigation line item. Current fiscal year 2016 capability estimates for all ongoing construction projects cost shared with the IWTF total $171,200,000 above the budget request. Any report prepared pursuant to section 2002(d) of the Water Resources Reform and Development Act (WRRDA) of 2014 will need to be reviewed by the Congress prior to the Corps incorporating any part of the report into funding decisions. Therefore, when allocating the additional funding provided for projects cost shared with the IWTF, the Corps shall continue to use, as appropriate, the Inland Marine Transportation System (IMTS) Capital Projects Business Model, Final Report published on April 13, 2010, as the applicable 20-year plan.

Aquatic Plant Control Program.—Of the funding provided for the Aquatic Plant Control Program, $4,000,000 shall be for nationwide research and development to address invasive aquatic plants; within this funding, the Corps is encouraged to support cost shared aquatic plant management programs. Of the funding provided for the Aquatic Plant Control Program, $4,000,000 shall be for watercraft inspection stations, as authorized by section 1039 of the WRRDA.

Continuing Authorities Program (CAP).—The agreement includes a total of $29,500,000 for eight CAP sections. The management of the program shall continue consistent with the guidelines outlined in the explanatory statement accompanying the fiscal year 2015 Act.

MISSISSIPPI RIVER AND TRIBUTARIES

Updated Capability.—The agreement adjusts some project-specific allocations downward from the budget request based on updated information regarding the amount of work that could be accomplished in fiscal year 2016.

Lowell Creek Tunnel, Alaska.—Currently, there are problems with the existing Lowell Creek Tunnel. The Corps is encouraged to include in future budget requests a study for an alternative method of flood diversion for Lowell Canyon. The Water Resources Development Act of 2007 transferred responsibility for long-term maintenance and repair to the Corps until a new alternative was built, or for 15 years, whichever was earlier. The Corps has not progressed towards developing an alternative, and the City of Seward cannot afford the estimated $1,500,000 per year in operation and maintenance costs of the tunnel.

Additional Funding for Ongoing Work.—When allocating the additional funding provided in this account, the Corps shall consider giving priority to the following:

1. ability to complete ongoing work maintaining authorized depths and widths of harbors and shipping channels, including where contaminated sediments are present;
2. ability to address critical maintenance backlog;
3. presence of the U.S. Coast Guard or other water safety or police force presence;
4. extent to which the work will enhance national, regional, or local economic development, including domestic manufacturing capacity;
5. extent to which the work will promote job growth or international competitiveness;
6. number of jobs created directly by the funded activity;
7. ability to obligate the funds allocated within the fiscal year;
8. ability to complete the project, separable element, project phase, or useful increment of work within the funds allocated;
9. the risk of imminent failure or closure of the facility; and
10. for harbor maintenance activities,
 - a. total tonnage handled;
 - b. total exports;
 - c. total imports;
 - d. dollar value of cargo handled;
 - e. energy infrastructure and national security needs served;
 - f. designation as strategic seaports;
 - g. lack of alternative means of freight movement; and
 - h. savings over alternative means of freight movement.

Additional funding provided for donor ports and energy transfer ports shall be allocated in accordance with section 2106 of the WRRDA. Of the funds made available for donor ports, 50 percent of such funds shall be allocated equally among eligible donor ports and 50 percent shall be allocated based on each eligible donor port's percentage of the total Harbor Maintenance Tax revenues generated at such ports.

Monitoring of Completed Navigation Projects.—Of the funding provided, $2,000,000 shall be for research described in the Senate report under the heading "Operations and Maintenance—Fisheries."

Water Operations Technical Support.—Funding in addition to the budget request is included for research into atmospheric rivers first funded in fiscal year 2015.

Emerging Harbor Projects.—The agreement includes funding for individual projects defined as emerging harbor projects in section 210(f)(2) of the Water Resources Development Act (WRDA) of 1986 that exceeds the funding levels envisioned in section 210(c)(3) and 210(d)(1)(B)(ii) of WRDA 1986.

Great Lakes Navigation System.—The agreement includes funding for individual projects within this System that exceeds the funding level envisioned in section 210(d)(1)(B)(ii) of WRDA 1986.

WRRDA Section 1039.—In lieu of Senate report direction, the agreement includes funding in the Construction account.

WRRDA Section 4001.—The Congress has made clear its intent that the Susquehanna, Delaware, and Potomac River Basin Commissions be supported, and the Corps is encouraged to budget accordingly.

Western Drought Contingency Plans.—The Corps of Engineers carries out water control management activities for Corps of Engineers and non-Corps of Engineers projects as required by federal laws and directives. These activities are governed by the establishment of water control plans. Many of these plans and manuals were developed decades ago and are required to be revised as necessary to conform to changing requirements. Continuous examination of regulation schedules and possible need for storage reallocation within existing authority and constraints would be beneficial, with emphasis placed on evaluating current or anticipated conditions that could require deviation from normal release schedules as part of drought contingency plans.

Not later than 90 days after the enactment of this Act, the Secretary shall provide to the Committees on Appropriations of both Houses of Congress a report including the following information for any western State under a gubernatorial drought declaration during water year 2015: (1) a list of Corps of Engineers and non-Corps of Engineers (section 7 of the 1944 Flood Control Act) projects that have a Corps of Engineers developed water control plan; (2) the year the original water control manual was approved; (3) the year for any subsequent revisions to the project's water control plan and manual; (4) a list of projects where operational deviations for drought contingency have been requested and the status of the request; (5) how water conservation and water quality improvements were addressed; (6) a list of projects where permanent changes to storage allocations have been requested and the status of the request.

Dredged Material Disposal.—In lieu of direction included in the House report, the agreement includes direction on dredged material disposal policy in the Expenses account.

Disposal of Dredged Material.—In lieu of direction included in the Senate report, the agreement includes legislative language regarding certain dredged material activities.

Monitoring Requirement.—The agreement does not include Senate report direction regarding a monitoring requirement.

REGULATORY PROGRAM

The agreement includes $200,000,000 for the Regulatory Program.

FORMERLY UTILIZED SITES REMEDIAL ACTION PROGRAM

The agreement includes $112,000,000 for the Formerly Utilized Sites Remedial Action Program.

FLOOD CONTROL AND COASTAL EMERGENCIES

The agreement includes $28,000,000 for Flood Control and Coastal Emergencies.

EXPENSES

The agreement includes $179,000,000 for Expenses.

Dredged Material Disposal.—The Corps of Engineers Headquarters, in conjunction with the Office of the Assistant Secretary of the Army for Civil Works, are responsible for promulgating national policy. As directed in the House report under Operation and Maintenance, the Corps and the Secretary shall undertake a review of existing policies related to dredged material disposal given changing circumstances. This review is not intended to be a study, rather a review of existing policy to determine if it continues to serve the national interest.

Public-Private Partnership Program.—There is strong support in Congress for the public-private partnership (P3) program authorized in section 5014 of WRRDA 2014. As part of its Civil Works Transformation initiative, the Corps has been discussing for several years the idea of public-private partnerships as a project delivery tool to help sustain the performance of existing infrastructure and construct new infrastructure more quickly. Water resource projects are different from more traditional P3 projects in key ways, however, and these issues need to be addressed before a P3 program could be viable. The Corps is directed to submit to the Committees on Appropriations of both Houses of Congress not later than 45 days after the enactment of this Act a report detailing any work to date on developing public-private partnerships generally (including public-private partnerships or P4s) and on implementing section 5014 specifically (including a schedule for issuing implementation guidance). The report also shall include a list of any P3 or P4 demonstration projects being evaluated and a detailed description of the goals, advances, and remaining challenges for each such demonstration project. The Corps of Engineers should demonstrate the value of projects that use a Partnership model and should select at least one project identified in the report required above as a new construction start.

In addition to the report required above, the Secretary is directed to develop a policy on how proposals for public-private partnerships will be considered by the Corps and how these partnerships will be incorporated into the budget policy.

OFFICE OF THE ASSISTANT SECRETARY OF THE ARMY FOR CIVIL WORKS

The agreement includes $4,750,000 for the Office of the Assistant Secretary of the Army for Civil Works. The agreement includes legislative language that restricts the availability of funding until the Secretary submits a work plan that allocates at least 95 percent of the additional funding provided in each account (i.e., 95 percent of additional funding provided in Investigations, 95 percent of additional funding provided in Construction, etc.). This restriction shall not affect the roles and responsibilities established in previous fiscal years of the Office of the Assistant Secretary of the Army for Civil Works, the Corps headquarters, the Corps field operating agencies, or any other executive branch agency.

Water Supply Storage.—The Water Resources Development Act (WRDA) of 1986 changed the method of pricing water supply storage at Corps of Engineers projects for only those contracts signed after enactment. Pre-existing contracts remained under the terms of the Water Supply Act of 1958, as amended in 1961. The Secretary is directed to provide to the Committees on Appropriations of both Houses of Congress not later than 180 days after the enactment of this Act a recommendation on whether the terms of the WRDA 1986 should be extended to all water supply storage contracts. The recommendation shall be accompanied by an assessment of a representative sample of pre-WRDA 1986 water supply storage contracts, including impacts to water users and to the federal treasury.

Central Valley Project, Friant Division, San Joaquin River Restoration.—The agreement does not include a separate account for this item. Funding is included in the Water and Related Resources account as a separate line item under the Friant Division of the Central Valley Project.

Safety of Dams Act of 1978.—The agreement does not include Senate report language regarding the Safety of Dams Act of 1978.

Additional Funding for Water and Related Resources Work.—The agreement includes funds in addition to the budget request for Water and Related Resources studies, projects, and activities. Priority in allocating these funds should be given to advance and complete ongoing work, including preconstruction activities and where environmental compliance has been completed; improve water supply reliability; improve water deliveries; enhance national, regional, or local economic development; promote job growth; advance tribal and nontribal water settlement studies and activities; or address critical backlog maintenance and rehabilitation activities. Funding provided under the heading “Western Drought Response” may be allocated to any authorized purpose, but shall be allocated to those activities that will have the most direct, most immediate, and largest impact on extending limited water supplies during current drought conditions. Reclamation is encouraged to use all available authorities to provide for additional water supplies through conservation, minor changes to the operations of existing projects, drilling emergency wells, or other means authorized under current law. This additional funding may be used alone or in combination with any other funding provided in a program, project, or activity. Not later than 45 days after the enactment of this Act, Reclamation shall provide to the Committees on Appropriations of both Houses of Congress a report delineating how these funds are to be distributed, in which phase the work is to be accomplished, and an explanation of the criteria and rankings used to justify each allocation.

Indian Water Rights Settlements.—The agreement includes funds for these activities in the Water and Related Resources account, instead of in a separate account as proposed in the budget request. To maintain the visibility of these projects, the agreement includes the four projects under the Regional Programs heading with a subheading called Indian Water Rights Settlements.

WaterSMART Program.—The agreement recommends that grants funded under the WaterSMART Program have a near-term impact on water conservation and improved water management. Reclamation is urged to prioritize funding for projects in regions most stricken by drought.

Rural Water.—Voluntary funding in excess of legally required cost shares for rural water projects is acceptable, but shall not be used by Reclamation as a criterion for allocating additional funding provided in this agreement or for budgeting in future years.

Buried Metallic Water Pipe.—The agreement includes Senate report direction on buried metallic water pipe.

CENTRAL VALLEY PROJECT RESTORATION FUND

cludes $1,000,000 for Reclamation to contract with one of the Department of Energy's national laboratories with expertise in materials and corrosion disciplines to develop performance data for zinc-coated ductile iron pipe applications in highly- or severely-corrosive soils. The laboratory shall then evaluate and recommend, based on such performance data and any other relevant data or information the laboratory may obtain—and without the input, involvement, or oversight by the Bureau of Reclamation—whether the material meets the corrosion protection requirements in the Bureau of Reclamation's Technical Memorandum 8140-CC-2004-1 “Corrosion Considerations for Buried Metallic Water Pipe”. Not later than September 30, 2016, the laboratory shall report its findings and recommendations directly to the Committees on Appropriations of both Houses of Congress without prior review by the Bureau of Reclamation. The laboratory shall ensure all business-sensitive data is protected as part of this evaluation.

The agreement does not include section 507 of the House bill regarding the National Energy Technology Laboratory. The Department has not requested funding to transform the National Energy Technology Laboratory into a government-owned, contractor-operated facility. Consequently, the agreement includes no funds to enable the transformation of the lab.

Natural Gas Technologies.—Rather than requesting additional funds in fiscal year 2016 to continue methane hydrates research, the Secretary elected to spend the $15,000,000 provided in fiscal year 2015 more slowly, contrary to the intent of Congress, and potentially delaying important research activities for a year. Small Refinery Exemption.—Under section 211(o)(9)(B) of the Clean Air Act, a small refinery may petition the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) Administrator for an exemption from the Renewable Fuel Standard (RFS) on the basis that the refinery experiences a disproportionate economic hardship under the RFS. When evaluating a petition, the Administrator consults with the Secretary of Energy to determine whether disproportionate economic hardship exists. According to the Department's March 2011 Small Refinery Exemption Study, disproportionate economic hardship must encompass two broad components: a high cost of compliance relative to the industry average disproportionate impacts and an effect sufficient to cause a significant impairment of the refinery operations viability.

If the Secretary finds that either of these two components exists, the Secretary is directed to recommend to the EPA Administrator a 50 percent waiver of RFS requirements for the petitioner. The Secretary is also directed to seek small refinery comment before making changes to its scoring metrics for small refinery petitions for RFS waivers and to notify the Committees on Appropriations of both Houses of Congress prior to making any final changes to scoring metrics.

The conference report accompanying the Energy and Water Development and Related Agencies Appropriations Act, 2010, addressed similar issues and directed the Secretary to redo an earlier study done to evaluate whether the RFS program imposes a disproportionate economic hardship on small refineries. In calling for the Secretary to redo the study, the conference report cited the lack of small refinery input into the earlier study, concerns about regional RFS compliance cost disparities, small refinery dependence on the purchase of renewable fuel credits (RINs), and increasing RIN costs.

Since then, the dramatic rise in RIN prices has amplified RFS compliance and competitive disparities, especially where unique regional factors exist, including high diesel demand, no export access, and limited biodiesel infrastructure and production. In response to recent petitions, the Secretary determined that the RFS program would impose a disproportionate economic and structural impact on several small refineries. Despite this determination, the Secretary did not recommend, and EPA did not provide, any RFS relief because it determined the refineries were profitable enough to afford the cost of RFS compliance without substantially impacting their viability. The Secretary is reminded that the RFS program may impose a disproportionate economic hardship on a small refinery even if the refinery makes enough profit to cover the cost of complying with the program. Small refinery profitability does not justify a disproportionate regulatory burden where Congress has explicitly given EPA authority, in consultation with the Secretary, to reduce or eliminate this burden.

TITLE IV—INDEPENDENT AGENCIES

APPALACHIAN REGIONAL COMMISSION

The agreement provides $146,000,000 for the Appalachian Regional Commission (ARC). To diversify and enhance regional business development, $10,000,000 is provided to continue the program of high-speed broadband deployment in distressed counties within the Central Appalachian region that have been most negatively impacted by the downturn in the coal industry. This funding shall be in addition to the 30 percent directed to distressed counties.

Within available funds, $16,000,000 is recommended for the workforce development program in Southern Appalachia focused primarily on the automotive supplier sector and the aviation sector in South Central Appalachia. The funds shall be distributed according to ARC's Distressed Counties Formula, which includes land area, population estimates, and the number of distressed counties.

Within available funds, $50,000,000 is provided for the POWER Plus Plan.

DEFENSE NUCLEAR FACILITIES SAFETY BOARD
SALARIES AND EXPENSES

The agreement provides $29,150,000 for the Defense Nuclear Facilities Safety Board. The agreement does not include additional funding for an evaluation of radioactive liquid waste infrastructure and includes no reporting requirement as in the House report.

DELTA REGIONAL AUTHORITY
SALARIES AND EXPENSES

The agreement provides $25,000,000 for the Delta Regional Authority. Within available funds, not less than $10,000,000 shall be used for flood control, basic infrastructure development, and transportation improvements and shall be in addition to the State formula funding allocations. The Federal co-chairman, in consultation with State Governors, shall distribute funding to States and public and nonprofit entities for projects that will benefit rural communities with the greatest infrastructure needs.

DENALI COMMISSION

NORTHERN BORDER REGIONAL COMMISSION

The agreement provides $7,500,000 for the Northern Border Regional Commission.

SOUTHEAST CRESCENT REGIONAL COMMISSION

The agreement provides $250,000 for the Southeast Crescent Regional Commission.

NUCLEAR REGULATORY COMMISSION

SALARIES AND EXPENSES

The agreement provides $990,000,000 for Nuclear Regulatory Commission (NRC) salaries and expenses. This amount is offset by estimated revenues of $872,864,000, resulting in a net appropriation of $117,136,000. The Commission's mission is to ensure the safety and security of the nation's use of nuclear power and nuclear materials and protect the workers and public who use and benefit from these materials and facilities. Within the changes to the Commission's staffing and budget proposed by Project Aim, the safety and security of the reactor fleet must remain at the forefront. The Commission is expected to explain such staffing and budgeting changes within the context of protecting public health and ensuring the safety of facilities over the long term.

The agreement includes four new control points to provide additional transparency to the Commission's budget execution process: Nuclear Reactor Safety; Integrated University Program; Nuclear Materials and Waste Safety; and Decommissioning and Low-Level Waste. Section 402 provides new reprogramming authority to the Commission between the accounts, subject to prior congressional approval, with a provision made for emergency circumstances. This reprogramming authority supersedes the Commission's existing guidance on internal reprogrammings.

The agreement includes the following direction in lieu of all direction included in the House and Senate reports:

Nuclear Reactor Safety.—The agreement includes $760,021,000 for Nuclear Reactor Safety, including not more than $258,319,000 for corporate support. This account includes the Commission's Operating Reactors and New Reactors business lines. The agreement provides $30,119,000 less than the budget request in order to accelerate the "right-sizing" proposed by the Project Aim report. Within available funds, the Commission shall continue to address and resolve safety significant issues and ensure that the operating reactor licensing backlog is eliminated by the NRC goal of fiscal year 2017. The bill fully funds licensing activities associated with awards made under the Department of Energy's Small Modular Reactor Licensing Technical Support program. The Commission is directed to report any transfer of more than $500,000 across business lines, as identified in the budget request to the Committees on Appropriations of both Houses of Congress, as soon as practicable but not later than two weeks after the transfer is made.

Integrated University Program.—The agreement includes $15,000,000 for the Integrated University Program. Not less than $5,000,000 of this amount is to be used for grants to support research projects that do not align with programmatic missions but are critical to maintaining the discipline of nuclear science and engineering.

Nuclear Materials and Waste Safety.—The agreement includes $172,018,000 for Nuclear Materials and Waste Safety, including not more than $58,360,000 for corporate support. Included within this control point are the Fuel Facilities, Nuclear Material Users, and Spent Fuel Storage and Transportation business lines.

Decommissioning and Low-Level Waste.—The agreement includes $42,961,000 for Decommissioning and Low-Level Waste, including not more than $14,557,000 for corporate support.

Rulemaking.—The authority to compel and bind private entities and individuals to certain actions is a significant authority under the law. In light of this, the Commission itself shall decide whether to initiate rulemaking or the development of regulatory analyses to advance new regulatory requirements in all cases involving the commitment of resources. The Commission's decisions regarding whether to initiate rulemaking should be informed, in each instance, by a rulemaking plan that allows the Commission to assess the existing regulatory framework, assess the cumulative effects of regulation, and ensure that the benefits of the rulemaking outweigh the costs. In light of those goals, rulemaking shall be informed by a rulemaking plan that includes at a minimum the following components: the regulatory issue; the existing regulatory framework; an explanation of why rulemaking is the preferred solution to include a review of the options and alternatives; and a description of the rulemaking that includes the scope, preliminary backfit analysis, an estimated schedule, a preliminary recommendation on priority, and an estimate of resources.

The Commission shall submit to the Committees on Appropriations of both Houses of Congress a plan for instituting this approach not later than March 1, 2016. The plan shall include a discussion of the roles of the Advisory Committee on Reactor Safeguards and the Committee to Review Generic Requirements. The Commission may exempt rulemakings that are routine in nature or do not raise a question of policy from the requirement of a rulemaking plan, and shall provide, as part of its report, a clear description of how those exemptions will be determined. The report shall also include a description of how the Commission will annually review the prioritization of all rulemaking as part of the budget process.

The Commission is further directed to provide to the Committees on Appropriations of both Houses of Congress, not later than 30 days after the enactment of this Act, a report that includes a general description and status of each proposed rule that is currently pending before the Commission, including the date on which the proposed rule was docketed. The Commission shall list all rulemaking activities planned, to include their priority and schedule, in the annual budget request and the semi-annual report to Congress on licensing and regulatory activities.

Reporting.—To monitor the Commission's progress against its licensing goals and right-sizing commitments, a report shall be submitted to the Committees on Appropriations of both Houses of Congress by March 1, 2016, and quarterly thereafter for fiscal year 2016 that includes:

- the on-board strength of full-time equivalent employees, including any identified areas of critical skill shortages and targeted hiring strategies against these shortage areas;
- the actions taken to right-size the NRC in accordance with the recommendations of the Project Aim report, to include rebaselining assumptions and projection of FTEs and required budget authority;
- the progress to eliminate the backlog of pending licensing actions in the Office of Nuclear Reactor Regulation by 2017; and
- the progress to complete the licensing reviews of pending reactor license renewal applications (power and research reactors), combined license applications, early site permit applications, design certification applications, and uranium recovery applications (initial and renewal) against currently projected schedules.

Project Aim.—The NRC must be able to effectively and efficiently forecast its future workforce and resource needs and adapt its workforce and resource allocations accordingly so that the agency has the right number of staff with the right skills at the right time in the context of ensuring the safety and security of nuclear power facilities and nuclear materials. Although Project Aim intends to move the agency in the right direction, the Committees are not satisfied with the NRC's explanation of the basis for those projections nor with its plan for execution. Accordingly, not later than one year after the enactment of this Act, the Comptroller General shall report to the Committees on Appropriations of both Houses of Congress on the following issues: (1) how did NRC determine its workload forecast and to what extent was NRC's process for developing its workload forecast consistent with best practices; (2) how does NRC's current workforce and resource allocation compare with its forecasts; (3) what are the challenges NRC faces in adapting its current workforce and resource allocation to meet its forecasts, and what actions has NRC taken to address those challenges; (4) what actions has NRC taken or does it plan to take to implement the recommendations of the Project Aim report; and (5) to what extent are NRC's actions and plans consistent with best practices for agency transformation. The Comptroller General may address any additional questions as appropriate to ensure adequate coverage of the issues related to NRC's Project Aim and related efforts.

Budget Justification.—The NRC shall continue to include a breakout and explanation of the Commission's salaries and expenses in its annual budget request. The Commission may change the composition of the funds through a reprogramming. The Commission shall provide previous fiscal year data at the enacted level and identify separately, and by control point, any carryover balances that were obligated. The Commission shall carry over unobligated balances at the minimum amount necessary for efficient mission execution and ensure that any rule or other requirement for collection of revenue or fees is calculated accordingly.

The NRC's budget presentation lacks transparency and some key information needed for the Committees on Appropriations. Improvements in NRC's budget allocation and presentation process are needed and can lead to better budget justifications to the Congress. Therefore, the Comptroller General is directed to also examine key issues related to NRC's budget allocation process and strategy for undertaking its work: (1) what information does NRC use in its budget formulation process and what are the implications of the process; (2) to what extent are the NRC's budget justification materials presented so that agency priorities are clear and the proposed use of funds transparent; and (3) what changes could be made to improve the NRC's budget presentation.

SUBSEQUENT LICENSE RENEWAL.—The Commission's development of the necessary detailed regulatory guidance to address anticipated applications for subsequent license renewal of nuclear power reactors, the earliest of which may be submitted in 2018, is proceeding at a disappointingly slow rate. The Commission affirmed the adequacy of its current regulations for this task nearly two years ago. In light of larger uncertainties regarding planning for the electricity generating portfolio of this nation, the need for the Commission to finish and publish the requisite regulatory guidance documents is more urgent than ever. The Commission shall submit to the Committees on Appropriations of both Houses of Congress by March 15, 2016, a plan and timetable for completing the remaining activities necessary to accept, docket, and support the review of the first application for subsequent license review.

OFFICE OF INSPECTOR GENERAL

The agreement includes $12,136,000 for the Office of Inspector General in the Nuclear Regulatory Commission. This amount is graphic by revenues of $10,060,000, for a net appropriation of $2,076,000.

The agreement includes $958,000 to provide Inspector General services for the Defense Nuclear Facilities Safety Board.

NUCLEAR WASTE TECHNICAL REVIEW BOARD SALARIES AND EXPENSES

The agreement provides $3,600,000 for the Nuclear Waste Technical Review Board.

GENERAL PROVISIONS—INDEPENDENT AGENCIES

The agreement includes a provision instructing the Nuclear Regulatory Commission on responding to congressional requests for information.

The agreement includes a provision relating to reprogramming.

The agreement includes a provision relating to authorities provided within division A of section 101(g) of Public Law 105-277.

TITLE V—GENERAL PROVISIONS

The agreement includes a provision relating to lobbying restrictions.

The agreement includes a provision relating to transfer authority. No additional transfer authority is implied or conveyed by this provision. For the purposes of this provision, the term "transfer" shall mean the shifting of all or part of the budget authority in one account to another. In addition to transfers provided in this Act or other appropriations Acts, and existing authorities, such as the Economy Act (31 U.S.C. 1535), by which one part of the United States Government may provide goods or services to another part, the Act allows transfers using Section 4705 of the Atomic Energy Defense Act (50 U.S.C. 2745) and 15 U.S.C. 638 regarding SBIR/STTR.

The agreement includes a provision prohibiting funds to be used in contravention of the executive order entitled "Federal Actions to Address Environmental Justice in Minority Populations and Low-Income Populations."

Section 736 prohibits funds for the painting of a portrait of an employee of the Federal government including the President, the Vice President, a Member of Congress, the head of an executive branch agency, or the head of an office of the legislative branch.

Section 737 limits the pay increases of certain prevailing rate employees.

Section 738 eliminates automatic statutory pay increases for the Vice President, political appointees paid under the executive schedule, ambassadors who are not career members of the Foreign Service, politically appointed (noncareer) Senior Executive Service employees, and any other senior political appointee paid at or above level IV of the executive schedule.

Section 739 requires reports to Inspectors General concerning expenditures for agency conferences.

Section 740 prohibits the use of funds to increase, eliminate, or reduce a program or project unless such change is made pursuant to reprogramming or transfer provisions.

Section 741 prohibits agencies from using funds to implement regulations changing the competitive areas under reductions-in-force for Federal employees.

Section 742 prohibits funds to begin or announce a study or public-private competition regarding conversion to contractor performance pursuant to OMB Circular A-76.

Section 743 ensures that contractors are not prevented from reporting waste, fraud, or abuse by signing confidentiality agreements that would prohibit such disclosure.

Section 744 prohibits the expenditure of funds for the implementation of certain non-disclosure agreements unless certain provisions are included in the agreements.

Section 745 prohibits funds to any corporation with certain unpaid Federal tax liabilities unless an agency has considered suspension or debarment of the corporation and made a determination that further action is not necessary to protect the interests of the Government.

Section 746 prohibits funds to any corporation that was convicted of a felony criminal violation within the preceding 24 months unless an agency has considered suspension or debarment of the corporation and made a determination that further action is not necessary to protect the interests of the Government.

Section 747 amends Group Hospitalization and Medical Services' Congressional charter.

Section 748 requires the Bureau of Consumer Financial Protection to notify the Committees on Appropriations of the House and Senate, the Committee on Financial Services of the House, and the Committee on Banking, Housing, and Urban Affairs of the Senate of requests for a transfer of funds from the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System as well as post any such notifications on the Bureau's website.

Budget Briefing.—Given the need for transparency and accountability in the Federal budgeting process, and that the Bureau of Consumer Financial Protection's budget is funded independently of the annual appropriations spending bills, the Bureau is directed to provide an informal, nonpublic full briefing at least annually before the relevant subcommittee of the Committees on Appropriations of the House and Senate on the Bureau's finances and expenditures. All other directive report language regarding the Bureau of Consumer Financial Protection is not adopted.

Section 749 authorizes the President to award the Medal of Honor to Major Charles S. Kettles of the United States Army for acts of valor during the Vietnam War.

Section 750 prohibits funds for implementing Executive Order 13690 with certain exceptions. On January 30, 2015, the President issued Executive Order 13690 establishing a new Federal Flood Risk Management Standard and amending Executive Order 11988 (Floodplain Management). The Committees have heard numerous concerns about the new standard from many potentially affected stakeholders. These concerns include the process by which the standard was developed, the lack of clarity as to which specific programs and activities will be affected, and the uncertainty related to how each agency will implement the new standard. Further, the Committees remain frustrated with the quality of the responses from the executive branch on this issue. Therefore, the agreement includes language to clarify which specific programs will be affected and to reduce the uncertainty related to how each agency will implement the new standard. The Committees continue to encourage the executive branch to demonstrate to the Committees that stakeholder concerns have been addressed.

Section 751 declares references to "this Act" contained in any title other than title IV or VIII shall not apply to such titles IV or VIII.

TITLE VIII—GENERAL PROVISIONS— DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA (INCLUDING TRANSFERS OF FUNDS)

The bill includes the following general provisions for the District of Columbia:

Section 801 allows the use of local funds for making refunds or paying judgments against the District of Columbia government.

Section 803 establishes reprogramming procedures for Federal funds.

Section 804 prohibits the use of Federal funds for the salaries and expenses of a shadow U.S. Senator or U.S. Representative.

Section 805 places restrictions on the use of District of Columbia government vehicles.

Section 806 prohibits the use of Federal funds for a petition or civil action which seeks to require voting rights for the District of Columbia in Congress.

Section 807 prohibits the use of Federal funds in this Act to distribute, for the purpose of preventing the spread of blood borne pathogens, sterile needles or syringes in any location that has been determined by local public health officials or local law enforcement authorities to be inappropriate for such distribution.

Section 808 concerns a "conscience clause" on legislation that pertains to contraceptive coverage by health insurance plans.

Section 809 prohibits Federal funds to enact or carry out any law, rule, or regulation to legalize or reduce penalties associated with the possession, use or distribution of any schedule I substance under the Controlled Substances Act or any tetrahydrocannabinols derivative. In addition, section 809 prohibits Federal and local funds to enact any law, rule, or regulation to legalize or reduce penalties associated with the possession, use or distribution of any schedule I substance under the Controlled Substances Act or any tetrahydrocannabinols derivative for recreational purposes.

Section 810 prohibits the use of funds for abortion except in the cases of rape or incest or if necessary to save the life of the mother.

Section 811 requires the CFO to submit a revised operating budget no later than 30 calendar days after the enactment of this Act for agencies the CFO certifies as requiring a reallocation in order to address unanticipated program needs.

Section 812 requires the CFO to submit a revised operating budget for the District of Columbia Public Schools, no later than 30 calendar days after the enactment of this Act, that aligns schools budgets to actual enrollment.

Section 813 allows for transfers of local funds between operating funds and capital and enterprise funds.

Section 814 prohibits the obligation of Federal funds beyond the current fiscal year and transfers of funds unless expressly provided herein.

Section 815 provides that not to exceed 50 percent of unobligated balances from Federal appropriations for salaries and expenses may remain available for certain purposes. This provision will apply to the District of Columbia Courts, the Court Services and Offender Supervision Agency and the District of Columbia Public Defender Service.

Section 816 appropriates local funds during fiscal year 2017 if there is an absence of a continuing resolution or regular appropriation for the District of Columbia. Funds are provided under the same authorities and conditions and in the same manner and extent as provided for fiscal year 2016.

Section 817 establishes additional requirements for schools participating in the Opportunity Scholarship Program funded in the agreement.

Section 818 reduces the income threshold for the District of Columbia Tuition Assistance Grant Program to $750,000 for 2016-2017, and adjusts for inflation thereafter.

Section 819 specifies that references to "this Act" in this title or title IV are treated as referring only to the provisions of this title and title IV.

DIVISION F—DEPARTMENT OF HOMELAND SECURITY APPROPRIATIONS ACT, 2016

Funding provided in this Act not only sustains existing programs that protect the nation from all manner of threats, it ensures the ability of the Department of Homeland Security (DHS) to address evolving challenges like those witnessed in recent events around the world. To that end, additional resources have been identified to improve preparedness at the state and local levels, to prevent and respond to terrorist attacks, and to hire, train, and equip DHS frontline forces protecting the homeland.

The following is an explanation of the effects of Division F, which makes appropriations for DHS for fiscal year 2016. Unless otherwise noted, references to the House and Senate reports are to House Report 114–215 and Senate Report 114–68, respectively. The language and allocations contained in the House and Senate reports warrant full compliance and carry the same weight as language included in this explanatory statement, unless specifically addressed to the contrary in the bill or this explanatory statement. While repeating some language

Stafford Disaster Relief and Emergency Assistance Act, Public Law 93–288, is referenced as the Stafford Act; the Department of Homeland Security is referenced as DHS or the Department; the Government Accountability Office is referenced as GAO; and the Office of Inspector General of the Department of Homeland Security is referenced as OIG. In addition, “full-time equivalents” are referred to as FTE; “full-time positions” are referred to as FTP; “Information Technology” is referred to as IT; the DHS “Working Capital Fund” is referred to as WCF; “program, project, and activity” is referred to as PPA; and any reference to “the Secretary” should be interpreted to mean the Secretary of the Department of Homeland Security.

IMMEDIATE OFFICE OF THE SECRETARY
EXCESSIVE USE OF ADMINISTRATIVE LEAVE

In October 2014, GAO issued report GAO–15–79, which highlighted federal agencies’ excessive use of paid administrative leave related to personnel matters such as discipline, fitness for duty, and security clearances. Following that report, DHS released statistics showing 109 employees had been on paid administrative leave for more than one year during the period of fiscal years 2011 through 2015. Since the report, DHS issued a new policy to address the problem, including requiring reporting and executive approval at certain thresholds. The Department shall update the Committees monthly on its statistics regarding the use of paid administrative leave for all periods beyond one month. DHS is expected to ensure that due process required by law is provided to all employees, including timely investigation and resolution of allegations and issues.

JOINT REQUIREMENTS COUNCIL

With regard to direction in the House and Senate reports, the Department shall provide quarterly briefings, beginning not later than January 30, 2016, on results achieved through the Joint Requirements Council (JRC) to improve and leverage joint requirements across DHS components.

INTEGRATED PRODUCT TEAMS AND TECHNOLOGY ASSESSMENTS

The Department lacks a mechanism for capturing and understanding research and development (R&D) activities conducted across DHS, as well as coordinating R&D to reflect departmental priorities. As part of the Unity of Effort initiative and in order to address the above concerns, DHS is establishing Integrated Product Teams (IPTs) to assist the Science and Technology Directorate (S&T) with requirements gathering, validation, and alignment of budgetary resources. IPTs, comprised of personnel from across DHS, will be tasked with identifying and prioritizing technological capability gaps and coordinating departmental R&D to close those gaps. The overall IPT effort will be led by the Under Secretary for S&T, but individual IPTs will be led by senior representatives from the operational components, and will have representation from the JRC Portfolio Teams and S&T.

S&T will also play a critical role in helping DHS-wide acquisition programs by conducting independent technical assessments of acquisitions, including participation in developmental test and evaluation activities, to ensure DHS acquisitions effectively fill identified capability gaps. S&T is directed to brief the Committees not later than January 15, 2016, on the results of the first IPTs and technology assessments.

SOUTHERN BORDER AND APPROACHES CAMPAIGN

The Southern Border and Approaches Campaign is the first concerted effort at DHS to leverage the Department’s assets and capabilities in a unified manner to achieve specific goals through the creation of Joint Task Forces (JTFs). At the same time, the campaign is still in its nascent phase, and has yet to document significant results from the JTFs. The Department shall brief the Committees quarterly on campaign metrics, the activities of the JTFs, and the cost, including personnel, of operating them.

WILDLIFE TRAFFICKING

Not later than 120 days after the date of enactment of this Act, the Secretary is directed to update the report required by Senate Report 113–198 regarding DHS activities related to wildlife trafficking and the illegal natural resources trade.

UNIVERSAL COMPLAINT SYSTEM

In lieu of the Senate reporting requirement, DHS is reminded of the fiscal year 2015 reporting requirement on a universal complaint system and shall brief the Committees expeditiously on this overdue report.

SUPPORT OF STATE POLICE CRIME LABS

The Department of Homeland Security’s enforcement, investigation, and security agencies lead many of the federal government’s counter-narcotics and law enforcement efforts. The collective work of U.S. Customs and Border Protection (CBP), U.S. Immigration and Customs Enforcement (ICE), the Coast Guard, and the United States Secret Service includes investigations and operations in communities large and small across our nation. As a result, the Department often works closely with and shares capabilities among state, local, tribal, and foreign law enforcement agencies, including state police crime labs. These labs provide the Department with a number of critical capabilities, including fingerprint, drug, and cell phone analysis. Likewise, agencies of the Department provide many of the same services to state, local, tribal, and foreign law enforcement agencies.

Coordination among federal and state law enforcement agencies not only ensures efficient use of resources, it also improves public safety outcomes. To that end, the Department should continue to work with state crime labs where available, particularly in areas not served by DHS labs or other similar federal facilities. The Department should also continue to provide whatever assistance appropriate to state police crime labs to ensure federal requirements do not burden state resources. Moreover, for areas where the Department frequently relies on state crime labs, additional support may be appropriate to prevent the accumulation of backlogs that can slow federal and state investigations. DHS shall report annually on its use of and partnerships with state crime labs, including the funds associated with such partnerships, and should fully reimburse state crime labs it uses.

RESPONDING TO EMERGENT THREATS FROM VIOLENT EXTREMISM

A general provision in title V of this Act provides $50,000,000 for emergent threats from violent extremism and from complex, coordinated terrorist attacks, and allows the Secretary to transfer such funds between appropriations after notifying the Committees 15 days in advance. Within these funds, not more than $10,000,000 is for a countering violent extremism (CVE) initiative to help states and local communities prepare for, prevent, and respond to emergent threats from violent extremism; not less than $39,000,000 is for an initiative to help states and local governments prepare for, prevent, and respond to complex, coordinated terrorist attacks with the potential for mass casualties and infrastructure damage; and not less than $1,000,000 shall be for expanding or enhancing the Joint Counterterrorism Awareness Workshop Series, which brings together federal, state, and local governments, and the private sector to help regions improve their counterterrorism preparedness posture, including the ability to address the threat of complex terrorist attacks.

All funds under the CVE initiative shall be provided on a competitive basis directly to states, local governments, tribal governments, nonprofit organizations, or institutions of higher education. Eligible activities for the CVE initiative shall include, but not be limited to, planning, developing, implementing, or expanding educational outreach, community engagement, social service programs, training, and exercises, as well as other activities as the Secretary determines appropriate. Existing programs should be utilized wherever practical. Eligible activities for the initiative related to complex coordinated terrorist attacks shall include, but not be limited to, planning, training and exercises to support plans, and other activities the Secretary determines appropriate, consistent with this statement.

Not later than 45 days after the date of enactment of this Act, the Department shall brief the Committees on plans for execution of the initiatives, to include timelines, goals, metrics, and how the Whole of Community will be included.

OFFICE OF POLICY
POLITICAL TRAVEL

The House directive to report on travel by political employees is no longer required.

IMMIGRATION STATISTICS

The Office of Policy is directed to continue developing and overseeing the implementation of a plan to collect, analyze, and report appropriate data on the Department's immigration enforcement activities. The plan should include steps to ensure the completeness and accuracy of data on the full scope of immigration enforcement activities, from encounter to final disposition, including the use of prosecutorial discretion. All data necessary to support a better picture of this lifecycle and the Department's effectiveness in enforcing immigration laws shall be considered and prioritized, including appropriate data collected by the Executive Office for Immigration Review at the Department of Justice and the Office of Refugee Resettlement at the Department of Health and Human Services. The plan should result in a consistent set of outcome-based metrics related to immigration enforcement, beyond only apprehensions and removals, which can be regularly and publicly released. Not later than 90 days after the date of enactment of this Act, the Office of Policy, with all the relevant components, is directed to brief the Committees on this plan and a schedule for implementation. The Department is also directed to brief the Committees quarterly on progress in implementing the plan.

BORDER SECURITY METRICS

The Office of Policy is directed to coordinate with relevant components to finalize metrics that inform an outcome-based approach to border security performance management and domain awareness. These metrics shall contribute to more analytically-sound decision making across the Department, including decisions on resource allocations and mission management; measuring the flow and level of illegal entry of people and goods, delineated by threat level; and utilizing all situational awareness capabilities to form a measured operational picture. Specific metrics shall include but not be limited to those detailed in the House report, as well as survey and historical data, and be assessed against operations and strategic requirements for improving border and pathway awareness. DHS shall brief the Committees on this initiative not later than 90 days after the date of enactment of this Act.

REAL ID

As stated in the Senate report, the Department should continue efforts to implement the REAL ID program, and to use the law's extension provision, which gives the Secretary discretion to grant states additional time to meet the required minimum standards if the state provides adequate justification for noncompliance and plans for implementing unmet requirements. States should have the opportunity to consider and debate methods of compliance consistent with their individual values and traditions, without sanction.

OFFICE OF PARTNERSHIP AND ENGAGEMENT

A total of $13,074,000 is provided for the Office of Partnership and Engagement, which includes an increase of $3,108,000 for the Office for Community Partnerships (OCP). OCP, created to support the mission of countering violent extremism and to build community partnerships necessary to support CVE efforts, is directed to provide a detailed description of department-wide CVE programs and initiatives not later than 60 days after the date of enactment of this Act, as detailed in the House report.

OFFICE OF THE UNDER SECRETARY FOR MANAGEMENT

A total of $196,810,000 is provided for the Office of the Under Secretary for Management (USM). Of this amount, $2,000 is for official reception and representation expenses, and $7,778,000 is for the Human Resources Information Technology program. The bill includes $215,679,000 for the Department's headquarters consolidation at St. Elizabeths, including funds for reconfiguring space in the Munro Building to accommodate other DHS components. As directed in the bill, DHS is to submit a plan of expenditure for these funds to the Committees not later than 90 days after the date of enactment of this Act.

The amount provided for this appropriation by PPA is as follows:

	Budget Estimate	Final Bill
Immediate Office of the Under Secretary for Management	$3,411,000	$3,393,000
Office of the Chief Security Officer	66,538,000	69,120,000
Office of the Chief Procurement Officer	58,989,000	60,630,000
Subtotal	128,938,000	133,143,000
Office of the Chief Human Capital Officer:
Salaries and Expenses	24,390,000	24,198,000
Human Resources Information Technology	9,578,000	7,778,000
Subtotal	33,968,000	31,976,000
Office of the Chief Readiness Support Officer:
Salaries and Expenses	27,350,000	27,235,000
Nebraska Avenue Complex	2,931,000	4,456,000
Subtotal	30,281,000	31,691,000
Total, Office of the Under Secretary for Management	$193,187,000	$196,810,000

COMPREHENSIVE ACQUISITION STATUS REPORT

As directed by the Senate, the Comprehensive Acquisition Status Report (CASR) shall be submitted with justification documents accompanying the President's budget proposal for fiscal year 2017, and shall meet the requirements delineated in House Report 112-331. In accordance with the House report, programs shall be displayed by appropriation and PPA. Guidance in the House report requiring the USM, who also serves as the DHS Chief Acquisition Officer, to brief the Committees on Level 1, 2, and 3 programs is modified to require briefings on only Level 1, Level 2, and special interest projects within 30 days of delivery of the CASR. Component Acquisition Executives are directed to brief the Committees on Level 3 projects within 30 days of delivery of the CASR.

OFFICE OF PROGRAM ACCOUNTABILITY AND RISK MANAGEMENT

In lieu of direction in the House report, the Executive Director of the Office of Program Accountability and Risk Management (PARM) shall brief the Committees on every major acquisition program by component on a quarterly basis, beginning not later than April 15, 2016.

INTEROPERABLE COMMUNICATIONS

For years, the Department has known of serious gaps in its interoperable communications capabilities as a result of OIG reports in November 2012 and May 2015, as well as its own internal assessments and direction from Congress. However, DHS has made little progress in addressing those concerns, allowing proposed changes to policies, plans, and governance to languish in bureaucratic review processes. Therefore, the USM is directed to brief the Committees within 90 days after the date of enactment of this Act on the plan and timeline to remedy the operational communications shortfalls with existing communications capabilities. The briefing shall also specifically address how the Department will manage joint communications requirements and procurements to ensure interoperability across the components is sustained.

WEAPONS AND AMMUNITION

The Department shall adhere to statutory weapons and ammunition reporting requirements made permanent in Public Laws 113-76 and 114-4.

PERSONNEL AND HIRING CHALLENGES

The Department continues to struggle to achieve hiring targets and manage attrition, particularly for law enforcement positions. Consistent with direction in both the House and Senate reports, the USM shall complete an analysis of the root causes for DHS's lengthy hiring processes, and utilize its results to develop a corrective action plan to reduce the number of days it takes to hire personnel at each component. Concurrent with this effort, each DHS component, in coordination with the USM, shall develop hiring metrics. In lieu of reporting requirements in the House report, the USM shall provide an update on the corrective action plan and initial hiring metrics to the Committees beginning on January 15, 2016, and provide updated metrics on a monthly basis thereafter until further notice. This requirement is in addition to quarterly execution data discussed under the heading of Office of the Chief Financial Officer (OCFO). Further, as directed in the House report, the Chief Financial Officer (CFO) shall conduct a department-wide force structure analysis to inform component-level staffing and budget requirements not later than the fiscal year 2019 budget request.

OFFICE OF THE CHIEF SECURITY OFFICER

A total of $69,120,000 is provided for the Office of the Chief Security Officer. The amount includes an increase of $2,000,000 for Continuous Evaluation, which monitors an individual's continued eligibility to access classified information or to hold a sensitive position, and $4,456,000 to address security enhancements at the Nebraska Avenue Complex. In lieu of funds included in the House and Senate bills for security at the St. Elizabeths campus, $3,376,000 is moved to the Headquarters Consolidation appropriation in title V for mission support related to security services performed by the Federal Protective Service.

OFFICE OF THE CHIEF PROCUREMENT OFFICER

A total of $60,630,000 is made available for the Office of the Chief Procurement Officer, including an increase of $2,000,000 for critical personnel needed by PARM.

OFFICE OF THE CHIEF HUMAN CAPITAL OFFICER

A total of $31,976,000 is provided for the Office of the Chief Human Capital Officer (OCHCO). Of the funds provided, $2,500,000 is for the CyberSkills Initiative, and $2,500,000 is to increase assistance to DHS components in managing and improving their hiring processes, including not more than $350,000 for the DHS Leader Development Program.

OFFICE OF THE CHIEF FINANCIAL OFFICER

A total of $56,420,000 is provided for OCFO, of which $3,000,000 shall be used to improve financial management processes and cost estimation capabilities. A general provision included in title V of this Act appropriates $52,977,000 for Financial Systems Modernization (FSM) activities, enabling the Secretary to allocate resources across the Department according to the FSM program execution plan. By not later than the fiscal year 2018 budget submission, OCFO is directed to deploy across the Department a cost estimating tool that enables each component to accurately calculate the costs of its employees.

COMMON APPROPRIATIONS STRUCTURE

Currently, DHS receives funding through nearly 70 appropriations organized into more than 100 PPAs. The Department has asserted that its Unity of Effort initiative could be strengthened with a more congruent budget structure based on common appropriations categories across components and a reduced overall number of appropriations and PPAs. A general provision proposed in the House bill authorizing DHS to submit the fiscal year 2017 budget request using a common appropriations account structure is included but modified in title V of this Act.

Pursuant to this general provision and in lieu of direction in the House report requiring a Financial Management Regulation, OCFO is directed to enhance the existing Financial Management Policy Manual to reflect the new appropriations structure, and to strengthen department-wide rules for and oversight of financial management policies, procedures, internal controls, financial systems, and activities necessary to develop budget requests and prepare for audits. Although a thorough and complete update to the manual will take time, OCFO is encouraged to complete the effort by February 2017, so that the fiscal year 2019 budget process is shaped by its rules and its improved planning, programming, budgeting, and execution processes. In addition, OCFO is strongly encouraged to establish a professional development program for DHS-wide financial management and budget formulation staff. Such a program should provide training on financial management policies and processes as well as support the Department in maintaining capable budget analysts and financial managers. OCFO shall provide periodic progress updates on both of these efforts at the request of the Committees.

ANNUAL BUDGET JUSTIFICATION MATERIALS

DHS materials and exhibits that justify the President's budget request are woefully inadequate and undermine the ability of the Committees to conduct routine analysis and oversight of the cost drivers and assumptions underlying the budget request. For fiscal year 2017 and future budget submissions, the CFO shall present budget justification material in a format that adheres to the directives in the Senate report. Justification tables shall compare prior year actual appropriations and obligations, estimates of current year appropriations and obligations, and the projected budget year appropriations and obligations for all PPAs, subprograms, and FTE, as directed in the House report. Justification material for investment items shall be presented in the format directed in the House report.

Any significant new activity that has not been explicitly justified to Congress or for which funds have not been provided in appropriations Acts requires the submission of a reprogramming or transfer request during a fiscal year.

COMPONENT OBLIGATION PLANS

Obligation plans from each DHS component shall be provided to the Committees within 45 days of the date of enactment of this Act, with updates provided not later than 30 days after the end of each quarter. The CFO shall develop a template for these plans that utilizes comparisons of actual prior year obligations with actual current year-to-date and planned current year obligations by PPA. Using this format, the data in the plans shall include: 1) below-threshold reprogrammings, above-threshold reprogrammings, transfers, and any proposed allocation of undistributed appropriations made available in title V of this Act; 2) carryover from the prior year and planned carryover into future years; 3) the actual number of FTE compared to enacted levels by month or pay period along with end of year projections; 4) the actual amount obligated for FTE compared to enacted levels by month or pay period along with end of year projections; 5) the actual number of FTP compared to budget assumptions by month or pay period, along with end of year projections; 6) a summary chart by PPA showing hiring and payroll projections for the fiscal year, to include both numbers of FTE and associated salary and benefit amounts, as well as planned contract conversions, hiring surges, or other factors that may contribute to uncertainty and lead to revised estimates; and 7) program schedules and major milestones for all major expenditures, including specific technologies and contract service support.

For multi-year appropriations, the template shall also include the status of each appropriation by source year, including anticipated unobligated balances at the close of the fiscal year and the planned obligation of carryover in future years, by quarter, until all funds are obligated. Although this requirement is intended to cover all components and accounts in a standard manner, the Coast Guard, CBP, and other components may have additional requirements related to investment activities as specified by component in this statement. For fiscal year 2017 and future years, obligation plans should be connected to the budget justification materials, indicating all changes from requested amounts to enacted appropriations to actual obligations.

OFFICE OF THE CHIEF INFORMATION OFFICER

A total of $309,976,000 is provided for the Office of the Chief Information Officer (OCIO), of which $200,019,000 is available until September 30, 2017.

The amount provided for this appropriation by PPA is as follows:

	Budget Estimate	Final Bill
Salaries and Expenses	$105,307,000	$109,957,000
Information Technology Services	106,270,000	91,000,000
Infrastructure and Security Activities	54,087,000	54,087,000

	Budget Estimate	Final Bill
Homeland Secure Data Network	54,932,000	54,932,000
Total, Office of the Chief Information Officer	$320,596,000	$309,976,000

In lieu of House and Senate report language, up to $10,000,000 of the amount for Salaries and Expenses may be used for Digital Services. The amount provided for Information Technology Services shall be used to support requested initiatives, including the DHS Data Framework, Single Sign-on, security initiatives, the Federal Risk and Authorization Management Program, the Trusted Tester Program, and the Infrastructure Transformation Program.

DHS CYBERSECURITY POSTURE

A general provision in title V of this Act provides $100,000,000 to safeguard and enhance DHS IT systems and improve cybersecurity capabilities. This funding is in addition to base funding made available to the CIO and the components, and is intended to help the Department more quickly address known vulnerabilities and technology gaps through enhancements to the DHS network and perimeter security, better access controls, stronger authentication, equipment upgrades, data loss and theft prevention, and incident response and assessments, among other cybersecurity priorities. Given the Department's role through the National Protection and Programs Directorate (NPPD) for protection of the “gov” environment, DHS must lead government agencies in protecting its own data and systems. Therefore, the CIO shall utilize a risk-based approach, using threat intelligence, to optimize the Department's cybersecurity investments and operations. The CIO shall brief the Committees not later than 45 days after the date of enactment of this Act on cybersecurity spending across the Department, the obligation plan associated with this appropriation, and the metrics by which the Department's progress in improving its cybersecurity posture will be measured.

ANALYSIS AND OPERATIONS

A total of $264,714,000 is provided for Analysis and Operations, of which $111,021,000 shall remain available until September 30, 2017. The funds provided reflect the realignment of $135,000 to the Office for Community Partnerships under OSEM. Other funding details are included within the classified annex to this explanatory statement.

OFFICE OF INSPECTOR GENERAL

A total of $161,488,000 is provided for the OIG, including $137,488,000 in direct appropriations and $24,000,000 transferred from the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) Disaster Relief Fund (DRF) for audits and investigations related to the DRF. Recognizing that the OIG has failed to hire the enacted workforce level over the past few years, the increase provided in this Act above the fiscal year 2015 appropriation level is sufficient to support a robust and capable workforce and provide resources for the requested initiatives outlined in the fiscal year 2016 request.

BIG DATA

The Department, led by the CIO, is developing a strategy for big data to help guide the efforts components have undertaken to more effectively utilize data in support of analytic activities and decision-making. The OIG is directed to review the strategy, inventory component investments in this area, develop recommendations to ensure these investments are coordinated and effective, and update the Committees on its findings not later than 270 days after the date of enactment of this Act.

PROTECTIVE MISSION PANEL

Within 30 days after the date of enactment of this Act, the OIG is directed to conduct a review of the status of the Secret Service's response to the United States Secret Service Protective Mission Panel recommendations, including but not limited to: concurrence with Panel recommendations and subsequent action or implementation; non-concurrence with Panel recommendations and the associated rationale; and any related organizational changes executed after the Panel released its findings.

TITLE II—SECURITY, ENFORCEMENT, AND INVESTIGATIONS

U.S. CUSTOMS AND BORDER PROTECTION

SALARIES AND EXPENSES

A total of $8,628,902,000 is provided for Salaries and Expenses. For the last several years, CBP has failed to hire to the enacted workforce level, resulting in tens of millions of dollars appropriated for personnel compensation and benefits being diverted to unbudgeted activities. Therefore, the President's budget request is decreased by $298,969,000 to fund a realistic and achievable number of FTE. Of the total, $30,000,000 is made available as two-year funds to provide the flexibility necessary to improve retention and hiring of law enforcement officers and Border Patrol agents. Further, $30,000,000 carried over from fiscal year 2015 should be used for the same activities.

The amount provided for this appropriation by PPA is as follows:

HEADQUARTERS, MANAGEMENT, AND ADMINISTRATION

A total of $1,442,014,000 is provided for Headquarters, Management, and Administration. In addition to reductions for a realistic hiring profile and prior year carryover that remains available, a reduction of $17,455,000 is due to unused separation pay, and an increase of $5,000,000 is included for the Office of Administration to accelerate the hiring process. To address personnel shortfalls and hiring, CBP shall work with the Department to complete a root cause analysis and develop a corrective action plan, consistent with direction under title I of this statement. With respect to CBP, this plan shall identify and utilize incentives, working with the Office of Personnel Management (OPM), to improve retention and recruitment in locations along the northern and southern borders that are challenging to staff, as well as incentivize personnel to choose those locations. Moreover, CBP is directed to increase its efforts to recruit veterans, and to work with the Department of Defense (DoD) and OPM to facilitate the onboarding of veterans as they leave military service.

In addition to the briefing and metrics requirements outlined in title I of this statement, CBP shall brief the Committees on actions taken and progress made in reducing hiring timelines and provide staffing numbers, including gains and losses by pay period, as detailed in the House and Senate reports, not later than five days after the end of each fiscal quarter. Additionally, CBP shall brief the Committees, not later than 180 days after the date of enactment of this Act, on the Border Patrol staffing allocation model and how it is utilized to inform resource allocation decisions at the headquarters and sector levels. CBP shall continue to work on outcome-based border metrics, as directed in title I of this statement.

As specified in the House report, CBP is expected to ensure that ports of entry (POEs) and short-term custody facilities holding unaccompanied alien children have appropriately trained staff, and follow all legal requirements and policy directives for conveying information to unaccompanied alien children regarding their legal rights. Also as described in the House report, CBP is directed to provide a briefing to the Committees on its policies related to compliance with the Trafficking Victims Protection Reauthorization Act (Public Law 110-457) and regarding the Juvenile Referral Process. The briefing should specifically address the status of CBP's response to the recommendations in GAO-15-421.

CBP and the USM are directed to review the CBP acquisition process, procedures, and organizational structure and brief the Committees on the findings not later than 120 days after the date of enactment of this Act.

CBP is also directed to brief the Committees, within 90 days of the date of enactment of this Act, on a plan to address staffing needs identified by the Agriculture Resource Allocation Model.

Within 120 days of the date of enactment of this Act, CBP is directed to brief the Committees on its efforts to work with the Texas State Soil and Water Conservation Board; other federal, state, and local stakeholders; and the Government of Mexico on efforts to control carrizo cane and other invasive species along the Rio Grande River that impede CBP's border security mission. The briefing shall include a description of related resource requirements and any efforts pertaining to the approval of new biological control agents.

As directed in both the House and Senate reports, CBP shall improve its automated measurement and public posting of wait times at land border crossings, and also incorporate trade facilitation measures into its public-facing performance metrics. CBP shall brief the Committees quarterly on these efforts until an automated wait time solution benefitting both travelers and commercial traffic is fully deployed.

As directed in both the House and Senate reports, CBP is expected to continue to improve land border integration by procuring and implementing the latest, most effective technologies available to monitor vehicles crossing our borders.

CBP must ensure that appropriate precautions and processes are in place to prevent smuggling and ensure officer safety at the new West Rail Bypass International Bridge between Brownsville, Texas, and Matamoros, Tamaulipas. Within 90 days of the date of enactment of this Act, CBP shall brief the Committees on its screening and inspection procedures at the West Rail facility; data related to the seizure of contraband and human smuggling; a plan to improve security, effectiveness, and efficiency of inspections; and officer safety measures, including appropriate lighting along railcar inspection areas.

Counter-network operations activities are funded at the request level, although some of the information system improvements included in the request have been subsequently funded through a July 2015 reprogramming of funds approved by the Committees. Within 90 days of the date of enactment of this Act, CBP is directed to brief the Committees on its implementation of the counter-network strategy, a revised plan for the use of the funding provided, and its collaboration with ICE in these efforts. As CBP continues to hire, it is directed to move open positions previously dedicated to current targeting activities to positions dedicated to counter-network operations, as appropriate.

CBP is directed to ensure that independent Capabilities Gap Analysis Processes and staffing requirement modeling carried out by individual CBP components are coordinated and leveraged in a manner that will benefit both the agency's and the Department's analyses of border security and performance management, as detailed in title I of this statement.

A provision from the Senate bill is not included related to Continued Dumping and Subsidy Offset Act (CDSOA) payments. However, the issue remains a concern because CBP continues to disburse the majority of proceeds from antidumping claims in the form of interest to the Treasury, rather than making payments to injured domestic producers, as prescribed in the CDSOA. CBP shall work to issue the rulemaking changes outlined in the Senate report and brief the Committees on its progress every 60 days until the rulemaking is completed. In addition, CBP shall make available to the Committees and the public a reasonably detailed inventory, including disposition, of single-entry customs bonds received by CBP as security on entries subject to any antidumping duty orders on imports of honey, fresh garlic, crawfish tail meat, and certain preserved mushrooms from October 1, 1998, through September 30, 2007. The inventory shall include details on each bond for which summary materials were previously provided to Congress, including the date of the bond, the orders against which the bonds were posted, and whether it is in litigation, pending collection, or not collectible.

According to a recent report from the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention and the Food and Drug Administration, heroin overdose deaths nearly doubled between 2011 and 2013, and continue to climb. Although no single entity or solution can fully address this complex problem, CBP is instrumental in stopping the flow of heroin from transnational criminal organizations before it crosses our borders. CBP is also playing a role in more directly protecting the public from drug overdoses through a pilot program at seven POEs through which naloxone—a medication that can reverse the effects of heroin overdose and help restore breathing—is administered to individuals presenting themselves for entry at POEs who have symptoms of a heroin overdose. Many lives have been saved by local law enforcement agencies carrying and administering this important medication, and CBP is encouraged to continue this pilot program and, based on the results, to consider expanding it to other POEs.

CBP is directed to provide quarterly briefings for its major acquisitions using the same format and providing the same level of information required for Coast Guard major acquisitions, as described in the House and Senate reports. The briefings shall be provided concurrently with the briefings on obligation plans directed in title I of this statement.

BORDER SECURITY INSPECTIONS AND TRADE FACILITATION

A total of $3,435,501,000 is provided for Border Security Inspections and Trade Facilitation. In addition to reductions for a realistic hiring profile and prior year carryover that remains available, this amount reflects a reduction of $10,000,000 for unjustified program growth and a reduction reflecting CBP's full access to Colombia Free Trade Agreement fee revenue, as authorized by a general provision in title V of this Act.

The bill provides $19,445,000 for the Electronic Visa Information Update System, a reduction of $6,200,000 below the request. This reduction is equivalent to the amount made available for this system through a reprogramming of funds approved by the Committees in July 2015.

An additional $86,462,000 is provided for recapitalization of Non-Intrusive Inspection (NII) equipment, as requested. CBP is expected to use contracts negotiated by the General Services Administration (GSA) when possible to accelerate procurements of NII equipment. CBP shall submit to the Committees, with the fiscal year 2017 budget request, a multi-year investment and management plan for inspection and detection technology that: (1) inventories such equipment by location, type, age, and date of deployment; (2) outlines existing equipment acquisition plans by type, number, schedule, and total cost of operations and maintenance; and (3) forecasts a recapitalization plan supported by a current acquisition program baseline (APB). The APB shall: (a) align the acquisition of each technology to mission requirements; (b) define the life-cycle costs for each technology; (c) detail an equipment decommissioning schedule; and (d) compare actual versus planned obligations. A version of the multi-year investment and management plan shall be made available to the public at the same time.

The Senate report contained guidance on efforts to improve trade enforcement related to single transaction bonds and collection processes, as well as on timely posting of information pertaining to antidumping and countervailing duties. The Senate report also directed CBP, in coordination with other federal agencies, to advance methods to better investigate foreign imports suspected of evading or circumventing antidumping and countervailing duty orders including, but not limited to, lightweight thermal paper and seafood. CBP shall adhere to these directives.

In addition to the direction provided in the Senate report, CBP is urged to levy penalties, as appropriate, for previously documented violations of the Jones Act; establish specific timeframes for internal review and actions; continue working with the Offshore Marine Service Association to investigate potential violations; and dedicate adequate resources to vigorously enforce the Jones Act on the Outer Continental Shelf.

BORDER SECURITY AND CONTROL BETWEEN PORTS OF ENTRY

A total of $3,751,387,000 is provided for Border Security and Control between POEs. Base resources dedicated to caring for and transporting unaccompanied alien children have increased and should be sufficient to meet anticipated needs. Should there be a surge during fiscal year 2016 requiring resources beyond those necessary for the family units and the 58,000 unaccompanied alien children assumed in the base budget request and provided in this Act, CBP shall notify the Committees and seek a reprogramming or transfer of funds to address that need.

Per direction in the House report, CBP shall ensure that its holding facilities are in full compliance with the Department's Standards to Prevent, Detect, and Respond to Sexual Abuse and Assault in Confinement Facilities; include funding estimates for such compliance activities in the fiscal year 2017 budget justification; report to the Committees regarding the death of any individual in CBP custody or following CBP use of force; and report annually on investigations related to such deaths. Also as described in the House report, CBP shall brief the Committees, within 60 days of the date of enactment of this Act, on its search and rescue efforts during the prior fiscal year and, within 30 days after the date of enactment of this Act, on the use of roving patrol stops and tactical and permanent checkpoints for immigration enforcement near the border. Lastly, the Department is expected to repatriate removable individuals in a manner that ensures their safety, as detailed in the House report.

AUTOMATION MODERNIZATION

A total of $829,460,000 is provided for Automation Modernization, including $10,000,000 for revenue modernization enhancements. For the last several years, CBP has failed to hire to the enacted workforce level, resulting in tens of millions of dollars appropriated for personnel compensation and benefits being diverted to unbudgeted activities. Therefore, the President's budget request is decreased by $33,799,000 to fund a realistic and achievable number of FTE. CBP is expected to continue to dedicate current base resources, including carryover funding, to efforts to eliminate the need for cash transactions at POEs by 2020.

The amount provided for this appropriation by PPA is as follows:

	Budget estimate	Final Bill
Information Technology	$399,027,000	$363,728,000
Automated Targeting Systems	122,669,000	122,669,000
Automated Commercial Environment/International Trade Data System (ITDS)	153,736,000	151,184,000
Current Operations Protection and Processing Support (COPPS)	191,879,000	191,879,000
Total	$867,311,000	$829,460,000

BORDER SECURITY FENCING, INFRASTRUCTURE, AND TECHNOLOGY

A total of $447,461,000 is provided for Border Security Fencing, Infrastructure, and Technology (BSFIT). The amount includes an additional $19,000,000 for Development and Deployment for one additional Integrated Fixed Tower (IFT) location; $25,000,000 for necessary repairs to border fencing and border roads; $10,000,000 for additional maritime radars; and $20,000,000 for relocatable tower surveillance systems. CBP plans to fully fund one additional IFT and fully fund the cost for continued DoD-repurposed aerostat coverage in the Rio Grande Valley and areas of Arizona during fiscal year 2016 using prior year unobligated funds, reducing the need for the House bill's proposed increases for these activities. In lieu of the weekly notifications required in the House report, CBP shall provide monthly notifications to the Committees on procurement actions related to all BSFIT technology investments until all initial contract awards have been completed.

The amount provided for this appropriation by PPA is as follows:

	Budget estimate	Final Bill
Operations and Maintenance	$273,931,000	$273,931,000
Development and Deployment	99,530,000	173,530,000
Total	$373,461,000	$447,461,000

DOD REUSE

As directed in the Senate report, CBP shall continue to analyze the application of unused DoD equipment to its border security mission and deploy available equipment to the extent practicable.

AIR AND MARINE OPERATIONS

A total of $802,298,000 is provided for Air and Marine Operations. The President's budget request for Salaries and Expenses is decreased by $5,824,000 to fund a realistic and achievable number of FTE.

The amount provided for this appropriation by PPA is as follows:

	Budget estimate	Final Bill
Salaries and Expenses	$306,253,000	$300,429,000
Operations and Maintenance	395,169,000	409,969,000
Procurement	46,000,000	91,900,000
Total	$747,422,000	$802,298,000

The amount provided for the Operations and Maintenance PPA is increased by $1,800,000 for enhancements to the Air and Marine Operations Center (AMOC) and for continuity of operations requirements; $2,000,000 for Vehicle and Dismount Exploitation Radar operations; $2,500,000 for P-3 aircraft maintenance; $4,500,000 for patrol aircraft mission upgrades; and $4,000,000 for unmanned aerial system (UAS) ground control stations and power systems. In addition, the Procurement PPA is increased by $10,300,000 for aircraft sensors; $11,000,000 for a replacement UAS; $5,000,000 for mission systems software and computers; $8,000,000 for UAS radars; $2,300,000 for fixed-wing and rotary-wing radars; $6,000,000 for AMOC building upgrades; and $5,600,000 for improved communications capabilities. As requested, $44,000,000 is provided for procurement of two Multirole-Enforcement Aircraft.

EFFECTIVE USE OF AIR ASSETS

Congress has consistently supported air and marine operations essential to border security, and has routinely appropriated above the requested amount for procurement and operation of airframes, sensors, and cameras.

These assets are critical to enhancing situational awareness and communications capabilities necessary to transmit data collected for both strategic planning and operational response. Making the most efficient use of these resources, however, requires more than relating resource hours to interdictions, which has historically been used as a measure for success.

The Office of Air and Marine (OAM) reports that it is working to develop agency-wide performance measures to more optimally integrate air assets and sensors in a way that improves both operational and strategic awareness. This process must be based on identifying relevant key measures to inform future acquisition decisions and operational tasking and must be determined in coordination with the JTFs and OAM's customers. Such measures should include, at a minimum: operational cost per resource hour; resource hours per mission type; and resource availability rate. These key measures identify performance gaps and help leaders steer resource hours to meet the agency's targeted performance outcomes.

Once relevant performance measures are found to be valid and reliable, OAM must effectively measure its resource performance, compare this performance to baseline targets, and then explain how resources were managed to satisfy mission needs, including minimizing fuel costs and maximizing mission availability. These measurements should inform strategic planning at OAM, and the resulting plan shall be briefed to the Committees within 90 days of the date of enactment of this Act.

UAS PILOTS

The bill provides the additional funding requested for UAS pilots, crew, and training. Within 60 days of the date of enactment of this Act, CBP shall provide the Committees a report on UAS pilots and training requirements, as detailed in the Senate report.

CONSTRUCTION AND FACILITIES MANAGEMENT

A total of $340,128,000 is provided for Construction and Facilities Management. For the last several years, CBP has failed to hire to the enacted workforce level, resulting in tens of millions of dollars appropriated for personnel compensation and benefits being diverted to unbudgeted activities. Therefore, the President's budget request for Program Oversight and Management is decreased by $1,415,000 to fund a realistic and achievable number of FTE.

The amount provided for this appropriation by PPA is as follows:

	Budget estimate	Final Bill
Facilities Construction and Sustainment	$255,378,000	$255,378,000
Program Oversight and Management	86,165,000	84,750,000

U.S. IMMIGRATION AND CUSTOMS ENFORCEMENT
SALARIES AND EXPENSES

A total of $5,779,041,000 is provided for Salaries and Expenses. For the last several years, ICE has failed to manage attrition and new hiring to meet its targeted workforce level, resulting in tens of millions of dollars appropriated for personnel compensation and benefits being diverted to unbudgeted activities elsewhere in the Department. Based on updated estimates from ICE, this agreement appropriates funding for a realistic and achievable number of FTE. Of the total amount provided, $100,000,000 is withheld pending a mid-year review of the agency's hiring progress. ICE is directed to brief the Committees on its obligation plans, as specified under title I of this statement.

The amount provided for this appropriation by PPA is as follows:

	Budget Estimate	Final Bill
Headquarters Management and Administration:
Personnel Compensation and Benefits, Services, and Other Costs	$195,950,000	$190,880,000

IMMIGRATION ENFORCEMENT DATA

ICE's inability to provide basic, accurate data on immigration enforcement, including the number of aliens released from custody, is unacceptable. As directed in title I of this statement, the Office of Policy shall develop and implement a plan that results in the complete and accurate collection and reporting of immigration enforcement data from encounter through final disposition and including data on the use of prosecutorial discretion. ICE is directed to improve its collection of data and coordination with the Office of Immigration Statistics in support of this requirement.

As ICE has not requested resources to improve its systems, despite its inability to meet reporting requirements, the bill includes an additional $3,000,000 for ICE to operationalize data architecture improvements, including those recommended as a result of the Immigration Enterprise Data Management review. Per the Senate report, ICE shall brief the Committees quarterly on its progress and publish non-law enforcement sensitive statistics on its website.

LEGAL PROCEEDINGS

A total of $239,894,000 is provided for Legal Proceedings, including funds to hire additional attorneys in field offices. The Department is directed to allocate these new attorneys to field offices in a manner that will expedite the immigration court docket, and to brief the Committees on the methodology used to allocate the new staff within 90 days after the date of enactment of this Act.

DOMESTIC INVESTIGATIONS

A total of $1,761,829,000 is provided for Domestic Investigations to support investigations in high-priority mission areas, to include: human trafficking and smuggling; child exploitation, including the Child Exploitation Unit at the Cyber Crime Center and Operation Angel Watch; commercial fraud and intellectual property rights enforcement; proliferation; gangs; cybercrimes; and terrorism. ICE is directed to maintain its relationship with the National Center for Missing and Exploited Children (NCMEC) in regard to its ongoing support for investigations and other activities to counter child exploitation.

Of the total amount provided, $10,000,000 is for expanding overstay enforcement investigations and investigative support. ICE is expected to target such investigations on individuals who pose a risk to the community, and shall brief the Committees on the proposed use of these funds within 60 days after the date of enactment of this Act.

In addition, not less than $10,000,000 is for expanding investigations into severe forms of human trafficking and against suspected human traffickers, and $5,000,000 is for expanding investigations against child exploitation. Finally, $1,000,000 in dedicated program funding and 1 permanent FTE are provided for the Human Exploitation Rescue Operative (HERO) Child-Rescue Corps program. ICE is directed to train at least two classes of veterans during fiscal year 2016 through the HERO program to support child exploitation investigations, and to continue efforts to hire HERO graduates or to help place them with other federal, state, or local agencies with related missions.

INTERNATIONAL INVESTIGATIONS

A total of $139,771,000 is provided for International Investigations. Within the total, an additional $2,000,000 is provided to annualize the costs of the previously funded expansion of the Visa Security Program. ICE is directed to use the risk-based methodologies and enforcement metrics outlined in the Senate report to continue to plan and budget for Visa Security Program expansion to at least two high-threat locations per year in future budget requests.

WAR CRIMES INVESTIGATIONS

Of the amount provided for Salaries and Expenses, not less than $5,300,000 is for ICE's investigative and legal efforts to combat crimes against humanity, human rights abuses, and war crimes.

INTELLIGENCE

A total of $79,768,000 is provided for Intelligence. Within the total, not less than $5,000,000 is included to enhance investigations of human smuggling and trafficking.

ENFORCEMENT AND REMOVAL OPERATIONS

A total of $3,217,942,000 is provided for Enforcement and Removal Operations. Base resources dedicated to caring for and transporting unaccompanied alien children and family units should be sufficient to meet anticipated needs. Should there be a surge during fiscal year 2016 requiring resources beyond those necessary for the family units and the 58,000 unaccompanied alien children included in the base budget request and provided in this agreement, ICE shall notify the Committees and seek a reprogramming or transfer of funds to address that need.

CUSTODY OPERATIONS

A total of $2,316,744,000 is provided for Custody Operations, including funding necessary to maintain the requested number of detention beds. ICE is directed to brief the Committees semi-annually on savings realized as a result of the multi-year funding provided in this and prior appropriations Acts.

ICE is expected to strengthen its engagement with local law enforcement officials to detain criminal aliens prior to their release from local law enforcement custody. To further that effort, the bill includes a proviso withholding $5,000,000 from obligation until the Director of ICE briefs the Committees on the details of ICE's outreach through the Priority Enforcement Program and the level of participation in the Program. ICE should particularly focus on criminal aliens: (1) engaged in or suspected of terrorism or espionage, or who otherwise pose a danger to national security; (2) convicted of an offense for which an element was active participation in a criminal street gang, as defined in section 521(a) of title 18, United States Code, or aliens not younger than 16 years of age who intentionally participated in an organized criminal gang to further the illegal activity of that gang; or (3) convicted of an aggravated felony, as defined in section 101(a)(43) of the Immigration and Nationality Act (8 U.S.C. 1101(a)(43)) at the time of conviction, and detain them in accordance with the law and due process until they can be removed.

FUGITIVE OPERATIONS

A total of $156,572,000 is provided for Fugitive Operations, of which $10,000,000 is for new Mobile Criminal Alien Teams (MCAT) that will target individuals who pose a threat to the community, as described in the Senate report. ICE shall include information on the MCAT program in future obligation plan briefings.

CRIMINAL ALIEN PROGRAM

A total of $317,177,000 is provided for the Criminal Alien Program, including full funding to support all 287(g) memoranda of agreement and $34,500,000 for resources and full-time law enforcement personnel at the Law Enforcement Support Center.

ALTERNATIVES TO DETENTION

A total of $114,275,000 is provided for the Alternatives to Detention (ATD) program. This funding, when coupled with $12,393,000 the agency used to forward fund ATD contracts with fiscal year 2015 funds, fully addresses the Administration's plan for 53,000 average daily participants in ATD in 2016.

AUTOMATION MODERNIZATION

A total of $53,000,000 is provided for Automation Modernization. ICE shall brief the Committees on the progress of the Consolidated ICE Financial Solution, as described in the Senate report, and shall brief the Committees on tactical communications, as described in the House report.

The amount provided for this appropriation by PPA is as follows:

	Budget Estimate	Final Bill
Automation Modernization	$73,500,000	—
Consolidated ICE Financial Solution	—	$5,000,000
TECS Modernization	—	21,500,000
IT Refresh	—	4,000,000
Tactical Communications	—	18,500,000
ICE Operational Data Store	—	4,000,000
Total, Automation Modernization	$73,500,000	$53,000,000

TRANSPORTATION SECURITY ADMINISTRATION AVIATION SECURITY

A total of $5,719,437,000 is provided for Aviation Security. In addition to this discretionary appropriation for Aviation Security, a mandatory appropriation totaling $250,000,000 is available through the Aviation Security Capital Fund and $2,130,000,000 from aviation security fees are credited to this appropriation as offsetting collections, as authorized. For several years, TSA has been reducing funding for FTE as it further leverages various expedited screening programs. Unfortunately, some of those programs did not provide a commensurate security gain and were consequently scaled back in the wake of multiple OIG reports and troublesome findings from covert testing. TSA has also struggled in recent years to hire to enacted levels outside the screener workforce. While the overall level for Aviation Security is above the President's budget request, the bill includes targeted reductions totaling $16,296,000 to reflect this reality.

The table below fully funds TSA's needs to enhance aviation security, including revised FTE requirements, support for additional training and revised standard operating procedures, and additional funding to explore technology solutions and resolution measures at the checkpoint.

The amount provided for this appropriation by PPA is as follows:

	Budget Estimate	Final Bill
Screening Partnership Program	$166,928,000	$166,928,000
Screener Personnel, Compensation, and Benefits	2,872,070,000	2,973,839,000
Screener Training and Other	226,551,000	239,025,000
Checkpoint Support	97,265,000	111,201,000
EDS Procurement/Installation	83,380,000	82,168,000
Screening Technology Maintenance	280,509,000	280,509,000
Aviation Regulation and Other Enforcement	349,013,000	337,345,000
Airport Management and Support	596,233,000	597,899,000
Federal Flight Deck Officer and Flight Crew Training	20,095,000	20,758,000
Air Cargo	105,978,000	104,689,000
Federal Air Marshals	816,745,000	805,076,000
Aviation Security Capital Fund (Mandatory)	(250,000,000)	(250,000,000)
Total, Aviation Security	$5,614,767,000	$5,719,437,000

TIGER TEAM RECOMMENDATIONS

In June 2015, information was leaked concerning the classified results of covert testing conducted by the OIG at TSA checkpoints. While this specific report was focused on checkpoint security, it was the latest in a string of reports calling into question the agency's capabilities and effectiveness related to the use of risk assessment rules, known traveler programs, checked baggage screening, access controls, and workforce vetting. The findings not only renewed concerns regarding TSA's screening procedures and equipment, but also underscored the need for a comprehensive assessment of the way TSA performs its aviation security mission.

The covert testing identified a number of deficiencies in checkpoint security centered on personnel, processes, and technology. In response, the Department developed and began implementation of a 10-point plan to address these findings. To date, this has included briefing test results to TSA's Federal Security Directors, retraining the screener workforce, and reassessing the policies and procedures that guide that workforce. Checkpoint technology is also being reexamined not only to study additional solutions and resolution measures, but to understand how technology efficacy may change from the controlled laboratory to the stressful environment of an airport checkpoint.

Given the actions taken by DHS to date and the acknowledgement by the IG that TSA has begun the process of critical self-evaluation, the bill provides funding requested by the Department to address certain gaps, including:

—The retention of 602 FTE to staff checkpoints. These personnel will support the increased workload resulting from changes made to TSA screening procedures in response to the covert testing, and help to keep airport wait times short. The President's budget proposed to eliminate these FTE.

—The centralized and consistent training of a professional workforce through the Federal Law Enforcement Training Center (FLETC). The Administrator has stated that a consistently trained core curriculum conducted at a centralized location is critical to a high-performing workforce.

—Platform modifications, IT testing and validation, and initial operating costs in support of the TSA PreCheck Application Expansion initiative whereby TSA will leverage private sector expertise to grow the population of travelers enrolled in special vetting programs.

—Exploration of new technologies and resolution methods that may fill gaps identified by the covert testing, as well as make improvements to existing technology and associated processes and procedures to better utilize what is currently available.

TSA is to provide quarterly Tiger Team updates to the Committees, beginning not later than 30 days after the date of enactment of this Act. In addition, as a part of the fiscal year 2016 obligation plan directed in title I of this statement, TSA shall include specific details on the increased funding provided to address the covert testing results.

SCREENER PERSONNEL, COMPENSATION, AND BENEFITS

A total of $2,973,839,000 is provided for Screener Personnel, Compensation, and Benefits. This amount supports the 42,525 FTE requirement identified by TSA to address OIG findings on aviation security vulnerabilities while maintaining reasonable wait times.

SCREENER TRAINING AND OTHER

A total of $239,025,000 is provided for Screener Training and Other. Within the total, an additional $12,500,000 above the request is included to begin implementation of improved, standardized training for Transportation Security Officers, developed in response to the OIG covert testing findings.

CHECKPOINT SUPPORT

A total of $111,201,000 is provided for Checkpoint Support. Within the total is an increase of $15,000,000 for technology initiatives to improve detection capabilities and enhance passenger screening processes.

REIMBURSEMENT CLAIMS FOR IN-LINE BAGGAGE SCREENING SYSTEMS

As described in the House and Senate reports, TSA is directed to develop a process to review and validate reimbursement claims from airports for in-line baggage screening systems installed prior to 2008, and to submit a plan, not later than 60 days after the date of enactment of this Act, for reimbursement of validated claims.

AVIATION REGULATION AND OTHER ENFORCEMENT

A total of $337,345,000 is provided for Aviation Regulation and Other Enforcement, including sufficient funds to enable TSA to continue to certify, train, and equip the additional canine teams funded in fiscal year 2015.

FEDERAL FLIGHT DECK OFFICER AND FLIGHT CREW TRAINING

A total of $20,758,000 is provided for the Federal Flight Deck Officer (FFDO) and Flight Crew Training Program. Within the total is an increase of $1,700,000 to expand FLETC training capacity for FFDOs, as recommended by the House.

FEDERAL AIR MARSHAL SERVICE

A total of $805,076,000 is provided for the Federal Air Marshal Service (FAMS). While the threats to aviation security have evolved since 9/11, it is unclear whether FAMS has adapted to appropriately address these emerging threats. TSA should conduct an analysis of FAMS staffing needs and resource requirements in light of evolving threats and TSA's risk mitigation strategy to ensure the funds requested for FAMS match the need.

SURFACE TRANSPORTATION SECURITY

A total of $110,798,000 is provided for Surface Transportation Security. Within the total is a reduction of $13,030,000 below the President's budget request to reflect a realistic and achievable number of FTE.

The amount provided for this appropriation by PPA is as follows:

	Budget Estimate	Final Bill
Staffing and Operations	$28,510,000	$28,148,000
Surface Inspectors and VIPR	95,318,000	82,650,000
Total, Surface Transportation Security	$123,828,000	$110,798,000

INTELLIGENCE AND VETTING

A total of $236,693,000 is provided for Intelligence and Vetting. While the overall level for Intelligence and Vetting is above the President's budget request, the bill includes targeted reductions within that amount totaling $10,345,000 to reflect a realistic and achievable number of FTE.

The amount provided for this appropriation by PPA is as follows:

	Budget Estimate	Final Bill
Direct Appropriations:
Intelligence	$51,977,000	$52,003,000
Secure Flight	105,637,000	105,651,000
Other Vetting Programs	70,084,000	79,039,000
Subtotal, Direct Appropriations	227,698,000	236,693,000
Fee Collections:
TWIC Fee	82,267,000	82,267,000
Hazardous Material Fee	21,083,000	21,083,000
General Aviation at DCA Fee	400,000	400,000
Commercial Aviation and Airport Fee	6,500,000	6,500,000
Other Security Threat Assessments Fee	50,000	50,000
Air Cargo/Certified Cargo Screening Program Fee	3,500,000	3,500,000
TSA Pre-Check Application Program Fee	80,153,000	80,153,000
Alien Flight School Fees	5,200,000	5,200,000
Subtotal, Fee Collections	199,153,000	199,153,000
Total, Intelligence and Vetting	$426,851,000	$435,846,000

INTELLIGENCE

A total of $52,003,000 is provided for Intelligence, including an increase of $1,140,000 to accelerate TSA's plans to increase intelligence sharing with the field organization by expanding the Field Intelligence Officer program.

OTHER VETTING PROGRAMS

A total of $79,039,000 is provided for Other Vetting Programs, including an increase of $11,700,000 for the TSA PreCheck Application Expansion initiative to broaden enrollment opportunities and increase the population of passengers enrolled in special vetting programs. As a part of the fiscal year 2016 obligation plan directed in title I of this statement, TSA shall include specific details on the use of this increase for TSA PreCheck expansion activities.

As described in the House report and in lieu of language in the Senate bill, TSA is directed to provide semiannual updates on its expedited passenger screening efforts, including a strategy to increase the population of passengers enrolled in special vetting programs and the associated resource implications.

Due to the continued delays in the Technology Infrastructure Modernization (TIM) program and projected personnel under execution, Other Vetting Programs is reduced by an additional $500,000 below the President's budget request. As directed in the House and Senate reports, TSA shall brief the Committees on TIM not later than 15 days after its review by the DHS Acquisition Review Board.

TRANSPORTATION SECURITY SUPPORT

A total of $924,015,000 is provided for Transportation Security Support. Within the total is a reduction of $7,464,000 below the President's budget request to reflect a realistic and achievable number of FTE.

The amount provided for this appropriation by PPA is as follows:

	Budget Estimate	Final Bill
Headquarters Administration	$276,930,000	$273,259,000
Information Technology	452,385,000	449,160,000
Human Capital Services	202,164,000	201,596,000
Total, Transportation Security Support	$931,479,000	$924,015,000

COVERT TESTING

As directed in the Senate report, TSA shall provide quarterly briefings on covert testing activities.

COAST GUARD

OPERATING EXPENSES

A total of $7,061,490,000 is provided for Operating Expenses, including $500,002,000 for defense activities, of which $160,002,000 is designated for overseas contingency operations (OCO) and the global war on terrorism (GWOT). Funds provided in support of OCO/GWOT under this heading may be allocated without regard to section 503 in title V of this Act. Pending submission of the Capital Investment Plan (CIP) with the President's fiscal year 2017 budget, the agreement withholds from obligation $85,000,000 of the appropriation. Not more than $23,000 is for official reception and representation expenses.

The amount provided for this appropriation by PPA is as follows:

	Budget Estimate	Final Bill
Military Pay and Allowances	$3,466,088,000	$3,488,617,000
Civilian Pay and Benefits	799,816,000	792,229,000
Training and Recruiting	205,825,000	206,498,000
Operating Funds and Unit Level Maintenance	1,010,317,000	1,027,780,000

Overseas Contingency Operations/Global War on Terrorism	---	160,002,000
Tricare (leg. proposal)	1,000,000	---
Total, Operating Expenses	$6,822,503,000	$7,061,490,000

OVERSEAS CONTINGENCY OPERATIONS/GLOBAL WAR ON TERRORISM FUNDING

Funding for Coast Guard OCO/GWOT activities is provided directly through the Operating Expenses appropriation instead of through a DoD account. The Coast Guard is directed to brief the Committees not later than 30 days after the date of enactment of this Act on any changes expected in the funding requirement for OCO/GWOT activities during fiscal year 2016. Further, the Coast Guard is directed to include details of its current and future support to Central Command in the classified annex of the fiscal year 2017 budget request.

OPERATIONAL READINESS

The fiscal year 2016 budget request insufficiently addressed, once again, the critical needs of the Coast Guard. The final agreement provides funding above the request to improve readiness and meet operational needs. The appropriated amount includes the following increases to the budget request: $41,795,000 to reduce the backlog in critical depot level maintenance; $8,406,000 to restore operational hours; $14,000,000 to restore unjustified cuts to military special pays and bonuses; $2,200,000 to restore a “Bravo-0” response capability; and $899,000 to ensure proper personnel levels at Aids to Navigation sites. The Coast Guard, as part of the fiscal year 2016 obligation plan directed in title I of this statement, shall provide the Committees an expenditure plan for these funds.

AIR FACILITIES

Within the total amount, $12,172,000 is provided to meet the obligations specified in section 225 of the Howard Coble Coast Guard and Maritime Transportation Act of 2014 throughout fiscal year 2016.

BERING SEA COVERAGE

Not later than 60 days after the date of enactment of this Act, the Commandant is required to submit to Congress a report on the plans of the Coast Guard to ensure at least one mission-capable cutter maintains a presence in the Bering Sea and Arctic Region at all times during the 10-year period beginning on the date of such submittal, as described in the Senate report.

SMALL BOATS

Within the total for Operating Expenses, $20,458,000 is provided for the procurement of small response boats in fiscal year 2016, an increase of $7,100,000 above the amount requested. The bill also includes long-standing language to allow funds from the Operating Expenses appropriation to be used for the limited purchase or lease of small boats for contingent and emergent requirements and end-of-service-life replacements.

Unlike funding for major procurements requested through the Acquisition, Construction, and Improvements (AC&I) appropriation, the Coast Guard’s annual request for the Operating Expenses appropriation includes minimal information about the budget for small boat activities. In order to gain more clarity on these matters, the Coast Guard shall provide a briefing to the Committees not later than 30 days after the date of enactment of this Act detailing planned small boat purchases, leases, repairs, and service life replacements for fiscal year 2016. For fiscal year 2017, such information shall be included in the congressional budget justification material.

COAST GUARD YARD

The Coast Guard Yard located at Curtis Bay, Maryland, has been a vital part of the Coast Guard’s readiness and infrastructure for more than 100 years and is recognized as a critical component of the Coast Guard’s core logistics capability that directly supports fleet readiness. Sufficient industrial work should be assigned to the Yard to maintain this capability.

ENVIRONMENTAL COMPLIANCE AND RESTORATION

A total of $13,221,000 is provided for Environmental Compliance and Restoration.

RESERVE TRAINING

A total of $110,614,000 is provided for Reserve Training.

ACQUISITION, CONSTRUCTION, AND IMPROVEMENTS

A total of $1,945,169,000 is provided for AC&I, a significant increase above the request that reflects the pressing need for recapitalization of the Coast Guard’s shore infrastructure and its fleets of aircraft and vessels. Although the Coast Guard continues to communicate publicly that its fleets are in desperate need of recapitalization, and many vessels are decades beyond their expected service life, the budget request failed to adequately address that requirement. The Department and the Administration are expected to provide more realistic AC&I budget requests in the future.

The amount provided for this appropriation by PPA is as follows:

	Budget Estimate	Final Bill
Vessels:
Survey and Design—Vessel and Boats	$9,000,000	$15,000,000
In-Service Vessel Sustainment	68,000,000	68,000,000

Total, Acquisition, Construction, and Improvements	$1,017,269,000	$1,945,169,000

SURVEY AND DESIGN

As detailed in the Senate report, an additional $6,000,000 is included above the request for survey and design work associated with reactivation of the Polar Sea.

NATIONAL SECURITY CUTTER

A total of $743,400,000 is provided for the National Security Cutter (NSC) program. The total includes $640,000,000 for award and production costs associated with a ninth National Security Cutter, notwithstanding future costs for post-delivery activities. In addition, $12,000,000 is included for the necessary top-side engineering design work to support the deployment of small UAS equipment on NSCs.

OFFSHORE PATROL CUTTER

A total of $89,000,000 is provided for the Offshore Patrol Cutter (OPC) program. Within that amount, $70,500,000 is included to exercise the option for Detail Design and commence Phase II of the OPC acquisition.

FAST RESPONSE CUTTER

A total of $340,000,000 is provided for the Fast Response Cutter program. This amount is for the acquisition of six cutters.

POLAR ICEBREAKER

The growth of global commerce, scientific research, tourism, and other activity in the Arctic region requires a multi-mission icebreaker to sustain a U.S. presence, maintain domain awareness, and furnish critical search and rescue capabilities. Unfortunately, the Coast Guard's current fleet of heavy icebreakers is not adequate to meet this expanding mission. Although the Administration has now proposed accelerating the acquisition of the first replacement heavy icebreaker, the funding proposed for the Coast Guard's icebreaker program in fiscal year 2016 inadequately supports this plan. In addition, the Capital Investment Plan, which informs Congress about planned future asset acquisitions, projected funding levels, and program timelines, is devoid of any useful detail. In order for the Coast Guard to address this requirement in the coming year and preclude falling further behind, an additional $3,200,000 above the request is provided to accelerate the acquisition of the next icebreaker.

FULL FUNDING POLICY

The Administration policy requiring the Coast Guard to attain appropriations for the total acquisition cost for a vessel, including long lead time materials, production costs, and post-production costs, before a production contract can be awarded has the potential to create shipbuilding inefficiencies, force delays in the obligation of production funds, and require post-production funds far in advance of when they will be used. The Administration is expected to give the Coast Guard the flexibility to acquire vessels, including the OPC, in the most efficient manner within the guidelines of strict governance measures.

HC-130J AIRCRAFT

An additional $95,000,000 above the request is provided for one fully missionized HC-130J aircraft.

RESCUE 21

Within the total for AC&I, not more than $1,500,000 is available under Program Oversight Management for the management of Rescue 21, the Coast Guard's advanced command, control, and direction-finding communications system, which locates mariners in distress and saves lives and property at sea and on navigable rivers. This funding may be used for project oversight and management, travel, activities associated with the transition from acquisition to operations, activities associated with program closeout, and other activities related to the management of the program. Details on the planned and actual use of this funding, including amounts obligated, shall be included in the Coast Guard's quarterly acquisition briefings.

SHORE FACILITIES

Within the AC&I total, $181,600,000 is for construction of shore facilities, including $31,000,000 for the relocation of aviation facilities and $26,000,000 for activities at the Coast Guard Yard associated with demolition of the floating dry-dock Oakridge and construction of additional ship capacity at the Yard. The Coast Guard, as a part of the fiscal year 2016 obligation plan directed in title I of this statement, shall provide the Committees an expenditure plan for these funds.

MILITARY HOUSING

A total of $21,000,000 is provided for the recapitalization, improvement, and acquisition of housing to support military families. The Coast Guard, as a part of the fiscal year 2016 obligation plan directed in title I of this statement, shall provide to the Committees an expenditure plan for these funds.

RESEARCH, DEVELOPMENT, TEST, AND EVALUATION

A total of $18,019,000 is provided for Research, Development, Test, and Evaluation.

RETIRED PAY

A total of $1,604,000,000 is provided for Retired Pay. The Coast Guard's Retired Pay appropriation is a mandatory budget activity.

UNITED STATES SECRET SERVICE

SALARIES AND EXPENSES

A total of $1,854,526,000 is provided for Salaries and Expenses. For the last several years, the Secret Service has failed to hire to the enacted workforce level, resulting in tens of millions of dollars appropriated for personnel compensation and benefits being diverted to unbudgeted activities. Therefore, based on updated estimates from the Secret Service, the agreement realigns funds among PPAs to fund FTE in the appropriate PPAs and decreases the President's budget request by $49,394,000 to fund a realistic and achievable number of FTE. Increases above the request are included for the following: $4,500,000 for operational training; $15,300,000 for classified programs; $4,000,000 for the increased requirement for overtime due to the under execution in hiring personnel; $3,000,000 for reassignment costs; $12,000,000 for electronic crimes special agent training program; and $1,600,000 for electronic security clearance needs.

The amount provided for this appropriation by PPA is as follows:

INFRASTRUCTURE PROTECTION

A total of $273,409,000 is provided for Infrastructure Protection. No funding is provided for the requested climate change assessments.

Of the total provided, $75,010,000 is for Infrastructure Analysis and Planning (IAP), which includes $18,650,000 for the National Infrastructure Simulation and Analysis Center (NISAC) and is available for two years. The $5,657,000 provided above the request for NISAC is for research on high-risk infrastructure vulnerabilities.

As described in the Senate report, $1,500,000 is provided above the request for the Office of Infrastructure Protection and the Office of Cyber Infrastructure and Analysis to develop and submit a three-year strategic plan to guide vulnerability assessments, analytic assessments, and the Regional Resiliency Assessment Program. The plan will guide this suite of programs with a focus on comprehensive assessments of critical lifeline infrastructure dependencies and interdependencies, assisting FEMA in risk assessments that support grant allocation decisions, and enhancing state and local preparedness and resiliency. Included shall be a set of performance metrics against which effectiveness can be measured and reported to Congress on an annual basis.

Of the total provided, $70,848,000 is for Sector Management and Governance, including $2,000,000 to define agency needs, identify requirements for community-level critical infrastructure protection and resiliency, and rapidly develop, test, and transition to use technologies that address needs and requirements. Of the total provided, $49,151,000 is for Regional Field Operations, including full funding for the National Infrastructure Coordinating Center.

Of the total provided, $78,400,000 is for Infrastructure Security Compliance. Due to continued delays in implementing the final rule on ammonium nitrate, no funds are included for implementation but $4,500,000 is provided to allow NPPD to employ additional measures to secure ammonium nitrate and other IED precursors while continuing the rulemaking process.

CYBERSECURITY

A total of $818,749,000 is provided for Cybersecurity of which $94,485,000 is for US-CERT operations. Network Security Deployment is funded at $475,822,000. NPPD is directed to brief the Committees within 30 days of the date of enactment of this Act on its plans to address the recommendations in GAO's comprehensive review of the National Cybersecurity Protection System (GAO-16-43SU).

A total of $26,702,000 is provided for Global Cybersecurity Management, of which $1,679,000 is to fund the software assurance program and $15,810,000 is for cybersecurity education.

NOTIFICATION OF CYBERSECURITY INCIDENTS

As stated in the Senate report, NPPD must improve the process by which it notifies the Committees of cyber-incidents. NPPD shall develop a systematic process, in coordination with other potentially impacted departments and agencies, to notify the Committees of major cybersecurity incidents, including any event involving another federal agency.

CYBERSECURITY INFORMATION COORDINATION

Within 180 days after the date of enactment of this Act, NPPD is directed to brief the Committees on efforts to include metrics in the National Cybersecurity and Communications Integration Center's (NCCIC) programs, as directed in the Senate report. As part of its fiscal year 2016 obligation plan and fiscal year 2017 budget justification, NPPD shall provide the actual funding levels for each PPA for all NCCIC activities.

STATE AND LOCAL CYBERSECURITY SUPPORT

The fiscal year 2016 request proposed to reduce funding for the Multi-State Information Sharing and Analysis Center (MS-ISAC). Although the proposed reduction was premised on an expectation that MS-ISAC's customers would begin sharing costs of services they receive, the budget request provided almost no information to justify the proposed reduction. An additional $500,000 is made available in the Critical Infrastructure Cyber Protection and Awareness PPA to help ensure the continuation of current levels of state and local cybersecurity services and information sharing. As part of its fiscal year 2016 obligation plan, NPPD shall report the actual funding level for MS-ISAC including a detailed justification for that amount. NPPD should also ensure that budget materials clearly justify the amount being proposed to support MS-ISAC. NPPD is expected to co-ordinate with MS-ISAC and its customers on the rationale and timeline for establishing the cost-sharing plan.

CYBERSECURITY STRATEGY AND PLANNING

As detailed in the Senate report, NPPD is directed to brief the Committees upon the release of the National Cybersecurity Review and to utilize the review in developing a strategic plan on how best to work with state and local leaders on cybersecurity. The strategic plan should address how federal, state, and local partners work together, as well as include an assessment of the role of other stakeholders such as the National Guard. In addition, NPPD shall brief the Committees within 90 days after the date of enactment of this Act on the timeline for updating the National Cyber Incident Response Plan. The briefing shall include a plan for engaging with state and local governments and private sector stakeholders in the development of the framework. In developing both the strategic plan and the update to the National Cyber Incident Response Plan, NPPD should consider the role of the MS-ISAC with regard to outreach to and engagement with state and local governments.

COMMUNICATIONS

A total of $198,842,000 is provided for Communications. Of the total provided, $34,205,000 is for the Office of Emergency Communications (OEC), of which $2,000,000 is to establish a demonstration project to aid in developing the National Emergency Communications Plan. The demonstration project shall leverage existing technologies and engage non-medical professionals to help establish or sustain statewide medical communications systems and utilize existing infrastructures to improve the delivery of rural medical care. OEC shall submit a plan for establishing this demonstration project to the Committees within 90 days of the date of enactment of this Act.

In addition, $80,384,000 is provided for Next Generation Networks, including $26,668,000 to implement priority Voice over Internet Protocol communication capability.

FEDERAL PROTECTIVE SERVICE

A total of $1,443,449,000 is made available for the Federal Protective Service (FPS), as requested. This funding is generated by collections of security fees from federal agencies based on security services provided by FPS. A provision is included requiring that a strategic human capital plan be submitted with the President's fiscal year 2017 budget proposal.

OFFICE OF BIOMETRIC IDENTITY MANAGEMENT

A total of $282,473,000 is provided for the Office of Biometric Identity Management (OBIM), of which not less than $65,800,000 is for Increment 1 of the successor system to the IDENT automated biometric identification system. This funding is provided with the understanding that current estimates for follow-on increments include $52,800,000 for Increment 2, $40,000,000 for Increment 3, and $46,700,000 for Increment 4. OBIM is directed to find cost savings wherever possible and brief the Committees on any anticipated cost changes.

The Department has again been entertaining proposals to transfer OBIM out of NPPD. Discussion of such proposals, which would require authorization to implement, should not be allowed to detract from OBIM's focus on carrying out its important departmental mission.

OFFICE OF HEALTH AFFAIRS

A total of $125,369,000 is provided for the Office of Health Affairs (OHA). Of the total amount, $82,078,000 is for BioWatch; $10,500,000 is for the National Biosurveillance Integration Center; $824,000 is for the Chemical Defense Program; $4,957,000 is for Planning and Coordination; and $27,010,000 is for Salaries and Expenses.

BIOSURVEILLANCE ACTIVITIES

Of the total provided, $1,000,000 is for replacement and recapitalization of current BioWatch equipment. OHA is directed to brief the Committees not later than 30 days after the date of enactment of this Act on its response to the recent GAO report (GAO-16-99) on the BioWatch program, which found that DHS lacks reliable information about the current system's technical capabilities to detect a biological attack.

FEDERAL EMERGENCY MANAGEMENT AGENCY

The House report directs FEMA to implement reforms to budgeting for Disaster Readiness Support (DRS). In lieu of the direction that the reforms be implemented in the fiscal year 2017 budget proposal, FEMA shall incorporate as many of the outlined reforms as possible within the fiscal year 2017 budget proposal and fully implement the reforms with the submission of the fiscal year 2018 budget proposal. Further, FEMA is directed to present future budget proposals and obligation reports, as applicable, in the following PPA and sub-activity structure for the DRS:

All projects shall be completed in consultation with the DHS CIO. Furthermore, details on modernization, security, and resiliency projects shall be reported to the Committees consistent with the obligation guidance in title I, and FEMA shall continue to provide updates on the IT Resiliency Review, as directed in the Senate report.

MOUNT WEATHER EMERGENCY OPERATIONS CENTER

Of the total provided for Salaries and Expenses, $27,500,000 is for capital improvements to the Mount Weather Emergency Operations Center. In lieu of direction in the House report, FEMA shall address the use of these and any other funds available for Mount Weather Emergency Operations Center capital projects when FEMA briefs the Committees on its obligation plans as directed in title I of this statement.

CAPITAL INFRASTRUCTURE INVESTMENT PLAN

As directed in the House report, FEMA shall provide a capital infrastructure investment plan for fiscal year 2016 through fiscal year 2020.

ENSURING RAIL SECURITY

As outlined in the Senate report, NPPD and FEMA shall brief the Committees on the management of crude oil movements, including those actions being taken to address gaps in capabilities at the state and local levels (including through grant awards), any unmet needs in coordinating with other departments and agencies, and the unique needs of first responders.

Total, State and Local Programs	$2,231,424,000	$1,500,000,000

Provisions are included specifying timeframes for grant awards, limiting grantee administrative costs to five percent of the total amount of each grant, permitting the construction of communication towers under certain conditions, requiring reports from grantees as necessary, and permitting the use of certain funds for security buffer zones at FEMA facilities.

In addition to the items included in the House and Senate reports related to uses of grant funding, FEMA is encouraged to consider applications which will enhance physical security at large venues and for early warning systems, such as for severe weather, earthquakes, and siren alerts. FEMA is directed to review eligible grant activities, in conjunction with the Department of Justice and its grant programs, to determine how emergent and cross-cutting national security challenges, such as the heroin epidemic, international smuggling, and public health threats, can be better addressed at state and local levels.

Within 180 days after the date of enactment of this Act, and after consultation with stakeholders, FEMA shall brief the Committees on the feasibility of expanding eligibility for non-profit security grants, based on risk, to organizations located outside of urban areas receiving Urban Area Security Initiative (UASI) grants.

URBAN AREA SECURITY INITIATIVE

Consistent with the 9/11 Act, FEMA shall conduct risk assessments for the 100 most populous metropolitan statistical areas prior to making UASI grant awards. Because most of the cumulative national terrorism risk to urban areas is focused on a relatively small number of cities, it is expected that UASI funding will be limited to urban areas representing up to 85 percent of such risk and that resources will continue to be allocated in proportion to risk.

EDUCATION, TRAINING, AND EXERCISES

A total of $233,000,000 is provided for Education, Training, and Exercises. Within the total, $29,521,000 is for Continuing Training, including $3,500,000 for rural first responder training, not less than $2,000,000 for hazardous materials training, and $18,000,000 for the Center for Homeland Defense and Security.

DISASTER RELIEF FUND

(INCLUDING TRANSFER OF FUNDS)

A total of $7,374,693,000 is provided for the Disaster Relief Fund (DRF), of which $6,712,953,000 is designated as being for disaster relief for major disasters pursuant to section 251(b)(2)(D) of the Balanced Budget and Emergency Deficit Control Act of 1985. A provision is included transferring $24,000,000 to the OIG for audits and investigations related to all disasters.

A general provision is included in title V of this Act rescinding amounts provided for non-major disaster response in prior years due to the significant balances carried over from fiscal year 2015 and amounts recovered from previous disasters during project close-outs. The remaining balances, combined with the amount appropriated in this bill, fully fund all known requirements, to include recovery from Hurricane Sandy, the Colorado wildfires, the Oklahoma tornadoes, the South Carolina flooding, and other previous disasters, as well as estimated costs of response and relief efforts for future disasters.

As directed in title I of this statement, FEMA shall include with the fiscal year 2017 budget justification materials a detailed justification for all categories funded with base discretionary funding, including a detailed obligation plan for the DRS program. Additionally, as directed in title I, FEMA shall provide briefings on the obligation of DRS funding.

As directed in the House report, FEMA shall continue the practice of posting Preliminary Disaster Assessments, Public Assistance Grants, and mission assignments to the Agency's website in the same manner as directed in Public Law 114-4.

As noted in the explanatory statement accompanying Public Law 114-4, FEMA shall continue to implement the appeals process for improper payments efficiently and pay diligent attention to overpayments made due to FEMA's error. If the improper payment cannot be forgiven, FEMA shall work with individuals based on ability to make the repayment.

FLOOD HAZARD MAPPING AND RISK ANALYSIS PROGRAM

A total of $190,000,000 is provided for Flood Hazard Mapping and Risk Analysis. With an additional $155,899,000 available for flood mapping activities through the National Flood Insurance Fund, FEMA's fiscal year 2016 resources for flood plain mapping total $345,899,000. This amount will enable FEMA to make significant progress toward its goal of maintaining 80 percent of its mapping inventory as maps with new, validated, or updated engineering. As directed in the Senate report, FEMA shall ensure mapping updates are done in coordination with ongoing state and local flood mitigation efforts.

NATIONAL FLOOD INSURANCE FUND

A total of $181,198,000 is provided for the National Flood Insurance Fund, for which administrative costs shall not exceed four percent.

NATIONAL PREDISASTER MITIGATION FUND

A total of $100,000,000 is provided for the National Predisaster Mitigation Fund, to remain available until expended. FEMA is directed to brief the Committees on the plan for award and distribution prior to execution of the funds, ensure projects meet the national need, and focus on actual hazards and not causation.

EMERGENCY FOOD AND SHELTER

A total of $120,000,000 is provided for the Emergency Food and Shelter Program (EFSP), of which administrative costs shall not exceed 3.5 percent. A provision authorizing the FEMA Administrator to transfer the funding and administrative responsibility for EFSP to the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) is not included. While the proposal to transfer EFSP to HUD has merits, any proposal to transfer the program in a future budget request must be directly proposed as part of the HUD budget. Further, in order to ensure a successful transition, any future transfer proposal should be premised on outreach to appropriate stakeholders, including congressional committees of jurisdiction. It is expected that FEMA and HUD will include a comprehensive outreach strategy, as well as a full transition plan, as part of any such proposal in the future.

TITLE IV—RESEARCH, DEVELOPMENT, TRAINING, AND SERVICES

UNITED STATES CITIZENSHIP AND IMMIGRATION SERVICES E-VERIFY

A total of $119,671,000 is provided in discretionary appropriations for E-Verify.

OFFICIAL RECEPTION AND REPRESENTATION EXPENSES

No more than $10,000 of the fees collected shall be used for official reception and representation expenses.

GAO USCIS REVIEW

In Senate Report 113-198, GAO was directed to perform a review of fraud in the asylum process. Not later than 60 days after GAO issues the report, the Department is directed to brief the Committees on actions taken to implement each of GAO's recommendations. The Department shall provide progress updates every 60 days thereafter until all of the recommendations have been implemented for all types of benefits. In addition, GAO is directed to perform a similarly scoped review of fraud in the refugee screening process.

E-VERIFY USAGE

As directed in the Senate report, USCIS is to include on its website, in both graphic and downloadable formats, E-Verify usage statistics, including basic analytics functions, not later than 90 days after the date of enactment of this Act.

ADVANCE PAROLE

As directed in the Senate report, USCIS is to report not later than 90 days after the date of enactment of this Act on the use of advance parole.

FEE STUDY

As directed in the Senate report, USCIS is to report not later than 30 days after the date of enactment of this Act on the results of its fee study.

CHANGE OF ADDRESS NOTIFICATION

Under 8 U.S.C. 1305, most non-United States citizens lawfully present in the United States must report to USCIS, as a condition of stay, a change of address within 10 days of moving within the United States or its territories. USCIS is directed to brief the Committees within 120 days of the date of enactment of this Act on compliance with this address change notification requirement, including: how the requirement is communicated to the affected population; how many change of address notifications have been submitted each of the last three fiscal years broken down by visa categories or status; what actions USCIS or other agencies take in validating or making use of the address change submissions; and the number of non-United States citizens since fiscal year 2012 who have been penalized for failing to update their address.

FEDERAL LAW ENFORCEMENT TRAINING CENTER

SALARIES AND EXPENSES

A total of $217,485,000 is provided for Salaries and Expenses. The amount available for official reception and representation expenses, $7,180, reflects historic expenditures for this purpose. FLETC is directed to brief the Committees quarterly on a plan for the obligation of funds, as specified under title I of this statement. Within the funds provided for Law Enforcement Training, $1,303,000 shall be for the FLETC Accreditation Board, of which $300,000 may be distributed to federal law enforcement agencies for expenses incurred participating in training and accreditation.

Because the fiscal year 2015 DHS Appropriations Act did not fund a proposed 2,000 new CBP officers, the bill includes a reduction to the fiscal year 2016 request of $26,406,000 associated with the training of those officers. However, an increase of $4,750,000 is included to fund an additional 38 FTE for other training requirements.

FLETC shall conduct a review of its workforce benefits, per direction in the House report, and make any appropriate legislative recommendations to the Committees, the House Committee on Oversight and Government Reform, and the Senate Committee on Homeland Security and Governmental Affairs.

TITLE V—GENERAL PROVISIONS

Section 501. A provision proposed by the House and Senate is continued that no part of any appropriation shall remain available for obligation beyond the current year unless expressly provided.

Section 502. A provision proposed by the House and Senate is continued that unex-pendent balances of prior appropriations may be merged with new appropriation accounts and used for the same purpose, subject to reprogramming guidelines.

Section 503. A provision proposed by the House and Senate is continued and modified that requires 15-day advance notification for the reprogramming and transfer of funds; limits authority to reprogram funds within an appropriations account; and provides authority to transfer up to five percent out of appropriations accounts. In order to give the Department flexibility in addressing emerging threats and challenges, language from prior years limiting the amount of funds that could be transferred into an appropriation is not included.

For purposes of reprogramming notifications, “program, project, or activity” is defined as an amount identified in the detailed funding table located at the end of this statement or an amount directed for a specific purpose in this statement. Also for purposes of reprogramming notifications, the creation of a new program, project, or activity is defined as any significant new activity that has not been explicitly justified to the Congress in budget justification material and for which funds have not been appropriated by the Congress. For further guidance when determining which movements of funds are subject to section 503, the Department is reminded to follow GAO's definition of "program, project, or activity" as detailed in GAO's A Glossary of Terms Used in the Federal Budget Process. Within 30 days of the date of enactment of this Act, the Department shall submit to the Committees a table delineating PPAs subject to section 503 notification requirements, as defined in this paragraph.

These reprogramming guidelines shall be complied with by all agencies funded by this Act. The Department shall submit reprogramming requests on a timely basis and provide complete explanations of the reallocations proposed, including detailed justifications of the increases and offsets, and any specific impact the proposed changes will have on the budget request for the following fiscal year and future-year appropriations requirements. Each request submitted to the Committees should include a detailed table showing the proposed revisions at the account, program, project, and activity level to the funding and staffing (full-time equivalent position) levels for the current fiscal year and to the levels requested in the President's budget for the following fiscal year.

The Department shall manage its programs, projects, and activities within the levels appropriated. The Department should only submit reprogramming or transfer requests in the case of an unforeseeable emergency or situation that could not have been predicted when formulating the budget request for the current fiscal year. When the Department submits a reprogramming or transfer request to the Committees and does not receive identical responses from the House and Senate, it is the responsibility of the Department to reconcile the House and Senate differences before proceeding and, if reconciliation is not possible, to consider the reprogramming or transfer request not approved.

Unless an initial notification has already been provided, the Department is not to submit a reprogramming or transfer request after June 30 except in extraordinary circumstances that imminently threaten the safety of human life or the protection of property. If a reprogramming or transfer is needed after June 30, the submittal should contain sufficient documentation as to why it meets this statutory exception.

Section 504. A provision proposed by the House and Senate is continued and modified that prohibits funds appropriated or otherwise made available to the Department to make payment to the Working Capital Fund (WCF), except for activities and amounts allowed in the President's fiscal year 2016 budget request. Funds provided to the WCF are available until expended. The Department can only charge components for direct usage of the WCF and these funds may be used only for the purposes consistent with the contributing component. Any funds paid in advance or reimbursed must reflect the full cost of each service. The Department shall submit a notification for the addition or removal of any activity to the fund and shall submit quarterly execution reports with activity level detail. A new proviso is included requiring the Department to identify the source of funds by PPA.

Section 505. A provision proposed by the House and Senate is continued that not to exceed 50 percent of unobligated balances remaining at the end of fiscal year 2016 from appropriations made for salaries and expenses shall remain available through fiscal year 2017 subject to section 503 reprogramming guidelines.

Section 506. A provision proposed by the House and Senate is continued that funds for intelligence activities are deemed to be specifically authorized during fiscal year 2016 until the enactment of an Act authorizing intelligence activities for fiscal year 2016.

Section 507. A provision proposed by the House and Senate is continued requiring notification of the Committees three days before grant allocations, grant awards, contract awards, other transactional agreements, letters of intent, a task or delivery order on a multiple contract award totaling $1,000,000 or more, a task or delivery order greater than $10,000,000 from multi-year funds, or sole-source grant awards, are announced by the Department, including contracts covered by the Federal Acquisition Regulation. The Department is required to brief the Committees five full business days prior to announcing the intention to make a grant under State and Local Programs. Notification shall include a description of the project or projects to be funded, including city, county, and state.

Section 508. A provision proposed by the House and Senate is continued and modified that no agency shall purchase, construct, or lease additional facilities for Federal law enforcement training without advance notification to the Committees.

Section 509. A provision proposed by the House and Senate is continued that none of the funds may be used for any construction, repair, alteration, or acquisition project for which a prospectus, if required under chapter 33 of title 40, United States Code, has not been approved.

Section 510. A provision proposed by the House and Senate is continued and modified that includes and consolidates by reference prior year statutory provisions related to contracting officer's technical representative training; sensitive security information; and the use of funds in conformance with section 303 of the Energy Policy Act of 1992. A modified provision is included to permanently discontinue certain prior reporting requirements.

Section 520. A provision proposed by the House is continued that precludes DHS from using funds in this Act to carry out reorganization authority. This prohibition is not intended to prevent the Department from carrying out routine or small reallocations of personnel or functions within components, subject to section 503 of this Act. This language prevents large-scale reorganization of the Department, which should be acted on legislatively by the relevant congressional committees of jurisdiction. While the Department has developed plans for a large-scale reorganization of NPPD, such reorganization has not yet been authorized by Congress and would be precluded by this language. The Department may propose minor changes under section 503 of this Act to the Committees on Appropriations.

Section 521. A new provision is included that prohibits the creation of a proposed Office of Chemical, Biological, Radiological, Nuclear, and Explosives Defense without explicit authorization by Congress, and facilitates funding realignments related to the creation of the office if so authorized.

DIVISION G—DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR, ENVIRONMENT, AND RELATED AGENCIES APPROPRIATIONS ACT, 2016

The following statement is an explanation of the effects of Division G, which makes appropriations for the Department of the Interior, the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), the Forest Service, the Indian Health Service, and related agencies for fiscal year 2016. Report language contained in House Report 114-170 and Senate Report 114-70 providing specific guidance to agencies regarding the administration of appropriated funds and any corresponding reporting requirements carries the same emphasis as the language included in this explanatory statement and should be complied with unless specifically addressed to the contrary herein. This explanatory statement, while repeating some language for emphasis, is not intended to negate the language referred to above unless expressly provided herein.

In cases where the House report, Senate report, or this explanatory statement directs the submission of a report, such report is to be submitted to both the House and Senate Committees on Appropriations. Where this explanatory statement refers to the Committees or the Committees on Appropriations, unless otherwise noted, this reference is to the House Subcommittee on Interior, Environment, and Related Agencies and the Senate Subcommittee on Interior, Environment, and Related Agencies.

The Committees direct each department and agency funded in this Act to follow the directions set forth in this Act and the accompanying statement, and not reallocate resources or reorganize activities except as provided herein or otherwise approved by the Committees through the reprogramming process as described in this explanatory statement. This explanatory statement addresses only those agencies and accounts for which there is a need for greater explanation than provided in the Act itself. Funding levels for appropriations by account, program, and activity, with comparisons to the fiscal year 2015 enacted level and the fiscal year 2016 budget request, can be found in the table at the end of this division.

Unless expressly stated otherwise, any reference to “this Act” or “at the end of this statement” shall be treated as referring only to the provisions of this division.

Drought, Forests and Wildfires.—Severe and prolonged drought can increase the rate at which trees die and devastating wildfires occur. In light of the number of dead and downed trees on public lands in the West, the Forest Service, National Park Service and Bureau of Land Management are directed to work with State and local governments in drought-stricken regions to facilitate the prompt removal of dead and downed trees on these lands and to prioritize funding to reduce the threat of devastating wildfire threats to communities, drinking water supplies, utilities, and groves of ancient trees.

Making Litigation Costs Transparent.—The Department of the Interior, EPA, and the Forest Service are directed to provide to the House and Senate Committees on Appropriations, and to make publicly available no later than 60 days after enactment of this Act, detailed Equal Access to Justice Act (EAJA) fee information as specified in the Consolidated and Further Continuing Appropriations Act, 2015.

State Wildlife Data.—The Department of the Interior and the Forest Service are expected to prioritize continued coordination with other Federal agencies and State fish and wildlife agencies to recognize and fully utilize State fish and wildlife data and analyses as a primary source to inform land use, planning, and related natural resource decisions. Federal agencies should not unnecessarily duplicate raw data, and when appropriate, should evaluate existing analysis of data prepared by the States, and reciprocally share data with State wildlife managers, to ensure that the most complete data set is available for decision support systems.

Land Grants, Acequias and Community Ditches.—The Secretaries of the Interior and Agriculture are urged to recognize the traditional use of State-recognized community land grants, acequias, and community ditches in the American Southwest during the land use planning process.

Multi-Agency Transparency.—In order to increase transparency, the Department of the Interior, Forest Service, and Environmental Protection Agency are encouraged to disclose costs associated with analyses required by the National Environmental Policy Act.

Greater Sage-Grouse.—The agreement provides a total of $63,250,000 for sage-grouse conservation, including $60,000,000 for the Bureau of Land Management and $3,250,000 for the Fish and Wildlife Service. The agencies are directed to focus this funding toward on-the-ground conservation measures to improve and preserve sage-grouse habitat and the sagebrush ecosystem. The Bureau is reminded of the concerns outlined in the House and Senate reports as Congress continues to hear complaints about the effect of the sage-grouse land use plan amendments, which are not limited to activities within Bureau controlled sage-grouse habitat. In order for the sage-grouse, communities, and States to thrive, all partners must work in good faith. As such, the Bureau and the Forest Service are directed to closely work with each of the 11 States and the affected communities to address the issues unique to each State and seek to collaboratively resolve all issues. The Bureau is directed to provide guidance to its State offices and partners on how it will update sage-grouse habitat maps, adopt new scientific information, as appropriate, and engage State, local, nongovernmental, and private partners.

Land and Water Conservation Fund.—The agreement includes $450,000,000 derived from the Land and Water Conservation Fund for programs consistent with chapter 2003 of title 54 of the United States Code, as identified in the table below. This one-time increase of $143,859,000 above the fiscal year 2015 enacted level is intended for worthy projects at the local, State, and Federal levels. The Department of the Interior and the Forest Service are directed to include a table in future budget requests, separating State and local programs from Federal land acquisition, as displayed below.

	FY 2015 Enacted	Budget Request (Discretionary)	This Bill
Land and Water Conservation Fund	$306,141,000	$400,000,000	$450,000,000
State and Local Programs	87,503,000	112,147,000	160,800,000
National Park Service State Assistance	48,117,000	53,161,000	110,000,000
Coop. Endangered Species Conservation Fund	27,400,000	50,000,000	30,800,000
American Battlefield Protection Act	8,986,000	8,986,000	10,000,000
Highlands Conservation Act	3,000,000	0	10,000,000
Forest Legacy Program	53,000,000	61,000,000	62,347,000
Federal Land Acquisition	165,638,000	226,853,000	226,853,000
Forest Service	47,500,000	63,000,000	63,435,000
Fish and Wildlife Service	44,535,000	58,500,000	58,500,000
National Park Service	41,857,000	55,353,000	53,670,000
Bureau of Land Management	19,746,000	38,000,000	38,630,000
Department of the Interior Valuation Services	12,000,000	12,000,000	12,618,000

Federal projects are funded in priority order by agency according to the budget request, with amounts adjusted downward as necessary due to updated project information and support. Many of the requested projects lacked sufficient information for the Committees to determine with a high degree of confidence that funds appropriated could be obligated in this fiscal year. Ideally, requested projects should have: identified properties, willing sellers, updated appraisals or market information, and the support of Federal, State, and local officials. Agencies should include the feasibility of phasing projects as well as a description of which parcels are being considered for conservation easements or fee simple acquisition in any supplemental information sent to the Committees. The agencies are also urged to increase the transparency of the project selection and prioritization processes in annual budget requests, particularly in regard to collaborative landscape projects.

The Department of the Interior did not consult the Committees on a decision to reprogram $995,000 from one project to acquire a property in another project identified in the fiscal year 2016 budget request. Therefore, the agreement includes a new reprogramming limitation of not to exceed $1,000,000 or 10 percent from any project, whichever amount is less, as detailed under the Reprogramming Guidelines heading later in this statement.

The Committees believe increasing access to public lands for hunting, fishing, and other recreational activities is important. This agreement includes new funding for these activities for the National Park Service and Fish and Wildlife Service while increasing funds for the Bureau of Land Management and Forest Service. The Committees expect the agencies to report within 30 days of enactment of this Act on how this funding will be spent, and the agencies should include a description and explanation of the use of funds in future budget requests. The agencies are also directed to include in future budget requests a description and explanation on the use of funds within their inholdings line items.

Paper Reduction Efforts.—The Committees urge each agency funded by this Act to work with the Office of Management and Budget (OMB) to reduce printing and reproduction costs and direct each agency to report to the Committees within 60 days of enactment of this Act on what steps have been taken to achieve this goal. The report should specifically identify how much money each agency expects to save by implementing these measures.

Public Access.—The Department of the Interior and the Forest Service are directed to notify the House and Senate Committees on Appropriations in advance of any proposed project specifically intending to close an area to recreational shooting, hunting, or fishing on a non-emergency basis of more than 30 days.

National Ocean Policy.—The President's budget submission for fiscal year 2017 shall identify by agency and account all funding and associated actions proposed for the implementation of the coastal and marine spatial planning and ecosystem-based management components of the National Ocean Policy developed under Executive Order 13547.

REPROGRAMMING GUIDELINES

The following are the procedures governing reprogramming actions for programs and activities funded in the Department of the Interior, Environment, and Related Agencies Appropriations Act. The Committees remind the agencies funded in this Act that these reprogramming guidelines are in effect, and must be complied with, until such time as the Committees modify them through bill or report language.

Definitions.—"Reprogramming," as defined in these procedures, includes the reallocation of funds from one budget activity, budget line-item, or program area, to another within any appropriation funded in this Act. In cases where either the House or Senate Committee report displays an allocation of an appropriation below that level, that more detailed level shall be the basis for reprogramming.

For construction, land acquisition, and forest legacy accounts, a reprogramming constitutes the reallocation of funds, including unobligated balances, from one construction, land acquisition, or forest legacy project to another such project.

A reprogramming shall also consist of any significant departure from the program described in the agency's budget justifications. This includes proposed reorganizations, especially those of significant national or regional importance, even without a change in funding. Any change to the organization table presented in the budget justification shall be subject to this requirement.

General Guidelines for Reprogramming.

(a) A reprogramming should be made only when an unforeseen situation arises, and then only if postponement of the project or the activity until the next appropriation year would result in actual loss or damage.

(b) Any project or activity, which may be deferred through reprogramming, shall not later be accomplished by means of further reprogramming, but instead, funds should again be sought for the deferred project or activity through the regular appropriations process.

(c) Except under the most urgent situations, reprogramming should not be employed to initiate new programs or increase allocations specifically denied or limited by Congress, or to decrease allocations specifically increased by the Congress.

(d) Reprogramming proposals submitted to the House and Senate Committees on Appropriations for approval shall be considered approved 30 calendar days after receipt if the Committees have posed no objection. However, agencies will be expected to extend the approval deadline if specifically requested by either Committee.

Criteria and Exceptions.—A reprogramming must be submitted to the Committees in writing prior to implementation if it exceeds $1,000,000 annually or results in an increase or decrease of more than 10 percent annually in affected programs or projects, whichever amount is less, with the following exceptions:

(a) With regard to the tribal priority allocations of the Bureau of Indian Affairs and Bureau of Indian Education, there is no restriction on reprogrammings among these programs. However, the Bureaus shall report on all reprogrammings made during a given fiscal year no later than 60 days after the end of the fiscal year.

(b) With regard to the EPA, the Committees do not require reprogramming requests associated with the States and Tribes Partnership Grants, or up to a cumulative total of $30,000,000 from carryover balances among the individual program areas delineated in the Environmental Programs and Management account. No funds, however, shall be reallocated from individual Geographic Programs.

Assessments.—"Assessment" as defined in these procedures shall refer to any charges, reserves, or holdbacks applied to a budget activity or budget line item for costs associated with general agency administrative costs, overhead costs, working capital expenses, or contingencies.

(a) No assessment shall be levied against any program, budget activity, subactivity, budget line item, or project funded by the Interior, Environment, and Related Agencies Appropriations Act unless such assessment and the basis therefor are presented to the Committees on Appropriations in the budget justifications and are subsequently approved by the Committees. The explanation for any assessment in the budget justification shall show the amount of the assessment, the activities assessed, and the purpose of the funds.

(b) Proposed changes to estimated assessments, as such estimates were presented in annual budget justifications, shall be submitted through the reprogramming process and shall be subject to the same dollar and reporting criteria as any other reprogramming.

(c) The Committees direct that each agency or bureau which utilizes assessments shall submit an annual report to the Committees which provides details on the use of all funds assessed from any other budget activity, line item, subactivity, or project.

(d) In no case shall contingency funds or assessments be used to finance projects and activities disapproved or limited by Congress, or to finance programs or activities that could be foreseen and included in the normal budget review process.

(e) New programs requested in the budget should not be initiated before enactment of the bill without notification to, and the approval of, the Committees on Appropriations. This restriction applies to all such actions regardless of whether a formal reprogramming of funds is required to begin the program.

Quarterly Reports.—All reprogrammings between budget activities, budget line-items, program areas, or the more detailed activity levels shown in this agreement, including those below the monetary thresholds established above, shall be reported to the Committees within 60 days of the end of each quarter and shall include cumulative totals for each budget activity, budget line item, or construction, land acquisition, or forest legacy project.

Land Acquisitions, Easements, and Forest Legacy.—Lands shall not be acquired for more than the approved appraised value (as addressed in section 301(3) of Public Law 91-646), unless such acquisitions are submitted to the Committees on Appropriations for approval in compliance with these procedures.

Land Exchanges.—Land exchanges, wherein the estimated value of the Federal lands to be exchanged is greater than $1,000,000, shall not be consummated until the Committees have had a 30-day period in which to examine the proposed exchange. In addition, the Committees shall be provided advance notification of exchanges valued between $500,000 and $1,000,000.

Budget Structure.—The budget activity or line item structure for any agency appropriation account shall not be altered without advance approval of the House and Senate Committees on Appropriations.

TITLE I—DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR

MANAGEMENT OF LANDS AND RESOURCES

The agreement provides $1,072,675,000 for Management of Lands and Resources. In addition to the funding allocation table at the end of this explanatory statement, the agreement includes the following instructions:

Wild Horses and Burros.—The Bureau is encouraged to continue to implement the reforms recommended by the 2013 National Academy of Sciences' report, reduce the number of horses and burros in long-term holding, appropriately manage herds affected by drought, and address the effects of herds on rangeland, riparian areas, and sage-grouse habitat.

Rangeland Management.—The Bureau is directed, to the greatest extent practicable, to make vacant grazing allotments available to a holder of a grazing permit or lease when lands covered by the holder of the permit or lease are unusable because of drought or wildfire. The Bureau also is directed to follow the directive herein for the Forest Service regarding bighorn sheep conservation.

Recreation Management.—The Bureau is encouraged to continue its collaborative efforts with non-Federal partners to teach outdoor ethics and stewardship to staff and visitors.

Law Enforcement.—The Bureau is encouraged to focus on visitor safety and archaeological resource protection and work with the Department of Justice and the Department of Homeland Security on other matters of Federal law not unique to Bureau lands or property. Within the funds provided, the Bureau is expected to increase its efforts regarding illegal marijuana cultivation on public lands.

Cooperative Efforts in Alaska.—The Bureau, as the largest Federal landowner in the State of Alaska's Arctic region, is directed to work cooperatively with local stakeholders to enhance economic opportunities for the people who live and work in the region. The Bureau also is reminded of the directions contained in the Senate report regarding Placer Mining Reclamation Activities, contaminated Alaska Native lands in need of remediation, and cooperation with the Alaska State Oil and Gas Conservation Commission and other stakeholders on measurement of production in the National Petroleum Reserve-Alaska.

LAND ACQUISITION

The bill provides $38,630,000 for Land Acquisition. The amounts recommended by this bill compared with the budget estimates by activity and project are shown in the table below, listed in priority order pursuant to the budget request for fiscal year 2016. Further instructions are contained under the Land and Water Conservation Fund heading in the front of this explanatory statement.

UNITED STATES FISH AND WILDLIFE SERVICE

RESOURCE MANAGEMENT

The bill provides $1,238,771,000 for Resource Management. In addition to the funding allocation table at the end of this explanatory statement, the agreement includes the following instructions and changes to the fiscal year 2015 enacted levels:

Reprogrammings.—The agreement does not include exceptions to the reprogramming guidelines contained in the House report. The Service is directed to comply with the reprogramming guidelines contained in the front of this explanatory statement.

Ecological Services.—The agreement includes the proposed new budget structure as modified in the House report. The Committees will monitor the budget structure and make changes in future years, if necessary, to ensure a continued high level of transparency. The Service must improve its ability to account for budget estimates and expenditures to implement specific laws by more closely aligning the presentation of authorizing statutes and budget subactivities in annual budget submissions, and by including crosscut tables where necessary, such as for implementation of the Endangered Species Act. The Service is further directed to display in annual budget submissions an estimate of requested appropriations and prior year expenditures for listings versus delistings.

Listing.—The agreement includes legislative caps on processing petitions, listing international species, and designating critical habitat, as requested.

The agreement does not contain the directive in Senate Report 114-70 requiring advance notice when endangered species settlement agreements are finalized. In its place, the Service is directed to provide the Committees a report detailing: (1) the feasibility of providing notice to the Governor of each State where a species exists when the Service enters into multi-species settlement negotiations; (2) the feasibility of providing notice to the Governor of each state where a species exists at least 30 days prior to finalizing a settlement agreement; and (3) the feasibility of providing public notice when the Service enters into multi-species settlement negotiations so that other impacted stakeholders may take part in those negotiations.

Planning and Consultation.—The agreement includes $81,094,000 for General Program Activities. The request to handle the Service's increased permitting workload in the Gulf as a result of the 2010 Deepwater Horizon oil spill is funded at $1,000,000.

Conservation and Restoration.—The agreement includes $3,250,000 for the sagebrush steppe ecosystem, which shall be used for working with States and private landowners to implement science-based, flexible approaches to conserve the sage-grouse.

Recovery.—The agreement includes $1,373,000 for Cooperative Recovery; $1,659,000 as requested for ecosystem restoration of the Bay Delta; $1,000,000 to continue the wolf-livestock demonstration program as authorized by Public Law 111-11; $2,000,000 to reduce the backlog of delistings and downlistings; and $500,000 for multi-partner recovery actions. The Service is directed to prioritize the recovery of the California condor and northern aplomado falcon and provide the necessary funding to enable the longstanding public-private partnerships to continue to support the wild populations through captive propagation, releases, and management, as the Service and the States work to address the continued environmental threats to these species.

Within available resources, the Service is urged to develop recovery plans for all listed species as required by law; to include in each recovery plan measurable goals that the Service, the States, and their partners can strive for; and to report to the Congress on any species for which the Secretary finds that a recovery plan will not promote the conservation of the species, including the justification for such finding. The Service is urged to complete all status reviews within the five-year period required by law, and, for any determination on the basis of such review whether a species should be delisted, downlisted, or uplisted, promulgate an associated regulation prior to initiating the next status review for such species. The Service is directed to submit annually with its budget request a complete list of all species with completed 5-year reviews recommending a change in listing status upon which the Service has not acted.

National Wildlife Refuge System.—The agreement includes $2,500,000 for urban wildlife conservation. It also includes $2,092,000 for volunteer partnerships, an increase of $500,000 over the fiscal year 2015 enacted level, for costs related to ensuring that volunteers maintain a robust presence at wildlife refuges. No funds are provided for land protection planning. The agreement includes the requested increases for maintenance support and deferred maintenance.

The Fish and Wildlife Service and the Forest Service are expected to enter into a long-term memorandum of understanding, as contemplated in the Senate report, within 90 days of enactment of this Act, to continue the research activities conducted by the Forest Service on the Sharkey Restoration Research and Demonstration Site. The Committees understand the agencies are working toward that goal and the agencies are expected to ensure that not less than 950 acres of the total parcel acreage is available for research and not considered appropriate for future land swaps or exchanges.

Migratory Bird Management.—The agreement includes $1,000,000 for aviation management in order to address critical safety issues, and $250,000 to address bird-livestock conflicts.

Law Enforcement.—The agreement includes program increases of $4,000,000 as requested to combat wildlife trafficking, and $4,000,000 as requested for direct interdiction of illegal commercial exploitation by organized criminal elements, as authorized by the Lacey Act and other statutes.

The Fish and Wildlife Service is directed to conduct an analysis to determine whether it is appropriate to include Echinoderms in the exemption to clearance requirements for import and export of fishery products. The Service should provide the analysis to the Committees on Appropriations within 180 days of enactment of the Act. Additionally, the Service should provide reports to the Committees on Appropriations on a semi-annual basis during fiscal years 2016 and 2017 that detail for each processor of echinoderms, the time and date an inspection request is made and the corresponding time and date that the Service conducts the inspection. The Service is expected to complete the inspections promptly so that product spoilage does not occur.

International Affairs.—As the Service works to finalize the rule published on July 29, 2015, the Service is encouraged to consider all feedback received during the public comment period, and to consider a final rule that includes a de minimis exemption, consideration for antiques and museums, and allowances for sport hunters.

Fish and Aquatic Conservation.—The agreement provides $53,418,000 for National Fish Hatchery System Operations, including not less than $400,000 for the Aquatic Animal Drug Approval Partnership, as requested. None of the funds may be used to terminate operations or to close any facility of the National Fish Hatchery System. None of the production programs listed in the March, 2013, National Fish Hatchery System Strategic Hatchery and Workforce Planning Report may be reduced or terminated without advance, informal consultation with affected States and Indian tribes.

The agreement includes the directive in the Senate report related to the continued operation of mitigation hatcheries. The agreement requires that future budget requests ensure Federal partners have committed to sufficiently reimbursing the Service for mitigation hatcheries before the Service proposes to eliminate funding for mitigation hatcheries.

The agreement includes $19,920,000 as requested for maintenance. The Service is encouraged to re-evaluate its allocation methodology so that increases are fairly directed to facilities with the most severe health and safety deficiencies across the National Fish Hatchery System as a whole, rather than by region.

The agreement includes $13,248,000 for the National Fish Passage Program. The Service is directed to determine whether unintentional barriers to fish passage are being installed faster than this program is removing them, and to determine whether program funding is more effective if focused on prevention instead of restoration.

The agreement includes $3,000,000 for work related to implementation of the Klamath Basin Restoration Agreement and related settlement agreements, equal to the fiscal year 2015 enacted level; and $7,900,000 to control invasive Asian carp, as requested. An additional $1,000,000 is provided above the fiscal year 2015 enacted level for the implementation of State and inter-State invasive species plans.

Cooperative Landscape Conservation.—The agreement includes $700,000 for Gulf Coast ecosystem restoration, as requested.

Science Support.—The agreement includes $2,500,000 for white-nose syndrome research.

General Operations.—The agreement includes the proposed reductions for Service-wide bill paying; the proposed transfer of the tribal liaison office, which is funded at $1,803,000; and a partial increase for annual maintenance of the National Conservation Training Center.

CONSTRUCTION

The bill provides $23,687,000 for Construction. The detailed allocation of funding by activity is included in the table at the end of this statement. OPERATION OF THE NATIONAL PARK SYSTEM

The agreement provides $2,369,596,000 for the Operation of the National Park System. The detailed allocation of funding by program area and activity is included in the table at the end of this division.

Operation of the National Park System.—The agreement provides $93,823,000 in new discretionary funding within the Operation of the National Park System (ONPS) account to support the Centennial Initiative and related efforts. Specifically, the agreement includes $16,000,000 in new funds within the Park Support line item to support the Centennial, which fully funds the budget request to support new areas and critical responsibilities across the System including, but not limited to, operations at sites associated with the Civil Rights Movement; Flight 93 National Memorial; and the Manhattan Project National Historical Park. Funds are also provided to support new park units including the Pullman and Honouliuli units as well as critical operating needs as described in further detail below. An additional $1,500,000 is provided to complete landscape restoration projects at newly established park units. The agreement also includes $8,000,000 as requested to restore seasonal ranger staff and enhance education and interpretive services; $6,000,000 as requested to support the Service's Civil Rights initiative; and $2,000,000 as requested to support increased volunteer capacity through partner organizations. Lastly, the agreement provides new discretionary funding to address deferred maintenance needs including a $17,500,000 increase for repair and rehabilitation projects and a $17,500,000 increase to address cyclic maintenance needs. These funds are supplemented by $15,000,000 provided within the Centennial Challenge matching grant program account dedicated to funding joint public-private investments in parks. The final allocation of funds supporting the Centennial Initiative, including the detailed allocation of new areas and critical responsibilities funding described above, shall be provided to the Committees as part of the Service's annual operating plan for the ONPS account not later than 60 days after enactment of this Act. Such plan shall be subject to the reprogramming guidelines contained in this explanatory statement.

Marijuana Eradication.—Within the amounts provided, the Committees expect the Service to continue its marijuana eradication programs at no less than the fiscal year 2015 enacted level.

Quagga and Zebra Mussel Control.—The Committees remain concerned about the spread of quagga and zebra mussels in the West and, consistent with fiscal year 2015, have provided $2,000,000 for continued containment, prevention, and enforcement efforts. Further, the Committees direct the Service to provide, not later than 90 days after enactment of this Act, a progress report on steps taken in recent years to address this pervasive threat to western watersheds.

National Capital Area Performing Arts Program.—Within the amounts provided, the Service is directed to maintain funding for the National Capital Area Performing Arts Program, including the summer concert series staged on the U.S. Capitol grounds, at the fiscal year 2015 enacted level.

White-Nose Syndrome in Bats.—The Committees provide funds as requested to support monitoring and surveillance activities associated with white-nose syndrome in bats.

Mississippi National River and Recreation Area.—The Service is directed to undertake a study for the development of a permanent headquarters and visitor use facility at the Mississippi National River and Recreation Area in close proximity to the existing temporary headquarters and the river.

Eastern Legacy Study (Lewis and Clark Trail Study).—The Eastern Legacy Study, authorized to determine the feasibility of extending the Lewis and Clark National Historic Trail, is now two years overdue. The Committees direct the Service to complete the study expeditiously.

Ste. Genevieve Special Resource Study.—The Committees urge the Service to complete in a timely fashion the Ste. Genevieve Special Resource Study which has been ongoing since 2010.

Ozark National Scenic Riverways.—The Service is directed to work collaboratively with affected parties to ensure that implementation of the General Management Plan for the Ozark National Scenic Riverways addresses the concerns of affected stakeholders including, but not limited to, local communities and businesses.

National Mall and Memorial Parks Concessions.—The Committees reiterate their direction from the Consolidated and Further Continuing Appropriations Act, 2015, that the Service provide the report on National Mall and Memorial Parks Concessions to the House and Senate Committees on Appropriations not later than 30 days after enactment of this Act.

Sewall-Belmont House and Museum.—Within funds provided for new areas and critical responsibilities, the Service is directed to implement the recommendations of the Service's reconnaissance study on the Sewall-Belmont House and Museum. The Committees are pleased that the study affirmed the House is suitable for inclusion in the national park system, and expects the Service to use funds provided to assume additional management responsibilities until a long-term management solution for the House is reached.

Valles Caldera National Preserve.—The recommendation supports the requested transfer of the Valles Caldera National Preserve to the Service to reflect its status as a new park unit. The Committees direct the Service to use funds for new areas and critical responsibilities to maintain funding for the Preserve at no less than the fiscal year 2015 program operating level.

Blackstone River Valley National Historical Park.—The recommendation also supports funding for the Blackstone River Valley National Historical Park as requested with the expectation that the Service will continue to make funds available to the local coordinating entity to maintain staffing and capacity to assist in management of the park, as authorized in Public Law 113-291. The Committees expect future budget requests to provide funding for operating and partnership needs.

Yosemite National Park.—The Committees direct the Service to work with its concessioners at Yosemite National Park to ensure there is no interruption to visitor and recreational services as the park implements the Merced River Plan.

Park Partnerships.—In recent years, the Committees have expressed support for ongoing public-private partnerships and strongly encouraged the Service to expand their use. The Committees encourage the Service to find ways to further engage partners to facilitate the accomplishment of park projects consistent with the applicable laws and regulations that govern use of Federal appropriations.

Roosevelt-Campobello International Park Commission.—Funding for Roosevelt-Campobello International Park Commission (The Commission) on the Maine-Canada border is jointly and equally supported by the U.S. and Canadian governments pursuant to the 1964 Agreement between the two nations, which was recognized and codified by Congress in 1964 (Public Law 88-363). While the Administration has a responsibility to consider priorities within overall budget constraints and submit an annual budget request to Congress, the Committees are concerned with recent requests for the Park from the Service. Congress observed in 1986 the following: "The managers agree that hereafter the Service should use its internal reprogramming authority so that there will be no diminution of the amount provided for the Roosevelt Campobello International Park Commission, unless reduced by the House or Senate in a report accompanying the appropriations bill." (CR-H10497, October 15, 1986). Therefore, the Committees direct that the budget request prepared by the Roosevelt Campobello International Park Commission shall be submitted by the Administration directly to the House and Senate Committees on Appropriations without any changes. The Administration, in its National Park Service budget justification, may comment on the Commission's budget request and make such additions and subtractions that it may propose. However, the amounts requested by the National Park Service shall be consistent with its obligations under international agreements. The Committees will consider the proposal from the Commission and the Administration will allocate the overall appropriation as specified in the report accompanying the Interior, Environment, and Related Agencies Appropriations Act.

Sales of Bottled Water at Park Units.—The Committees are aware of concerns raised about Director's Policy Memorandum 11-03 relating to disposable plastic water bottle recycling and reduction, which provided park units the option to eliminate the sale of bottled water on a park-by-park basis. The Committees understand that 19 parks have eliminated the sale of disposable water bottles as a result of this policy and direct the Service to provide, not later than 60 days after enactment of this Act, a report that details the data the Service reviewed and the justification for making the determination to ban bottled water at each affected park unit.

NATIONAL RECREATION AND PRESERVATION

The agreement provides $62,632,000 for National Recreation and Preservation with the following specific directives:

Chesapeake Gateways and Trails Program.—As requested, the agreement includes $2,014,000 for the Chesapeake Gateways and Trails Program.

Heritage Partnership Program.—The agreement provides $19,821,000 for the Heritage Partnership Program. In order to provide stable funding sources for all areas, the agreement provides funding for long-standing areas at fiscal year 2015 funding levels; provides a total of $300,000 to national heritage areas with recently approved management plans, known as tier 2 areas; and provides $150,000 to each tier 1 area that has been authorized and is still in the process of having its management plan approved. The Committees direct the Service to submit a plan that provides alternatives to implement proposed funding allocation changes in future fiscal years that minimize impacts on existing heritage areas.

HISTORIC PRESERVATION FUND

The agreement provides $65,410,000 for the Historic Preservation Fund. Within this amount, $46,925,000 is provided for grants to States and $9,985,000 is provided to tribes, consistent with the request. The recommendation also includes $8,500,000 for competitive grants of which $500,000 is for grants to underserved communities and $8,000,000 is for competitive grants to document, interpret, and preserve historical sites associated with the Civil Rights Movement. Prior to execution of these funds, the Service shall submit a spend plan to the Committees on Appropriations of the House and Senate.

CONSTRUCTION

The agreement provides $192,937,000 for Construction with the following specific directive:

Line Item Construction.—The agreement provides $116,276,000 for line item construction projects in the fiscal year 2016 budget request and as shown in the table below. Requests for reprogramming will be considered pursuant to the guidelines in the front of this explanatory statement.

Fund heading in the front of this explanatory statement.

The Committees understand that P.L. 91-660, as amended, contains authority that would allow for the exchange of National Park Service lands for State owned uplands at Cat Island within the Gulf Islands National Seashore, and encourage the Service and State to continue this exchange effort.

Total, NPS Land Acquisition and State Assistance		117,500,000	173,670,000

CENTENNIAL CHALLENGE

The agreement provides $15,000,000 for the Centennial Challenge matching grant program, a key component of the Service's Centennial Initiative. The program provides dedicated Federal funding to leverage partnerships for signature projects and programs for the national park system, including critical infrastructure investments. The amount provided for the Centennial Challenge is intended to complement funding for core operations provided in the Operation of the National Park System account to enhance the visitor experience and to protect cultural and natural resources at national park system units in anticipation of the Service's Centennial celebration. A one-to-one matching requirement is required for projects to qualify for these funds. The Service is urged to give preference to projects that demonstrate additional leveraging capacity from its partners.

UNITED STATES GEOLOGICAL SURVEY

SURVEYS, INVESTIGATIONS, AND RESEARCH

The agreement provides $1,062,000,000 for Surveys, Investigations, and Research of the U.S. Geological Survey (USGS). In addition to the funding allocation table at the end of this explanatory statement, the agreement includes the following instructions:

Ecosystems.—The bill provides $158,041,000, which includes an increase of $500,000 to address white-nose syndrome in bats and $500,000 for new and emerging species research. The Committees want to ensure that the Survey is taking a balanced approach towards its program areas and direct the Survey to report to the Committees within 180 days of enactment of this Act on what new studies and projects over $1,000,000 have been initiated within the last three fiscal years under the various program areas. The Committees also encourage the Survey to work with the Department to include a cross cut for high priority species and critical landscapes under the ecosystem mission in future budget submissions.

Climate and Land Use Change.—The bill provides $139,975,000, which includes an increase of $4,300,000 for Landsat science activities for Landsat 9 and no funding for the free flying thermal infrared instrument. The Survey is expected to focus on drought impacts and adaptive management with the funding provided within this activity.

Energy, Minerals, and Environmental Health.—The bill provides $94,511,000, which includes the requested increase of $2,440,000 for the critical minerals program. The proposed decrease of $2,000,000 for mapping activities is rejected and the Committees expect the Survey to continue with geologic mapping activities in areas of the country where high quality mineral and energy resources remain unmapped at a useable scale.

Natural Hazards.—Funding for the Natural Hazards program includes $60,503,000 for earthquake hazards, of which $3,200,000 is provided to transition the earthquake early warning demonstration project into an operational capability for the West Coast. The Survey is directed to conduct a cost-benefit analysis and spending plan for the adoption of any remaining seismic stations, including any stations in final deployment, if included as part of the Survey's Advanced National Seismic System for research. The bill also provides $26,121,000 for volcano hazards, including an additional $1,000,000, for repairing and upgrading current systems with a focus on high-threat volcanoes. The Volcano Hazard Program is expected to continue to work on the deferred network maintenance of volcano hazard monitoring stations that are currently inoperable.

Water Resources.—The bill provides $213,052,000 for Water Resources under a new requested budget structure. From within this new structure, the activities associated with the Cooperative Water Program will receive $57,710,000, equal to the fiscal year 2015 enacted level. Further, the bill provides $42,226,000 for Water Availability and Use Science programs, including an increase of $301,000 for drought forecasting activities and $2,000,000 for groundwater resource studies to assess transboundary aquifers as authorized by Public Law 109-488 and regions within the Mississippi River Alluvial Plain which are experiencing variability in groundwater systems; $71,535,000 for Groundwater and Streamflow Information programs including increases of $1,000,000 for the groundwater network and $928,000 for streamgages; $92,791,000 for National Water Quality Programs; and $6,500,000 for the Water Resources Research Institutes.

Core Science Systems.—The bill provides $111,550,000, which includes a $3,000,000 increase for 3D Elevation: National Enhancement, and the requested increase of $1,322,000 to fund the Alaska mapping program.

BUREAU OF OCEAN ENERGY MANAGEMENT

OCEAN ENERGY MANAGEMENT

The bill provides $170,857,000 for Ocean Energy Management to be partially offset with the collection of rental receipts and cost recovery fees totaling $96,622,000, for a net discretionary appropriation of $74,235,000. The request did not include any funds for coastal marine spatial planning and accordingly the bill provides no funds for such activities. The agreement includes the following additional guidance:

Renewable Energy.—The Bureau should continue to work with the Department of Energy to identify and permit a national offshore wind test site that incorporates new technology related to the structural material of transitional depth and floating wind turbines. The Bureau is also expected to continue working with coastal States and other stakeholders to study new wind energy areas, including those in shallow, transitional, and deep (over 200 feet) waters.

Bill language.—The agreement does not continue the provision authorizing minimum rates of basic pay that was included in both the Senate and House bills. The Office of Personnel Management has approved special salary rate tables covering employees eligible under the provision and therefore it is no longer necessary.

BUREAU OF SAFETY AND ENVIRONMENTAL ENFORCEMENT

OFFSHORE SAFETY AND ENVIRONMENTAL ENFORCEMENT

The bill provides $189,772,000 for Offshore Safety and Environmental Enforcement to be partially offset with the collection of rental receipts, cost recovery fees and inspection fees totaling $116,207,000 for a net discretionary appropriation of $73,565,000. While the Committees realigned general support service costs consistent with the budget request, concerns remain with respect to further budget consolidations. The Bureau should continue to provide greater clarity in its Congressional Justification for mission specific program areas within the budget line for Operations, Safety, and Regulation.

OIL SPILL RESEARCH

REGULATION AND TECHNOLOGY

The bill provides $123,253,000 for Regulation and Technology. Within this amount, the bill funds regulatory grants at $68,590,000, equal to the fiscal year 2015 enacted level. The Committees find that the budget proposal to reduce regulatory grants would undermine the State-based regulatory system. It is imperative that States continue to operate protective regulatory programs as delegation of authority to the States is the cornerstone of the surface mining regulatory program. Further, the agreement does not provide funds to expand and enhance Federal oversight activities of State programs.

Stream Buffer Zone Rule.—The Committees are concerned about the work at OSMRE on the Stream Buffer Zone rule and note that more than half of the States who agreed to work as participating agencies have withdrawn from the process. The Committees are concerned that OSMRE is not working with important State partners in an effective manner and believe that OSMRE should re-engage State partners in a meaningful manner before finalizing the Stream Buffer Zone rule. To achieve the best outcome possible, OSMRE is directed to provide the States with all technical reports, data, analyses, comments received, and drafts relative to the environmental reviews, draft and final environmental impact statements, and meet with any State with primacy during such process at the request of the State.

ABANDONED MINE RECLAMATION FUND

The bill provides $117,303,000 for the Abandoned Mine Reclamation Fund. Of the funds provided, $27,303,000 shall be derived from the Abandoned Mine Reclamation Fund and $90,000,000 shall be derived from the General Fund. The agreement provides $90,000,000 for grants to States for the reclamation of abandoned mine lands in conjunction with economic and community development and reuse goals. Such grants shall be distributed to States in accordance with the goals, intent and direction provided under this heading in House Report 114-170.

BUREAU OF INDIAN AFFAIRS AND BUREAU OF INDIAN EDUCATION

OPERATION OF INDIAN PROGRAMS
(INCLUDING TRANSFER OF FUNDS)

The bill provides $2,267,924,000 for Operation of Indian Programs. Fixed costs and transfers are included along with additional details in the funding allocation table at the end of this explanatory statement. The agreement includes the following instructions and program changes to the fiscal year 2015 enacted level:

Contract Support.—The agreement moves Contract Support and the Indian Self-Determination Fund to a new account, as described in further detail below.

Social Services.—The agreement includes a $4,000,000 program increase in Social Services for implementation of the Tiwahe initiative.

Trust.—Natural Resources Management.—The agreement provides $191,846,000 for Trust—Natural Resources Management. Program increases include $2,000,000 for rights protection implementation; and $4,000,000 for forestry projects, of which $2,000,000 is for forest thinning, and $2,000,000 is for fire recovery.

Bureau of Indian Education.—The agreement provides $852,367,000 for the Bureau of Indian Education. Program increases include $10,881,000 to fully fund estimated tribal grant support costs; $7,000,000 for facilities operations; $7,000,000 for facilities maintenance; $500,000 to restore juvenile detention education program grants; $2,550,000 for education program management; and $2,000,000 for information technology. Tribal Education Departments (TEDs) are fully funded at $2,000,000 as requested.

Johnson O'Malley assistance grants are funded at $14,778,000. The Committees remain concerned about the accuracy of student counts. The Bureau is directed to consult with tribes and Congress before proposing any changes in the distribution of future funds or in the frequency or method of future counts.

Education program enhancements are funded at the fiscal year 2015 enacted level. The Bureau should consider transferring this line item to education program management in the fiscal year 2017 budget request to more accurately account for personnel.

Within the funding provided for the Early Child and Family Development Program, the Bureau shall not reduce funding for currently operating Family and Child Education programs. The Bureau is directed to publish its report on the 2013-14 school year internal review of early child and family development programs in order to improve program direction and transparency.

The agreement continues bill language providing the Secretary with the authority to approve satellite locations of existing BIE schools consistent with the guidance contained in the explanatory statement accompanying the Consolidated and Further Continuing Appropriations Act, 2015.

Post-Secondary Program forward funding is increased by $5,100,000 to forward fund tribal technical colleges. This one-time increase provides a transition to forward funding, consistent with funding practices for most other tribal colleges. The Bureau is encouraged to include a proposal in the fiscal year 2017 budget request to transition the remaining tribal colleges and universities to forward funding.

The Committees remain concerned about recent Government Accountability Office (GAO) reports detailing problems within the K-12 Indian education system at the Department of the Interior, in particular as they pertain to organizational structure, accountability, finance, health and safety, and ultimately student performance. As the Department takes steps to reform the system, the Secretary is reminded that future support from Congress will continue to be based in large part upon successful implementation of GAO report recommendations. In particular, consistent with GAO report 13-774, the Secretary is urged to reorganize Indian Affairs so that control and accountability of the BIE system is consolidated within the BIE, to present such reorganization proposal in the fiscal year 2017 budget request, and to submit to the Committees a corresponding updated workforce plan. Consistent with GAO testimonies 15-389T, 15-539T, 15-597T, and any subsequent reports, the Secretary is urged to personally oversee immediate actions necessary to ensure the continued health and safety of students and employees at BIE schools and facilities.

Public Safety and Justice.—The agreement provides $377,423,000 for public safety and justice. Program increases include $3,000,000 for criminal investigations and police services. The Committees encourage BIA to continue to look for opportunities to improve public safety resources, especially child foster care services, on Spirit Lake Reservation. Other program increases include $3,000,000 in law enforcement special initiatives and $5,000,000 for tribal courts for the Tiwahe initiative; $11,000,000 for the Office of Tribal Justice Support, of which $1,000,000 is to help implement the Violence Against Women Reauthorization Act of 2013, and of which $10,000,000 is to work with Indian tribes and tribal organizations to assess needs, consider options, and design, develop, and pilot tribal court systems for tribal communities including those communities subject to full or partial State jurisdiction under Public Law 83-280.

Community and Economic Development.—The agreement includes $4,500,000 for the Indian Energy Service Center, as requested. Energy development holds much promise for Indian communities and it is the Committees' expectation that the new center will reduce much of the bureaucracy so that tribes may begin energy development without delay.

Tribal Recognition.—The Committees acknowledge concerns expressed by certain tribes, States, and bipartisan members of Congress regarding effects of recent changes in tribal recognition policy on standards that have been applied to new applicants since 1978. Federal acknowledgement of a tribe impacts the Federal budget, other tribes, State and local jurisdictions, and individual rights. The Committees expect the Administration to maintain rigorous recognition standards while implementing a more transparent, efficient, and workable process.

CONTRACT SUPPORT COSTS

The agreement includes new language establishing an indefinite appropriation for contract support costs estimated to be $277,000,000, which is an increase of $26,000,000 above the fiscal year 2015 level. The budget request proposed to fund these costs within the "Operation of Indian Programs" account through Contract Support and the Indian Self-Determination Fund budget lines. Under the new budget structure, the full amount tribes are entitled to will be paid and other programs will not be reduced in cases where the agency may have underestimated these payments when submitting its budget. Additional funds may be provided by the agency if its budget estimate proves to be lower than necessary to meet the legal obligation to pay the full amount due to tribes, but this account is solely for the purposes of paying contract support costs and no transfers from this account are permitted for other purposes. Similar to the President's request for calculating contract support costs, this provision also applies to new and expanded Indian Self-Determination and Education Assistance Act agreements funded through the Indian Self-Determination Fund activity.

CONSTRUCTION

(INCLUDING TRANSFER OF FUNDS)

The bill provides $193,973,000 for Construction. In addition to the funding allocation table at the end of this explanatory statement, the agreement includes the following instructions:

Education.—This appropriation completes the 2004 replacement school construction list and provides $8,000,000 towards planning and design of schools on the next list, as requested. The Committees encourage the Administration to continue to work with tribal leaders in a transparent manner to complete the next list in time for fiscal year 2017 budget consideration.

This appropriation also restores the replacement facilities construction line item, as requested. Serious health and safety hazards exist at BIE facilities across the country, including the Bug-O-Nay-Ge-Shig School of the Leech Lake Band of Ojibwe. The Secretary is directed to develop a comprehensive plan to work with tribes to repair and replace all substandard educational facilities, especially facilities being used for purposes other than those for which they were built.

Combined, these appropriations begin to restore the education construction budget which has declined significantly in recent years. Regardless of whether tribes choose to exercise their self-determination rights to run schools in the BIE system, the Federal government retains ownership of the schools and the responsibility to ensure that the schools are properly maintained, repaired, improved, and ultimately replaced at the end of their lifespan, according to best practices across education systems nationwide. That is why the Committees are concerned about the current approach to construction, which focuses on a subset of schools in the worst condition and requires those schools to submit applications and compete for the funding. Going forward, the Committees believe that the Bureau should conduct comprehensive, long-term facilities planning and expect the Bureau to model its efforts on the process used by the Department of Defense (DOD) to produce its 2009 report to Congress on modernizing and improving all DOD schools.

The Committees strongly support efforts to identify innovative alternative financing options to accelerate the pace of repair and replacement for the Bureau of Indian Education schools, including the use of bonding authority. The Committees urge the Department to explore, in consultation with the Department of the Treasury, the best available approach to meet repayment obligations and to fund the construction, rehabilitation, and repair of Bureau of Indian Education schools.

The agreement includes a one-time funding amount of $5,000,000 above the President's request for BIE facilities and improvement repair projects that can be completed promptly and to address the backlog of critical deferred maintenance projects.

INDIAN LAND AND WATER CLAIMS SETTLEMENTS AND MISCELLANEOUS PAYMENTS TO INDIANS

The bill provides $49,475,000 for Indian Land and Water Claims Settlements and Miscellaneous Payments to Indians. The Committees appreciate the importance of settling the numerous land and water settlements, and direct the Department to submit a spending plan to the Committees within 90 days of enactment of this Act for how it plans to allocate the funds provided by this bill for the specific settlements.

INDIAN GUARANTEED LOAN PROGRAM ACCOUNT

The bill provides $7,748,000 for the Indian Guaranteed Loan Program Account.

DEPARTMENTAL OFFICES

DEPARTMENTAL OPERATIONS

The agreement provides $721,769,000 for Departmental Offices, Office of the Secretary, Departmental Operations. The detailed allocation of funding by program area and activity is included in the table at the end of the statement. The agreement provides $12,618,000 for the Office of Valuation Services.

Increases above the fiscal year 2015 enacted level include $1,288,000 to support the Office of Natural Resources Revenue (ONRR) Onshore Production Verification pilot and $2,600,000 as requested for ONRR to help with certain Trust responsibilities for the Osage Nation consistent with the services ONRR already provides to every other tribe. The agreement also includes $452,000,000 to fully fund the Payments in Lieu of Taxes (PILT) program for fiscal year 2016. The agreement does not provide requested funds for the Coastal Resilience Fund.

The Secretary is reminded that Congress supports the use of Federal land for energy corridors where appropriate, and that nothing in P.L. 113-135 limits or otherwise alters the Secretary's authority to issue and administer right-of-way grants or right-of-use authorizations for transmission lines within the Section 368 West-Wide Energy Corridor 39-231 on the Federal land described in P.L. 113-135.

Experienced Services Program.—The agreement does not include language authorizing the establishment of the Department of the Interior Experienced Services Program as proposed by the Senate. While the Committees support the Department's goal of utilizing the skills of older workers to help it accomplish its mission, the Committees urge the Department to work closely with the authorizing committees of jurisdiction in the House and Senate to achieve this goal within the context of reauthorizing the Older Americans Act.

National Monument Designations.—The Department is directed to collaboratively work with interested parties, including Congress, States, local communities, tribal governments, and others, before making national monument designations.

Royalty Rate Study.—The Committees request a Government Accountability Office (GAO) study of the relationship between increasing royalty rates on oil, gas, and coal production on Federal lands and the relative competitiveness of Federal lands for exploration and production versus State and private lands, as well as any resulting effect on the Federal treasury. GAO shall report the results to the Committees no later than one year after enactment of this Act.

INSULAR AFFAIRS

ASSISTANCE TO TERRITORIES

The agreement provides $86,976,000 for Assistance to Territories. In addition to the funding allocation table at the end of this explanatory statement, the agreement includes the following instructions:

The agreement recognizes that the Office of Insular Affairs' most impactful spending is through the Technical Assistance Program to fund projects to improve drinking water, sanitation, health, safety, and economic opportunity and sustainability. The agreement directs these funds to be awarded accordingly and does not provide funding for new initiatives proposed in the budget request. Additionally, the Office of Insular Affairs is directed to continue to award non-competitive technical assistance funds to support investments in civic education programs for Insular Area students.

Of the funds provided, $291,673,000 is for suppression operations, which combined with $177,000,000 in the FLAME Wildfire Suppression Reserve Fund, provides a total of $468,673,000 for Department of the Interior fire suppression activities. This amount exceeds the ten-year average for suppression by $85,000,000 to provide additional resources, as requested, based upon up-to-date forecasting models. The detailed allocation of funding for these accounts is included in the table at the end of this explanatory statement.

Additionally, the Agency is directed to provide $600,000 to each National Estuary Program (NEP) funded under Section 320 of the Clean Water Act.

For fiscal year 2016, the Administrator shall develop a policy statement on science quality and integrity that shall be adhered to by the Science Advisory Board (SAB) and all Board members. Such policy statement shall be consistent with the Federal Advisory Committee Act, the Ethics in Government Act, and all other applicable Federal laws and regulations. EPA's policy statement should include goals on increasing membership from States and tribes who are often underrepresented, as noted in the May 2014 National Academy of Sciences review of EPA's IRIS program. Should the Administrator decide that financial-related metrics are appropriate to identify conflicts-of-interest or bias, then EPA's policy shall also include an evaluation of potential bias based on a variety of factors including receipt of former and current Federal grants or public statements or positions as well as other appropriate safeguards to ensure balance amongst SAB and other advisory board experts. In addition, the policy statement shall include direction on the treatment of public comments and responses to such comments.

When complete, the Committees direct EPA to submit the draft policy statement to the U.S. Government Accountability Office (GAO) for review of the updated conflict of interest policy, policy for committee composition and balance, and eligibility requirements for service on the SAB that will ensure fairness and objectivity. GAO shall determine if the updated policies meet the intent of the directives above and, if so, shall certify to the Committees on Appropriations that EPA's conflict of interest policies offer a balanced framework. The Agency is directed to submit these required documents to GAO for review no later than 90 days from the date of enactment of this Act.

Gold King Mine.—The Committees are concerned about the impacts following the Gold King Mine Spill on August 5, 2015 and believe long-term monitoring efforts are an important need following this event. Further, the Committees are concerned that EPA's monitoring plan does not have the full support from impacted States and tribes. Therefore, EPA is directed to coordinate with impacted States and tribes on development of a robust, long-term plan for independent monitoring. With existing funds, the Agency is directed to continue to seek ways to provide States and tribes with support for their contribution to monitoring efforts.

HAZARDOUS WASTE ELECTRONIC MANIFEST SYSTEM FUND

The bill provides $3,674,000 for the Hazardous Waste Electronic Manifest System Fund. The Committees continue to support the expeditious development of a system that would allow for the electronic tracking of hazardous waste shipments pursuant to P.L. 112-195. As anticipated costs continue to exceed authorized levels, the Committees direct EPA to work with appropriate Committees to extend the authorization for appropriations beyond fiscal year 2015 and provide estimates of costs to operate the system once built.

OFFICE OF INSPECTOR GENERAL

The bill provides $41,489,000 for the Office of Inspector General.

BUILDINGS AND FACILITIES

The bill provides $42,317,000 for Buildings and Facilities.

HAZARDOUS SUBSTANCE SUPERFUND (INCLUDING TRANSFERS OF FUNDS)

The bill provides $1,088,769,000 for the Hazardous Substance Superfund account and includes bill language to transfer $9,939,000 to the Office of Inspector General account and $18,850,000 to the Science and Technology account. The bill provides the following additional direction:

Superfund Cleanup.—The Committees understand the funding is insufficient to eliminate the backlog of unfunded new starts but the Committees expect the Agency will use funds provided to initiate remediation at highly contaminated, orphan sites and support remedial pipeline activities that are critical prior to construction.

Financial Assurance.—Prior to proposing any rule pursuant to section 108(b) of the Comprehensive Environmental Response, Compensation, and Liability Act of 1980 (42 U.S.C. 9608(b)), the Administrator is directed to collect and analyze information from the commercial insurance and financial industries regarding the use and availability of necessary instruments (including surety bonds, letters of credit and insurance) for meeting any new financial responsibility requirements and to make that analysis available to the House and Senate Committees on Appropriations and to the general public on the Agency website 90 days prior to a proposed rulemaking. In addition, the analysis shall include the Agency's plan to avoid requiring financial assurances that are duplicative of those already required by other Federal agencies.

Lead at Superfund Sites.—The agreement includes the directive in the House and Senate Reports that the Agency contract with the National Academy of Sciences to conduct a study of lead at Superfund sites. The agreement narrows the scope of the study to Superfund sites within, adjacent or proximal to the nation's largest lead mining districts. The Agency's authority shall not be impacted during the pendency of the study.

LEAKING UNDERGROUND STORAGE TANK TRUST FUND PROGRAM

The bill provides $91,941,000 for the Leaking Underground Storage Tank Trust Fund Program.

INLAND OIL SPILL PROGRAMS

The bill provides $18,209,000 for Inland Oil Spill Programs.

STATE AND TRIBAL ASSISTANCE GRANTS

The bill provides $3,518,161,000 for the State and Tribal Assistance Grants (STAG) program and includes the following specific funding levels and direction:

Diesel Emissions Reductions Grants (DERA).—The bill provides $50,000,000 for DERA grants. The Agency shall continue to make at least 70 percent of DERA grants available to improve air quality in non-attainment areas. The Committees encourage EPA to provide a third report to Congress prior to January 1, 2016, that includes the analysis requested in Public Law 111-364.

Targeted Airshed Grants.—The bill provides $20,000,000 for targeted airshed grants to reduce air pollution in non-attainment areas. These grants shall be distributed on a competitive basis to non-attainment areas that EPA determines are ranked as the top five most polluted areas relative to annual ozone or particulate matter 2.5 standards as well as the top five areas based on the 24-hour particulate matter 2.5 standard where the design values exceed the 35 µg/m³ standard. To determine these areas, the Agency shall use the most recent design values calculated from validated air quality data. The Committees note that these funds are available for emission reduction activities deemed necessary for compliance with national ambient air quality standards and included in a State Implementation Plan submitted to EPA. Not later than the end of fiscal year 2016, EPA should provide a report to the Committees on Appropriations that includes a table showing how fiscal year 2015 and 2016 funds were allocated. The table should also include grant recipients and metrics for anticipated or actual results.

Categorical Grants.—The bill provides $1,081,041,000 for Categorical Grants and funding levels are specified in the table at the end of this division. The Agency shall allocate radon grants in fiscal year 2016 following the direction in House Report 114-170. The amount also includes $228,219,000 for the State and Local Air Quality Management grant program, and the Agency is directed to allocate funds following the direction for this program in Senate Report 114-70.

Multipurpose Grants to States and Tribes.—The bill provides $21,000,000 for grants to States and tribes to assist with the implementation of environmental programs. Funds allow States and tribes to have the flexibility to direct resources for the implementation of high priority activities, including the processing of permits, which complement programs under established environmental statutes. EPA is directed to allocate these funds by formula to States and tribes no later than 180 days from the date of enactment of this Act.

Use of Iron and Steel.—The bill includes language in Title IV General Provisions that stipulates requirements for the use of iron and steel in State Revolving Fund projects. The agreement includes only the following guidance. The Committees acknowledge that EPA may issue a waiver of said requirements for de minimis amounts of iron and steel building materials. The Committees emphasize that any coating processes that are applied to the external surface of iron and steel components that otherwise qualify under the procurement preference shall not render such products ineligible for the procurement preference regardless of where the coating processes occur, provided that final assembly of the products occurs in the United States.

ADMINISTRATIVE PROVISIONS—ENVIRONMENTAL PROTECTION AGENCY (INCLUDING TRANSFERS AND RESCISSION OF FUNDS)

The bill includes language that addresses the collection and expenditure of pesticide fees, allows cooperative agreements to tribes, allows transfer of funds for the Great Lakes Restoration Initiative, and authorizes amounts for one-time facility repairs.

Cybersecurity.—The bill provides $27,000,000 to be used to meet Federal requirements for cybersecurity implementation.

Rescission.—The bill rescinds $40,000,000 of unobligated balances from the State and Tribal Assistance Grants account. The Agency is directed to rescind $8,000,000 in unobligated balances from prior year administrative set asides and $32,000,000 shall be derived from new obligational authority provided in the State and Tribal Assistance Grants appropriation account. The Agency shall calculate the requisite percent reduction necessary to rescind $32,000,000 of new obligational authority and apply it across program areas by formula. Thirty days prior to executing the rescission, the Agency shall submit a report to the Committees on Appropriations detailing the amount of rescission by program project.

Restrictions on Certain Communications.—The agreement does not include revised language contained in Section 401 of the Senate bill regarding the use of appropriations by agencies for publicity or propaganda in support or opposition to proposed regulations or administrative actions. On December 14, 2015, the Government Accountability Office (GAO) concluded that the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), in association with its Waters of the United States rulemaking, violated existing prohibitions against publicity or propaganda and grassroots lobbying contained in prior appropriations acts. Because EPA expended funds in violation of these prohibitions, the GAO further concluded that EPA violated the Antideficiency Act. In addition to the reporting requirements that are required as a result of this Antideficiency Act violation, EPA is directed to coordinate with the Office of Management and Budget to ensure that GAO's findings are disseminated to communications offices throughout the government.

TITLE III—RELATED AGENCIES

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE

FOREST SERVICE

Forest Service Directives.—The Forest Service is reminded of the importance of the directives included in House Report 114-170 and Senate Report 114-70 not addressed herein, as well as the new directives in this statement, including the Front Matter.

FOREST AND RANGELAND RESEARCH

The agreement provides $291,000,000 for Forest and Rangeland Research. This includes $75,000,000 for Forest Inventory and Analysis (FIA), which is sufficient to expand FIA to interior Alaska.

The Service is directed to continue to prioritize research on white-nose syndrome in bats. The Service also is directed to provide a report, such as is prepared each year by the Agricultural Research Service, to the House and Senate Committees on Appropriations in conjunction with the transmission of the fiscal year 2017 budget request, that describes its research program in detail. The report should include information on each research laboratory, including their relationship to the research stations, their goals and purpose, the funding provided for each of the previous five fiscal years, the funding proposed to be provided in fiscal year 2017, the allocation of funding between research and administrative costs, the allocation of funding and projects between in-house and extramural research, the number of scientists and support staff, and major accomplishments. The report also should include similar information for each research station.

STATE AND PRIVATE FORESTRY

The agreement provides $237,023,000 for State and Private Forestry. The following directions are also provided:

Forest Legacy.—The bill provides $62,347,000 for the Forest Legacy program. This includes $6,400,000 for program administration and $55,947,000 for projects. The Service should fund projects in priority order according to the competitively selected national priority list submitted by the Forest Service as part of its fiscal year 2016 budget request.

NATIONAL FOREST SYSTEM

(INCLUDING TRANSFERS OF FUNDS)

The agreement provides $1,509,364,000 for the National Forest System. The following directions are also provided:

Integrated Resource Restoration (IRR).—The agreement continues the IRR pilot in Regions 1, 3, and 4. As previously noted in the House and Senate reports, there remains concern about the lack of tangible accomplishments produced by IRR projects to date, and as such, the agreement rejects the proposal to expand IRR to the entire Forest Service. Absent tangible accomplishments, an expansion of the IRR program is unlikely to be accepted in the future.

Rangeland Management.—The Service is directed, to the greatest extent practicable, to make vacant grazing allotments available to a holder of a grazing permit or lease when lands covered by the holder of the permit or lease are unusable because of drought or wildfire.

Recreation, Heritage and Wilderness.—The agreement provides $261,719,000 for recreation, heritage and wilderness.

Vegetation and Watershed Management.—The agreement provides $184,716,000 for vegetation and watershed management activities, of which no less than $5,400,000 is to implement authorities granted by section 8204 of the Agricultural Act of 2014.

Law Enforcement Operations.—The Service is expected to increase its efforts regarding illegal marijuana cultivation on public lands within the funds provided.

Bighorn Sheep Conservation.—In order to ensure the Nation does not lose its domestic sheep industry or bighorn sheep conservation legacy, the Service and the Bureau of Land Management shall implement a variety of solutions, including the following directives: The agencies are directed to complete risk of contact analyses using appropriate data sources, such as from the Western Association of Fish and Wildlife Agencies, and to share the findings with the public. The Service is expected to engage the Agricultural Research Service to ensure the best scientific understanding of where disease transmission occurs and the degree of that risk and to assist the Forest Service with identifying all allotments that are suitable for sheep grazing. The Service and Bureau of Land Management also are directed to identify and implement actions to resolve issues on allotments with a high risk of disease transmission, including, if agreeable to the directly affected stakeholders, the relocation of domestic sheep to allotments with a low risk, pending any site-specific environmental analysis. Together, the agencies are encouraged to convene a meeting of stakeholders interested in collaborating on strategies and solutions to address the risk of disease transmission and to report to the Committees on implementation of these directives within 60 days of enactment of this Act.

The Service is reminded of the guidance provided in Senate Report 114-70 regarding the Mark Twain National Forest, the Collaborative Forest Landscape Restoration Fund, and the Tongass National Forest young growth inventory and other Region 10 activities.

CAPITAL IMPROVEMENT AND MAINTENANCE
(INCLUDING TRANSFER OF FUNDS)

The agreement provides $364,164,000 for Capital Improvement and Maintenance programs offset by a $16,000,000 scoring credit related to the road and trail fund.

LAND ACQUISITION

The agreement provides $63,435,000 for Land Acquisition. The amounts recommended by this bill compared with the budget estimates by activity are shown in the table below, listed in priority order pursuant to the budget request for fiscal year 2016. Prior to proceeding with any Pacific Crest National Scenic Trail acquisitions, the Service is directed to submit to the Committees a list of specific parcels for Committee approval. The Service is expected to use the Critical Inholdings/Wilderness account to acquire high priority lands, such as wilderness and lands of significant value in designated conservation units, to consolidate Federal ownership. Further instructions are contained under the Land and Water Conservation Fund heading in the front of this explanatory statement.

The agreement provides $950,000 for the Acquisition of Lands for National Forests Special Acts.

EXCHANGES

The agreement provides $216,000 for the Acquisition of Lands to Complete Land Exchanges.

RANGE BETTERMENT FUND

The agreement provides $2,320,000 for the Range Betterment Fund.

GIFTS, DONATIONS AND BEQUESTS FOR FOREST AND RANGELAND RESEARCH

The agreement provides $45,000 for Gifts, Donations and Bequests for Forest and Rangeland Research.

MANAGEMENT OF NATIONAL FOREST LANDS FOR SUSTINENCE USES

The agreement provides $2,500,000 for the Management of National Forest Lands for Subsistence Uses.

WILDLAND FIRE MANAGEMENT
(INCLUDING TRANSFERS OF FUNDS)

The agreement provides $2,386,329,000 for Forest Service Wildland Fire Management, which is $53,031,000 above the fiscal year 2015 enacted level. Of the funds provided, $811,000,000 is for suppression operations, which combined with $823,000,000 in the FLAME Wildfire Suppression Reserve Fund provides a total of $1,634,000,000 for Forest Service fire suppression activities. This amount exceeds the ten-year average by $508,000,000 to provide additional resources, as requested, based on up-to-date forecasting models.

Hazardous Fuels Management.—The agreement provides $375,000,000 for hazardous fuels management activities, which is $13,251,000 above the fiscal year 2015 enacted level. Within this amount, $15,000,000 is for biomass utilization grants, which the Service is expected to use for the development of products that will expand commercial markets for low-value wood to facilitate increased removal of biomass beyond traditional fuel treatments.

Fire Suppression Aviation.—The Service is directed to evaluate and provide the House and Senate Committees on Appropriations evidence of the cost savings expected to result from the acquisition of Federal aircraft. The evaluation should include costs charged to the Forest Service as well as those charged to other Federal agencies so that the Committees have an accurate accounting of the actual cost of Federal ownership compared with the utilization of private contractors.

FLAME WILDFIRE SUPPRESSION RESERVE FUND
(INCLUDING TRANSFERS OF FUNDS)

The agreement provides $823,000,000 for the FLAME Wildfire Suppression Reserve Fund.

DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH AND HUMAN SERVICES
INDIAN HEALTH SERVICE
INDIAN HEALTH SERVICES

The agreement provides $3,566,387,000 for Indian Health Services. In addition to the table at the end of this explanatory statement, the agreement includes the following instructions:

The agreement includes a $12,916,000 increase for the staffing of newly opened health facilities. This includes full funding of the Southern California Youth Treatment Center and the Choctaw Alternative Rural Healthcare Center (JV) as requested. Funds for the staffing of new facilities are limited to facilities funded through the Health Care Facilities Construction Priority System or the Joint Venture Construction Program that have opened in fiscal year 2015 or will open in fiscal year 2016. None of these funds may be allocated to a facility until such facility has achieved beneficial occupancy status.

The agreement includes requested pay costs along with a $10,000,000 program increase for the alcohol and substance abuse program to focus on tribal youth, a $1,400,000 program increase for Dental Health, and $2,000,000 for operating shortfalls at community health clinics.

The agreement includes a $1,137,000 program increase for Urban Indian Health. The agency is directed to include current services estimates for Urban Indian Health in future budget requests. The Committees note the agency's failure to report the results of the needs assessment directed by House Report 111-180. Therefore, the recommendation includes bill language requiring a program strategic plan developed in consultation with urban Indians and the National Academy of Public Administration.

The Committees are concerned about loss and potential loss of CMS accreditation status at multiple IHS-operated facilities. These facilities are all located within the same Service Area, suggesting that the problems are systemic. Whatever the causes, the Committees consider the loss of accreditation to be an emergency. The agreement therefore includes $2,000,000 in new, flexible funding so that the Director may take actions necessary to ensure that CMS accreditation status is reinstated and retained, and, once accreditation has been reinstated, to restore third-party insurance reimbursement shortfalls.

CONTRACT SUPPORT COSTS

The agreement provides an indefinite appropriation for contract support costs estimated to be $717,970,000, which is an increase of $55,000,000 above the fiscal year 2015 enacted level. The budget request proposed to fund this program within the "Indian Health Services" account. Under this heading the Committees have provided the full amount of the request for contract support costs. By virtue of the indefinite appropriation, additional funds may be provided by the agency if its budget estimate proves to be lower than necessary to meet the legal obligation to pay the full amount due to tribes. This account is solely for the purposes of paying contract support costs and no transfers from this account are permitted for other purposes.

INDIAN HEALTH FACILITIES

The agreement provides $523,232,000 for Indian Health Facilities. In addition to the table at the end of this explanatory statement, the agreement includes the following instructions:

The agreement includes a $1,241,000 increase for the staffing of the newly opened health facilities noted under the previous heading. The stipulations included in the "Indian Health Services" account regarding the allocation of funds pertain to this account as well.

The agreement provides $147,949,000 for the National Endowment for the Arts (NEA). Within funds provided, the Committees urge the NEA to support programs presently funded including arts therapy and engagement treatment programs for service members. The Committees commend the NEA for its work through its Healing Arts Partnership program with Walter Reed National Military Medical Center and Fort Belvoir Community Hospital to incorporate arts therapy into the treatment of active-duty military patients and their families. The Committees urge State arts agencies, which have a longstanding collaborative relationship with the NEA, to explore providing arts therapy programs to service members and their families at the local level. The Committees direct that priority be given to providing services and grant funding for projects, productions, or programs that encourage public knowledge, education, understanding, and appreciation of the arts. The Committees maintain support for the 40 percent allocation for State arts agencies as proposed in the NEA's budget. Any reduction in support to the States for arts education should be no more than proportional to other funding decreases taken in other NEA programs.

NATIONAL ENDOWMENT FOR THE HUMANITIES GRANTS AND ADMINISTRATION

The agreement provides $147,942,000 for the National Endowment for the Humanities

(NEH). The Committees commend the NEH for its support of grant programs to benefit Wounded Warriors and to ensure educational opportunities for American heroes transitioning to civilian life. The Committees commend the NEH Federal/State partnership for its ongoing, successful collaboration with State humanities councils in each of the 50 States as well as Washington, DC, the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico, the U.S. Virgin Islands, Guam, the Commonwealth of the Northern Mariana Islands, and American Samoa. DWIGHT D. EISENHOWER MEMORIAL COMMISSION

SALARIES AND EXPENSES

The agreement provides $1,000,000 for the Salaries and Expenses account, with only the following guidance: The Committees strongly support the construction of a permanent memorial to Dwight D. Eisenhower. The Committees recognize the memorial has obtained the required approvals for the design and construction; however, concerns raised by Congress and the Eisenhower family regarding the memorial design still remain. The Committees believe expeditious resolution of these issues between interested stakeholders to achieve consensus on the memorial design is critical. No funds have been appropriated to the Capital Construction account for fiscal year 2016. The agreement includes in Section 419 of Title IV General Provisions bill language contained in the Continuing Appropriations Act, 2016 (P.L. 114-53). This language extends the memorial's site authority and prevents commencement of memorial construction until all necessary construction funds have been appropriated.

TITLE IV—GENERAL PROVISIONS

DIVISION H—DEPARTMENTS OF LABOR, HEALTH AND HUMAN SERVICES, AND EDUCATION, AND RELATED AGENCIES APPROPRIATIONS ACT, 2016

In implementing this agreement, the Departments and agencies should be guided by the language and instructions set forth in House Report 114-195 accompanying the House bill, H.R. 3020, and Senate Report 114-74 accompanying the Senate bill, S. 1695.

Where the explanatory statement speaks to an issue that was addressed in the House or Senate reports, the explanatory statement should supersede the language in the House or Senate reports. In cases where the House Report and the Senate Report address a particular issue not specifically cited in the explanatory statement, the House Report and the Senate Report should be complied with and carry the same emphasis as the language included in the explanatory statement.

Each department and agency funded in this Act shall follow the directions set forth in this Act and the accompanying statement, and shall not reallocate resources or reorganize activities except as provided herein. Funds for individual programs and activities are displayed in the detailed table at the end of the explanatory statement for this division. Funding levels that are not displayed in the detailed table are identified within this explanatory statement. Any action to eliminate or consolidate programs, projects, and activities should be pursued through a proposal in the President's Budget so it can be considered by the Committees on Appropriations of the House of Representatives and the Senate.

Congressional Reports.—Each Department and agency is directed to provide the Committee on Appropriations of the House of Representatives and the Senate, within 30 days of enactment of this Act and quarterly thereafter, a summary describing each requested report to the Committees on Appropriations along with its status.

TITLE I—DEPARTMENT OF LABOR

EMPLOYMENT AND TRAINING ADMINISTRATION TRAINING AND EMPLOYMENT SERVICES

State Grants.—Governors are expected to utilize the reserve for innovative, cost-effective programs consistent with the Workforce Innovation and Opportunity Act (WIOA) to meet unique or pressing workforce needs in their states, to foster constructive partnerships to the benefit of job-seekers and employers, to effectively respond to unforeseen dislocations or local shortfalls, and to improve overall program performance as measured by the new uniform performance measurement system established by WIOA.

Dislocated Worker National Reserve.—The funding provided may be used for National Dislocated Worker Grants, technical assistance, demonstrations, and other activities as authorized by WIOA. The agreement provides $19,000,000 requested in the fiscal year 2016 budget for grants under the authority of WIOA to provide job training and services for workers dislocated from the coal industry.

Reintegration of Ex-Offenders.—Within funds to provide services for young ex-offenders and school dropouts in high-poverty communities with high crime rates, the Department is also directed to consider the needs of communities that have recently experienced significant unrest.

Apprenticeship.—The agreement includes $90,000,000 for Registered Apprenticeship grants and capacity building as requested in the fiscal year 2016 budget.

JOB CORPS

In light of recent events, significant concerns remain regarding the safety of students on Job Corps campuses. Efforts on the part of the Employment and Training Administration (ETA) to review and address these concerns are appreciated. ETA is directed to work with center operators and other appropriate entities to identify and implement improvements across the Job Corps system to improve the safety of students and maintain safe and effective learning environments.

STATE UNEMPLOYMENT INSURANCE AND EMPLOYMENT SERVICE OPERATIONS

The agreement includes $67,653,000 for the One-Stop Career Centers and Labor Market Information activity, including $7,500,000 for the new occupational licensing State consortium initiative as described in Senate Report 114-74.

OFFICE OF LABOR MANAGEMENT STANDARDS

The agreement does not provide funding for the proposed Electronic Labor Organization Reporting System Modernization project.

OCCUPATIONAL SAFETY AND HEALTH ADMINISTRATION

Significant concerns remain about the Occupational Safety and Health Administration's (OSHA) use of guidance documents to change longstanding OSHA policy. In June and July of 2015, OSHA issued three guidance documents related to Executive Order 13650, "Improving Chemical Facility Safety and Security." They are Process Safety Management of Highly Hazardous Chemicals and Covered Concentrations of Listed Appendix A Chemicals, RAGAGEP in Safety Process Management Enforcement, and PSM Retail Exemption Interim Enforcement Policy. These along with other OSHA "letters of interpretation" attempt to change prevailing agency policies without proposing regulatory changes under the requirements of the Administrative Procedures Act (5 U.S.C. 551 et. seq.). OSHA has issued letters of interpretation on substantive policy matters that leave the agency open to liability that can be avoided by going through the proper rule-making process, including notice and period of public comment. OSHA is expected to implement agency policy changes through the formal regulatory process. As such, the agreement directs that the revised enforcement policy relating to the exemption of retail facilities from coverage of the Process Safety Management of Highly Hazardous Chemicals standard (29 CFR 191.0.119(a)(2)(i)) issued by the Occupational Safety and Health Administration on July 22, 2015, shall not be enforced nor deemed by the Department of Labor to be in effect in fiscal year 2016 until: the Bureau of the Census establishes a new North American Industry Classification System code under Sector 44-45 Retail Trade for Farm Supply Retailers, and the Secretary of Labor, acting through the Assistant Secretary of Labor for Occupational Safety and Health, has carried out all notice and comment rulemaking procedures and invited meaningful public participation in the rulemaking.

OSHA is directed to continue to provide notification to the Committees on Appropriations of the House of Representatives and the Senate 10 days prior to the announcement of any new National, Regional or Local Emphasis Program including the circumstances and data used to determine the need for the launch of a new Program.

MINE SAFETY AND HEALTH ADMINISTRATION

The Mine Safety and Health Administration (MSHA) is directed to provide assistance and data necessary for the National Academy of Sciences study provided in the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, National Institute of Occupational Safety and Health account. MSHA is directed to report to the Committees on Appropriations of the House of Representatives and the Senate and authorizing committees of jurisdiction within 72 hours of determining that compliance rates under the new sampling protocols taking effect in 2016 fall below 95 percent, and to provide such committees with quarterly reports on actual compliance rates under the new coal dust rule.

BUREAU OF LABOR STATISTICS

The Bureau of Labor Statistics shall submit a report to Congress within one year of enactment of this Act on the Bureau's efforts to account for and report on all forms of employment in the current economy, including those working in small businesses, part-time or temporary workers, those with fluctuating schedules, and the self-employed.

OFFICE OF DISABILITY EMPLOYMENT POLICY

The agreement does not incorporate the Office of Disability Employment Policy (ODEP) into its partner agency, the Employment and Training Administration. The Department is directed to evaluate and report to the Committees on Appropriations of the House of Representatives and the Senate within 150 days of enactment of this Act on the capacity of ETA to continue providing leadership, effective policy development and grant programs, and subject matter expertise in carrying out the mission of ODEP as proposed in the Senate bill. The report should also consider the potential synergies, efficiencies, and other benefits of unifying ODEP into the direct leadership of ETA along with the broader workforce training system it oversees. Any potential organizational challenges, programmatic concerns, or other issues such as an integration might create should also be discussed. Finally, the report should discuss the Department's current utilization of the specialized policy development and analysis resources available from the National Council on Disability.

DEPARTMENTAL MANAGEMENT

For the Office of the Chief Evaluation Officer, the agreement includes a direct appropriation of $8,040,000. The agreement contains language, as proposed by the Administration, allowing the Office of the Chief Evaluation Officer to administer grants for the purposes of conducting evaluations. The authority will allow preeminent research institutions to qualify and apply for contracts to conduct rigorous and scientific evaluations of the Department's programs, projects, and activities. It is hoped that these evaluations will inform decision-making and lead to improved program performance and taxpayer value. Language is also included ensuring that grant competitions for evaluation contracts are fair and open. Finally, the transfer authority for the Office of the Chief Evaluation Officer is increased from 0.5 percent to 0.75 percent.

The administration requested $2,620,000 and 15 full time staff to initiate an Office of Labor Compliance. This request is denied by the agreement; no funds in the bill have been provided for this purpose.

IT MODERNIZATION

The agreement includes significant new resources for information technology (IT) modernization, including a total of $24,880,000 for IT infrastructure modernization and $4,898,000 for Departmental Support Systems. The new Digital Government Integration Platform Initiative is not funded.

GENERAL PROVISIONS

Funds requested for a temporary surge capacity to clear the backlog of permanent labor certification program applications are available through authority to utilize H-1B fees as proposed by the Senate. Although funds are available through September 30, 2017, to accommodate a potential contract performance period extending beyond the end of fiscal year 2016, ETA is directed to obligate the funds as expeditiously as practicable to resolve the backlog.

The bill includes a new provision related to the competitive award of contracts to operate a Jobs Corps Civilian Conservation Center.

The agreement includes a new provision related to seasonal employees offering recreational services on federal lands.

The agreement includes new provisions related to the H-2B program.

TITLE II—DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH AND HUMAN SERVICES

The Department is directed to include in its fiscal year 2017 congressional budget justification the amount of expired unobligated balances available for transfer to the Non-recurring Expenses Fund (NEF) and the amount of any such balances transferred to the NEF. This should include actual or estimated amounts for the prior, current, and budget years. The description should include specific projects, costs, project total cost, and years expected to complete as well as the specific projects supported in the current year.

HEALTH RESOURCES AND SERVICES ADMINISTRATION

HEALTH WORKFORCE

Oral Health Training.—The agreement includes not less than $10,000,000 for General Dentistry programs and not less than $10,000,000 for Pediatric Dentistry programs. The agreement provides $875,000 for section 748 authority for the Dental Faculty Loan Repayment Program. The Health Resources and Services Administration (HRSA) is directed to publish a new funding opportunity and then award grants in fiscal year 2016 from the funding provided.

Geriatric Education.—The agreement provides $38,737,000 for Geriatric Education programs. In fiscal year 2015, HRSA combined the Geriatrics Education Centers program, Geriatric Training for Physicians, Dentists, and Behavioral/Mental Health Professionals program, and the Geriatric Academic Career Awards programs authorized under the Public Health Service (PHS) Act section 753 with the Comprehensive Geriatric Education Program authorized under PHS Act section 865 into one competition, the Geriatric Workforce Enhancement Program. HRSA stated the combined competition would, “improve health outcomes for older adults by integrating geriatrics with primary care, maximizing patient and family engagement, and transforming the healthcare system.” Therefore, the agreement has consolidated the PHS Act Title VII Geriatric Program with the PHS Act Title VIII Comprehensive Geriatric Education program.

MATERNAL AND CHILD HEALTH

Maternal and Child Health Block Grant.—The agreement includes language setting aside $77,093,000 for Special Projects of Regional and National Significance (SPRANS). The agreement provides the following amounts within SPRANS:

The increased funding should be used to initiate LEND programs in States that do not currently have an established program, yet have a high incidence rate of Autism spectrum disorders.

Traumatic Brain Injury.—The agreement includes bill language transferring the Traumatic Brain Injury program from HRSA to the Administration for Community Living (ACL).

Heritable Disorders Program.—The agreement provides $13,883,000 for the Heritable Disorders Program, of which $2,000,000 is provided for newborn screening for Severe Combined Immune Deficiency and related disorders.

RYAN WHITE HIV/AIDS PROGRAM

Children, Youth, Women, and Families.—The agreement does not consolidate this program with the Early Intervention Services program.

HEALTH CARE SYSTEMS

340B Drug Program.—HRSA is requested to provide a briefing to update the Committees on Appropriations of the House of Representatives and the Senate on the status of 340B guidance, the secure website, and covered entities in the 340B drug program.

RURAL HEALTH

Rural Health Outreach.—The agreement provides $63,500,000 for the Rural Health Outreach program, an increase of $4,500,000 above the fiscal year 2015 level. This program supports projects that demonstrate new and innovative modes of outreach in rural areas, such as integration and coordination of health services. The agreement provides not more than $12,514,000 for Outreach Service Grants; not more than $19,412,000 for Rural Network Development Grants; not less than $10,000,000 for Delta States Network Grant Program; not more than $2,400,000 for Network Planning Grants; and not less than $4,148,000 for Small Healthcare Provider Quality Improvement Grants.

In addition, it provides $892,300,000 in transfers from the Prevention and Public Health (PPH) Fund and $15,000,000 in Public Health and Social Services Emergency Fund (PHSSEF) unobligated balances from pandemic influenza supplemental appropriations.

Immunizations.—The agreement reiterates the requests for an updated Section 317 Immunization Program report in the fiscal year 2017 budget request as noted by the House Report 114-195 and Senate Report 114-74. The agreement includes the requested $8,000,000 to support the capacity of public health departments to bill health insurers for immunization services. Further, the increase above the request is intended to continue providing a comprehensive program to educate and inform the public, monitor vaccine effectiveness, account for the use of Federal and State dollars, decrease ethnic and racial disparities, build strong outbreak investigation capacity, improve tracking systems, provide the necessary support to providers, and support an appropriate level of vaccine purchases.

Influenza.—The agreement directs the Department to use $15,000,000 in pandemic influenza supplemental balances to support CDC's global influenza activity. CDC and the Department are expected to clearly identify in budget documents when and how prior year supplemental appropriations are used.

HIV/AIDS, VIRAL HEPATITIS, SEXUALLY TRANSMITTED DISEASES AND TUBERCULOSIS PREVENTION

The agreement includes $1,122,278,000 for HIV/AIDS, Viral Hepatitis, Sexually Transmitted Diseases and Tuberculosis Prevention. Within this total, the agreement includes the following amounts:

Further, CDC is directed to support States in the use of evidence-based approaches to stop the spread of drug-resistant bacteria and preserve existing antibiotics. The agreement directs CDC to coordinate with the Biomedical Advanced Research and Development Authority (BARDA), the National Institute for Allergy and Infectious Diseases (NIAID), and other government agencies and support collaborations between entities such as academic medical centers, veterinary schools, schools of public health, State public health departments, and other academic institutions whose activities are in line with the Federal strategy for addressing antibiotic resistant bacteria. CDC shall provide a detailed spend plan to the Committees on Appropriations of the House of Representatives and the Senate within 60 days after enactment of this Act.

Burden of Disease.—The agreement directs the CDC Director to implement a population-adjusted burden of disease criteria as a significant factor for new competitive awards within the Chronic Disease portfolio for Heart Disease, Stroke, and Diabetes.

Diabetes, Heart Disease and Stroke.—The agreement provides a significant increase to support Diabetes, Heart Disease and Stroke prevention. The agreement expects funding to support communities with the highest burden of disease, as adjusted for population, and to use risk factor reduction measures. The agreement requests a report in the fiscal year 2017 budget request on how funds will be provided to address the highest burden.

Opioid Prescription Drug Overdose (PDO) Prevention Activity.—The agreement commends CDC for its leadership in expanding efforts combatting prescription and opioid drug overdoses. The agreement directs the CDC Director to implement these activities based on population-adjusted burden of disease criteria, including mortality data (age adjusted rate), as significant criteria when distributing funds for the State PDO Prevention activities. The CDC is expected to adhere to the conditions identified in the fiscal year 2015 Appropriations Act and explanatory statement as CDC expands beyond prescription drugs and into the broader category of opioids. The agreement assumes these funds will be distributed via a competitive mechanism and not merely a mathematical formula or standard allocation to each State.

Surveillance of Heroin.—The agreement directs CDC to expand surveillance of heroin-related deaths beyond CDC's current work in HHS's Region 1 and to require applicants for the PDO Prevention for States Programs to collaborate with the State's substance abuse agency or agency managing the State's Prescription Drug Monitoring Program.

The NAS study will develop science-based conclusions regarding optimal monitoring and sampling strategies that support mine operational decision making as it relates to reducing miner respirable coal mine dust exposure. It is expected the report will be completed within 12 months after enactment of this Act.

Total Worker Health.—The agreement provides funding in the Other Occupational Safety and Health Research line to continue to support the Total Worker Health program at no less than the fiscal year 2015 level.

Strategic National Stockpile (SNS) Replenishment of Medical Countermeasures.—The agreement notes certain assets in the SNS will begin to expire soon. The agreement directs the CDC Director to conduct a review of the current SNS antivirals supply. The review should include: the current stockpile; product expiration and/or extension of dating; cost of replenishment; contract requirements; manufacturing capability (including capacity and lead production time), and distribution methods. The CDC is to provide the report within 120 days after the date of enactment of this Act to the Committees on Appropriations of the House of Representatives and the Senate. Further, the agreement requests the inclusion of additional detail pertaining to SNS data in its annual budget request beginning in fiscal year 2017, including the total projected costs of expired or expiring SNS assets. Specifically, the request should identify the projected percentage allocation of the current and budget request resources expected to support expiring asset replacement, new asset purchases, and other operational costs.

BUILDINGS AND FACILITIES

The agreement includes $10,000,000 for Buildings and Facilities. In addition, the agreement directs unobligated funds in the Individual Learning Accounts from prior employees' closed accounts to be used to support the replacement of the underground and surface coal mine safety and health research capacity facility.

Demolition.—The agreement provides demolition authority for fiscal year 2016 to allow CDC to eliminate structures that are no longer used and have gone beyond their intended lifespan, such as small modular trailers and storage facilities. Due to the age and condition of some of the structures, they pose a significant danger if left in their current state. By eliminating these structures, the Federal government will save almost $90,000 per year in maintenance costs. If this authority is necessary beyond fiscal year 2016, CDC shall request such authority as part of their annual congressional justification.

CDC WIDE ACTIVITIES

The agreement includes $273,570,000 for CDC-wide activities, which includes $113,570,000 in discretionary appropriations and $160,000,000 made available through the PPH Fund. Within this total, the agreement includes the following amounts:

Budget Activity	FY 2016 Agreement
Preventative Health and Health Services Block Grant	$160,000,000
Public Health Leadership and Support	113,570,000

Burden of Disease Review.—The agreement urges CDC and Center Directors to explore ways to review its programs and public health activities, where population adjusted burden of disease is not already being used as a significant factor to award funds, in order to determine how the programs can use or increase the use of burden of disease as significant criteria for awarding, tracking, and evaluating CDC supported activities.

CDC Budget Policy.—The agreement expects that, unless provided for differently through this agreement, CDC will provide advance notification to the Committees on Appropriations of the House of Representatives and the Senate if it does not follow the policy, funding source, and levels described in its budget request.

CDC Director's Discretionary Fund.—The CDC Director shall provide timely semi-annual reports on all obligations made with the CDC Director's Discretionary Fund to the Committees on Appropriations of the House of Representatives and the Senate and post the end of the year report online within 30 days after it is submitted to such Committees.

CDC Laboratory Safety and Training.—The agreement notes that CDC established a Laboratory Safety Review Board (LSRB) to conduct safety reviews of laboratory protocols for work in biosafety level 3 (BSL-3) and biosafety level 4 (BSL-4) laboratories. CDC is directed to provide an annual report beginning in April 2016 that identifies the total number of CDC laboratories operated or maintained by CDC with a breakout for all labs, BSL-3 labs, and BSL-4 labs. For each category, it should identify the number of employees in each category of laboratory, the number of Standard Operating Procedures (SOPs), the number of employees who attended the new biological risk assessments training in the past year, and the number of SOPs reviewed annually by the LSRB. In addition, the fiscal year 2017 budget request shall provide a detailed update on activities that enhance and support CDC laboratory safety and training.

Cross-cutting Coordination with NIH.—CDC is expected to provide an update in the fiscal year 2017 budget request on how CDC's programs coordinate with NIH Institutes and Centers to share scientific gaps related to activities supported in NIH research portfolios, reduce duplication of effort, and prevent overlapping core mission focus area.

Individual Learning Accounts (ILA).—The agreement directs CDC to allow current employees to continue to expend the remainder of their ILA balances for employee training. In addition, the agreement directs each program to use available resources to provide employee training for all employees, in lieu of the previously congressionally directed ILA program. The CDC Director shall provide an annual report, no later than 60 days after the end of the fiscal year, on the cumulative dollar amount spent on CDC employee training activities for the recently closed fiscal year and prior three fiscal years.

Laboratories.—The CDC is directed to provide a specific CDC-wide consolidated laboratory funding table in the fiscal year 2017 budget and future budget requests. The single consolidated table shall (at a minimum) identify for each Center and its specific program activities that fund laboratory activity, funding levels provided to State, Regional, and other laboratory activity requested, for the current, and prior three budget years. It should include a narrative section describing CDC's process to coordinate the various laboratory funding activities across the Centers to support laboratory capabilities, upgrades, and other related initiatives that are linked to measurable laboratory goals and objectives across CDC. The agreement urges CDC to work with its State and Regional laboratory partners to explore ways to consolidate, streamline, and improve the ability for laboratories to most effectively utilize CDC provided funds.

Respirator Certification Program.—CDC has been operating the Respirator Certification Program since 1972. Under Federal law, this program must be self-sustaining, and CDC must recover the entire costs of services provided for the examination, inspection, and testing of respirators. The agreement includes language allowing CDC to have an additional fiscal year to spend user fees collected late in the year through the Respirator Certification program.

Reoccurring Reports.—The agreement notes the scope of the reoccurring reports language in Senate Report 114-74 is limited to free standing reports requested prior to fiscal year 2012 but not information requested for inclusion in the annual budget request.

Sodium Consumption.—The agreement notes that a growing body of evidence suggests low sodium consumption can lead to health problems in healthy individuals. The U.S. and Canadian governments each established Federal Dietary Reference Intake (DRI) Committees that work to identify DRI needs and coordinate government sponsorship of DRI reviews. The DRI's reflect nutrient reference values, and are based on significant, new, and relevant data. In August 2014, four nutrient areas for updated DRIs were selected, including sodium. The agreement requests an update in the fiscal year 2017 budget request on the timeline and plan for the update of the DRI for sodium.

Public Health Leadership and Supporting Details.—The agreement reiterates the request from last year and directs the CDC Director to include in the fiscal year 2017 and future budget requests specific details of each budget activity supported with these funds, including functions, mission, full time employees, bonus, travel costs, and other typical object class data and information for each separate activity supported through the Public Health Leadership and Support funding line.

NATIONAL INSTITUTES OF HEALTH

The agreement provides $32,084,000,000 for NIH activities within the jurisdiction of this bill, an increase of $2,000,000,000. The agreement also includes the budget request of $200,000,000 for the new Precision Medicine Initiative (PMI); an increase of $350,000,000 for Alzheimer's disease research; an increase of $85,000,000 for the Brain Research through Application of Innovative Neurotechnologies (BRAIN) Initiative; an increase of $100,000,000 for research to combat Antimicrobial Resistance; and an increase to every Institute and Center (IC) to continue investments in innovative research that will advance fundamental knowledge and speed the development of new therapies, diagnostics, and preventive measures to improve the health of all Americans.

The agreement expects NIH to support the number of Ruth L. Kirschstein National Research Service Awards and other training grants in proportion to at least the general IC level funding increase. The agreement expects NIH to provide a stipend level and inflationary increases to grantees that is at least consistent with any fiscal year 2016 Federal employee pay raise.

The agreement continues to support the Clinical and Translational Science Awards program, the Institutional Development Award program, and the follow-on to the National Children's Study in bill language.

The Common Fund is supported as a set-aside within the Office of the Director at $675,639,000, which includes $130,000,000 for PMI and $12,600,000 to support pediatric research as authorized by the Gabriella Miller Kids First Research Act.

NATIONAL CANCER INSTITUTE (NCI)

Kidney Cancer.—The agreement encourages support of meritorious scientific research on kidney cancer, specifically early detection of the disease. The agreement encourages the NCI to support a Specialized Program of Research Excellence in kidney cancer and other research programs for subtypes of kidney cancer, such as papillary and chromophobe. NCI should provide an update on these efforts in the fiscal year 2017 budget request.

NATIONAL INSTITUTE OF NEUROLOGICAL DISORDERS AND STROKE (NINDS)

Alternating Hemiplegia of Childhood (AHC).—The agreement notes AHC is a rare neurodevelopmental disorder characterized by repeated episodes of weakness or paralysis that may affect one side of the body or the other. It is one of several diseases caused by mutations in the gene ATP1A3. Recently NIH participated in the 4th Symposium on ATP1A3 in Disease. The agreement encourages NINDS to support promising research on AHC and the gene mutation ATP1A3 and to provide a summary of the recent symposium and associated recommendations in the fiscal year 2017 budget request.

Hydrocephalus Research.—In June 2014, NINDS held a conference "Hydrocephalus: Myths, New Facts, Clear Directions" that in part updated the 2005 state of the science on hydrocephalus research. The agreement requests NINDS provide a summary of the conference workshop and associated recommendations in the fiscal year 2017 budget request.

NATIONAL INSTITUTE OF ALLERGY AND INFECTIOUS DISEASES (NIAID)

Antimicrobial Resistance (AMR).—The agreement provides the requested increase of $100,000,000 for AMR research. The NIAID is directed to work with the Biomedical Advanced Research and Development Authority (BARDA) to develop a joint plan to address the serious threat of antimicrobial resistance. NIAID is also directed to work with the Assistant Secretary for Preparedness and Response on the five-year spending plan for the medical countermeasure (MCM) enterprise, which should provide additional detail on NIAID's biodefense activities, including priorities for MCM candidates in its portfolio and efforts to transition these projects to advanced research at BARDA. The agreement also directs the Department of Health and Human Services to work with the Departments of Defense, Agriculture, Veterans Affairs, and the Food and Drug Administration to both track and store AMR genes and the mobile genetic elements from AMR bacteria. The Secretary is directed to include an update in the fiscal year 2017 budget request on the Administration's progress in implementing the National Strategy for Combating Antibiotic Resistant Bacteria.

NATIONAL INSTITUTE OF GENERAL MEDICAL SCIENCES (NIGMS)

Institutional Development Award (IDEA).—The agreement provides a significant increase to the IDEA program in recognition of its success. The agreement anticipates NIH will maintain at least this percentage in subsequent budget requests. It also reflects the disappointment of the Committees on Appropriations of the House of Representatives and the Senate that NIH ignored Congressional language in last year's explanatory statement to provide a legislative plan to update eligibility criteria for the IDEA program. The agreement restates the direction in last year's explanatory statement to report to the Committees on Appropriations of the House of Representatives and the Senate within 60 days after enactment of this Act legislative language to update eligibility criteria that specifically incorporates the Experimental Program to Stimulate Competitive Research qualifying States into IDEA's criteria.

NATIONAL INSTITUTE ON AGING (NIA)

Alzheimer's Disease.—The agreement includes $936,000,000, an increase of $350,000,000 above fiscal year 2015, for high quality research on Alzheimer's disease, subject to the scientific opportunity presented in the peer review process. In 2012, the National Plan to Address Alzheimer's Disease was released to address the major challenges Alzheimer's disease will pose by 2025. Since then, although Alzheimer's research has received annual increases for federally funded research, it is still funded significantly below the annual level needed to accomplish the goal of the National Plan. NIA is encouraged to continue addressing the research goals set forth in the National Plan to Address Alzheimer's Disease, as well as the recommendations from the Alzheimer's Disease Research Summit in 2015.

NATIONAL INSTITUTE ON MINORITY HEALTH AND HEALTH DISPARITIES (NIMHD)

Research Centers in Minority Institutions (RCMIs).—The agreement continues to support RCMIs and expects the RCMIs to receive no less than $56,758,601, which is the fiscal year 2015 level plus the proportional share of the general increase provided to NIMHD.

NATIONAL CENTER FOR ADVANCING TRANSLATIONAL SCIENCES (NCATS)

Clinical and Translational Science Awards (CTSA).—The agreement provides $500,000,000 for the CTSA program, an increase of $25,254,000 above fiscal year 2015, to implement the recommendations from the 2013 Institute of Medicine report on CTSA. In particular, the agreement supports the goal of using CTSA to build networking capacity and support for innovative collaborative projects. Additional funding is included to allow the program to retain its merit-based CTSA funding to institutions while expanding the network capacity to conduct multisite clinical studies and collaborative projects.

OFFICE OF THE DIRECTOR (OD)

The agreement provides, to the extent practicable, to all the offices and functions within the OD an increase equal to the general increase provided to the ICs of approximately 4 percent. The agreement maintains the NIH Director's Discretionary Fund, Challenge Fund and NIH Foundation level at the fiscal year 2015 levels.

Gabriella Miller Kids First Research Act.—The agreement continues bill language for specific funds authorized by the Gabriella Miller Kids First Research Act within the Common Fund to support the second year of the 10-year Pediatric Research Initiative. The agreement encourages NIH to prioritize research relating to childhood cancer within the program and requests an update in the fiscal year 2017 budget request on the 10-year program, planned activities, and on-going research.

Capstone Awards.—NIH is exploring the establishment of new grants, called Capstone Awards that could promote partnership between a senior and junior investigator or provide opportunities for acquiring skills needed for transitioning to a new role. The agreement requests an update in the fiscal year 2017 budget request on these efforts, including NIH's consultations with internal and external constituencies with a stake in this potential endeavor.

Common Fund.—The agreement notes continued support for the Common Fund High Risk High Reward (HRHR) programs, such as the Pioneer, New Innovator, and the Transformative R01 awards. The HRHR awards have shown great success over the years. The agreement requests an update in the fiscal year 2017 budget request on how HRHR awards are supported through the Common Fund and across the NIH ICs.

Director's Discretionary Fund (DDF).—The NIH Director shall provide timely semi-annual reports on all obligations made with the NIH DDF to the Committees on Appropriations of the House of Representatives and the Senate and post the end of the year report online within 30 days after it is submitted to such Committees.

Multi-institute Research Issues

Anhydramnios.—To augment knowledge about anhydramnios and related conditions, the Eunice Kennedy Shriver National Institute for Child Health and Human Development (NICHD) is planning a science workshop on the biology, pathophysiology, and clinical aspects of amniotic fluid abnormalities. It is expected to focus on mechanisms of production and regulation of amniotic fluid, possible causes of anhydramnios, neonatal outcomes, and early diagnostic and treatment approaches, identifying knowledge gaps for future research. The agreement requests an update in the fiscal year 2017 budget request on the timeline for the workshop and its relationship to Human Placenta Project.

BRAIN Initiative.—The agreement continues to strongly support the BRAIN Initiative. The bill provides $150,000,000, an increase of $85,000,000 above fiscal year 2015, to be pooled from various ICs.

Coordination with CDC.—NIH is expected to provide an update in the fiscal year 2017 budget request on how NIH's ICs and programs coordinate with the CDC Centers and programs on cross-cutting initiatives, ensuring they avoid duplication of effort.

Basic Biomedical Research.—The agreement urges the NIH Director to continue the traditional focus on basic biomedical research. The purpose of NIH basic research is to discover the nature and mechanics of disease, and identify potential therapeutic avenues likely to lead to its prevention and treatment. Without this early scientific investigation, future development of treatments and cures would be impossible. Basic biomedical research must remain a key component of both the intramural and extramural research portfolio at the NIH. The agreement requests NIH provide an update in the fiscal year 2017 budget request on steps NIH plans to take to ensure the traditional focus on basic science is preserved.

Child Abuse and Neglect.—The agreement commends the NIH and NICHD Pediatric Trauma and Critical Illness Branch's new initiative to form CAPSTONE Centers for Multidisciplinary Research and Training in Child Abuse and Neglect. The agreement encourages all relevant ICs to ensure reviewers with knowledge and expertise of the subject are included on appropriate peer review committees.

Enhanced NIH Reporting on Research Spending by Disease and Affected Populations.—The agreement reiterates the direction identified in the fiscal year 2015 explanatory statement for NIH to make public, on an annual basis, enhanced Research, Condition, and Disease Categorization (RCDC) spending data with the number of Americans affected by each category of disease according to CDC or other federally-sourced data. The agreement directs NIH to include this data as a column for each category row on the RCDC table page that is available online and not in a separate file linked to the web page. The agreement expects available data to be uploaded within 60 days after enactment of this Act. In the rare circumstance, if data is not readily available, NIH shall provide a plan to the Committees on Appropriations of the House of Representatives and the Senate within 60 days of enactment of this Act to populate the category before the end of fiscal year 2016. Further, the agreement encourages NIH to add pediatric cardiomyopathy as a RCDC category.

Grant Review.—The fiscal year 2017 budget request shall provide an update on NIH policies and procedures to ensure appropriate review and approval for grants awarded through the ICs.

National Center for Biotechnology Information (NCBI).—The agreement includes funding directly to the National Library of Medicine (NLM) for NCBI to meet the challenge of collecting, organizing, analyzing, and disseminating the increasing amounts of data related to research in molecular biology and genomics and to support the deposit of manuscripts in PubMed Central under the NIH Public Access Policy. Providing the increase specifically to NLM, as opposed to previous years where NLM received funding from individual ICs for these activities, should improve funding transparency and enhance NCBI's ability to provide an integrated, genomic resource for biomedical researchers at NIH and around the globe.

National Children's Study Follow-on.—The agreement commends the efforts of NIH to work with the community to begin to address concerns related to the follow-on to the National Children's Study. The agreement provides funding in the OD and expects NIH to continue to move forward based on the directions provided by the Committees on Appropriations of the House of Representatives and the Senate.

New Initiatives.—The agreement requests NIH provide a table in the fiscal year 2017 and future budget requests reflecting the current year plus five-year planned funding levels for each of the following initiatives: Building Infrastructure Leading to Diversity, BRAIN, Big Data, PMI, CTSA, AMR, Accelerating Medicines Partnership, Human Microbiome, HRHR, Cures Acceleration Network, Biomedical Workforce, and new initiatives proposed in fiscal year 2017. For each initiative, the table should identify, at a minimum, the planned budget level; a list of participating ICs; linkage to the NIH-wide strategic plan, and percentage of the funds focused on basic science.

Precision Medicine Initiative (PMI).—The agreement supports the new PMI and provides $70,000,000 to NCI and $130,000,000 in the Common Fund to fund activities in fiscal year 2016.

tegic plans across its ICs to address conditions (such as Alzheimer's disease, diabetes, heart disease, and cancer) with significant opportunity to improve the current or future health of the American population by targeting funding toward cures and better treatments. Further, the agreement expects NIH to prioritize funds on medical research discovery over outreach and education. The agreement expects NIH to continue policies to distribute funding based on the merit of researchers' ideas and productivity, and to ensure consistent application of scientific policies between extramural and intramural researchers. The agreement requests NIH provide an update in the fiscal year 2017 budget request on how it plans to use the NIH 5-year scientific strategic plan as part of its resource allocation process to improve the health of the American population.

Reproducibility of Scientific Methods.—The agreement notes that the gold standard of science is the ability to reproduce a method and finding. There continues to be concern with reports that some published biomedical research cannot be easily reproduced. The agreement expects NIH to continue to stress the importance of experimental rigor and transparency of reporting of research findings to enhance the ability of others to replicate them. To the extent practicable, the agreement requests an update in the fiscal year 2017 budget request on how NIH is measuring the effectiveness of each step NIH has taken to develop and implement best practice guidelines to better facilitate the conduct of replicable research and research transparency in the reporting of methods and findings.

Science Education.—The Science Education Partnership Awards (SEPA) fosters important connections between biomedical researchers and K-12 teachers and their students. These connections establish an education pipeline to careers in biomedical sciences, which is one of the most important areas of workforce development for the U.S. economy. Therefore, NIH is directed to continue funding the SEPA program at no less than last year's level.

Trisomy.—The agreement encourages the NIH to explore the molecular, cellular, and physiological mechanisms that predestine individuals born with a third copy of human chromosome 21 (trisomy 21) to either live with—or be protected from—a range of diseases that cause nearly 60 percent of deaths today in the U.S. The agreement requests that NIH submit a report within one year of enactment of this Act to the Committees on Appropriations of the House of Representatives and the Senate on the feasibility of a multi-year study of children and adults with trisomy 21.

Undiagnosed Disease Program (UDP).—The agreement continues support for the Undiagnosed Disease Network within the UDP, and requests an update in the fiscal year 2017 budget request on steps NIH has taken to accelerate discovery and innovation in the way we diagnose and treat patients with previously undiagnosed diseases, including its efforts to support data collection and sharing within the research community. Further, NIH is encouraged to explore public/private partnership opportunities and other ways to expand the impact of the program.

SUBSTANCE ABUSE AND MENTAL HEALTH SERVICES ADMINISTRATION

The agreement continues bill language directing the Administrator of the Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration (SAMHSA) to exempt the Mental Health Block Grant and the Substance Abuse

Prevention and Treatment (SAPT) Block Grant from being used as a source for the PHS evaluation set-aside in fiscal year 2016, as was done prior to fiscal year 2012.

MENTAL HEALTH

Within the total provided for Mental Health Programs of Regional and National Significance (PRNS), the agreement includes the following amounts:

Budget Activity	FY 2016 Agreement

Mental Health Programs.—SAMHSA is directed to work with the Government Accountability Office (GAO) in implementing the recommendations provided in GAO report GAO-15-113 and GAO-15-405 issued in February and May of 2015, respectively. The agreement directs SAMHSA to provide a detailed update and timeline on the progress of these recommendations 90 days after enactment of this Act. Furthermore, the agreement directs SAMHSA to develop a grants compliance plan that will ensure that SAMHSA's grants process is in accordance with the Department's grants manual. The compliance plan shall include periodic, and random, internal audits of grant files to confirm all the necessary documentation is accounted for and that the compliance plan is meeting its objectives. SAMHSA shall provide any additional grants training necessary to prevent these issues from arising in the future.

Mental Health Block Grants.—The agreement includes a $50,000,000 increase over fiscal year 2015 for the Mental Health Block Grant program and increases the set-aside to 10 percent for evidence-based programs that address the needs of individuals with early serious mental illness, including psychotic disorders. The increase to the set-aside for serious mental illness is fully offset by the additional funds provided to the Mental Health Block Grant program. Furthermore, after taking into account the offset funds for serious mental illness activities, the balance of the increase to the block grants will provide over $20,000,000 in additional funds to States and territories through their traditional formula grants. The agreement directs SAMHSA to continue its collaboration with NIMH to ensure that funds from the set-aside are only used for programs showing strong evidence of effectiveness and targets the first episode of psychosis. SAMHSA shall not expand the use of the set-aside to programs outside of those that address first episode psychosis. Within six months after enactment of this Act, the agreement directs SAMHSA to provide a detailed table showing at a minimum each State's allotment, name of the program being implemented, and a short description of the program.

Project AWARE.—The agreement supports the continuation of Project AWARE which increases awareness of mental health issues and connects young people with behavioral health issues and their families with needed services. Of the amount provided for Project AWARE, the agreement provides an additional $10,000,000 for discretionary grants to communities that have recently faced civil unrest. These grants should focus on high risk youth and family populations in these communities and surrounding areas that have experienced significant exposure to trauma and can benefit from additional evidence-based violence prevention and community youth engagement programs as well as linkages to trauma-informed behavioral health services. SAMHSA should prioritize funding grants from communities that have formed partnerships between key stakeholders including State and local governments (including multiple cities and counties if impacted); public or private universities and colleges; and non-profit community- and faith-based organizations. The agreement includes related funding in the Department of Education. The Department of Education and SAMHSA should coordinate extensively in the administration of these resources.

Childhood Trauma.—The agreement appreciates SAMHSA's ongoing support of the National Child Traumatic Stress Network. A recent report, Childhood Adversity Narratives, makes clear that childhood trauma is an all-encompassing and costly national public health problem contributing directly to serious mental and medical conditions. The agreement encourages SAMHSA to more broadly disseminate information regarding evidence-based interventions for the prevention and treatment of childhood trauma so more children can benefit from proven practices.

Assisted Outpatient Treatment.—The agreement includes $15,000,000 to implement section 224 of the Protecting Access to Medicare Act of 2014 (Public Law 113-93), the Assisted Outpatient Treatment Grant Program for Individuals with Serious Mental Illness (AOT). The agreement recognizes that nearly half of individuals with schizophrenia or bipolar disorder do not recognize they have a mental illness, making it exceedingly difficult for them to follow through on a treatment regimen. The AOT program will work with families and courts to allow these individuals to obtain treatment while continuing to live in their communities and homes. AOT has been proven to reduce the imprisonment, homelessness and emergency room visit rate among this population by 70 percent. The agreement requests a report in the fiscal year 2017 budget request on the planned uses of this $15,000,000.

SUBSTANCE ABUSE TREATMENT

Targeted Capacity Expansion.—The agreement provides $36,303,000 for Targeted Capacity Expansion activities. The agreement provides $25,000,000, an increase of $13,000,000, to expand services that address prescription drug abuse and heroin use in high-risk communities. The funding provided will increase the number of States that receive funding from 11 to 22, and SAMHSA should target States with the highest rates of admissions and that have demonstrated a dramatic increase in admissions for the treatment of opioid use disorders. The United States has seen a 500 percent increase in admissions for treatment for prescription drug abuse since 2000. Moreover, according to a recent study, 28 States saw an increase in admissions for treatment for heroin dependence during the past two years. The Center for Substance Abuse Treatment is directed to include as an allowable use medication-assisted treatment and other clinically appropriate services to achieve and maintain abstinence from all opioids and heroin and prioritize treatment regimens that are less susceptible to diversion for illicit purposes.

Since the passage of the Drug Addiction Treatment Act of 2000, SAMHSA has led the nation in educating physicians, patients and treatment systems on the use of medication-assisted treatment. To keep pace with advancements in science and research, the agreement directs SAMHSA to update all of its public-facing information and treatment locators such that all evidence-based innovations in counseling, recovery support, and abstinence-based relapse prevention medication-assisted treatments are fully incorporated.

Criminal Justice Activities.—The agreement provides $78,000,000 for Criminal Justice Activities and directs that no less than $60,000,000 will be used exclusively for Drug Court activities. SAMHSA is directed to ensure that all Drug Treatment Court funding is allocated to serve people diagnosed with a substance use disorder as their primary condition. SAMHSA is further directed to ensure that all drug treatment court grant recipients work directly with the corresponding State substance abuse agency in the planning, implementation, and evaluation of the grant. SAMHSA is further directed to expand training and technical assistance to drug treatment court grant recipients to ensure evidence-based practices are fully implemented.

The agreement directs that all of the funding appropriated explicitly for substance abuse prevention purposes both in the Center for Substance Abuse Prevention's PRNS lines as well as the funding from the 20 percent prevention set-aside in the SAPT Block Grant be used only for bona fide substance abuse prevention programs and not for any other purpose.

Combating Opioid Abuse.—The agreement provides $12,000,000 for discretionary grants to States to prevent opioid overdose-related deaths. This program will help States equip and train first responders with the use of devices that rapidly reverse the effects of opioids. SAMHSA is directed to ensure applicants outline how proposed activities in the grant would work with treatment and recovery communities in addition to first responders. Furthermore, the agreement provides $10,000,000 for the Strategic Prevention Framework Rx program to increase awareness of opioid abuse and misuse in communities. SAMHSA shall collaborate with CDC to implement the most effective outreach strategy and to reduce duplication of activities.

Overdose Fatality Prevention.—The agreement reflects strong concerns about the increasing number of unintentional overdose deaths attributable to prescription and non-prescription opioids. SAMHSA is urged to take steps to encourage and support the use of Substance Abuse and Prevention Block Grant funds for opioid safety education and training, including initiatives that improve access for licensed healthcare professionals, including paramedics, to emergency devices used to rapidly reverse the effects of opioid overdoses. Such initiatives should incorporate robust evidence-based intervention training, and facilitate linkage to treatment and recovery services.

HEALTH SURVEILLANCE AND PROGRAM SUPPORT

Within the total provided for health surveillance and program support, the agreement includes the following amounts:

Budget Activity	FY 2016 Agreement
Health Surveillance	$16,830,000
PHS Evaluation Fund	30,428,000
Program Management	79,559,000

Behavioral Health Workforce Education and Training.—Eligible entities for this program shall include accredited programs that train Master's level social workers, psychologists, counselors, marriage and family therapists, psychology doctoral interns, as well as behavioral health paraprofessionals. The agreement directs SAMHSA to share information concerning pending grant opportunity announcements with State licensing organizations and all the relevant professional associations. Furthermore, SAMHSA is directed to ensure that funding is distributed relatively equally among the participating health professions and to consider strategies such as issuing separate funding opportunity announcements for each participating health profession. In addition, the agreement directs SAMHSA to include doctoral psychology schools in the funding opportunities to support doctoral level students completing their practicums, which are necessary to move on to internships. Awards shall be given to meritorious applications for doctoral psychology interns first, before doctoral psychology schools applying to support practicums.

AGENCY FOR HEALTHCARE RESEARCH AND QUALITY

HEALTHCARE RESEARCH AND QUALITY

The agreement provides $334,000,000 for the Agency for Healthcare Research and Quality (AHRQ). Within the total for Health Costs, Quality, and Outcomes, the agreement includes the following amounts:

Budget Activity	FY 2016 Agreement
Patient-Centered Health Research	$0
Prevention/Care Management	11,649,000
Health Information Technology (IT)	21,500,000
Health IT to Improve Quality	19,000,000
Patient Safety Research	74,253,000
Healthcare-Associated Infections (HAI) Prevention	37,253,000
Combating Antibiotic-Resistant Bacteria	10,000,000

Investigator-Initiated Research Grants	47,398,000
Medical Expenditure Panel Survey	66,000,000
Program Management	71,200,000

The agreement expects AHRQ to focus its research on its traditional mission, such as improving patient safety and preventing healthcare associated infections.

Combating Antibiotic-Resistant Bacteria (CARB).—The agreement recognizes the importance of developing scientific based approaches related to CARB. The AHRQ is directed to work closely with BARDA, CDC, and NIAID and coordinate with other government-wide agencies like the Departments of Defense, Agriculture, and Veterans Affairs, to leverage resources toward this end. These activities should have coordinated goals and measurable objectives to best leverage the funds provided. The agreement requests an update in the fiscal year 2017 budget request on the planned activity.

Investigator-Initiated Research.—The agreement provides increased support for investigator-initiated research. Investigator-initiated research should not be targeted to any specific area of health services research so as to generate the best unsolicited ideas from the research community about a wide variety of topics.

Medication Assisted Treatment (MAT).—The agreement requests an update in the fiscal year 2017 budget request on activity AHRQ supports related to MAT.

CENTERS FOR MEDICARE AND MEDICAID SERVICES

PROGRAM MANAGEMENT

The agreement includes $3,669,744,000 for the Program Management account to support a broad range of activities including claims processing and program safeguard activities performed by Medicare contractors.

Critical Access Hospitals (CAH).—The agreement continues to note concerns about the proposal to eliminate CAH status from facilities located less than 10 miles from another hospital and reducing the reimbursement rate from 101 to 100 percent on the hospitals to properly provide care to local residents. The agreement directs the Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services (CMS) to engage with CAH facilities to assess the impact of the proposed reimbursement reduction and provide a report within 180 days of enactment of this Act to the appropriate Committees of the House of Representatives and the Senate on the impact of the proposed rate reduction from the perspective of the CAH ability to fully operate if the reduction is implemented.

Health Insurance Exchange Transparency.

The agreement continues to include bill language in section 223 that requires CMS to provide cost information for the following categories: Federal Payroll and Other Administrative Costs; Exchange-related Information Technology (IT); Non-IT Program Costs, including Health Plan Benefit and Rate Review, Exchange Oversight, Payment and Financial Management, Eligibility and Enrollment; Consumer Information and Outreach, including the Call Center, Navigator Grants and Consumer Education and Outreach; Exchange Quality Review; Small Business Health Options Program and Employer Activities; and Other Exchange Activities. Cost information should be provided for each fiscal year since the enactment of the Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act (Public Law 111-148). CMS is also required to include the estimated costs for fiscal year 2017.

Medicare Advantage in the Territories.—The agreement is concerned with the lack of availability of data to accurately calculate Medicare Advantage payments in the territories. The Secretary is directed to examine the unique costs associated with delivering care in the territories and submit a report to the Committees on Appropriations of the House of Representatives and the Senate within 120 days on availability of data for determining Medicare Advantage payments in the territories.

Prescription Drug Report.—The agreement directs the Secretary of HHS in consultation with the Secretary of the Department of Veterans Affairs, to submit a report to the Committee on Appropriations of the House of Representatives and the Senate, using data only available under current law that is not proprietary, not later than 180 days after the date of the enactment of this Act to which this explanatory statement pertains regarding the following topics, as described further below: price changes of prescription drugs (net of rebates) since 2003; access to prescription drugs by patients in the four programs listed below; health outcomes and patient satisfaction with care in the four programs listed below; and an analysis of the current cost and length of time necessary to bring new drugs to market.

The report should include prescription drug prices (net of rebates) paid by Federal programs for the 10 most frequently prescribed drugs and the 10 highest-cost drugs under the following programs:

1. The Medicare program under part B of title XVIII of the Social Security Act.
2. The Medicare prescription drug program under part D of title XVIII of the Social Security Act.
3. The Medicaid program under title XIX of the Social Security Act.
4. The Department of Veterans Affairs.

In addition, the report should include total annual prescription drug costs (net of rebates) to the Medicare program under part B of title XVIII of the Social Security Act, the Medicare prescription drug program under part D of title XVIII of such Act, the Medicaid program under title XIX of such Act, and the Department of Veterans Affairs as a percentage of total health care program expenditures. The report shall make note that the total annual prescription drugs costs do not adjust for biomedical inflation. The Secretary of HHS shall review how the Federal Government has achieved cost reductions for drugs since 2001.

The report should also include an evaluation of access to prescription drugs by the four programs listed above, measured consistently across each program using one or more metrics that are generally accepted by healthcare professionals and health policy experts as reliable and appropriate measures of patient access to prescription drugs. The evaluation of patient access shall take into account the extent to which each program uses: formularies (including the breadth and adequacy of such formularies); utilization management techniques; and the average interval between the time a patient attempts to fill a prescription and receipt of the prescription drug, as applicable.

The report should also include an evaluation of patient satisfaction with care (based on a survey with statistically significant results) and of patient outcomes in the four programs listed above, measured consistently across these programs using one or more metrics that are generally accepted by healthcare professionals and health policy experts as reliable and appropriate measures of patient health outcomes and patient satisfaction with care, respectively.

Finally, the report should include an analysis of the current cost and length of time necessary to bring new drugs to market including the impact of biomedical inflation.

Recovery Audit Contractors (RACs).—The agreement reiterates the fiscal year 2015 explanatory statement language directing HHS to take steps to improve consistency, transparency, and processing of appeals. CMS is encouraged, within the existing authorities, to use offsetting collections it maintains from the RAC program to further educate health care providers on how to reduce errors and take other actions aimed at reducing the backlog of appeals at the Office of Medicare Hearings and Appeals. The agreement expects audits to be conducted in a manner that is valid and statistically sound and requests CMS to continue to monitor the return on investment for compensating auditors on a contingency fee basis, review contractor audit practices, and provide an update on actions related to these items in the fiscal year 2017 budget request. The agreement reiterates its request for CMS's actuarial data to be included in the annual budget request as noted in the fiscal year 2015 explanatory statement. Finally, CMS is expected to provide the Committees on Appropriations of the House of Representatives and the Senate a quarterly update from the inter-agency working group actions taken or planned to address the various issues related to the RAC process.

Risk Corridor Program.—The agreement continues bill language to prevent the CMS Program Management appropriation account from being used to support risk corridor payments. The agreement directs CMS to provide a report starting with plan year 2014 and continuing through the duration of the program to the Committees on Appropriations of the House of Representatives and the Senate detailing the receipts and transfer of payments for the Risk Corridor Program.

State-Based Exchanges (SBEs).—CMS shall ensure that SBEs are not using section 1311 funds for operational expenses which is specifically prohibited by law. SBEs were expected to be self-sustaining by 2015 and were specifically prohibited from using these funds for operational costs after January 1, 2015. The agreement directs CMS to implement the recommendations put forth by the HHS Office of Inspector General (OIG) in their Early Alert Memorandum (A-01-14-02509) issued on April 27, 2015, and expects a detailed report providing an update on these efforts 120 days after enactment of this Act. CMS and the OIG shall immediately notify the Committees on Appropriations of the House of Representatives and the Senate of any unauthorized use of section 1311 funds along with a detailed report, which shall include how CMS plans to recoup those funds from the State.

Third Party Premium Assistance.—The agreement is concerned about the CMS Interim Final Rule: Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act; Third Party Payment of Qualified Health Plan Premiums, which allows marketplace insurance plans to prohibit the acceptance of health insurance premium assistance from non-profit organizations. CMS is directed to submit a report to the Committees on Appropriations of the House of Representatives and the Senate within 90 days explaining the rationale for excluding non-profit organizations.

HEALTH CARE FRAUD AND ABUSE CONTROL ACCOUNT

The agreement includes $681,000,000, to be transferred from the Medicare trust funds, for Health Care Fraud and Abuse Control activities. This includes a base amount of $311,000,000 and an additional $370,000,000 through a budget cap adjustment authorized by section 251(b) of the Balanced Budget and Emergency Deficit Control Act of 1985.

Senior Medicare Patrol Program.—The bill includes language to fully fund the Senior Medicare Patrol Program administered through the Administration for Community Living from the level provided in this account.

ADMINISTRATION FOR CHILDREN AND FAMILIES REFUGEE AND ENTRANT ASSISTANCE

Victims of Trafficking.—The agreement includes $13,000,000 for services for foreign national victims, and $5,755,000 to improve services available for U.S. citizens and legal permanent residents. Within the total for Victims of Trafficking, the Department is directed to increase funding for the national human trafficking hotline to help respond to increased call volume and overall need for services.

CHILDREN AND FAMILIES SERVICES PROGRAMS

Head Start.—The agreement includes an increase of $294,000,000 in quality improvement funds to support grantees in expanding to full-school-day and full-school-year services. While early childhood research shows that expanded services are associated with better cognitive outcomes, the agreement notes that communities will face logistical and financial challenges moving toward this model. Since the recommendation is less than the amount requested to move all programs to full day/full year services, the Department is expected to prioritize grantees that volunteer for this expansion and can do so in a way that limits disruption to existing programs and services. The Department is directed to provide technical assistance to grantees and carefully monitor issues that arise as grantees implement the expanded service model.

Early Head Start Expansion/Child Care Partnerships.—The agreement includes a $135,000,000 increase for expanding Early Head Start (EHS), including through EHS-Child Care Partnerships. The agreement reflects support for EHS-Child Care Partnerships, which is a promising model that significantly expands on what many high-quality providers were already doing in their communities. However, EHS-Child Care Partnerships will not be viable in every community. Prioritizing this one model will limit the pool of competitive applicants, particularly in rural communities, and discourage the expansion of Early Head Start programs designed to meet the needs of their local communities. This new fiscal year 2016 funding, whether for expansion, conversion, or partnerships, should give equal priority to each model and be awarded based on how effectively the model design fits the needs of the local community.

Runaway and Homeless Youth Program.—The agreement does not include funding for the "Prevalence, Needs and Characteristics of Homeless Youth" study.

Child Abuse and Neglect.—The agreement is aware of the recommendations contained within the Institute of Medicine's (IOM) New Directions in Child Abuse and Neglect Research report as well as other federally supported research. The agreement encourages the Administration for Children and Families (ACF), in conjunction with other relevant agencies in HHS, such as NIH or SAMHSA, to synthesize research done by IOM and other federal partners to identify gaps in this area and to develop a peer reviewed approach to address research gaps related to child abuse and neglect.

Child Welfare Research, Training and Demonstration.—The agreement includes funding within this program to continue the National Survey of Child and Adolescent Well-Being.

Social Services and Income Maintenance Research.—The agreement includes $750,000 for the Secretary to enter into an agreement with the National Academy of Sciences to provide an evidence-based, non-partisan analysis of the macroeconomic, health, and crime/social costs of child poverty, to study current efforts aimed at reducing poverty, and to propose recommendations with the goal of reducing the number of children living in poverty in the United States by half in 10 years.

Native American Programs.—The agreement includes $3,000,000 for the Generation Indigenious initiative focused on improving Native American language instruction across the education continuum.

Domestic Violence Hotline.—The agreement includes an increase of $3,750,000 for the Hotline. These funds shall be used to develop a tribal hotline, provide additional phone advocates to ensure the Hotline can answer all contacts, and help make the Love Is Respect website a complete resource for teens and youth seeking to prevent and end abusive relationships.

Faith-Based Center.—The agreement transfers the Center for Faith-Based and Neighborhood Partnerships to the General Departmental Management account under the Office of the Secretary.

ADMINISTRATION FOR COMMUNITY LIVING AGING AND DISABILITY SERVICES PROGRAMS

Aging Network Support Activities.—The agreement provides $9,961,000 for Aging Network Support Activities. The agreement includes $2,500,000 to help provide supportive services for aging Holocaust survivors living in the United States.

Senior Medicare Patrol Program.—The agreement includes bill language fully funding the Senior Medicare Patrol Program from the Health Care Fraud and Abuse Control Account in the Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services.

Elder Rights Support Activities.—The agreement includes $11,874,000 for Elder Rights Support Activities, of which $8,000,000 is included for the Elder Justice and Adult Protective Services program to provide competitive grants to States to test and evaluate innovative approaches to preventing and responding to elder abuse.

Traumatic Brain Injury.—The agreement includes bill language transferring the Traumatic Brain Injury program from HRSA to ACL.

Developmental Disabilities Projects of National Significance.—The agreement includes $643,000 for technical assistance and training for the State Councils on Developmental Disabilities and $1,000,000 to fund transportation assistance activities for older adults and persons with disabilities. The transportation activities should focus on the most cost-effective and sustainable strategies that can be replicated to other communities.

University Centers for Excellence in Developmental Disabilities.—Within the amount appropriated for the University Centers for Excellence in Developmental Disabilities (UCEDD), the agreement provides no less than the fiscal year 2015 level for technical assistance for the UCEDD network.

Medicaid-Licensed Intermediate Care Facilities.—There is a nationwide trend towards deinstitutionalization of patients with intellectual or developmental disabilities in favor of community-based settings. The Department is strongly urged to continue to factor the needs and desire of patients, their families, caregivers, and other stakeholders, as well as the need to provide proper settings for care, into its enforcement of the Developmental Disabilities Act. The agreement includes bill language requiring notification of affected individuals of their legal rights in this regard.

Independent Living.—The agreement provides $101,183,000 for the Independent Living program, of which $22,878,000 is for the Independent Living State Grants program and $78,305,000 is for the Centers for Independent Living program.

Assistive Technology.—The agreement includes $2,000,000 for competitive grants as specified in House Report 114-195 to accompany H.R. 3020.

GENERAL DEPARTMENTAL MANAGEMENT

Breast Cancer Patient Education Campaign.—The agreement directs the Secretary to plan and implement the breast cancer patient education campaign and the annual update in the congressional justification as described in the Senate fiscal year 2016 report (114-74) accompanying S. 1695.

Center for Faith-Based and Neighborhood Partnerships.—To complete the realignment of the Center for Faith-Based and Neighborhood Partnerships from ACF to the Secretary's Office of Intergovernmental and External Affairs, the agreement transfers the Center for Faith-Based and Neighborhood Partnerships' budget of $1,299,000 from ACF to the General Departmental Management account as requested in the Administration's budget.

Healthcare and Education Costs of Illegal Immigration.—The agreement directs the Department of Health and Human Services to provide a report to the Committees on Appropriations of the House of Representatives and the Senate on available information regarding the costs borne by State and local governments for providing services to individuals without legal immigration status, including the federal resources from the Department of Health and Human Services that are being used to assist States in fiscal year 2016 to cover these expenses.

Seafood Sustainability.—The agreement prohibits the Department from using or recommending third party, nongovernmental certification for seafood sustainability.

Severe Wounds.—The agreement directs the Secretary to conduct the study on the treatment needs of individuals requiring specialized wound care as described in the Senate fiscal year 2016 report (114-74) accompanying S. 1695.

Lupus Initiative.—The agreement continues to provide $2,000,000 for Lupus activities at the Office of Minority Health (OMH). Within this funding, the agreement includes $1,000,000 to complete the implementation of the health education program in fiscal year 2016 to transition to another priority in the Lupus community. Clinical trial education and successful recruitment of minorities into trials is a significant challenge in the drug development for Lupus. Therefore, OMH shall initiate a program to develop a clinical trial education action plan for Lupus and begin preliminary steps towards implementation of the action plan. OMH shall work with the relevant Lupus stakeholders in this effort. The agreement includes the remaining $1,000,000 for this new initiative, and it should focus on developing public-private and community partnerships, evaluate current minority clinical trial education and participation programs, and development of a research plan for creating new clinical trial education models in lupus. OMH shall provide an update to the Committees on Appropriations of the House of Representatives and the Senate on the progress of this new initiative 120 days after enactment of this Act.

Office of Women's Health.—The agreement includes $3,100,000 to continue the State partnership initiative to reduce violence against women, which provides funding to State-level public and private health programs to improve healthcare providers' ability to help victims of violence and improve prevention programs.

Idea lab and Digital Services.—The agreement does not include funding for either the proposed "Idea lab" or the Digital Services team.

Overhead costs.—The agreement continues to direct the Department to include the amount and percentage of administrative and overhead costs spent by the Department for every program, project and activity in the fiscal year 2017 justification and each year thereafter.

Health Reform Oversight.—The agreement directs GAO to conduct a comprehensive review of the process and coordination between HHS and the Department of the Treasury functions with respect to health care subsidies and to make recommendations to prevent improper payments, as outlined in House Report 114-195 to accompany H.R. 3020.

Quick Health Data.—The agreement directs the Secretary to continue the operation of the Quick Health Data Online system. The Secretary is directed to submit a report to the Committees on Appropriations of the House of Representatives and the Senate on the feasibility of moving the online system to another HHS agency.

Children with Disabilities.—The agreement recognizes the importance of accurate, complete, confidential, and transportable health records, especially for those children most in need of care, such as children with disabilities. The agreement urges the Office of the Assistant Secretary for Health to support a demonstration project to test new and improved methods of providing a patient-centered electronic medical record that is complete and interoperable, secure, and cost effective for children with disabilities.

OFFICE OF MEDICARE HEARINGS AND APPEALS

Appeals Backlog.—The substantial backlog in the number of cases pending before the administrative law judges at the Office of Medicare Hearings and Appeals (OMHA) is a serious concern. Specifically, the number of appeals related to RACs has risen dramatically in the past years. The agreement directs OMHA to use the additional funds provided to address the current backlog and requests a spend plan within 45 days after enactment of this Act. OMHA should focus on reducing the backlog of appeals without undermining the accuracy and quality of their decisions. Furthermore, in collaboration with the intra-agency working group focusing on RACs, OMHA shall provide semi-annual updates to the Committees on Appropriations of the House of Representatives and the Senate reflecting the total number of appeals filed, appeals pending, and appeals disposed of for all four levels of the appeal process.

OFFICE OF THE NATIONAL COORDINATOR FOR HEALTH INFORMATION TECHNOLOGY

Precision Medicine.—The agreement encourages the coordination and development of data standards necessary to advance the Precision Medicine Initiative.

OFFICE OF INSPECTOR GENERAL

The agreement includes $75,000,000 for the HHS Office of Inspector General (OIG) account. The agreement expects the OIG to continue to improve its annual budget request with more details and performance measures related to discretionary oversight.

PUBLIC HEALTH AND SOCIAL SERVICES EMERGENCY FUND

The agreement provides $1,532,958,000 for the Public Health and Social Services Emergency Fund to support a comprehensive program to prepare for and respond to the health and medical consequences of all public health emergencies, including bioterrorism, and support the cybersecurity efforts of HHS.

Biomedical Advanced Research and Development Authority (BARDA).—The agreement increases funding for BARDA to support its work on combatting antibiotic resistance (CARB) and other priorities that address chemical, biological, radiological, and nuclear threats. BARDA is directed to work closely with CDC, AHRQ, and NIAID on CARB and coordinate with other government agencies such as the Departments of Defense, Agriculture, and Veterans Affairs, to leverage resources to develop therapeutics. The agreement provides increased support to NIAID and CDC and directs these organizations to jointly work with BARDA on coordinated goals, measurable objectives, and funding plans that will spur research and development on CARB and build laboratory capacity in States. The agreement requests an update in the fiscal year 2017 budget request on the joint BARDA, NIAID, and CDC goals and measurable objectives to ensure the best leveraging of the funds provided.

Centers for Innovation in Advanced Development and Manufacturing (ADM).—The agreement notes BARDA has partnered with private sector entities in recent years to develop centers to improve access to ADM capabilities. To further enhance the Nation's preparedness and response capabilities, BARDA is encouraged to review the ADM network's current access to advanced technological platforms. The review should determine if the existing network includes the necessary mix of technological capabilities to address potential gaps in the medical countermeasure enterprise and to ensure rapid deployment of medical countermeasures.

Drug Delivery Devices.—The agreement commends the Department's efforts to develop and procure additional medical countermeasures (MCM) on top of the twelve MCMs procured since 2004. However, these MCMs require readily available drug delivery devices. The Department is urged, as practicable, to secure enough injection devices necessary to ensure that these MCMs that require such devices can be delivered to patients in real time.

Pandemic Influenza Response Activities.—The agreement directs the Department to use available no-year carry over funding along with the resources provided to support the fiscal year 2016 budget request level of requirements to support pandemic influenza activity.

Treatment Capacity.—There is concern about the sustainability of the highly-pathogenic infectious disease treatment capacity supported by the FY 2015 Ebola emergency appropriations. Without affecting funding set aside for Project BioShield, the Assistant Secretary for Preparedness and Response should allocate a portion of the unobligated emergency funds to partially reimburse facilities for renovation and alteration undertaken in preparation for, or in response to, the need to improve preparedness and response capability at the State and local level—as authorized by the FY 2015 Ebola emergency appropriations—to help ensure that such treatment capacity is maintained.

TITLE III—DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION
EDUCATION FOR THE DISADVANTAGED

Striving Readers.—Not later than 30 days prior to the announcement or publication of any notice of proposed priorities or inviting applications for the Comprehensive Striving Readers Literacy program, the Department shall brief the Committees on Appropriations of the House of Representatives and the Senate, Committee on Education and the Workforce of the House of Representatives, and Committee on Health, Education, Labor and Pensions of the Senate on its plans for this grant competition and related evaluation and technical assistance.

SCHOOL IMPROVEMENT PROGRAMS

Supporting Effective Educator Development (SEED) Grants.—The agreement includes funding within the SEED set-aside for competitive grants to non-profit organizations with demonstrated effectiveness in the development and implementation of civic learning programs. Priority should be given to applicants that demonstrate innovation, scalability, and a focus on underserved populations, including rural schools and students. The agreement also includes funding within the SEED set-aside for non-profit organizations with effective programs to enhance primary source utilization in the classroom.

Expanded Learning Time.—The agreement prohibits funds made available for 21st Century Community Learning Centers from being used to support expanded learning time unless those activities are consistent with the requirements in section 4204(a)(2) of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act (ESEA), as amended by the Every Student Succeeds Act (ESSA).

Alaska Native Educational Equity.—In awarding funds under the Alaska Native Educational Equity program, the Department shall ensure the maximum participation of Alaska Native organizations and other required Alaska Native partners, guarantee that all grantees have meaningful plans for consultation with Alaska Native leaders, and make every effort to ensure that Alaska Natives and Alaskans represent a significant proportion of peer reviewers for grant applications.

Comprehensive Centers.—The agreement includes $1,500,000 to establish a new comprehensive center on students at risk of not attaining full literacy skills due to a disability, in accordance with section 2244 of the ESEA, as reauthorized by the ESSA.

INDIAN EDUCATION

Native Youth Community Projects.—Within the total for Special Programs for Indian Children, the agreement includes $22,890,000 for Native Youth Community Projects. This program makes competitive awards to support culturally-relevant coordinated strategies to improve the college- and career-readiness of Native American youth.

INNOVATION AND IMPROVEMENT

Javits Gifted and Talented.—Within the funds provided for the Javits Gifted and Talented Students Education program, the Department is directed to continue supporting a National Research Center on the Gifted and Talented.

Arts in Education.—The agreement includes an increase in the Arts in Education program to support new competitive awards to national non-profit organizations engaged in arts education, professional development activities and model arts education programs that address the arts access gap.

Innovative Approaches to Literacy.—The agreement includes $27,000,000 for Innovative Approaches to Literacy competitive awards to national non-profit organizations or school libraries for providing books and childhood literacy activities to children and families living in high-need communities.

Fund for the Improvement of Education (FIE).—Within FIE, the agreement includes funding for the following activities in the following amounts:

Budget Activity	FY 2016 Agreement
Arts in Education	$27,000,000
Non-Cognitive Skills Initiative	3,000,000
Full Service Community Schools	10,000,000
Preschool Development Grants	250,000,000
Innovative Approaches to Literacy	27,000,000
Javits Gifted and Talented Students Education Program	12,000,000
Presidential and Congressional History Teaching Academies	1,815,000

SAFE SCHOOLS AND CITIZENSHIP EDUCATION

Safe and Drug-Free Schools and Communities National Activities.—The agreement includes $5,000,000 for competitive grants to eligible entities, including community-based organizations, Local Educational Agencies, and partnerships thereof, in communities that have experienced significant episodes of civil unrest. This funding is to support establishing school-based programs in such communities to address, including through counseling services, the comprehensive educational, behavioral, and mental health needs of youth who have experienced significant trauma related to recent events in their communities. The agreement includes related funding in the Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration (SAMHSA). The Department of Education and SAMHSA should coordinate extensively in the administration of these resources.

Elementary and Secondary School Counseling Program.—The agreement includes $49,561,000 for the Elementary and Secondary School Counseling program. School counselors help to create a safe school environment. However, too few students have access to these benefits. This program recognizes the importance of addressing student mental health issues and the critical role that school counselors play in this area.

Carol M. White Physical Education Program.—The agreement includes $47,000,000 for the Carol M. White Physical Education program to pay the Federal share of the costs of initiating, expanding and improving school-based physical education programs. According to the CDC, the prevalence of unhealthy body weights among children has more than doubled over the past 30 years. This program underscores the importance of supporting students' access to physical education.

SPECIAL EDUCATION

The Department should consider ways to support paperwork reduction and administrative streamlining under the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act.

Within Technical Assistance and Dissemination, the agreement includes $10,083,000 for education activities authorized under Public Law 108-406.

Education Technology, Media, and Materials Program.—Progress has been made with tools and services provided under the Education Technology, Media and Materials program that have allowed more than 320,000 students free access to more than 280,000 books in multiple digitally accessible formats. Understanding the obligation to serve all K-12 students, the agreement includes an additional $2,000,000 for the purpose of expanding the program's reach to 120,000 K-12 students with a focus in underserved areas.

SPECIAL INSTITUTIONS FOR PERSONS WITH DISABILITIES

American Printing House for the Blind (APH).—The agreement continues to recognize that students who are blind or have a vision loss must have equal access to the same education content and should receive that information at the same time as their sighted peers if they are to achieve academically. Accordingly, the agreement continues to support implementation of APH's Resources with Enhanced Accessibility for Learning (REAL) plan, and includes no less than $475,000 for such activities. The REAL plan supports new advances in software and hardware technology to ensure that students with vision loss receive high-quality educational material in a timely manner and in the appropriate formats required to meet individual student learning needs.

National Technical Institute for the Deaf (NTID).—The agreement includes $2,000,000 to establish a formal regional partnership, via subcontract, with at least one organization to expand the geographic reach of activities and services supported by NTID, consistent with its mission and strategic plan. The partnership activities should include a focus on promoting training and postsecondary participation in STEM fields; working with NTID faculty to develop postsecondary preparation for students; providing professional development for teachers and developing partnerships with business and industry to promote employment opportunities.

STUDENT FINANCIAL ASSISTANCE

Work Colleges.—The agreement includes $8,390,000 for the Work Colleges program authorized under section 448 of the Higher Education Act from the Federal Work Study appropriation.

STUDENT AID ADMINISTRATION

Federal Student Loan Servicing.—The first goal of the Federal student loan servicing process should be ensuring high-quality servicing to borrowers and safeguarding taxpayer dollars. The Department recently established a common set of performance metrics by which to measure all student loan servicers to ensure consistency and accountability toward that goal. However, in allocating new student loan volume, the Department does not apply these metrics among all servicers but only within defined subsets of servicers, contradicting the intention of common metrics. The agreement includes new bill language requiring the Department to allocate new student loan accounts based on performance compared against all servicers. The Department shall adjust allocations based on the capacity of servicers to handle all new and current volume, provided that information about servicer capacity is made publicly available. Further, in developing the framework for a new student loan servicing process, with contracts expected to be awarded in 2016, the Department should ensure the participation of a sufficient number of servicers, including in servicing consolidated student loans, to help promote high quality customer service for student loan borrowers. The agreement does not intend in any way to constrain the Department from pursuing efforts to improve the servicing process to best serve the interests of student loan borrowers and taxpayers.

The Department shall brief the Committees on Appropriations of the House of Representatives and the Senate, Committee on Education and the Workforce of the House of Representatives, and Committee on Health, Education, Labor and Pensions of the Senate within 30 days of enactment of this Act on how it plans to carry out these directives. Further, the Secretary shall, no later than March 1, 2016, publish a common policies and procedures manual for servicing that applies to all Direct Loan servicers.

HIGHER EDUCATION

TRIO.—The agreement provides funding for a new competition for the Talent Search and Educational Opportunity Centers programs as well as an increase in funding for existing grantees. The Department is strongly encouraged to publish the notice inviting applications as soon as possible and issue award notices for these programs no later than July 31, 2016. The agreement does not include funding requested in the budget for a new TRIO Demonstration Initiative.

There is concern that the draft competitive preference priorities proposed by the Department for the Talent Search competition could exclude proven successful grantees, particularly those at under-resourced institutions and small community agencies, by awarding additional points for certain activities with varying levels of methodological rigor.

The agreement strongly urges the Secretary to give fair consideration to prior experience when making awards under the Talent Search and Educational Opportunity Center competitions.

INSTITUTE OF EDUCATION SCIENCES

Teachers-in-Training.—The National Center for Education Statistics shall submit a report by December 31, 2016 to the Committees on Appropriations of the House of Representatives and the Senate, Committee on Education and the Workforce of the House of Representatives, and Committee on Health, Education, Labor and Pensions of the Senate, using and reporting data from the most recent school year by State and each local educational agency, regarding the extent at the school-level to which students in the following categories are taught by teachers who have not yet obtained full State certification: students with disabilities, English Learners, students in rural areas, students from low-income families, and minority students. "Full State certification" means that a teacher has met all teacher preparation requirements applicable to their years of experience; that the teacher is not authorized to teach on an emergency, temporary, provisional or waiver basis; that certification may be obtained through traditional or alternative routes; and, except that when used with respect to any teacher teaching in a public charter school, the term means that the teacher meets the requirements set forth in the State's public charter school law.

Applied Research on Infant and Toddler Education.—The foundation for success begins early in a child's life. Research shows that the achievement gap begins to emerge among children as young as nine months of age. However, there are few funding sources available to support applied research related to infant and toddler care and education. Given the demand for high-quality and enriching infant and toddler care by families at all income levels, expanded research would help inform best practices and improve the quality of care and education for infants and toddlers. The Institute is encouraged to make grant funding available for research on typically-developing infants and toddlers, as well as infants and toddlers with special needs, to help fill the existing gaps in the literature and answer the questions posed by program developers and policy makers. The Institute should collaborate with the Department of Health and Human Services in identifying research gaps and the needs of program developers and practitioners as it develops future funding opportunities in this area.

Geographic Disparities in Education Research.—The Department is encouraged to evaluate the geographic distribution of Institute of Education Sciences-funded research, and pursue efforts to expand, in particular, research on early learning programs and policies in rural and other parts of the country facing unique challenges where there is a shortage of current research.

DEPARTMENTAL MANAGEMENT

College Ratings System.—There is concern about the Department's proposal to develop a College Ratings System, as described in the framework published for public comment on December 19, 2014. The Department has since significantly changed its plan for a College Rating System and the agreement supports the Department moving away from its originally proposed plan.

Education Costs of Illegal Immigration.—The agreement directs the Department to provide a report to the Committees on Appropriations of the House of Representatives and the Senate on available information regarding the costs borne by State and local governments for providing services to individuals without legal immigration status, including the Federal resources from the Department that are being used to assist States in fiscal year 2016 to cover these expenses.

GENERAL PROVISIONS

The agreement includes bill language extending authorization of the National Advisory Committee on Institutional Quality and Integrity through 2016.

The agreement includes a new general provision extending authority through 2016 to provide account maintenance fees to guaranty agencies for Federal student loans.

The agreement includes a new general provision requiring the Department to provide reinsurance at 100 percent of the defaulted loan claim amount for guaranty agencies.

The agreement directs the Department to submit a report to the Committees on Appropriations of the House of Representatives and the Senate, Committee on Education and the Workforce of the House of Representatives, and Committee on Health, Education, Labor and Pensions of the Senate, within 180 days of enactment of this Act on a plan to assist guaranty agencies, lenders and borrowers in the wind down of the Federal Family Education Loan (FFEL) program as the outstanding loan portfolio continues to decline. That plan shall specifically address guaranty agencies and their subsidies, the current status of the wind down, the financial stability of guaranty agencies, and an assessment of any authority necessary for purposes of the wind down. The agreement also directs the Department to conduct outreach to current FFEL borrowers who may be eligible for income-driven repayment plans and other repayment options.

The agreement includes a general provision clarifying that funds provided in this Act for ESEA formula grant programs for academic year 2016-2017 are to be administered under the provisions of the ESEA in effect prior to the reauthorization of the ESEA by the ESSA. The transition provisions in ESSA generally call for implementation of the new law starting with the 2017-2018 school year. The general provision and the funding levels and directives included in this agreement are consistent with that intent.

The agreement includes a new general provision modifying the changes made in division G of Public Law 113-235 concerning career pathways programs.

CORPORATION FOR NATIONAL AND COMMUNITY SERVICE

AmeriCorps Grants.—The agreement includes an increase in funding for both AmeriCorps formula and competitive grant programs, to be allocated consistent with the National and Community Service Act of 1990, as amended.

Training and Technical Assistance.—The agreement modifies bill language to allow the Corporation for National and Community Service (Corporation) to use existing set-asides in statute to provide training and technical assistance to AmeriCorps and other national and community service programs. The Corporation is expected to use this authority to provide additional resources directly to State Commissions to help build the capacity of State Commissions and local AmeriCorps programs in their States.

Communities Experiencing Civil Unrest.—AmeriCorps programs are uniquely situated to respond to sudden crises and episodes of civil unrest in communities, and address the longer-term challenges underlying them. The Corporation is expected to continue to support AmeriCorps program in such communities.

Professional Corps Operating Expenses.—The Corporation is directed to provide guidance on what specifically Professional Corps programs must demonstrate to receive operating funds as part of their AmeriCorps grant. The Corporation should provide programs flexibility in demonstrating this need to ensure the viability of such programs in all communities.

The agreement includes an additional $40,000,000 in fiscal year 2016 funds for the replacement of the public broadcasting interconnection system. The satellite leases for the current public television interconnection system expire in 2016, and the public radio interconnection satellite leases expire in 2018. Improved technology may enable the public television and radio stations to share certain elements of the planned interconnection system, leading to greater efficiencies.

FEDERAL MEDIATION AND CONCILIATION SERVICE

The agreement provides $48,748,000 for the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service. The increase of $3,082,000 is intended to be a one-time provision for necessary relocation costs to be incurred in fiscal year 2016.

LIMITATION ON ADMINISTRATIVE EXPENSES

Continuing Disability Reviews and Supplemental Security Income Redeterminations of Eligibility.—The agreement includes a total of $1,542,000,000 for SSA to conduct Continuing Disability Reviews (CDRs) under the Disability Insurance and Supplemental Security Income (SSI) programs, and redeterminations of eligibility under the SSI program. This includes $1,426,000,000 specified for the base and cap adjustment amounts included in the Budget Control Act of 2011, and $116,000,000 in additional funding provided under SSA's Limitation on Administrative Expenses (LAE) account. The Commissioner may allocate more or less than $116,000,000 from SSA's regular LAE account for CDRs and redeterminations but only for reconciling estimated and actual unit costs for conducting such activities, and after notifying the Committees on Appropriations of the House of Representatives and the Senate at least 15 days prior to any such reallocation.
